Winter Special Olympics To Be Held At Wisp

For the second year, the Maryland Special Olympics Winter Games will be held at the Wisp Ski Area, McHenry. The events which encompass cross country and downhill skiing will begin Monday, January 17, and final competition will be held Wednesday, January 19.

Opening ceremonies will be held Sunday evening, January 16.

Clinics will be conducted for those participants not involved on the slopes with ski lessons. They include snow sculpture, boffers, arts and crafts, frisbee, sponge polo, racquetball, snowshoeing and "pot luck" happenings. In addition, snow horse sleigh rides will be given.

Special events to be held Monday and Tuesday nights will be a Mad Hatter's Night on which all participants must wear zany hats with prizes awarded, and a Hawaiian Luau, where all present dress Hawaiian style.

Garrett County will sponsor eight athletes for this year's competition. They include: Liz Terrant from Southern High School, Kenny Wilt from Dennett Road School, Bill Abernathy, Gale Ahern, Trina Bray, Cindy Bell, Ira Blucher, and Andy Zuckerman from the Adult Activities Center in Oakland.

Chaperones staying with the athletes are Cheryl Henderson, Dennett Road School, and Debbie Ambrose from the Crossroads Group Home. Special Olympics coordinators from Garrett County are Dorothy Leuba and Jennifer Kotulak.

TWIN BROTHERS born January 1 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were the first arrivals of 1983. Michael and Margaret (Peggy) Lantz, Turkey Neck Road, are parents of the fraternal twins. Jeremiah Rayner, in the arms of his mother, arrived first at 3:42 a.m., followed by brother Michael Paull, born at 4:25. Jeremiah weighed five pounds, three and one-half ounces, while Michael is a little larger at five pounds, eight ounces. The boys are the couple's first children, and are the fourth set of twins to be delivered by Dr. Karl Schwalm, pictured at left. Mr. and Mrs. Lantz found out December 3 that twins were expected, and that's also the day Peggy learned that twins run in her husband's family.

Snow Plentiful At Wisp Resort

In contrast to last week's front page picture showing lots of grass and little snow at Wisp Ski Area, this week the main slopes are covered with as much as four feet in some places.

Low temperatures have made possible the use of Wisp's enormous snow-making capability, according to Helmuth Heise, owner of the slope. Crews have worked night and day to cover the mountain, pumping as much as 6,000 gallons of water a minute through the snow-making machines.

"People have a hard time believing the coverage we have," Heise said. He indicated that because they see green grass in their front yard, they assume that the slope is in the same condition. Such, however, is not the case. The slope is open with "excellent coverage and fine skiing," he said.

Thomas Selected As County Deputy

William C. Thomas, 24, of the Cove, has been selected by Sheriff Franklin G. Finch as the county's tenth deputy.

Finch made the announcement Monday after notifying Thomas Sunday. Thomas was selected from 44 applications filed by those interested in a career in law enforcement.

Thomas, one of six children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thomas, the Cove, is a 1976 graduate of Northern High School, where he finished in the top ten percent of the class. He is a 1980 graduate of West Virginia University, where he obtained a bachelor of science degree in recreation (forestry and park management). He is a member of Xi Sigma Pi, the national forestry honorary.

His most recent job was as a seasonal park ranger at Herrington Manor State Park.

He is a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, and is superintendent of the Sunday School there.

Thomas says he is excited about the prospect of working with the sheriff's department and is looking forward to 14 weeks of training at the police academy at Hagerstown. He will leave Monday for his training.

After his training the new deputy will be stationed in the northern part of the county, according to Sheriff Finch.

In his spare time, Thomas enjoys making furniture in his woodworking shop and collecting stamps.

County Employees Receive Raises

Nonunion county employees received a raise at the beginning of this year, but it was not an across-the-board amount as in previous years due to a new employee evaluation policy.

The new policy means county employees will be evaluated annually on their performance by their supervisors who will determine what sort of raise they will receive.

This year the commissioners budgeted a four percent increase per employee, but some received less and others more.

The evaluations were authorized by the county commissioners whose term ended in 1982 as part of the personnel and policies and procedures manual adopted in 1982.

The purpose of the performance evaluations, as listed in the county manual, is to assist: employees in determining work performance for the rating period, which ends each year at the end of November; the administration in determining who is to receive a merit increase at the end of the period, and in consideration of someone to fill a vacant position.

County personnel officer Paul Shockey said he believes the system will prove to be successful. "This system is more in line with other counties in the state," he said.

The policy affects 69 county employees, including department directors who will be evaluated differently from those they supervise.

Department directors, who each received a four percent salary increase as of January 1, 1983, are now compiling a set of goals and cost management plans for 1983. At the end of the year, they will individually discuss with the commissioners what they accomplished.

The commissioners will then evaluate the directors. In their evaluation, the commissioners will consider each director's success in cost management and administration/management skills, attitude, safety, relationship with others and appearance.

In evaluating persons they supervise, department directors are to consider quality of work, attendance, job knowledge, attitude, quantity of work, versatility, initiative and personal appearance.

Shockey noted some employees did not receive a raise at all because they had opted to receive a raise on July 1, 1982 with union employees who received an automatic raise. He added that the nonunion employees who received the raise in July also gave up a $250 bonus in December.

Shockey noted the last general salary increase for nonunion county employees was June 30, 1980, although some employees began receiving higher annual salaries as of July 1, 1982 due to the recent reclassification of county personnel.

State's Attorney Position Becomes Full Time Post

As of January 1, the office of state's attorney for Garrett County became a full-time position for James Sherbin, who was elected to his second term in the fall of 1982.

Sherbin has reassigned his private law practice, now that his sole responsibility is that of prosecution of criminal cases in the county for the state of Maryland.

According to Sherbin, "The dimensions and duties of the office have become so involved and so time consuming that it's made the position a full time one. I'm very excited about the opportunity to become more personally involved in complete research, and to be able to take part in statewide activities."

A NEW SCHOOL FOR A NEW YEAR — Second grader Layne Wassell marks the real opening of the new Accident Elementary School as he walks through the school doors Monday morning to be greeted by principal Robert Wilson and The Republican photographer waiting to record the first student to enter the school. Students attended classes in the old elementary school until Christmas break and upon return from their vacation began classes in the new building located outside Accident on the Accident-Bittinger Road.

Raileys Withdraw Part Of Request For Variances

Representatives of Railey, Inc. have withdrawn part of an application after a public hearing conducted December 16 by the Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals.

Raileys had requested a variance from the lake zoning ordinance which requires that land in one ownership not be divided by a street right of way, but withdrew this part of the application as they felt the zoning appeals board did not as yet have enough information to make a decision. The Raileys indicated at the time they withdrew their request for this variance that they plan to resubmit the request at a later date.

The board had already made a decision on the segment of the application which had sought a variance from the land area required for constructing single-family residences.

The zoning board agreed to grant the variance for five lots which had been "grandfathered" because they were existing at their present size before the zoning ordinances were adopted. These lots were reduced in size when the state highway administration put the new highway through Route 219, and took a segment from each lot. The zoning board granted the variance provided the Raileys add the amount of land which will make the lots equal to their original sizes.

Man Charged With Sexual Assault, Abuse

A Hutton man was arrested December 30 on charges of sexual assault and child abuse of a 12-year-old female.

The Garrett County sheriff's department arrested Clarence Daniel Crosco, 64, on the above charges and placed him in the county jail. Crosco was later released on his own recognizance pending trial.

His arrest followed a three-week investigation by Criminal investigator M. Van Evans, who was alerted to the situation by an anonymous phone call to the Social Services Department December 9.

Commissioners To Attend MACO Winter Convention

The Garrett County commissioners, Ernest Gregg and Elwood Groves, will be travelling to Baltimore after their Tuesday meeting to attend the annual winter convention for the Maryland Association of Counties.

The commissioners will be in Baltimore from the evening of January 11 to January 14.

Some of the subjects of seminars offered to those attending the convention will be sludge disposal, county government finances, public ethics, freedom of information, public official liability in the '80s and how to deal with the press.

Commissioner John Braskey, who is still under a physician's care, will not attend the convention.

County Native Is Promoted By Farm Credit Bank

J. Robert Frazee has been promoted to the position of assistant vice president in the Credit Administration Department at the Farm Credit Bank in Baltimore.

Frazee, a native of Friendsville, attended University of Maryland where he received a bachelor's degree in agriculture and extension education in 1977. He is enrolled in the master's program at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

Frazee joined Farm Credit Bank in June, 1977, as a field

Oakland Notified That Moratorium Now Reinstated

A total moratorium on sewerage taps has been reinstated on the town of Oakland, according to a letter received by Mayor H.D. Swartzentruber in December.

That letter, dated November 22, said that in light of recent judicial decisions, total moratorium conditions are indicated where systems "are inadequate or overloaded to the extent that continuous raw sewerage overflows exist."

In conclusion, the letter said that as long as daily raw sewerage overflows continue, the law does not allow for special consideration based on progress toward compliance.

The correspondence was from Dane S. Bauer, program administrator, inspection and compliance program, Office of Environmental Programs, Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Oakland had been allowed to give ten taps per year during its partial moratorium, and has permissiion from state officials to allocate those remaining from 1982.

The town has entered into an agreement with Sterling Processing to purchase facilities to treat sewerage. As yet, the state has not set reasonable guidelines for effluent discharge into the Youghiogheny River or the Little Yough, making it difficult for the town to meet the stringent parameters. Additional equipment to treat the sewerage may have to be installed at the plant before the effluent could be discharged into the river.

Reference in Bauer's letter to judicial decisions refers to a recent case on the eastern shore in which the judge found that a moratorium, by definition, is a complete halt to allocating sewerage taps.

Loch Lynn Council Discusses SSES

Members of the Loch Lynn town council met with Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator, Monday evening to discuss completion of a Sewer System Evaluation Survey (SSES) for the town.

Figures show that completion of all needed work would cost the community $286,836. That would also include work in Shady Acres, Broad Ford and Southern Middle Schools, Broadford Park, and the Trout Run interceptor line by Bausch and Lomb.

The work needed in the town of Loch Lynn would account for 84 percent of the total amount. A large portion of these costs, or more than $50,000, would be considered ineligible for state and federal grants for sewer rehabiliation, since the work is on private properties.

The town will be making decisions soon on whether each property owner must be responsible for the costs of repairs on his property, and whether to seek grant funding for the system in order to complete the work at one time.

The town had been mapping out a program which would allow the town to complete the

Colleen Eddy Is Selected As All-American Collegiate Cheerleader

Colleen Eddy, daughter of Russ and Doris Eddy, Lyndale Road, has become Garrett County's only All-American, not once, but twice.

Miss Eddy, who is a student at the University of South Alabama, was recently selected by the National Cheerleaders Association as one of ten female cheerleaders named 1982-83 All-American Collegiate Cheerleaders. Ten male cheerleaders were also selected.

The NCA Selection Board made its All-American selection from over 2,000 cheerleaders representing more than 250 universities and colleges in the United States. Miss Eddy and the 19 other All-Americans were chosen for their decidedly above average technical and physical cheerleading skills, dedication, enthusiasm and leadership abilities.

Miss Eddy was a junior at Southern High School in 1978 when she was selected as one of 14 high school cheerleaders nationwide to the National Cheerleaders Association All-American High School Cheerleading Squad. At that time she was awarded a $1000-cash scholarship to the school of her choice and an all-expense paid trip to Mobile, Ala., for a week to cheer at the 1979 Senior Bowl. Southern High School's cheerleading squad also received $500.

In 1979, Miss Eddy was named first runner-up in the Maryland Junior Miss Pageant and won a four-year scholarship to the University of South Alabama. At USA, she is the captain of the cheerleaders for the second year, a member of the Communications Club and was selected Sweetheart of Kappa Sigma fraternity. In her free time she is an instructor for the American School of Gymnastics.

Mt. Lake Plans Public Hearing On Rezoning Petition

The Mt. Lake Park Mayor and Town Council will hold a public hearing January 13, at 6:30 p.m., in the town hall to review a petition by the town's planning commission concerning the King's Hills Estate subdivision.

The planning commission has recommended that the subdivision be rezoned from suburban residential to town residential.

The council has said it believes a mistake was made in the original zoning rules, since many of the subdivision's lots fail to meet the minimum 18,000 square foot size needed for suburban residential. The discrepancy was discovered only recently, when an application for construction of a single-family dwelling was requested, and county zoning administrator John Nelson found that part of the subdivision had never been recorded in the clerk's office. At this time it was also discovered that the lot size for many homes in the subdivision fail to meet the suburban residential requirements.

The town residential classification requires 12,000 square foot lots. The subdivision was annexed by Mt. Lake Park in the early 1970s.

Weather

Clear tonight with lows around 20. Mostly sunny Thursday. Highs in the upper 30s.

Mostly sunny Friday. Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday. Mild days with highs averaging from the mid 40s in the Maryland mountains to the low to mid 50s elsewhere. Lows ranging in the 30s.

Man "Stable," One Arrested After Shooting

A Crellin man, Michael Lynn Sisler, remains in the intensive care unit at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in stable but guarded condition after he was shot during an argument with a man from Horse Shoe Run, W. Va.

According to the Garrett County sheriff's department, the incident occurred on the last day of 1982, about 11:25 p.m. The sheriff's department was assisted by the Maryland State Police.

The report noted that Sisler was riding in a car driven by James Edward Patton, 35, Horse Shoe Run, along Route 219. Patton and Sisler had been arguing, according to Sisler's report, and when the vehicle reached a spot near the Silver Knob Road, Patton stopped the vehicle and the two got out and began fighting.

Patton then allegedly shot the victim in the left abdomen with a small calibre handgun, and then got in the vehicle and drove back toward West Virginia.

Sisler got to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Hinebaugh along Route 219 and asked for assistance. Mrs. Hinebaugh called the Central Alarm, and the Southern Rescue Squad and police units were sent to the scene.

Local authorities requested the help of Preston County Police, who arrested Patton without incident at his home a short while later.

Patton was incarcerated in the Preston County jail until he waived extradition to this county on Monday. He is being held in the county jail in lieu of $25,000 cash bond pending a trial on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Johnson Drops Zoning Request

Robert W. Johnson, who had asked last November that the town of Oakland amend its zoning ordinance so that property at 737 E. Oak Street could be zoned commercial, withdrew his request at a public hearing Monday evening.

Some 42 citizens had turned up for the meeting but their testimony was forestalled by receipt of a letter delivered by Johnson, in which he withdrew his request.

In the letter, Johnson said that he had talked with several residents in the vicinity of his recently purchased property, and no one seemed opposed to his erecting a building to house a small store, selling milk, ice cream, bread, eggs, etc., and the installation of self-service gasoline pumps.

However, he went on to say that an adjacent commercial property owner had gone door to door misrepresenting Johnson's intentions, and that in light of this misinformation he was withdrawing his request. The property is presently zoned town residential.

The town also considered its own proposal to amendment Section 706A regarding general sign regulations. The town agreed to amend the ordinance at the request of two businesses, who have asked that perpendicular signs approximately 3 by 5 feet in size, be erected over their properties.

The new regulation says that signs no more than 15 square feet, erected no more than four feet from the building and no fewer than eight feet from the ground, could be erected if properly anchored and maintained. Such signs cannot be over eight inches in thickness.

The Oakland planning commission had met last week to consider the two amendments, and suggested to the council that the sign amendment be made. Their decision on the Johnson request, however, was not noted as the applicant withdrew his request.

Council Meets

The mayor and council of the town met for a lengthy discussion of various matters following the public hearing Monday.

The town is calling a special meeting to be held January 17 at 6:30 p.m. to consider the award of contracts for legal work and project administration for the sewerage treatment plant.

Morgan France, of Franklin Associates Engineering company, has written letters to numerous residents in outlying areas of the town, such as Rosedale and Mitchell Manor, to determine if these people would like to obtain sewerage service from the town.

The name of Mrs. E.I Baumgartner will be presented to the Community Action Committee for membership on the board. Mrs. Baumgartner was recommended by the town officials.

Randy Rodeheaver, of McLaughlin, Reineke & Associates, informed the council that computerization of the town's water bills could take nearly a year. It is anticipated that records from one water service book will be entered into the computers by the time the March billing is due.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to closed door discussion of various matters.

Car Fires Keep Firefighters Busy

Several vehicle fires were reported to area fire departments during the past week, two of which were investigated by Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties.

Oakland firefighters responded to the Cranesville Road on Thursday at 4:21 p.m. after fire was discovered in a van parked along the roadway. The owner of the vehicle, Roger Crosco, of Oakland, was reportedly hunting with friends at the time near Youghiogheny Mountain Resort. The van was destroyed.

Carola said the cause of the fire is still under investigation, however at this time he does not suspect foul play.

On Sunday at 12:05 p.m., Oakland VFD responded to another vehicle fire, this one along the Herrington Manor Road just west of the Youghiogheny River. A Dodge pickup truck, owned by Gary Pritts, Oakland, stalled out and Pritts walked to a nearby residence for assistance. In the meantime, fire ignited under the hood of the vehicle and a passerby phoned in the alarm. The truck sustained severe damage.

Deer Park firemen responded to a vehicle fire on the Sand Flat Road Monday at 5:19 p.m. The Chevrolet Malibu was being driven by John Pritts, Sand Flat Road, when fire broke out under the hood. Carola, who investigated, stated that a malfunctioning carburetor was responsible for the blaze.

Gorman firefighters responded to a brush fire along the Wayne Harvey Road off Rt. 560 Monday afternoon at 1:22. About five acres were burned. Firemen remained on the scene for about one hour.

A house fire was reported on Stockslager Road on New Year's Day, exactly one year after the lives of two persons were claimed in a structure fire on Stockslager Road. The 2:52 p.m. fire was quickly brought under control with a garden hose, however, and units from Oakland were cancelled. Deep Creek VFD responded to the scene. Further details were unavailable.

Deputies Investigate Theft, Destruction Reports This Week

Members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department are investigating a breaking, entering and theft and a destruction of property incident which were reported in the past few days.

On January 3, between 11 a.m. and 2:45 p.m., unknown persons entered the Charles Thomas Keefe residence off Mayhew Inn Road and ransacked the house.

Missing items included 200 Susan B. Anthony dollars, Eisenhower dollars, Kennedy half dollars, assorted change, a small ivory box containing old pennies, Buffalo nickels, Liberty head nickels, and white Indian head pennies; $15 in silver certificates, $300 of assorted paper currency, three wrist watches, one pocket watch, one gold ruby ring, and several tie tacs.

Deputy Richard Kutchman is investigating. Entry was made by kicking in a panel of the kitchen door.

On December 27, Stanley Forest Radcliff, Jr., Cumberland, reported that his cottage on Poulan Run South near Deep Creek Lake had seven windows shot out. The sheriff's report, filed by Deputy P.J. Pratt, indicated the damage was apparently done by a BB gun. Replacement value was set at $195.

Anyone with information about the above is asked to call the sheriff's department, 334-2141, or Crime Solvers, at 334-3111.

Wanted: Teachers . . .

Among the unsettling news items released yesterday by United Press International was one concerning the quantity and quality of future school teachers in the United States. A recent study by the National Center for Education Statistics revealed that only 13.7 percent of the nation's high school seniors plan to become teachers. Just ten years ago that figure was 24.8 percent.

The same study also showed that prospective teachers now have lower scores on reading, vocabulary and math tests than students interested in pursuing other careers.

The obvious prediction is that we will experience not only a shortage of teachers, but the quality of the teachers we do have will be diminished.

This situation should not be taken lightly, for if we think we have problems in this country now, just wait to see what happens as the quality of education decreases. We have stated several times in the past that teaching is the single most important job in existence. Without teachers, there would be no doctors, lawyers or even Indian chiefs. Ninety-five percent of society would be illiterate.

According to the National Education Association the reason for this dramatic decline in the number of high school students desiring to become teachers is because of the low salaries of teachers relative to those of numerous other fields. The more capable students are therefore pursuing the engineering, medical and business fields. We tend to agree with the NEA's conclusion.

There is not a single person who is in teaching for the money, because it simply is not there. People do not become wealthy just by teaching. That leads us to conclude that most persons who become teachers do so because they want to teach. Most, we believe, want to be good teachers. There will always be some, though, who are attracted to the profession because of the lengthy summer vacation and because one can get by as a teacher by doing an absolute minimum of work and still keep his job once he obtains tenure.

The solution? It is difficult to say, but we believe that more attractive salaries for teachers are a must. Along with that, however, in order to eliminate some of the dead wood, tougher standards by colleges in the education curriculum would help.

Responsible Choices . . .

by Carol Fox

Dateline—McHenry, Md.

A tavern owner in this resort community, Evelyn Weissgerber, proprietress of Wynlyns Edge Restaurant, has initiated a program to help protect her patrons from driving while drunk, in view of the extensive efforts of Maryland law enforcement officers to curb the drunken driving syndrome.

The establishment now offers a late night breakfast, with serving beginning at 1 a.m. It's a wise and sensible move for a tavern owner to make, and, hopefully, others will follow Ms. Weissgerber's excellent example, since lounges and bars have the inherent obligation to share responsibilities associated with alcohol consumption.

The choice to offer breakfast food after 1 a.m. is probably not the most convenient one a restaurant owner can make, but, according to the latest National Highway Safety Council statistics, serving of food before and during drinking reduces the blood alcohol content by as much as one half. Food serves as a cushion in the stomach against the rapid absorption of alcohol in the body.

Another tavern owner in Sykesville has posted a sign in his bar that says: "Please read: The police are cracking down on drunken drivers. We don't want you to be one of them. Please don't overindulge in drinking.

"If you think you've had too much, the waitress or bartender will give you free coffee. If we think you've had too much, we're going to cut you off."

Since the war against drunken drivers and senseless highway death is not going to disappear, responsible tavern owners should now accept the option to board the band wagon in support of sensible drinking and safe driving.

Letters to the Editor

To The Garrett County Commissioners via the Editor:

Do we have men in the county commissioners' office who have the interests of Garrett County residents at heart? I feel we do!

In this time of unemployment and the shaky economy, I appeal to each of you responsible men to give due consideration to the Deep Creek Sewer Basin Project. The last published cost of the construction of said project is well beyond 17 million dollars. We can be pretty sure this will be far short of the final cost. A retired construction engineer was quoted as having said that the cost of the entire system, in all phases, would near the $80,000,000 mark. He probably is more nearly right than what he will be given credit for.

Grants would take care of much of this cost. What is a grant? It is something we citizens pay for in the end. Someone said it is like cutting a dog's tail off and feeding it to him for supper. For the many who have already installed their own sewage systems, this would be an unnecessary financial burden. It seems that only a few would really benefit from this, and their neighbors, who are really not financially able, must share in their expense.

Where sewage is a problem in our country, let it be required that the responsible home and business owners correct their situations at their own expense.

Many citizens in the area foresee what this will do to them rather than for them. I wish to express my concern for their welfare, and enter with those who quietly hope and with those who vocally express their desires for our esteemed commissioners to function to the best interests of the citizens of Garrett County in this issue. Our prayers be with you.

Sincerely submitted,
Pastor G.K. Hixon

Dear Editor:

Thank goodness for Elwood Groves! We the undersigned citizens want to thank Mr. Groves for his kindly help to our critical problem.

We had a poor road condition on the Mason School Road, concerning a windrow of dirt that the roads department graded off and hauled away on a side of a hill that has been a bad one for years. The dirt was acting as a stopping point for a long time. The main concern was they didn't put anything in place of the dirt.

The citizens in Garrett County know that the excuse is they're out of money. They would have been a little further in the red if a school bus with children or a couple of cars would have gone over the hill.

I'm sure it was an order from the so-called supervisor that they have filling the position now at the GCRD at Oakland.

So Mr. Groves took command of our problem right away. He kept in touch with us by phone calls and etc. That is what we call a concerned county commissioner.

We know there is more weeding out to do at the GCRD at Oakland. We hope the three commissioners get the right person this time.

We want to thank the road workers for working on this problem last week and weeks before that. It will sure help everyone who travels this road. We all know it is just poor management and not the workers' fault.

To the Editor:

This letter is about an ordinary occurence of a family who lost their dog. To this family it was a heartbreaking experience. I know, because this was my father's dog, Kilroy. This letter is a plea to the public to help us find Kilroy.

He is a beautiful, very friendly, five-year-old Husky, Collie, and Shepherd mixed dog. He is black and light tan and has a lazy right ear. He had on a flea collar and choker chain. We lost him in September at Stony River, Mt. Storm Power Station area.

The reason I am so concerned is because of the effect this has had on my father. I have never seen a man so upset over loosing a pet. He has lost many nights of sleep trying to think of ways to find Kilroy. We have run ads in several newspapers, put up posters, and had reports on radio stations.

We have offered rewards. We have had dozens of calls. Each time my dad took off work and drove hours to look at lost dogs. None have been Kilroy.

My parents had planned a Florida vacation for several years. This was cancelled because of the time dad had spent away from work and the money in gas and ads in search of Kilroy.

We are offering a reward to anyone who locates Kilroy or gives us information leading to his return. We know someone may have found him and become attached to him. We would appreciate his return and with no questions asked. We would be grateful to you for caring for him. Our number is (304) 366-4787. Call collect. Our address is Route 3, Box 277-A, Fairmont, W. Va. 26554.

I hope someone can help us get Kilroy back. We miss him. I would like to see my dad happy again. Thank you.

Yours truly,
Debra K. Musgrove

Dear Editor:

The county commissioners are going to remove our dumpsters farther from county lines and reduce the number. This makes farther runs for people on fixed income. These dumpsters are a boost to Garrett County. A lot of people misused and abused these sites.

Ashes hot or cold do not belong in these bins. Old lumber is an eye sore to some. I wish they could see the beauty in it, when it is cleaned. Valuable items can be made from scraps: wormy chestnut, you bet. Lumber is expensive. And if not wanted makes excellent fertilizer when burned. You buy potash, why? You have discarded lots of it in that lumber.

When dumpsters arrived, we soon had more added as people from other counties were using them, if you find our dumpsters so beneficial, why don't you get your own? Or pay the Garrett County commissioners the tax money it costs all of Garrett County to remove and haul your trash from our dumpsters. You sure make our county look like it belongs in the Book of World Records as the World's No. 1 most trash producer.

I might add it would help save tax dollars by placing your trash in the bin, not half in and half out. The more on the ground takes extra hours to clean up and more time means higher amount of tax dollars we have to pay out.

We all have to shape up in 1983 or lose our dumpsters for good, and end up with littered highways.

To the Editor:

I'd like to speak about World Hunger. It's terrible for sure. This is not for the politician, but for the very very poor. I know there're a lot of people who have less than I do, but in this economy next it might be you. With interest, inflation and multiplying jobless rates our government just sits by as the banks put our own out on the streets. Just take a trip to the "Windy" or the "Sunshine State." Where people are under cardboard houses and eating dog food for the main course. I'm not speaking of a foreign country, but our own back porch because now we're among the numbers of the "hungry and the poor."

Congress had a "Lame Duck Session;" lame, indeed. Had no time for social security to help our old and poor. But when time came to send billions to a parasite on our wealth that became a major issue and the "Duck" just gave. Generosity is a fine thing as I'm sure we all have given! Like giving our politicians a pay raise for this fine mess we're in. The next time you're feeling humble or want to feed the poor, just keep your help here at home and "sweep our own back porch."

work over a period of several years, as local funds become available. A schedule of this type would permit the town to complete the work without increasing the debt load on the 175 sewer users in the community.

Beitzel presented a breakdown of user costs and noted that these would increase approximately $12 per homeowner per year if a grant could be obtained from the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene to complete the work. No grant funds appear to be available at present, however.

Monday's meeting followed a December 9 public hearing, when 15 town residents turned out to hear information on the Upper Youghiogheny SSES.

At that meeting, Beitzel presented a report by Andrews, Miller and Associates, in which the firm recommends that the commission proceed with repair of existing lines rather than enlargement of the Trout Run treatment plant. That report outlines extensive problems with the sewer including infiltration and inflow from roof drains and recommends that these problems be eliminated so that the plant need not be enlarged.

Loch Lynn has already begun work on several of the critical problem areas outlined in the report.

A program on "Resources in Garrett County" will be presented by Marilyn Metheny, director of the Garrett County Commission on Aging.

Persons wishing to become members of the organization are invited to attend the meetings, which are held on the second Thursday of each month, according to Janice Hanline, president.

Job Program Has New Features

Youth employability programs of the Board of Education have been providing world of work training and experience for the last three years for disadvantaged students. This year the youth employability program includes several new features, says John Ledden, youth employability specialist.

The Board of Education has received two grants through the efforts of the youth employability office which total a little more than $71,000. One grant from the Western Maryland Consortium follows several of the guidelines of the new Job Training Partnership Act which replaces the former CETA legislation. The second grant from the Youth Employability Branch of the Maryland State Department of Education is designated for "Instructional Improvement".

Ledden is responsible for the implementation of these grants as part of the instruction curriculum under the direction of Albert R. Ringer, assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction.

New features of this years youth employability program include:

1. A nine-week planned sequence of on-the-job experience at a training site or station. This experience is identified as an "Employability Skills Practicum". A training-site agreement will be signed by the training-site supervisor, the student, his/her parent and the school principal. This agreement outlines the type of job experience training which the student will receive at this training site or station. This practicum allows a student to explore up to four types of job training experience during a full school year.

2. A $2.00 training allowance is provided for eligible youth. In the past, work experience programs required the payment of the minimum wage of $3.35 per hour. Under the new provision of the job training partnership, students may receive a $2.00 per hour training allowance for time actually involved in training on the job. Students do not receive any allowance for any classroom training.

3. Training sites may be in either the public or private sector. In the past, participants could only be placed in public, non-profit institutions. Now any business, agency, or institution may become a training site as long as they are willing to provide an approved sequence of job training for the student. There is no cost to the employer when this job training is provided and the employer has an advantage of benefitting from the services that the student is able to render while learning.

4. A job referral service is available to all students through the youth employability office. This service provides assistance to students to find job openings and to prepare for interviews. For the employer, the service provides screening of applicants based on the resources of school information to match the student to the right job.

Follow-up counseling is available to assist the student and employer so the student can progress on the job. It is planned to develop this job referral service to assist in identifying available part-time jobs for in-school youth and full-time jobs for graduates and those who find it necessary to leave school early. This service will be coordinated with Ron Kuhn, high school vocational placement counselor and Mrs. Bonnie Swyter, job/training specialist of the youth employability office.

The youth employability instructional improvement will provide for two main efforts this year. A job-oriented basic math course will be offered as a pilot section of basic math 10. This is being developed with the assistance of the math teachers in each high school. Job math 10 will provide increased opportunity for the students to relate basic math skills to the requirements of the type of job they anticipate in their career plan.

The second instructional improvement effort will provide time for teachers, counselors and administration to study and develop a possible program of studies that a student could follow in grades 9-12. A group of students, possibly as large as 15 percent of the high school population, often express frustrations because they are not ready to select a particular vocational program and yet they anticipate some type of job when they graduate. These students do not plan to go to college and some even wonder why they should stay in school.

David Hornbeck, state superintendent of schools, in a policy statement of the Maryland State Board of Education, indicates that following basic skills, employability skills for the world of work which "assist in securing employment upon graduation for all who wish it" is the second priority in the "mission of schooling". The high school principals, Luther Parrack, Southern, and Ed Green, Northern, have expressed a need for a program of studies that will "track" students through high school with this objective in mind.

Ledden will serve as facilitator working with Robert Rodeheaver, director of secondary education, and the high school principals to direct the combined efforts of teachers and other school staff to address the need of these non-vocational, job-oriented general education students. An effort will be made to develop a core curriculum program of studies that will offer opportunities for job-oriented basic instruction, job explorations and experience and flexibility to allow for the fulfillment of a greater number of individual needs.

Employers interested in more information about the opportunities of becoming a training site for the employability skills practicum or the job referral service can contact the youth employability office at the Board of Education at telephone 334-8121, Ext., 52 or 53.

Second Impression

TV news: The arrogance and the ecstasy

by Harry Fox

"What ABC or CBS or NBC says is news, is news," says Av Westin, executive producer for ABC news. Westin has made a great discovery which he shares (for $15.95) in a 267 page "script" from Simon and Schuster entitled Newswatch: How TV Decides the News.

Pardon me if I don't kneel.

In commenting on the popularity of TV news, Westin says "there is a reality out there (in the world of journalism) and we're it." The view of the network newsroom that unfolds in Westin's book is an insider's look at the conferences, the decision-making, and the technology of video reporting.

Scriptwriter Westin revels in the momentous discovery over which, he confides, he feels no shame. In the process of selecting, covering and producing the tightly edited shreds of news that make up an average 30-minute newscast, he tells us that there is a lot of decision-making going on—that newsgatherers become newsmakers.

Now I feel better. I never knew that.

Westin embraces such unique facets of his business as the anchor personality and the "star" system of correspondents as part of its success. (TV news serves as the primary news source for 80%-plus of the American public.)

So, concludes author Westin, if it's successful, keep on doing it.

I agree completely.

In the best tradition of the showman, Av Westin rejects questions about the problems in the industry, and looks instead to "popularity" as the strongest card he has to play.

But, somewhere between the arrogance and the ecstasy of the television networks are some nagging doubts that won't go away. If TV news is so completely satisfying to the intellectual palates of America, why then is everyone doing so much reading? Why does the Gannett corporation launch a new, national daily newspaper like U.S.A. Today? Why write a book, after all?

Of course, electronic news is here to stay—and with splendid results. To its credit, TV journalists have done much to popularize interest in world affairs.

But the result, it seems to me, has been to widen, not restrict, the focus of the public appetite for news. Spurred on by the snappy, tight style of video, traditional "vertical" columns of progressive newspapers are being replaced by strong visual elements, bigger print, shorter stories and better page design. And, contrary to Westin's "big boy" theory, much of the nation's press is being transformed at the grassroots. Countless small weeklies and dailies are moving into the 80s in the lead of their bigger counterparts. The results: new looks, improved printing, and better readers with better taste.

Mr. Westin's power play seems to forget that while his medium is shaping the news, the future of technology promises an audience with more, not less, choice in programming.

The ultimate irony is videotext, where viewers use their TV screens to turn the pages of—an electronic newspaper!

Announce Changes In Blood Donor Eligibility Rules

The American Red Cross has made several changes in donor eligibility says Norma Hesen, chairman for the Oakland area blood donor program. These changes will be used during the bloodmobile's regular visit to Oakland on Friday, Jan. 7, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Eighth Street.

The impact of these changes are to be evaluated in three months. Red Cross officials say some of these changes may not be permanent.

The changes in donor eligibility are as follows:

Individuals with a history of stroke, who recovered without any disability, can donate three years after the occurrence.

Local, bursa, articular, corticosteroids use is not a reason for deferral. Reason for use of steroid should be checked and decision made on its merits.

Donors with asymptomatic mitral prolapse can be accepted. Same goes for asymptomatic heart murmurs.

Donors who had cardiovascular surgery with a favorable, asymptomatic post op period of three years, can be accepted.

Donors with a previous history of convulsions with no seizures in the last three years, who are not taking any medication, could donate if highly motivated.

Highly motivated donors weighing 105-109 pounds can be accepted. One should, however, be informed that there is an increased risk of reaction in lightweight donors.

Asymptomatic donors with infrequent pulse irregularity, younger than 35 years, could be accepted provided heart disease is ruled out. Mobile Unit Supervisor or physician should examine the candidate.

Donors younger than 35, free of infection or any disease, could be accepted if the pulse is in the 100-120 range. The pulse usually slows down if they sit down and relax for awhile.

Low diastolic blood pressure in not a criteria for deferral provided systolic is acceptable. Symptoms of recent fainting and dizziness should be considered in the decision. Repeat donors who have donated successfully in the past, can donate if systolic blood pressure is at least 95 mm/Hg.

Some deferrals in hemoglobin occur not because of anemia, but because of faulty technique in obtaining the blood. Only free-flowing blood from the puncture allows reliable measurement. Squeezing the finger or ear lobe "to get enough blood" will invariably alter the results.

Donors in good health in all counts can donate up to the age of 68 without physician's note, provided cardiovascular disease is totally ruled out.

In some of the above cases, Hesen said donors will be asked to acquire their physician's approval before giving blood.

I ♥ My IRA

An individual retirement account gives you a double tax break today and financial security tomorrow . . . two good reasons why we hear more people say . . .

Why give away your money in TAXES when you could be investing it? With a First National IRA, any wage earner can put away up to $2,000 each year—without losing a penny of it to the Internal Revenue Service. For example, an individual in the 30% tax bracket—having taxable income of about $18,000—would save $600.00 in taxes each year by putting $2,000 into his IRA. If he would choose not to invest that $2,000, Uncle Sam would take $600.00 in taxes, leaving the individual only $1,400 of his $2,000. Of course, the tax savings would be 30 cents on every dollar he puts into his IRA—so even if he couldn't invest the full $2,000, any amount he could put aside would help!

On top of that, the government will allow your IRA interest to grow and compound tax free until you begin to take withdrawals. You may begin to withdraw any amount you wish, at any time you wish, between the ages of 59½ and 70½ at which time you'll presumably be in a much lower tax bracket. If you make a withdrawal before you've reached age 59½, you pay a 10% penalty on the amount withdrawn, and that amount also becomes taxable as ordinary income.

Have it your way

We have a broad range of investment options available for your IRA—even one which can get you started for $10.00. You can choose the one that suits you. Remember—even if you can't invest the full $2,000 you are allowed each year, or if you choose to skip some years, the tax savings and growth potential are still very great.

So, before you send in your 1982 Federal Income Tax Return, come in and find out how much you'll benefit by opening an IRA at First National.

Stop in—have a cup of coffee on us!

We'd love to explain the various IRA plans available to you. With an IRA from First National, you'll be deferring taxes, greatly increasing your savings and planning for your very special retirement. In fact you may be so happy you'll want to say . . .

Old Man Winter Visits The South

Old Man Winter seems to have gone south for awhile as rain drenched Gator Bowl spectators and Texans found snow on their cars New Year's Day. Meanwhile, Garrett County seems to have had an invisible umbrella up all week for no precipitation was recorded from Wednesday to today by weather watchers at Webers' weather station.

Temperatures have been seasonal if precipitation hasn't. Wednesday was the warmest day of the week with a high of 65 degrees and overnight low of 34 degrees.

Thursday dipped down to a high of 35 degrees and a low of 23 degrees.

The high was warmer and the low colder on Friday as Webers recorded a high of 44 degrees and a low of 22 degrees.

The high for both Saturday and Sunday was 39 degrees, but the low was 23 degrees Saturday and 26 degrees Sunday.

Monday's high temperature hit 34 degrees after climbing from a low of 24 degrees.

Tuesday's high temperature went up from a low of 8 degrees to a high of 36 degrees.

The overnight low was 9 degrees.

CHECKING IT OUT — Magician Ben Sincell gives a metal ring to a senior citizen to inspect during one of three magic shows performed Friday, December 31, at nursing homes in Garrett County. "But, you see," said Sincell, when the woman found no holes in the ring, "there is one big hole, right in the middle!" Sincell performed two afternoon magic shows—one at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home and one at Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home in the Oakland area, and one evening show at the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home in Grantsville. All three shows were sponsored by the Mt. Top Chapter 29, Disabled American Veterans.

ENERGY TIP: Eat well-balanced, nutritional meals to allow the body to produce its own heat efficiently.

TIPS FOR LOSING WEIGHT

After all the holiday festivities, many of us feel the necessity to shed some of the extra pounds gained. Losing weight is not easy, but it can be done. Here are some tips that might help:

•Plan your meals and snacks ahead of time. Haphazard eating is often high-calorie eating.

•Write your shopping list when you're not hungry, and go grocery shopping on a full stomach. That way you won't be tempted to buy extra goodies.

•Cut back on high-calorie snack foods. If you have to buy them for the rest of your family, store them out of sight.

•Eat only when sitting at the kitchen or dining room table—instead of nibbling while doing other things.

•Allow yourself only one moderate serving. Try portioning out your food before bringing it to the table.

•Use smaller dinner plates than usual to make your portion look larger.

•Eat slowly so you'll feel full. Savor and enjoy every bite of food. Try putting your fork down between bites if that helps you slow down. Sip rather than gulp your beverage.

•Choose foods that you'll have to work at eating. For example, it takes longer to eat an orange than to drink a glass of orange juice.

•When you get the urge to eat between meals, do something else instead. Jog, call a friend, or walk the dog.

•Stop eating when you leave the table. Don't attack the leftovers while clearing the plates.

Remember, eat a balanced diet, cut down on calories, and be patient. Pounds can be lost, but it takes time.

FOOD NOTES

This soup will warm you up on a cold winter day without adding a lot of extra calories:

MANHATTAN CHICKEN CHOWDER

135 calories per serving
½ cup carrots, chopped
½ cup celery, chopped
½ cup turnips, diced
¼ cup onion, chopped
1 cup boiling chicken broth
16-ounce can tomatoes
1/8 teaspoon thyme leaves
1/8 teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups chicken, cooked, diced

Add carrots, celery, turnips, onion, and salt to boiling chicken broth. Cover and boil gently until vegetables are tender, about 10 minutes. Break up large pieces of tomatoes. Add tomatoes, thyme, pepper, and chicken to cooked vegetables. Simmer, covered, 10 minutes to blend flavors. Serve with rye crackers. Have fresh pear wedges for dessert.

Assertiveness Class Scheduled

Assertiveness Training classes will be offered by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College beginning January 14. This six-week course is designed to introduce participants to an open, honest style of communication.

Topics to be discussed include a general introduction to assertiveness, barriers to assertion and anxiety, dealing constructively with anger, communication and conversation skills, dealing with put downs and criticism, and appreciating oneself. A small fee will be charged for the course.

Classes will be held on Friday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon in room 306, Oakland Center of GCC. To register or for further information persons may call 334-9184.

Cancels Meetings

The American Association of Retired Persons will not hold its meeting during the months of January and February. The next meeting will be held March 9 at 1:30 p.m. at the Oakland firehall, weather permitting.

Police Report
Auto Mishaps

An Oakland woman was discharged yesterday from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a single vehicle accident at 1:07 a.m. on January 1.

Carmen Maria Mattson, 31, was operating her vehicle northbound on the Swallow Falls Road, according to Maryland State Police, when the vehicle went off the right side of the roadway. The driver oversteered, crossed the highway in the opposite direction, went over the embankment, struck a guardrail and a utility pole.

The victim was transported to Garrett County Memorial by Southern Rescue Squad.

She was charged by police with negligent driving.

A Thomas, W. Va. man, Stephen Glenn Macklen, 26, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a single-vehicle accident Friday on Rt. 42, north of the Hoyes Road.

Police say the Macklen vehicle failed to negotiate a curve, struck a utility pole, and came to rest in a field.

A Mt. Lake Park man, Robert Glaze, was charged by police on Monday with driving while intoxicated and negligent driving after he struck a fence surrounding a home on the corner of Oak and D Streets in Mt. Lake Park.

According to police and an eyewitness, Glaze struck the fence, went to the door of the home, which is unoccupied, and then left the scene. He contacted the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and told them of the incident, but refused to sign a summons on the case. He was then incarcerated in the county jail.

The property belongs to David Mountain, who formerly resided in the home.

There's something amiss and, frankly, I'm worried.

Have you noticed lately that children are overstepping their limits? I think it's a plot conceived by Gary Coleman to make us adults out as dummies.

First of all, kids don't talk like they used to. When I was a kid, not so long ago, our idea of talking "grown up" was to spit out a few, "Hey man's" and "that's neat."

Yesterday, I overheard a little boy complaining to his playmate that the heat shield on his toy lunar module "was not functioning properly, probably due to increased solar activity."

Well, I thought that was pretty "neat," but where in the heck do little kids get off talking like physicists?

In the good ole days our idea of an accomplishment was getting all the spelling words correct even if we had to cheat off Bertha Butinsky . . . or going an entire school year without a paddling . . . or jumping our bicycles off the end of a plywood plank without breaking our keesters.

Nowadays, little kids are getting on "That's Incredible" because they climbed a mountain or can lift 400 pounds or built their own hot air balloon. I read recently that a 10-year-old boy had been named the youngest life member of the Contract Bridge Association. That impresses the socks off me, considering I can't even cheat an eight-year-old at "Old Maid" without getting caught.

Used to be we had one brilliant child actor like Shirley Temple or Mickey Rooney. Now, every time I turn on the TV there's somebody under the age of six with capped teeth and a captivating personality.

Truly, I'm tired of children with six-figure incomes.

I recently talked with some grade school kids who had won awards at a science fair. When I was in grade school, I always did well with science projects thanks to a father who was not only inventive, but also did most of the work. Our crowning achievement during my grade school career was an ion chamber made with a Mason jar and dry ice. I was hot stuff around the fifth grade for weeks.

"What was your science project?" I asked a young student.

"Basically, it's a new concept for a chain-driven perpetual motion mechanism with a very unique gear ratio," she replied.

"Really! How does it work?" I asked in amazement.

"I'm sorry, I can't answer any more questions and I must refer you to my patent attorney," she said as she mounted her bike, kicked down the training wheels and pedaled down the street. I hope she broke a spoke.

Several months ago the Associated Press published a story about two Chicago boys who filled out their own luggage tickets, stole the family car and headed for the airport where they intended to stow away on a plane bound for Florida. No big deal except these boys were seven and 11 years old.

David, 11, drove the car 4½ hours and covered 35 miles without finding the airport, which was just nine hours away.

When a policeman noticed that the driver of the vehicle was a little short and pulled the kid over, David gave the officer what for. "Gee, what are you stopping us for? Don't you guys have anything better to do?" David was quoted as saying.

I agree. I think the police had better leave little kids alone and not antagonize them. Goodness knows what the little darlings could do if we made them mad.

Court Cases Reviewed

The criminal case docket for Garrett District Court for the December 27 session had one case to report against Frederick Wayne Baker, 29, Oakland.

Baker was charged in October with illegal possession of a controlled drug substance, but the charges were dropped when it was discovered that the substance was prescribed medication.

James Martin Hershman, 20, Swanton, recently pled guilty to charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol in Grant County, W. Va.

Hershman was fined $168 and sentenced to serve 24 hours in the county jail.

Options Listed For Estimated Taxpayers

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reminds 180,000 Maryland taxpayers that they have two options in filing final estimated tax payments for 1982.

Taxpayers may submit fourth quarter declaration of estimated tax payments by Monday, January 17, 1983, or they may wait and file a regular 1982 Maryland income tax return on or before Monday, January 31, 1983.

"Any balance due must be paid in full when filing the regular return," Goldstein said.

Generally, taxpayers who earn income which is not subject to withholding should be filing quarterly declarations of estimated tax if their State and local tax is expected to be more than $100.

County Native Is Named To Position

Penny Farnabai Friend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Friend, Friendsville, has received an internship with the King County Council, Seattle, Washington.

In her new duties, she is responsible for financial compliance audits and performance audits of the operation of the county government; for review and reporting to the council on the effectiveness and efficiency of the program and operations of the county; and for consultation with the county executive about the accounting procedures in the executive branch.

Penny is a graduate of Northern High School, and received her bachelor of arts degree in political science from Frostburg State College, doing her apprenticeship under the supervision of Allegany County State's Attorney Lawrence Kelley, Cumberland.

She did graduate work at the State University of New York at Albany; attended the University of Puget Sound Law School, Tacoma, Washington; and is presently a senior at Washington State University Seattle.

She is the wife of attorney Kenneth W. Farnabai, the daughter-in-law of the Honorable and Mrs. Kenneth J. Farnabai, Ridgewood, N.J., and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Devine, Bradenton, Florida.

TRICKY DICKY (known by his mother as Cephuse Cooper) will be among the Harlem All-Stars who will be competing against the Northern High School Alumni All-Stars in a basketball game next Wednesday, January 12, at Northern High School. Tricky is referred to by his teammates as the "Clown Prince of Basketball" and will coordinate a variety of zany routines during the contest. Among the Northern All-Stars expected to participate are former standouts Gary Reichenbecher, Oren Yoder, Tony Doerr, Dave Bender, and George Edwards. Proceeds from the event will support Northern athletic programs. Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $2.00 for students. Tip-off is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Former Southern Gridder Named To All-Maryland Collegiate Team

Greg Shockey, a student at Frostburg State College and four-year varsity starter on the Bobcat football team, has been selected as an offensive guard on the 1982 All-American College Football Team.

A 1978 graduate of Southern and former standout for the Rams, Shockey is a senior, majoring in business administration. He is a son of Paul Shockey, Oakland, and Janet Shockey, Cumberland.

Head Football Coach, Dean Peterson, in commenting on the 6-3, 220-pound lineman's selection stated, "Greg's performance over the past four years ranks him as one of the best offensive guards to have ever played here. He is an intelligent, deceptively strong, natural blocker and pound for pound hits as hard as anyone I have ever coached. He has been the mainstay of our offensive line and was the real key with our younger players this year in developing the up front blocking that allowed our offensive unit to set school records in most yards passing and rushing in a single season. Greg could play College football at any level and it is approriate that he has been recognized in this manner."

During Shockey's four years at Frostburg the Bobcats compiled a record of 20 wins, 16 losses and two ties.

Two Snowmobile Snow Cross Races Slated This Month

Garrett County will be the site for two snowmobile snow cross races, a winter race similar to a motorcycle motor cross, to be held in January, the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council has announced.

The Pepsi-Deep Creek Lake Invitational Snow Cross will be held on Sunday, Jan. 9, at Double G Ranch, McHenry, near the fairgrounds. The race will offer divisions in amateur, junior, senior and women's classes and cash prizes and trophies will be awarded.

Driver registration will begin at 9 a.m. and run till 12 noon. The race will begin at 1 p.m.

In case of no snow, an alternate date for the race will be Sunday, Jan. 23. The race is co-sponsored by the Pepsi Cola Company and the Deep Creek Lake Snowdrifters Snowmobile Club.

Double G Ranch will also host the Strohs-Maryland State Championship Snow Cross to be held Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 29-30. This race is also sponsored by the Snow Drifters Snowmobile Club along with the Stroh's Brewing Company.

For more information on these races, persons may call 387-5466 or 387-5455 or may contact the Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, Oakland, Md., 21550, phone No. 334-3888.

A BOWLER'S DREAM is to roll a perfect bowling game, a dream which came true for John Sharpless, Mt. Lake park, a month ago when he rolled a 300-point game at Par-Matt Bowling Lanes. Surely, the awards bestowed for such a feat make the achievement much sweeter. Sharpless, above right, received a $300 check from Par-Matt Lanes manager Bill Headley, above left, last week and also a diamond ring from the American Bowling Congress. The lanes are owned by Chet Hale.

Lakers To Host Arch Rival ACC This Evening

The men's basketball team of Garrett Community College returns to action tonight as the Lakers host arch-rival Allegany Community College, Cumberland. Coach Tom Bosley's Lakers are currently 6-4 and have been an "up and down" team. Garrett registered impressive victories over Cecil, Dundalk, and Penn State/Fayette, but lost some games they should have won, according to Bosley, who is in his first year at GCC.

Eric Everhart, Tom Fulwood, and Kip Washington, all freshmen, have paced the team in almost all categories. Everhart is leading the Lakers in scoring with a 19.1 points per game average, Fulwood is second with 14.9 ppg and Washington is third with 11.3 ppg. Everhart is also leading with 41 defensive rebounds along with John Steele who also has 41, and is second behind Steele in offensive rebounds with 21. Washington is pacing the Lakers in assists and steals with 37 of each. Fulwood is second in assists and steals with 24 and 26, respectively, and has also provided 40 defensive rebounds.

"We are a very young team", Bosley said. "At times our defense is super, but we must get more consistency if we are to be more successful". Allegany enters tonight's game with a 10-4 record and an All-American candidate, Brian Waller, who was the Region MVP last year as a freshman. Waller has been recruited by numerous Division I schools and merits national honors.

The Lakers are also home Saturday to host another arch-rival, Potomac State, of Keyser. The Catamounts defeated the Lakers earlier in the year, 92-80. Tip-off time for both home games is 8 p.m.

Southern Frosh Lose

The Southern High freshman basketball team was defeated Monday evening by visiting East Preston, 58-40.

Jeff Sweitzer was the top point-producer for the Rams, finishing with 13 points. Rick Myers, of East Preston, topped all scorers with 15 markers.

Coach Dave Bender's squad plays again this evening at Fort Hill.

Ram Wrestlers Finish Fourth In Nine-Team Event

The Southern High Wrestling team scored a total of 116 points in last week's annual Thomas R. Davis Memorial Wrestling Tournament held at Beall High School, Frostburg, which was good for fourth place overall in the nine-team event.

Host squad Beall won the tourney with 194 points as six of the Mountaineers won championship rounds in their respective weight categories. Placing second was McDonough with 172½ points and third was Meyersdale with 158 points. Berlin finished fifth with 99 points, followed by Allegany, 78½; Smithsburg, 73½; Wheaton, 67½; and Hyndman, 54½.

Rod Neely captured Southern's only championship match as he decisioned Neal Berkeley of Meyersdale in the 185-pound class.

Southern's Tim Liller was the runner-up in the 132-pound class as he was edged by Meyersdale's Terry Shaffer, 6-5 in the title match.

Wade Deckman and Chris Foley each captured consolation trophies by winning the 98-pound and 138-pound matches, respectively.

Taking championship titles for Beall were Brian McKenzie, Kevin Kutler, Brian Davis, T.R. Mazer, Scott Raley and Shawn Barmoy in the 98, 105, 138, 145, 155 and 167-pound divisions.

Coach Joe Heatherman's Rams are presently undefeated in regular season action and will attempt to secure their fourth win of the campaign tomorrow evening when they host Bruce at 7:30 p.m.

QUICK SALE QUERY

If you list your home for sale with a REALTOR on Monday and he sells it for you on Tuesday, do you think he has earned his commission? He certainly has. In fact more so than the broker who takes several months to close the sale. Why?

A lot more time, effort and dollars have gone into getting that ideal prospect for you than the 24-hour period would indicate. A quick sale is not a matter of luck or lack of effort. It just happens to be the tip of the iceberg.

The major part of that "iceberg" are the years of education and study in the field of real estate, hundreds of hours of time spent in phone calls, personal visits, interviews and home showing and thousands of dollars spent on classified and institutional advertising and signs to build an inventory of qualified prospects. One of these prospects has been looking for just such a home as yours. It is doubtful that he walked in off the street.

The REALTOR who comes up with the right buyer for your home overnight has done his homework and made a big investment—for YOU.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices:

Rams Win In Consolation Of Snowball Classic

After dropping the opening round of the annual Snowball Classic to St. Francis of Morgantown last Tuesday evening, the host Southern Rams came back the following night to down Bedford in the consolation contest, 38-33. The tournament title went to St. Maria Goretti of Hagerstown as they stopped St. Francis, 78-74, in the championship game.

Scott Stem and Rick Selders were the only Rams to reach double figures as they each netted ten points. Leading all scorers was Bedford's Eric Ashbridge, who finished with 16 markers.

The first half of the match-up was played almost evenly, as the Rams held a one-point advantage at the end of the first period, 15-14, and the Pennsylvanians assumed a 23-22 lead at halftime. Bedford came back in the third quarter to take a five-point margin as the final quarter unfolded, 31-26, however the Rams caught fire and outscored their opponents 12-2 in the last eight minutes.

Both teams hit a dozen buckets from the floor, but the Rams converted 14 of 22 free throw attempts, while Bedford managed to hit nine of 14.

St. Maria Goretti overcame a 20-12 lead by St. Francis by the end of the first quarter in the championship round and surged to a 36-29 advantage by intermission. It appeared as though Goretti would record an easy win, as the margin was expanded to 52-38 by the end of the third stanza. However, the West Virginians stormed back with a 36-point performance in the final period, but ran out of time and the rally fell four points short.

Mark Scallion, who was later named the tournament's Most Valuable Player, paced the winners with 27 points, while teammate Dan Thrailkill, who was also named to the All-Tourney team, finished with 23 points.

Mark Mancinelli, also a member of the All-Tournament squad, recorded 28 points for St. Francis, while Steve Smith and David Perry added 12 and 11 markers, respectively.

The championship game was won at the foul line as Goretti converted 26 of 42 free throw opportunities, compared to a 16-for-26 effort by St. Francis. The West Virginians outshot the winners from the floor by a 29-26 margin.

Youth Basketball Leagues To Open This Saturday

Two basketball leagues, one for youth in grades six through eight and the other for those in grades three through five, will begin this Saturday, January 8, according to Oren Yoder, head basketball coach at Southern High School, and Dave Bender, assistant coach.

The Southern Garrett Youth Basketball League, for the older youth, will meet for nine consecutive Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon at the Southern High gymnasium. A new league, known as the Dribblers Club sponsored by the Oakland Rotary, will meet for nine consecutive Saturdays at the Dennett Road Elementary School gym from 9 a.m. to noon. Yoder is the director of the Youth League and Bender will direct the Dribblers Club.

The coaches emphasized that there is no charge for participation. They said youth will receive instruction in basic basketball skills from the Southern coaching staff and that all participants will be given the opportunity to play. The Dribblers Club will have guest speakers, awards for special recognitions and the results of league competition will be published weekly.

Registration and permission forms may be filled out by parents or guardians this Saturday at the respective schools, or the forms may be obtained earlier by contacting Yoder or Bender at 895-5321 or 387-9131, respectively.

Huskies Whipped By Bulldogs In Tourney Final

A three-point lead in the first quarter by the Northern Huskies was short-lived last Wednesday evening in the championship round of the tenth annual Tri-Towns Holiday Basketball Tournament in Westernport, as the Bruce Bulldogs came back in the second stanza to take a two-point lead at intermission and then coast to a 61-48 win. Nearly 70 percent of the Huskies points were provided by Bradley Yoder, who netted 32 on a dozen baskets and eight of eight at the foul line.

Gary Morris paced the Bulldogs with 15 points, while B.B. Ludwick, Brian Cueva and Tony Saweikis were close behind with 14, 13 and 11 points, respectively.

Yoder was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player and joined Morris and Ludwick of Bruce, Dave Reith of Mt. Savage and Mike McGee of Hampshire on the All-Tournament Team.

Mt. Savage edged Hampshire, 53-51, in an overtime consolation round. The Huskies had earned a berth in the title match-up by defeating Mt. Savage on Tuesday evening, while Bruce stopped Hampshire.

The Huskies were outgunned from the floor by a 25-16 margin, although they connected on 16 of 23 free throw attempts, compared to an 11-for-19 performance by the Bulldogs.

The loss dropped the Huskies to 5-3 on the season and improved the Bulldogs record to 4-2.

In the Hampshire-Mt. Savage contest, the Trojans led most of the way by a small margin, ahead 12-9, 26-24 and 36-35 at the quarters. However, Mt. Savage knotted the score at 49-49 at the end of regulation play.

Eric Wisler and Dave Reith paced the Tribe with 14 and 13 points, respectively. Allen Cook added 11 points.

Mike McGee netted 16 for the Trojans and Mike Gibson chipped in with 14.

Although Hampshire led in field goals, 23-21, the Tribe made good on 11 of 21 free throw attempts, compared to a five-for-seven effort by the Trojans.

Fish Caught With Bucket . . . Honest!

Denny Nazelrod, wasn't out to catch fish during work hours last week, but when a fish made an offer, he couldn't refuse!!

Nazelrod was working with his father Irvin, a stone mason, on a Troy Gnegy construction project near Deep Creek Lake last week.

He went down to the lake to dip up a bucket of water and as he put the five-gallon bucket in the water a 22-inch northern pike made a pass at the bucket. When he drew water a second time, the fish made another pass.

Nazelrod then decided if the fish wanted to be caught, he may as well oblige the thing, so he dipped the bucket a third time and drew it up with the fish in it.

Persons for whom the construction work was being done were reportedly amazed. They said they had fished in the same area for years, but never caught a fish.

Troy Gnegy said he inspected the area where the fish was caught and described it as a gradual slope with no sudden deep pools.

Rams Record Third Win By Edging Vikings

The Southern Rams varsity basketball team, off to a disappointing start this season, improved its record to 3-4 last night by stopping visiting Petersburg in a Division I Potomac Valley Conference contest, 44-41.

The Rams led throughout the contest, however the Vikings remained close, down 13-6, 24-22 and 36-30 at the quarters.

Kevin Winters paced the Rams and led all scorers with 26 points on ten field goals and six of seven free throws. He was the only Ram to reach the double-figure plateau.

Bill Martin led the offensive effort of the Vikings, finishing with 19 points, while teammate Ken Crites netted 12.

It was the second loss in five starts for Petersburg.

Both teams bucketed 18 field goals, however the Rams converted eight of 12 free throw opportunities, while the Vikings connected on five of nine tosses.

The Southern jayvee team also was victorious in the preliminary contest, defeating their Petersburg counterparts, 48-39.

First year coach Oren Yoder's Rams will attempt to even their record Friday evening when they travel to Cumberland to take on the Spartans of Bishop Walsh. Tip-off is at 8 p.m.

"SUNSHINE ON MY SHOULDER MAKES ME HAPPY," says pop singer John Denver, whose lyric was probably picked up by these outdoorsmen during their recent round of miniature golf. New Year's Day is traditionally thought of as a day for the skier, the sled rider, or the snowball maker. This year, however, temperatures in the 40s and 50s have allowed warm weather fanciers to resume their summer games. The Country Road Miniature Golf Course, Rt. 42, near Friendsville, played host Saturday to this group, all residents of that community. Left to right are Jeff Frost, Jana Harshman, Lois Frazee, and Kirt Harshman.

Hoop Shoot Contest

Southern Garrett County competition, held on December 18, 1982, for the county championships. Trophies will be awarded to the county champs and runners up.

Almost three million youngsters from throughout the country entered last year's competition for boys and girls in age categories 8-9, 10-11, and 12-13, Mott said. Each contestant has 25 shots at the hoop.

The boy and girl in each age group with the best scores advance through four tiers of competition to qualify for the national finals at the Indianapolis Indiana Collegiate All-Star Game, Hinkle Field House, Butler University.

The winners for the county will compete against other contestants in the district event at Frederick Community College on January 23. Names of the national winners will be scribed on the Elks Natio "Hoop Shoot" plaque, permanent display in t Naismith Memorial Basketb Hall of Fame in Springfie Massachusetts.

ALTHOUGH NOW OPEN FOR CLASSES, the new Accident Elementary School, located on the Accident-Bittinger Road, is still to be dedicated which Garrett County Board of Education officials say will occur soon and will be open to the public. Below, teacher Mrs. Cynthia Kolbe helps students hang their coats before beginning their first class in the new school. The movement from the old school in Accident to the new facility was done over the Christmas break by the maintenance and custodial staff of the school system. The telephone number for the new school is 826-8863.

GCC Gerontology Program Planned

Garrett Community College officials are planning to implement a certificate gerontology program in the fall semester of 1983.

During its December meeting, the Board of Trustees supported the plan which must receive final approval from the Maryland State Board of Higher Education.

The program is designed to prepare students to understand and meet the various needs of the elderly, Robert Trantham, dean of the college, told the Board during its meeting.

A student completing this program will be prepared for employment in nursing homes, senior citizen centers and programs and outreach programs for the elderly.

In information presented to the trustees, was stated "As the number of elderly increases and state, county or private agencies need to employ more workers to meet the increasing demand of the elderly, this program will be a valuable asset to both the prospective students and their employers."

There are 150 paraprofessionals in Garrett County who have no formal educational program for their type of job. Home care visitors, geriatric aides, home health aides and nursing home assistants will be served by this program.

A survey was conducted to determine need for the program in this area. According to the responses received, there are 233 persons now employed in positions related to this program.

The employers, according to information provided the trustees, said they would provide incentives for employees to attend and would consider hiring graduates of the program.

In the fall, officials expect an enrollment in the program of 12 part-time students. By 1987, projections are for 10 full-time and 24 part-time students in the program.

Trantham noted 30 percent of the students probably will be already employed and in the program for career upgrading.

Snowsculpture Contests Slated At State Parks

The Maryland Forest and Park Service will sponsor two snowsculpture contests during January and February in the state parks at New Germany and Herrington Manor, Interpretive Specialist Michael Gregory has announced.

The competition will be open to any and all interested groups including community groups, local families, and college clubs and organizations. Top prizes for this event will consist of the free use of pavilions at the state park hosting the event.

The first contest will be held at New Germany State Park on January 22. The second competition will be held at Herrington Manor State Park on February 26 in conjunction with their annual Snowflake Festival. Construction of the sculpture will begin at 8:00 a.m. on the day of competition and judging will be at 3:00 p.m. the same day.

The themes for the competitions will be nature's beauty and enjoyment in the outdoors. The sculptures will be constructed only with ice and snow, no coloring or artificial material may be incorporated into the sculpture. Sculpture will be judged on the basis of originality, artistry and effort.

Groups participating in these events must register with the Maryland Forest and Park Service prior to the construction of their sculpture. Registration forms, contest rules, and additional information can be obtained by calling New Germany State Park at 895-5453 or 895-5759.

"The events are intended to provide an enjoyable outing for families and local clubs during the winter months," Gregory said.

Legislator Calls On State To Support Small Business

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Maryland should provide more financial incentives to get small businesses started in the state and should do more to train workers for the jobs of the future, House Speaker Benjamin Cardin said Tuesday.

Cardin, D-Baltimore, said he considered those to be the basic two conclusions reached during the second meeting of an 18-member task force he appointed to screen job-related proposals before the 1983 General Assembly opens next week.

The group scheduled one final meeting for Jan. 11, the day before the legislature convenes, to make its final recommendations.

"This most likely means some additional capital commitments for the state for venture capital," Cardin said, specifically suggesting state aid for service industries such as those involved in health care, international trade, engineering, bio-medical research, or other high technology areas.

"We can develop new job opportunities to match those areas," he said.

Much of the state's increased emphasis on job training may result from a new federal job training program that could mean $44 million to $54 million in federal aid to the state, Cardin said.

"Job training will not create jobs, but will give the state the opportunity for leadership to make sure the resources are available — basically for local governments — for job training and counseling, community colleges and so forth," hensaid.

"Rather than short range dividends, this will pay long range dividends," he added.

The task force created by Cardin included leaders of organized labor unions, executives from some of the biggest firms in Maryland, state secretaries of agriculture and of economic and community development, the Montgomery County executive, Baltimore government officials, and state legislators.

Cardin said discussions at the task force's two meetings "have been a learning experience" that have helped legislators better understand the views of 7labor and management on various job-related proposals.

"It's been a real educational experience for me," he said. "It's a very complex problem. No one bill or solution will do it. But it is clear that better communication (between labor, business and government) would solve a lot of our problems."

Cardin indicated the state's Department of Economic and Community Development intended to seek authorization to sell $17 million in general obligation bonds in the coming year to finance some of its housing and development programs.

That, he said, amounted to a $2.5 million increase over the current year bond authorization for the department, but said that still may not be enough.

The legislature will try to stay within an overall self-imposed limit of $195 million in bonds for all capital projects and programs, but Cardin indicated there could be room for more money for economic development programs.

Cardin also said the joint legislative oversight committee, the Administrative, Executive and Legislative Review Committee, would be given broader powers this year to review departmental regulations involving business and employments before they are implemented.

Among other proposals

—Expansion of existing state programs to attract new businesses or help the elpansion of existing businesses in the state;

—Creation of a cabinet-level Department of Labor;

— Increasing unemployment benefits and possibly increasing unemployment taxes;

—Development of an engineering training center at the University of Maryland and a bio-medical research center at one of Baltimore's hospitals.

Agnew Returns $268,000 To Maryland; Payment Ordered By Students' Lawsuit

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A bribery suit against Spiro T. Agnew begun six years ago as a student law project culminated Tuesday with the presentation of a check for more than $268,000 to the Maryland treasurer.

Maryland Attorney General Stephen Sachs, in handing over a check for $268,482 to Treasurer William James, said: "Those who violated the public trust have paid for it with the item any potential wrongdoer understands best: money."

A Maryland Circuit Court judge ruled in 1981 Agnew violated his public trust while governor of the state by accepting $147,500 in kickbacks from highway contractors from 1967 to 1969. The judge ordered Agnew, a leading Nuxon administration proponent of "law and order," to repay the state the money, plus $101,235 in interest.

The payment of $268,482 is more than the orginal judgment of $248,735 because of the addition of post-judgment interest on the original principal judgment, the attorney general's office said. Sachs said the judgment is believed to be the largest of its kind in the nation.

"It is especially gratifying to have this money returned to the state because it confirms three important, but sometimes ignored points," Sachs said. "It reminds us of the good, old-fashioned principle that a public office is a public trust; it helps erase at least part of the stain that Maryland's reputation suffered because of Mr. Agnew's greed, and, finally, it proves what determined citizens can accomplish."

Agnew appealed the decision twice, but decided Monday not to seek a review of his case before the Supreme Court. He had deposited $250,000 in a California bank in 1981 and agreed to turn the money over once his appeals were exhausted.

A group of George Washington law students prepared the lawsuit in 1976 that would force Agnew to reimburse taxpayers for the kickbacks he allegedly received in exchange for lucrutive state contracts.

A5 the students' instigation, three Maryland taxpayers filed the suit in Anne Arundel against the former governor.

In 1980, the stat3 joined the case and on April 27, 1981, Anne Arundel County Circuit Judge Bruce Williams ruled Agnew violated the public trust by accepting the bribes.

The three taxpayers, and later the state as an intervenor in the case, had argued Agnew should be held accountable to the public for his illegal actions, which involved a scheme in which highway construction firms were bilked for thousands of dollars in kickbacks in exchange for lucrative state contracts.

Testimony in the case showed that payoffs normally were around 5 percent.

Agnew, 64, originally denied the charges, calling them "a damn' lie."

Despite repeated statements he would not give up the office, Agnew resigned as vice president Oct. 10, 1973, in a plea-bargaining move.

By resigning, Agnew was allowed to plead no contest to one count of federal income-tax evasion. The Justice Department agreed not to act on indictments charging Agnew with conspiracy, extortion and bribery.

While vice president, Agnew described himself as "a champion of law and order." In a speech in New Orleans, he referred to Vietnam War protesters as "an effete corps of impudent snobs who characterize themselves as intellectuals."

On another occasion he used the phrase "nattering nabobs of negativism" to describe critics of his pronouncements.

He was elected governor in 1966 and was selected by Richard Nixon for the vice president slot on the 1968 ticket.

Md. Representative Is Appointed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Steny Hoyer, D-Md., may soon join Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., to become the second Marylander on the influential House Appropriations Committee, congressional aides said Tkesday.

Hoyer's press secretary, Sherry Connelly, said the congressman was named to the Appropriations Committee Monday by the Democratic Steering and Policy Committee. The full Democratic Party caucus is expected to ratify his nominationon thursday.

Connelly said Hoyer's appointment apparently would mark the first time Maryland has had two of its representatives on the Appropriations Committee. Eleven other states have at least two members on the powerful body that is charged with shaping federal spending plans.

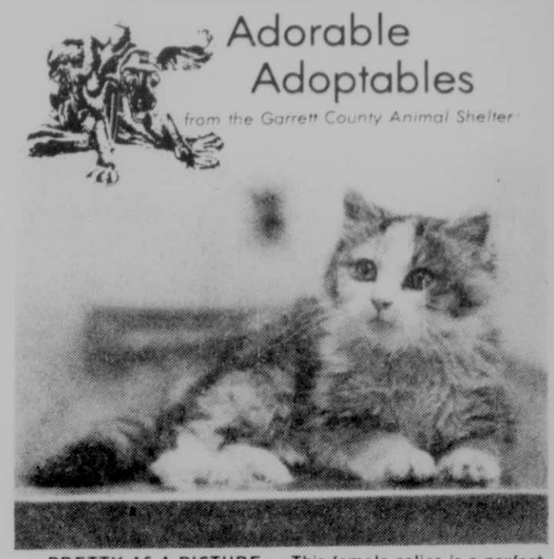
Type A Flu Virus Appears In Nearby States

Type A Bangkok (H3N2) influenza virus has been isolated in nine states which included three nearby states (Pennsylvania, Virginia and New York), the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene announced Thursday. Dr. Feng-Ying C. Lin, medical epidemiologist with the Division of Communicable Diseases and Epidemiology, said this strain has been prevalent in the United States for several flu seasons. However, no influenza virus has been isolated in Maryland this year so far.

Protective shots are urged for all people who are over 65 years of age and other individuals who suffer from chronic illness such as lung, kidney diseases, diabetes or other metabolic disorders; chronic severe anemia; and patients under immunosuppressive drugs or cancer therapy. Because adequate protection is expected 10 to 14 days after immunization, Dr. Lin said such high-risk persons should get the vaccine as soon as possible.

Lin said that this year's flu vaccine provides protection against Type A Brazil (H1N1), Type A Bangkok (H3N2) and Type B Singapore influenza virus infections. Annual flu immunization is recommended for all persons at high risk.

Parents of children with flu-like illnesses or chickenpox should consult a physician before routinely giving aspirin for symptomatic relief for fever. The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) cautions against giving aspirin to children with influenza or chickenpox because of a possible association with Reye's Snydrome, a serious complication of some viral diseases.



Influenza is an acute illness of the respiratory tract characterized by fever, chills, sore throat, headache, cough and muscle aches. The patients are most infectious for 24 hours prior to and after onset of symptoms. Without complications, the illness usually lasts a week.

Tax Offices To Remain Open On King Birthday

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says all 14 offices of the Maryland Income Tax Division will remain open to assist taxpayers on Friday, January 14, a day most State offices will be closed in observance of Martin Luther King Day.

"The addresses and telephone numbers of all of our offices are listed on the back of the Maryland income tax packet and in local telephone directories," Goldstein said. "Taxpayers can get free help with their State tax returns either by visiting one of the offices or by telephone.

Goldstein advised taxpayers who wish to have their Maryland income tax forms completed for them to be sure to bring a completed copy of their federal return and all W-2 statements with them. The service is free.

Former Modern Earthline Executive Indicted

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A federal grand jury has indicted the former head of a sludge hauling company on charges that he bribed former City Council president Walter Orlinsky in order to obtain a city contract, prosecutors said Tuesday.

U.S. Attorney J. Frederick Motz said a 10-count indictment was brought against Douglas T. Murray, former general manager and chief executive officer of Modern Earthline Cos. of Philadelphia.

Charges were also filed against Modern Earthline and its Maryland subisidary, mwhich are engaged in the removal, transportation and disposal of sewage sludge.

In September, Orlinksy pleaded guilty to one count of extortion that charged him with accepting a kickback of about $2,500 from Modern Earthline. He currently is serving a six-month sentence at Allenwood Federal Prison Camp in northeastern Pennsylvania.

Prosecutors said Murray and the firms allegedly entered into a corrupt arrangement with Orlinksy in which the city council president helped secure a city contract in return for $10,000.

On Nov. 26, 1980, the city awarded Modern Earthline a short-term, $500,00 contract to develop a demonstration project that would dispose of Baltimore sludge by trucking it to Garrett County, where it would be used to reclaim strip mines.

That contract stipulated that if the demonstration was successful, Modern Earthlines would be granted a log-term contract to remove 146,000 tons of Baltimore sludge annually at the rate of $37.85 per ton.

Orlinsky was allegedly to receive additional sums of money should Modern Earthlines succesfully obtain a long-term city contract.

Tuesday's indictment specifically charges Murray and his firms with conspiracy, interstate travel to further unlawful activity consisting of bribery, mail fraud and wire fraud.

If convictill counts, Murray faces a maximum penalty of 50 years in prison and $113,000 in fines.

nutrition NEWS

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. The first of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS!

On New Year's Day, did you resolve to join the 20 million Americans who are on a "serious diet" at any given moment? Are you considering paying into the $10 billion a year spent by Americans on weight reducing aids?

The Heart Association's Nutrition Committee is committed to providing you with practical and sound menu ideas for healthier eating throughout 1983. Each month, a special theme will be featured and four exciting, but easy, recipes from the "Heart Cookbook" will appear in this weekly column. Clip our recipes each Wednesday and, by the end of the month, you will be able to enjoy a well-balanced, appetizing meal by combining the month's ideas.

January's feature will help you solve the age-old problem of what to do with the five or more pounds you gained from Thanksgiving to New Year's. This week's recipe is a lean and very tasty meat . . . Marinated Steak. If you've never tried flank steak before, you're in for a real taste treat. Enjoy!!

Marinated Steak

1 thick flank steak or London Broil
(about 1½ pounds)
⅔ cups dry red wine
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/8 teaspoon oregano, crumbled
1/8 teaspoon marjoram, crumbled black pepper, freshly ground

Mix together the wine, soy sauce and seasonings. Place the steak in a long glass baking dish and pour the marinade over the meat. Cover and chill at least 12 to 18 hours, turning meat once or twice.

Preheat the broiler. Remove the steak from the marinade. Pat dry and broil 4 inches from the heat for about 5 minutes on each side.

To serve, cut thin slices diagonally across the grain.

Serve with rice.

Yield: 6 servings

Approximate calories per serving: 270

Next week, a vegetable recipe will be featured,followed by a salad and dessert later in January.

Remember that there are three components to weight control—try each of the hints in these categories this week:

Diet—Change Food Habits for Life!

Choose a variety of foods with less fat, such as low-fat dairy products; lean meats, broiled or baked and served without gravy; salads served with low calorie dressings; plain vegetables; plain breads. Experiment with spices and low calorie sauces.

Behavior—Change Habits Permanently!

Weigh yourself weekly and keep a written record of your weight.

Exercise—Start Slowly Today and Keep on Doing It!

Look for ways to increase physical activity within daily tasks, such as walking rather than driving, using stairs instead of elevators, walking pets, playing with children, using manual tools.

FBP Offers Assistance To Job Seekers

Job seekers who are unable to find employment because they are not bondable may now get assistance through the Federal Bonding Program (FBP) at the Employment Security Administration of the Maryland Department of Human Resources.

Administered by the Job Service office of the Employment Security Administration, the FBP provides insurance coverage protection for employers who wish to hire job seekers who have a record of arrest, conviction or imprisonment.

The program also provides assistance to those who have a history of alcoholism or drug abuse, poor credit, poor work history, dishonorable discharge from the military and those who have been involved in special situations which require a fidelity bond.

To be eligible for the FBP, unbondable job seekers must have a firm job offer that specifically requires a bond. The job offer must be for full-time permanent employment under adequate working conditions. Self employment does not qualify the job seeker for the program.

Bond amounts can range from $500 to $10,000 depending on the financial risk involved in each case. Coverage is available for a maximum of 18 months beginning the first day of work.

The program, which began in Maryland in 1971, is provided by the Aetna Casualty and Insurance Company at no cost to employers or employees.

Job seekers and employers may contact the nearest Job Service office for assistance in getting bonding coverage, or call 383-5365. Employers may apply for fidelity bonding on behalf of an employee or an applicant.

Carol Ann Rosine, Danny Georg Married Oct. 16 At Fort Myers

Carol Ann Rosine became the bride of Daniel O'Neil Georg on October 16 in a candlelight, double-ring ceremony at the Russell Park Baptist Church, Fort Myers, Florida.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rosine, Fort Myers, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Georg, Accident.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of organza over bridal taffeta with a scalloped Queen Anne neckline of Chantilly lace trimmed with seed pearls. The organza bell sleeves had Chantilly lace cuffs. The full A-line skirt was accented in front with a panel of crystal pleats and featured a key-hole back of Chantilly lace.

The cathedral train was trimmed with solid Chantilly lace. A Juliet cap of matching lace and seed pearls held a double layered illusion veil edged with lace. The bride carried a bouquet of pink and burgundy roses.

Joyce Mosley, friend of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pink-colored gown and carried a bouquet of burgundy carnations and pink roses.

Bridesmaids were Lynn Rosine, sister-in-law of the bride, and Becky Bradley, friend of the bride. They were attired in burgundy colored gowns and carried bouquets of pink carnations and burgundy roses.

Brandi Rosine, niece of the bride, and Tosha Langford, friend of the bride, were flower girls. They wore pink dreses and carried baskets of burgundy rose petals.

The groom wore a dark gray tuxedo trimmed in black with a pink carnation boutonniere.

Serving as best man was Bill Harney, friend of the groom. Ushers were Doug Rosine, brother of the bride, and Troy Bradford, friend of the groom. All were attired in light gray tuxedos and wore pink carnation boutonnieres.

Attending the guest book was Donna Cook, friend of the bride. Organist was Pat Huffmaster.

A reception followed in the church fellowship hall and was catered by Edenfield Florists of Fort Myers.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Myers Senior High School. The groom is a graduate of Northern High School, Accident.

The couple resides in North Fort Myers, Florida.

Local Bloodmobile Volunteer Retires

It was announced this week by Norma Hesen, local American Red Cross Blood Donor program coordinator, that Mrs. Ann Purbaugh, Oakland has retired from volunteer service to the Bloodmobile program.

Mrs. Purbaugh donated 40 years of service to the program, dating back to World War II years when she made bandages once every week at the former Fazalerri building on Third Street in Oakland. Mrs. Larilla F. Tower was the Garrett County chapter executive for the Red Cross at that time.

Mrs. Purbaugh was presented a silk Red Cross scarf by Mrs. Hesen in appreciation of her efforts.

Omission Noted

In an engagement announcement in the December 29 issue of The Republican, it was stated that Thomas Lance Spiker, who became engaged to Pamela Ann Miske, was the son of Thomas F. Spiker, Kitzmiller. It should have stated that he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Spiker.

Miss Wilt To Wed Mr. Dice

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Wilt, Grantsville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen (Cindy) Elaine, to Robert Paul Dice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dice, also of Grantsville.

Miss Wilt is a junior at Northern High School and Mr. Dice is a 1978 graduate of Northern High School.

Miss Grove Will Wed Dr. Dornburg

Mrs. Virginia M. Grove, Mt. Lake Park, and Robert B. Grove, Brasstown, N.C., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Pamela Jane, to Dr. Terry Edward Dornburg, Frostburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dornburg, Hendersonville, N.C.

Miss Grove, a 1982 graduate of Southern High School, is currently a student at Frostburg State College majoring in early childhood education.

Dr. Dornburg is a graduate of Columbia Union College, Takoma Park, and the University of Maryland School of Dentistry.

The wedding will take place at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, on Saturday, February 19, at 7:30 p.m. Invitations are being sent only to out-of-town relatives, however the families invite all friends to attend.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Staff Sgt. Kenneth R. Paugh, son of Raymond G. and Clara M. Paugh, Route 1, Swanton, was one of the overall winners in the U.S. Air Force Tactical Air Command's air-to-air weapons meet, William Tell.

The "Shoguns" of the 18th Tactical Fighter Wing, headquartered at Kadena Air Base, Okinawa, Japan, received the Gen. Daniel "Chappie" James Jr. Trophy.

Units from around the world traveled to Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla., for the bi-annual event, which is conducted in a pressure-packed environment that closely simulates combat conditions.

Paugh, a jet engine technician, is a 1972 graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport.

His wife, Angela, is the daughter of David Cerutti and Linda Cerutti of 3035 Degen Drive, Bonita, Calif.

Sgt. Jamie L. Sisler, son of Carlton R. Sisler, Accident, has been named outstanding noncommissioned officer of the quarter for the 1st Infantry Division at Fort Riley, Kan.

The non-commissioned officer was chosen from a select group of peers who were judged on military bearing and knowledge, professional skill and exemplary behavior.

He is a 1977 graduate of Northern High School.

Birthday Reception Slated For Saturday

A birthday reception will be held to honor Mrs. Maude B. Mosser on the occasion of her 90th birthday on Saturday, January 8, in the social room of St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The family reminds all friends and relatives that their presence is the only gift necessary.

Thomas-Bernard Engagement Noted

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Thomas, McHenry, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Tammy Sue, to Leroy W. Bernard, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy W. Bernard, Sr., Oakland.

Miss Thomas is a 1979 graduate of Northern High School and is employed at the Garrett County Health Department.

Mr. Bernard is a 1978 graduate of Southern High School and is in the construction business with his father.

A summer wedding is being planned.

Four Strings

Only four strings! But these four strings offer endless possibilities of tone and harmony. They open to man new horizons of beauty and happiness.

And yet, improperly played, these four strings can bring forth unbelievable discord!

There are four strings in life—with similar possibilities. Mind . . . Character . . . Courage . . . Faith!

The truths that fill our minds, the ideals that mold our character, the purposes to which our courage is given, the realities in which we believe; these can fill our lives with rich beauty and happiness or drab ugliness and sorrow.

For centuries our churches and synagogues have been the maestro of these strings of life—helping men to bring from their own souls the harmony and beauty God has put there.

You can find music in everyday living through regular worship and prayer.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

GETTING "PERSONAL"

January 9, 1983

Background Scripture: Luke 7:11-23; 10:25-37.
Devotional Reading: Luke 6:6-11.

Lots of people I know like to talk about religion. They love to discuss and argue the fine points of religous ideas. In fact, for some people, the essence of religion seems to be doing battle with "wrong" religious thinking, combatting "unsound" religious concepts, and debating differing theological formulations.

Those same people, I've often observed, are considerably less enthusiastic when those abstract religious ideas are personalized. For example, it is one thing to discuss the nature of God and quite something else to begin to spell out what demands our belief in God makes upon the way we live our lives.

TESTING JESUS

This was true in the encounter between Jesus and the lawyer who asked him, "Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?" It was a perfectly good question to provoke a religious discussion. People often discussed the meaning and nature of "eternal life."

But, of course, Luke tells us that the lawyer's interest was not really in eternal life, but in putting Jesus "to the test." The lawyer wanted to see how Jesus would answer this question. Perhaps he would say something that could be held against him. Or maybe he would be embarrassed by not having a worthy answer.

At any rate, the lawyer probably figured he could hardly lose, for, if Jesus gave the traditional answer, the lawyer would be able to get some points with his perfect obedience to the pharisaic life under the law. And, at first, that's what appeared to be happening. Jesus asked him, "What is written in the law?" and this gave the lawyer a perfect opportunity to parade his own moral rectitude.

MY NEIGHBOR?

Flushed with success, the lawyer went one step too far. Not content with his victory, he pressed Jesus on still another debatable point: "And who is my neighbor?" The lawyer should have quit while he was ahead, for at this point Jesus got "personal" in a way the lawyer would have preferred to avoid. Instead of discussing the question in theological or philosophical terms, Jesus told a parable that made the answer so clear to everyone as to place their behaviour under judgement—especially that of the lawyer.

The lawyer began the conversation on a wave of religous pride, but when Jesus personalized it, the proud lawyer was humbled by the Master's answer. To inherit eternal life would make some requirements on the lawyer that he was not prepared to make.

So long as the preacher inveighs against sin in a general way, we may be led to express enthusiasm for his preaching. But if he should move from generalizations to specifics that touch our lives, we may be led to conclude that he has moved from preaching to meddling. In that sense, Jesus was more a meddler than a preacher, for the essence of the gospel, as he saw it, is in "getting personal."

JANUARY IS THE TIME TO PLAN AHEAD

With the excitement of the New Year over and everything settling down to normal, it is time to take stock of ourselves and look to the coming twelve months of 1970. We expect that many new and encouraging advances will be made in the field of health and medicine. Hopefully this will be the year when cures might be found for some of the diseases that still plague mankind.

We look forward to serving our friends and customers and to their enjoyment of good health in the months ahead. We hope you will look to your physician for advice in times of illness and, also important, plan ahead to get regular health check-ups for your family.

Democrats Meet

The Garrett County Democrats Club met for its December meeting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Leo O'Neill, Sky Valley, for a Christmas covered-dish dinner. Forty members attended.

The club cancelled its Jan. 3 meeting and will announce plans for its next meeting in the next few weeks.

M. Smith Named Administrator For Senator Bambacus

Senator John Bambacus today announced the appointment, effective January 12, of Mona Smith as his district administrator. Her responsibilites will include representing the senator at public meetings, advising him of constituent concerns, and operating the district office.

In making the announcement, Bambacus said, "Mona Smith brings a good deal of experience to my office and has a deep understanding of service responsibilites to the citizens of Allegany and Garrett counties. I am pleased that she will be joining our legislative staff."

A resident of Allegany County for 12 years, Mrs. Smith is a past president of the League of Women Voters. She has served more recently as chairman of the Allegany County Compensation Review Committee, which did a comparative study of salary levels for elected officials and submitted recommendations to the County Commissioners. The recommendations were enacted in February 1982.

Mrs. Smith has been nominated as an Outstanding Young Woman of America for 1982, an honor that recognizes young women throughout the nation for professional achievement and community service. With particular interest in service to voters, she has directed many citizen education projects. Her activities included publishing primary and general election voters guides, reporting election returns for PVTV, moderating candidates and issues forums, writing newspaper articles and speaking before the public.

A native of New York, Mrs. Smith earned a B.A. degree from the City College of the City University of New York. She is currently a graduate student at Frostburg State College, working toward a master of science degree in management.

She resides in Frostburg with her husband, Don, and children, Emily and Garrett.

NORTHERN REPUBLICAN WOMEN met for the club's annual Christmas luncheon at the Hilltop Restaurant, Grantsville, in early December. Mrs. Carolyn Ganoe, newly elected president, led the group, whose program participants included Cleda Baker, former president; Louise McKenzie, treasurer; Wilma Wilburn, secretary; and Beverly Murphy, newly elected vice-president. Jingle gifts were exchanged, a craft demonstration was given, and plans were made for the coming year's activities. The spring meeting is scheduled for April 26.

HCO Program Slates Two-Part Series Of Classes

Career Planning, a two-part series of classes designed to assist participants in self-assessment, goal setting, and employment opportunities, is scheduled to begin on Tuesday, January 11. These classes are sponsored by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College, and have been especially prepared to meet the needs of individuals who must seek employment for economic reasons or because of dissolution of marriage due to separation, divorce or widowhood.

In Career Planning, Part I, participants will be introduced to job-finding strategy, getting to know themselves, exploring employment resources, self-evaluation of skills and interests, and career profiles. In Part 2, students will learn the proper way to fill out job applications and write resumes, proper behavior on a job interview, telephone etiquette, schooling and financial aid availability, work combined with family obligations and goal setting.

The classes are held on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, from 9 a.m to noon in Room 306 of the Oakland Center of GCC. Enrollment is on a first-come, first-serve basis. Classes are kept small due to the personal assistance involved in the classes.

A small registration fee is charged for each series. Interested persons are asked to contact Linda Leitz, administrative assistant of the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program, at 334-9184 to register for the class.

Receptionist Skills, Office Procedures Course Still Open

There is still time to enroll in the specially planned class entitled "Receptionist Skills and Office Procedures" arranged by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program, in cooperation with the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College, according to Barbara Frey, HCO director. The class begins on Wednesday, January 12, and will be held for eight weeks, one day a week, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. at the Oakland Center of GCC.

Skills to be learned deal with receptionist responsibilities, filing and bookkeeping. Tuition includes workbooks for bookkeeping. There is a minimum enrollment requirement of ten students.

A typing class at Southern High School also begins on Wednesday, January 12, from 4:30 to 7 p.m. The class will be held for 14 weeks, one afternoon a week. Tuition will include the typing book. A maximum enrollment of 25 students is permitted.

Interested persons may enroll in both classes for the most comprehensive learning experience in vocational training, or they may register for each class separately.

Tuition assistance is available through the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program to qualifying participants. Anyone interested in participating in these classes is asked to contact the Center's main office at 334-9184 for more information regarding cost and registration or visit the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program at 104 E. IN FOCUS

PBS presents Greene, Henson and Guinness

There's a whole lot brewing on PBS this week:

For film buffs, there's Jim Henson kicking off the week with a behind-the-scenes look at his new, long-awaited, Muppet-less feature film, "The Dark Crystal."

Called "The World of Dark Crystal," the PBS program, airing Sunday, Jan. 9, takes viewers into the world of the Gelflings, the two childlike heroes of the story; the Skeksis, the villains; and the Urru, philosophers and mystics who spur on the Gelflings to save the world from the Skeksis.

It's a complex, intricate, many-layered world that is at once beautiful and frightening — and well worth a look.

Jim Henson

A truly frightening subject is covered in "Hitler's Night of the Humming Bird," playing Wednesday, Jan. 12. Sir Hugh Greene, former director of the BBC, traces the events that led to Hitler's reign, through the eyewitness accounts of survivors.

Operation Humming Bird was the code name given to the murders of hundreds of Hitler's former followers suspected of opposing his rule. It began on June 30, 1934 when Hitler raided the Bavarian hotel where Ernst Roehm, the leader of 4 million brownshirts, was sleeping.

Two reprisals worth mentioning: "Ian McKellen Acting Shakespeare," to be rebroadcast Saturday, Jan. 15, is the one-man celebration of the bard's works. The 90-minute special stars McKellen performing from the plays of his favorite playwright. The play originally ran on Broadway, after presentations in Scotland, Israel, Norway, Denmark, Sweden and Britain.

And, in the final two-hour episode of "Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy," airing Monday, Jan. 10, the identity of the double agent is finally revealed. Sir Alec Guinness stars in the acclaimed "Great Performances" presentation.

(Local times may vary for all of the above presentations; check listings.)

Hoffman at the Studio; Pryor in at Columbia

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Lee Strasberg's disciple Dustin Hoffman sat in his mentor's chair this week. He moderated an Actors Studio session... Richard Pryor and Columbia got married. Besides the films in which Pryor stars, his new company will produce one a year for five years. He'll keep all his rights and make his own decisions "up to a certain budget," according to Columbia.

Henry Kissinger

From ex-Secretary Henry Kissinger: "My mother told me as a baby my first word was 'detente.' "... Christine Jorgensen ends her letters with "Be happy"... "Woman of the Year" may now lose her man of the year. After Raquel Welch bolts the Broadway company this month, co-star Harry Guardino may go AWOL on the national company. His pilot, "Lovers and Other Strangers," was sold to ABC for a series... Henry Winkler, who probably figures acting in another TV series would be injurious to his health, is producing a pilot for a family-style sit-com. He won't apepear in it... Actress/model Alexandra King, who was on the cover of Town & Country a few months back and will be in Marcello Mastroianni's movie a few months hence, is currently involved with tennis star Ilie Nastase. She's his newest.

Walter Cronkite

History was made at CBS this week. For the first time in 32 years Walter Cronkite made a pit-stop at the cafeteria. Cronkite, "60 Minutes" producer Don Hewitt and I discussed this phenomenon: Cronkite: I actually stopped by and had something there the other day. Hewitt: Mike Wallace and I eat in the place all the time. Me: So? How's the food? Hewitt: We call it "The Bay of Pigs."

Cast of millions in PBS' 'Rain Forest'

By Peter Meade

The first of National Geographic's 1983 specials, "Rain Forest," features a cast of more than 5 million.

That's how many different life forms inhabit the ever-decreasing belt of tropical rain forests around the Equator.

Yet, producers/cinematographers David and Carol Hughes had to literally leave no leaf unturned to catch a glimpse of the activity in the depths of the forest interior.

They spent 17 months in the densely foliated forests of Costa Rica, where the annual rainfall easily tops 100 inches, filming the leisurely paced, one-hour, Gulf-sponsored special, which will air Wednesday, Jan. 12 on PBS. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

Viewers are richly rewarded because the film footage that the Hughes returned with outshines the imagination of any science-fiction movie.

Hundreds of ants are seen cutting leaf sections many times their weight and carrying them to their underground sanctuary; screeching howler monkeys exhibit the kind of powerful vocal chords an opera star would cherish; a splendid snake sheds its skin in the forest underbrush; a view of the rare golden frog is offered, only found in a square-mile area of mountaintop; the exotic quetzal is seen, once the prized bird of Mayan and Aztec royalty; and the basilisk lizard, with the momentum provided by short, powerful strides, can actually walk on water.

David Hughes

Unfortunately, not all the sights and sounds of the rain forest are natural. The producers focus on how man's intervention into this tropical paradise could cause the disappearence of the rain forest within this lifetime.

The persistent rate of timber destruction — 3,000 acres an hour — could cause the loss of homeland for the area's inhabitants, which number nearly half of all the animal species found on earth.

Only recently has it become clear that this self-contained ecosystem could contain many of the modern medicines that scientists have already found in its various wild plants and animals. The destruction of the rain forest could additionally mean an end to discovering future lifesavers — including a cure for cancer.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

'ATWT' takes Telfer off departed 'Doctors'

By Nancy M. Reichardt

"The Doctors" had no sooner departed the small screen than Frank Telfer (Luke Dancy) moved to "As the World Turns" to take over the role of Brian McCall from Robert Burton.

The only apparent reason for the cast change seems to be that Burton didn't "click" with the "ATWT" audience. Burton has already appeared on several soaps, so it's likely he'll pop up on the daytime scene again soon.

Robert Lipton (Jeff Ward) and Marie Masters (ex-Susan Stewart) of "As the World Turns" will be taking a walk down the marital aisle this weekend if all goes well. The couple has been involved in an on-again, off-again, on-again romance for a couple of years now.

This week, the syndicated program "Entertainment Tonight" takes a look at the inside story of "All My Children." Included are off-screen interviews with actors Dack Rambo (Steve Jacobi), Taylor Miller (Nina Warner), Kim Delaney (Jenny Gardner) and Lawrence Lau (Greg Nelson). (Local times may vary; check listings.)

Moving to the big silver screen, Don Stewart (Mike Bauer on "Guiding Light") will be appearing in the upcoming flick "Lost," which will star Sandra Dee.

Meanwhile, veteran film actress Joan Bennett (ex-Dark Shadows") made a special guest appearance on "GL" as herself. Lori Shelle (Gracie Middleton) exited "GL" when her character followed Ms. Bennett back to Hollywood.

In an unusual and touching gesture, "Search for Tomorrow" featured eight adoptable youngsters from the Little Flower Children's Service, Wading River, N.Y., on the 31st "SFT" Christmas show. Appearing with the youngsters were 15 other kids whose parents are involved with "SFT's" production.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Nancy Reichardt at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

FRIDAY

It was a robber who bound and gagged Oscar (Demond Wilson) but it's Felix (Ron Glass) who won't untie him in "The New Odd Couple," to air Friday, Jan. 7 on ABC.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

TV TATTLE

Cloris Leachman

A child possessed

Newport, R.I., is the setting for a two-hour fictional drama about demonic possession, starring Eddie Albert, Andy Griffith, Kevin Bacon, Cloris Leachman, Liane Langland, Ken Kercheval, Richard Masur, Beverlee McKinsey, Joyce Van Patten and Charlie Fields.

In "The Rhode Island Demon Murder," in production for NBC, an 11-year-old boy (Fields) begins to display symptoms of demonic possession, including inhuman feats of strength and strange sounds. To help him, his parents seek the help of a demonologist, a psychic and clergy of the Catholic church.

When all fails, the boyfriend (Bacon) of the boy's sister (Miss Langland) asks the devil to take him on instead; and when it does, he ends up committing a murder. At the boyfriend's subsequent trial for murder, his lawyers use the unusual defense of demonic possession to try to save him.

'Buffalo Bill'

Also in production for NBC, a comedy series called "Buffalo Bill," starring Dabney Coleman, John Fiedler and Joanna Cassidy.

Coleman stars as Bill Bittinger, the overbearing star of "The Buffalo Bill Show," which is produced by the timid Woody (Fiedler) and directed by Joanna White (Miss Cassidy), with whom Bittinger was once romantically linked.

Coleman is a film veteran, most recently appearing in "On Golden Pond" and "9 to 5."

Miss Cassidy's film credits include "Bladerunner" and "The Winning Season," as well as guest spots on many prime-time sit-coms. Fiedler has appeared on Broadway in "A Raisin in the Sun" and "The Odd Couple," plus feature films and television series.

Dabney Coleman

Tristine Skyler (r.) and Christian Slater star as a pair of sleuths out to discover the mystery of a missing miser and his fortune in Part I of "The Haunted Mansion Mystery," to air Saturday, Jan. 8 on ABC.

ROGER MOORE stars as underwater expert Rufus Foikes, who must rescue hundreds of innocent people aboard a hijacked ship in the North Sea, in the suspense film "Assault Force," to air Sunday, January 9, on ABC. Anthony Perkins, James Mason, Michael Parks and David Hedison co-star.

Answer to TV Circles
Tales of the Gold Monkey

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

WHO WAS THAT LADY? — Please tell me who the female star of "240-Robert" was the first time it was on. I say it was Linda Kelsey and my friend says it was someone else. — M.A., San Francisco, Calif.

Your friend is correct. When the series was first on in 1979-80, it was Joanna Cassidy who was the female lead. Then when it returned in 1981, after a lapse of time on the tube, it was Pamela Hensley who played the female lead.

NOT GOOD NEWS — Please tell me if Bob Crane of "Hogan's Heroes" died. First I heard he was dead, then I heard he wasn't. — B.C., New Brunswick, Canada

Crane was murdered a few years ago in Arizona, where he was appearing in a play in a dinner theater. The case is listed as unsolved.

SEVEN TIMES SEVEN — I like "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers." It is a change from all the detective and fantasy shows. What can you tell me about Roger Wilson and Drake Hogestyn? — M.Z., Port Forest, Ill.

Drake Hogestyn

Roger Wilson

Wilson was born in New Orleans. He studied dramatic literature at New York University and became intrigued with acting. He was in the movie "Porky's" and is in the sequel, "Porky's — The Next Day." He's married.

Drake (whose last name is Dutch for hard stone) was born in Fort Wayne, Ind., and he grew up wanting to be a professional baseball player. He played throughout school and then professionally with the N.Y. Yankees farm team. But injuries ended his career and he switched to acting for a challenge. That was in 1978. He's single.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

SUNDAY

Archie (Carroll O'Connor) visits his convalescing uncle (Howard Da Silva) to try to work out legal problems on "Archie Bunker's Place," to air Sunday, Jan. 9 on CBS.

ASCS Offers Advance Payments For '83 Programs

"To provide farmers with additional cash flow, advance payments are being offered when they sign up for the 1983 acreage reduction programs." William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee said. Advance payments represent 50 percent of projected deficiency payments and 50 percent of diversion payments.

Deficiency payments are made to farm program participants when the average market price falls below the government-established target price for a crop. Crum said the per bushel target prices for 1983 will be $2.86 for corn, $2.72 for sorghum, $2.60 for barley, $1.60 for oats, and $4.30 for wheat.

"We estimate that the deficiency payment rate for corn will be 21 cents per bushel. This would mean an advance payment of 10.5 cents per bushel," he said. For sorghum and barley the deficiency payment rate is estimated to be 20 cents

Deadlines For Farm Preservation Program Listed

Landowners in Garrett County who are interested in selling easements under the Agricultural Preservation program for fiscal year 1984, and whose farms have not been established as agricultural districts, should submit their applications no later than March 31, 1983.

Other farmland owners whose farms are already established as a district and who are interested in selling easements should have their applications submitted to the county before June 30, 1983.

Assuming approval of the one Garrett application which was submitted before the fiscal 1983 deadline, there will be seven farms in the county eligible to compete for the FY 1984 allocation by submitting an easement application before June 30, 1983.

The allocation for Garrett County for fiscal 1983 was $111,927. The fiscal 1984 allocation is unknown at this time, until the state budget is approved and the fiscal 1983 revenues closed.

Chairman of the local Garrett County Agricultural Preservation Advisory Board, Claude Wagner, points out that there are two parts to the program. He explained that the first part is the establishment of an agricultural district which does not require a person to sell easements or involve any kind of payment.

The second part of the program allows for an owner of agricultural land located in a district to file an application to sell an easement to the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation. All aspects of the program are voluntary with the aim of preserving productive farmland for future generations.

Interested persons are urged to contact the Soil Conservation office, 334-8339, or Tim Dugan at the county planning office, 334-4200, for more detailed information and/or application forms.

Ag Census To Begin This Week

The 1982 Census of Agriculture gets underway this week with the mailing of report forms to farmers and ranchers in the 50 states, the Commerce Department's Census Bureau announced this week.

Farmers and ranchers are being asked to report on their agricultural operations during 1982 and to return the form by Feb. 15, 1983. The 1982 census is the nation's 22nd agriculture census in a series that started in 1840.

For the first time in a mail agriculture census report forms will reflect regional cropping patterns to make reporting easier.

Farm and ranch operators will be asked to report the acreage in their operations, form of ownership, type of organization, location of the place, use made of the land, and when their operations began. Other questions will cover livestock and poultry inventories and sales, amount of government and 15 cents per bushel, respectively, with advance payment rates of 10 cents and 7.5 cents per bushel. The projected deficiency payment rate for 1983 crop wheat is 65 cents per bushel for an advance payment rate of 32.5 cents per bushel.

The advance payment will be equal to one-half the projected deficiency payment rate, times the farm program yield, times the indicated acreage to be planted, not to exceed the permitted acreage of the crop according to Crum.

In addition to deficiency payments, farmers who sign up for the 1983 acreage reduction program will be eligible for diversion payments and price support loans. Half of the diversion payments will be available also at signup. These payments compensate farmers for taking land out of production in addition to the acreage reduction requirement.

For 1983 feed grains, a 10 percent acreage reduction and a 10 percent paid land diversion program is in effect. For wheat, a 15 percent acreage reduction and a 5 percent paid land diversion requirement is in effect. To qualify for program benefits, farmers must limit their planted acres of these crops to no more than 80 percent of the farm's corn/sorghum, barley/oats and wheat base and devote an acreage equal to both the reduction and land diversion to conservation uses.

Application for the 1983 programs may be filed at the county office weekdays between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA FEDERAL ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION

City of Westernport, Maryland
Project No. 4506-001

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR LICENSE

(over 5 MW)
(November 29, 1982)

Take notice that the City of Westernport, Maryland (Applicant) filed on July 8, 1982, an application for license [pursuant to the Federal Power Act, 16 U.S.C. §§791 (a) - 825 (r)] for construction and operation of a water power project to be known as Bloomington Lake Project No. 4506. The project would be located on the Potomac River in Garrett County, Maryland and Mineral County, West Virginia. Correspondence with the Applicant should be directed to: CE Maquire, Inc., 60 First Avenue, Waltham, Massachusetts 02254, Attn: Mr. Edward Dunn.

Project Description - The proposed run-of-the-river project would utilize the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Bloomington Lake Dam and Reservoir and would consist of: (1) a proposed steel penstock 10.0 feet in diameter, trifurcating into three separate penstocks or 4.0 feet, 6.5 feet, and 6.5 feet, each leading into one of the three proposed turbine units; (2) a new reinforced concrete powerhouse, approximately 130.0 feet long and 65.0 feet wide; (3) three proposed generating units of 2,186 kW, 5,830 kW, and 5,830 kW, giving a total installed capacity of 13,846 kW; (4) a proposed tailrace, 17.0 feet long and 12.0 feet in diameter; (5) proposed transmission lines; and (6) appurtenant facilities. The Applicant estimates that the average annual energy output would be 55,000 MWh. This license application was filed during the term of Applicant's preliminary permit for Project No. 4506.

Purpose of Project - Power generated by the proposed project will be sold to Virginia Electric Power Company.

Competing Applications - Anyone desiring to file a competing application must submit to the Commission, on or before February 7, 1983, either the competing application itself [See 18 C.F.R. §4.33 (a) and (d)] or a notice of intent [See 18 C.F.R. §4.33 (b) and (c)] to file a competing application. Filing of a timely notice of intent allows an interested person to file an acceptable competing application no later than the time specified in §4.33 (c) or §4.101 et. seq. (1981).

Comments, Protests, or Motions to Intervene - Anyone may file comments, a protest, or a motion to intervene in accordance with the requirements of the Rules 211 or 214, 18 C.F.R. 385.211 or 385.214, 47 Fed. Reg. 19025-26 (1982). In determining the appropriate action to take, the Commission will consider all protests or other comments filed, but only those who file a motion to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules may become a party to the proceeding. Any comments, protests, or motions to intervene must be filed on or before February 7, 1983.

Filing and Service of Responsive Documents - Any filings must bear in all capital letters the Title "COMMENTS," "NOTICE OF INTENT TO FILE COMPETING APPLICATION," "COMPETING APPLICATION," "PROTEST," or "MOTION TO INTERVENE," as applicable, and the Project Number of this notice. Any of the above named documents must be filed by providing the original and those copies required by the Commission's regulations to: Kenneth F. Plumb, Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE, Washington, D.C. 20426. An additional copy must be sent to: Fred E. Springer, Chief, Applications Branch, Division of Hydropower Licensing, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Room 208 RB at the above address. A copy of any notice of intent, competing application, or motion to intervene must also be served upon each representative of the Applicant specified in the first paragraph of this notice.

Lois D. Cashell
Acting Secretary

NO. 8313 EQUITY
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY,
MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property in the town of Oakland, Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and the State of Maryland to the plaintiff in these proceedings:

A parcel of land in the town of Oakland, Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, along the westerly margin of Liberty Street extended, and being the southerly portion of Lot No. 78 as shown on the plat of the subdivision of the Bradley Farm, recorded in Plat Book No. 1, page 64, one of the Plat Records of Garrett County, Maryland, which is described as follows:

BEGINNING at a stake standing in the westerly margin of Liberty Street extended, said stake being the northeasterly corner of Lot No. 59½ and the southeasterly corner of Lot No. 78, and running then with the southerly line of Lot No. 78, and the northerly line of Lot No. 59½, South 78° 00' West, 89.0 feet to a stake standing in the easterly margin of the right-of-way of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, then with said easterly margin, North 12° 14' West, 314.0 feet to a stake standing on the southerly bank of Bradley Run, then 2 courses with the southerly bank of Bradley Run, North 78° 30' East, 34.5 feet, then South 48° 15' East, 46.1 feet to a stake standing in the westerly margin of Liberty Street extended, then 2 courses with the westerly margin of Liberty Street extended, South 11° 28' East, 141.65 feet, then South 26° 05' East, 139.9 feet to the beginning, containing 0.46 of an acre, more or less, and being the property conveyed to Alonzo R. Kitzmiller and Grashia H. Kitzmiller, his wife by deed from Pricilla D. Shaffer and others dated August 31, 1960 and recorded in Deed Book No. 231, page 205, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The bill states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than a year and a day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 8th day of December, 1982, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks on or before the 6th day of January, 1983, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by the 7th day of February, 1983, and redeem the property and answer the Bill, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the plaintiff a title, free and clear of all encumbrances.

Ag Census

crop loans, crop acreage, amount harvested, and value of crops and livestock sold.

About 20 percent of farmers and ranchers will receive a form with an additional page which has inquiries on: selected production expenses, market value of land and buildings, machinery and equipment inventory and value, interest expenses and expenditures for petroleum and other energy sources.

Assistance in completing census forms is available locally from offices of the Cooperative Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, Vocational Agriculture Teachers, Production Credit Associations, and Farmers Home Administration.

A file copy of the report is provided which operators can complete and keep for their own records.

A time extension can be granted farmers who request it. Census results will be published for each state, and the nation. The first preliminary data will be released beginning in the fall of 1983.

The law which requires farmers and ranchers to report in the census also protects the privacy of their reports. Census report forms are confidential by law and they may be seen only be sworn Census employees and may be used only for statistical purposes. Even other government agencies cannot obtain or use the individual reports, and copies retained by the farmers are immune from the legal process.

Each report form will have a census file number (CFN) printed on the address label. If a report is not received for each file number, the Census Bureau will send out follow-up letters to all who have not responded.

Farmers and ranchers who have not received a form should request one from the Bureau of the Census, 1201 East 10th Street, Jeffersonville, Indiana 47133.

WRA To Conduct Hearing On Wells For Frostburg

The Water Resources Administration, at the prompting of Garrett County citizens, will conduct two sessions of a public hearing Tuesday, January 18, at the Route 40 Elementary School on a groundwater appropriation permit application for the City of Frostburg. The first session will begin at 3:30 p.m. and the second at 7:00 p.m.

The application involves two 500-foot wells dug two years ago in Garrett County, north of the relocated St. John Rock Road junction. When the city dug the wells, it had hoped to pump an average of 200,000 gallons of groundwater per day for municipal purposes, but during a testing period, which began December 6 and which is still running, the city has only been able to draw a little over 100,000 gallons a day, said Chris Hobatter, Frostburg engineer.

In the first few days of the test period, 61-year-old Garrett resident Ralph Teets, whose property borders land where the wells are located, lost three springs which watered his 22 head of cattle and noticed a slight drop in the spring which supplies his home with water. This small stream is all he has now to supply his home and cattle with water.

Although officials point out Teets is the only one to be affected by the wells, area residents are worried about the long-term effects of the wells and are worried they will not be adequately compensated for loss of their water supplies by Frostburg.

Because of concerns directed to the Water Resources Administration, including a petition signed by at least 58 persons, a public hearing was scheduled even though the WRA has tentatively decided to issue the permit to Frostburg, but probably YOUTH DIES IN BLAZE -- A 15-year-old Mt. Lake Park boy was killed Sunday morning when fire gutted the main portion of his home, located at 506 G Street. Four other children managed to escape the blaze by jumping from second story windows. They were assisted by Robert Grove, 17, who was passing by the residence and stopped to render aid. The body of Ta Quang Nguyen, a student at Southern Middle School, was found in the dining room on the first floor. The cause of the fire is still under investigation. See story.

State Court Rules Board Must Hear Local Appeal Case

The Maryland Court of Appeals has decided that the Maryland Board of Education cannot choose which appeals cases from county Boards of Education it will hear.

The court's decision came at the end of December 1982 and involved an appeal case from Garrett County which the board had rejected in 1981.

The case involved Dan Lendo, a former county teacher, who, after being denied an appeal on the county level in a grievance procedure, appealed to the state board which also denied the appeal.

Lendo had protested an evaluation which combined comments on both his teaching and coaching performance. He argued that his performance as a coach should not be considered in evaluation of his

Sheriff's Dept. Increases Patrol Of Dumpster Sites

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department announced this week that increased patrol checks of the remaining ten dumpster sites in the county show that the citizens have been obeying the laws regarding trash disposal.

Sheriff Frank Finch said that his department has not seen any violations of regulations, and stated that both his department and the county commissioners were pleased that the laws are being followed.

The department will be continuing increased checks of dumpster sites in the future, Finch concluded.

Weather

Clear and cold tonight with diminishing winds. Low near 10. Mostly sunny and continued cold Thursday. Highs mid to upper 20s.

Increasing cloudiness Friday with a chance of rain or snow over the weekend. Lows in the 20s to low 30s. Highs upper 30s to low 40s. Temperatures 5 to 10 degrees colder in the mountains.

EVEN A PARKING meter can muster up a smile during the worst weather, especially since some kind soul took pity on his chilly metal frame, and bedecked him with a warm ski cap. If a smile is one's umbrella, surely a cap is the answer to every meter's dream for warm coin slots.

Cheese, Butter To Be Distributed To Local Citizens

Garrett County will receive 19,500 lbs. of surplus cheese and over 10,500 lbs. of butter for elderly and low income citizens.

In a joint announcement, Marilyn Metheny, director of the Garrett County Commission on Aging, and Duane Yoder, executive director of the Garrett County Community Action Agency, stated the distribution would take place the week of January 24-28. Yoder explained that both agencies will work together to distribute the commodities in an effort to coordinate the use of staff, volunteers and facilities.

According to Yoder, the distribution will take place throughout the County. Thirteen different sites will be utilized. Yoder noted that the amount of cheese is twice what was received last year and he expected adequate supplies to meet all eligible requests at each site.

Metheny stated that all senior citizens are eligible. Eligibility for other persons is based on income. Persons who have medicaid, food stamp or unemployment cards will be automatically eligible.

The cheese and butter will be delivered to Garrett County by the National Guard and distributed by volunteers and staff from the Commission on Aging and CAA. Time is 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily on appointed days.

The Maryland Department of Education is again acting as the State Coordinating Agency and is working with the local Garrett County organizations to distribute the five-pound blocks of cheese and one-pound prints of butter. It is part of the national effort to reduce the federal government's surplus dairy products.

On Monday, January 24, cheese and butter will be distributed at the Crellin Community Center, Friendsville Head Start Center, Jennings Community Center and the Oakland CAA office. On Tuesday, January 25, it will be distributed at the Bittinger and Grantsville fire halls, Swanton Community Center, Zion Lutheran Church in Accident, Deer Park Senior Center and the Oakland CAA office. On Wednesday, January 26, distribution will be at the Gorman Community Center, Oakland COA on Center Street and the Oakland CAA office. On Thursday, January 27, distribution will be at the Kitzmiller and Bloomington fire halls, the Oakland COA office on Center Street and the Oakland CAA office. On Friday, January 28, distribution will be at the Oakland CAA office.

Commissioners Discuss Renovation Needs In Old Courthouse Building

The need to upgrade offices in the county courthouse occupied by the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation was brought to the attention of the Garrett County Commissioners during Tuesday's meeting by representatives of that office and county Circuit Court Judge Fred Thayer.

James G. MacFarlane, field supervisor, and county senior agents Lindsay Gonder and Robert Ulino, who was recently stationed in the county, described shabby conditions in the office located in the old courthouse and originally occupied by the county commissioners, as well as the need to accommodate two agents rather than one in the office.

MacFarlane stated the request was not new because the division had received promises in the past for renovation of the office space.

Building manager Gary Mullich stated plans to renovate the office were included in the original plan for upgrading the old courthouse drafted at the same time as plans for the courthouse complex. Those plans were delayed due to financial problems.

Mullich also stated that he had submitted a request for renovation of the old courthouse to the county Planning Commission for consideration for inclusion in a capital improvements program which ultimately would be financed through sale of a general obligation bond.

The price tag on the project would be $764,702 for planning and construction funds.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg, who noted the Western Maryland delegation to the General Assembly has not supported proposed legislation for general obligation bonds in the past, said he preferred trying to acquire funding for the entire project at once rather than doing it piecemeal. He said trying to do restoration over a period of time rather than all at once often is more expensive in the long run.

Gregg stated that the commissioners have not yet discussed legislation for a general obligation bond with recently elected delegation members.

Thayer, who stated the Parole and Probation office should have top priority, also reminded the commissioners of his request for remodeling the courtroom which would involve work in lighting and plumbing as well as moving the railing back to allow more space for the jury and prosecution and defense counsels.

The courthouse renovation project would entail upgrading wiring, outlets, lighting and plumbing, lowering and insulating ceilings, refinishing woodwork, a vault for the register of wills office, modifications to the courtroom, additional storage space and modifications to the heating plant.

Mullich said much of the wiring in the courthouse is the original wiring which was not designed to accommodate modern office equipment.

He further stated that there was no hot water in the old portion of the courthouse and there was not adequate restroom facilities.

A separate proposal submitted for consideration to be part of a capital improvements program is exterior work to the courthouse to repair historical motifs at the tops of columns.

Another part of the project would be to replace windows and doors in the courthouse with windows and doors which are airtight but still match the building design.

This project would cost about $325,000.

Although Mullich said the courthouse was not having severe structural problems, he felt the work proposed was needed because some problems, such as wiring, were

Second Hearing Slated For County Sludge Ordinance

The Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a second public hearing on a county sludge disposal ordinance Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the commissioners' office in the county courthouse, Oakland.

During the hearing, the commissioners will receive comments on the fourth revision of the ordinance by the county sludge committee which was appointed by the commissioners in February 1982. The commissioners recognized a need for local control of sewage sludge disposal in the county in 1981 when a Philadelphia sludge hauler attempted to use Baltimore city sludge for reclamation of a strip mine site in the county.

Rodney Glotfelty, a sanitarian with the Garrett County Health Department and a member of the county sludge committee, stated the ordinance, if adopted, would give the county control over sludge and would prohibit bad sludge, containing elements harmful to life, from being deposited in the county.

The fourth revision of the ordinance was made after a public hearing on October 19 when several citizens recommended changes to the ordinance such as conducting all hearings involving the ordinance during evening hours.

Also during that hearing, the commissioners responded to comments that the ordinance should prohibit all sludge disposal in the county by noting such an ordinance would not hold up in court proceedings and by pointing out that some sludge is good.

The commissioners will be acting in their capacity as the local Board of Health if they adopt the proposed ordinance. The proposed ordinance designates the county health department as the administrator of the ordinance.

If adopted, the ordinance would require permits of any person or company proposing to dispose of sewage sludge in the county except those holding a health department permit for cleaning residential septic tanks and a wastewater treatment plant which produces no more than seven dry tons per month of sewage sludge and receives no significant hazardous waste material or heavy metals.

The proposed ordinance outlines the procedure for obtaining a permit as well as requires a security deposit and stipulates penalties for violation of the ordinance as well as appeal procedures.

Members of the committee who drafted the ordinance besides Glotfelty were: Edgar Harman, John Reckner, Jim Simms, Paul Rappleyea, Hugh Trimble, Dorothy Leighton, Patty Zimmerman, Tim Dugan and Fran Pope.

Name Appointees To Advisory Board

The Garrett County commissioners Thursday named their appointees to the Deep Creek Lake Advisory Board.

Commissioners Ernest Gregg will serve on the board along with his appointee, Robert Watson. Commissioner Elwood Groves' appointee is Robert Railey and Commissioner John Braskey's appointee is Delos Carpenter.

The appointment terms run concurrently with the terms of the current Board of County Commissioners.

Fire Claims Life Of Mt. Lake Park Youth; Four Other Children Escape

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday morning for a 15-year-old Mt. Lake Park boy who was killed when fire gutted the main portion of his home Sunday morning. Four other youngsters in the house, cousins of the deceased, escaped serious injury partially because of the heroic efforts of a neighborhood youth who first spotted the fire.

Ta Quang Nguyen, a nephew of the owner of the house, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. James H. Feaster, Jr., deputy medical examiner for Garrett County.

The four youths who were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital included: Mai Linh Hebb, 8, who sustained a brusied heel; Lee Peter Hebb, 10; Billy Jo Hebb, 12, who received burns on his nose and left ear; and Danny Hung Hebb, who was 14 on Monday.

According to James Martin, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, the children's mother, Trong Bui Thi Hebb, had left for work at the Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home in Oakland at about 6:45 a.m. The father of the Hebb children is presently stationed with the U.S. Army in Germany. Firefighters from Oakland and Deer Park fire departments were called to the residence, located at 506 G Street, at 9:29 a.m. and upon their arrival found flames rolling out the first and second-story windows in the front portion of the wood frame structure.

Martin stated that all five children were on the second floor when fire broke out below in the living room. He said that Danny, Peter and Mai Linh were watching television in one of the upstairs bedrooms when they smelled smoke. They quickly awakened Billy and older cousin who were sleeping in other rooms.

Ta Quang Nguyen and the oldest brother, Danny, reportedly guided the younger children to windows and then broke out the glass so they could jump to safety. However, Martin said young Nguyen went downstairs, possibly to see where the fire was originating.

Virginia Grove and her two children, Robert, 17, and Wendy, who reside about 150 yards away from the Hebb residence, were enroute to church when they spotted smoke coming from the house and they stopped to offer assistance. Robert Grove immediately instructed his sister to go to a neighbor's house, the residence of Donald and Suzanne Sincell, to call Garrett Central Alarm.

Grove then discovered the young girl on the ground on the south side of the residence where she had been dropped 20 feet out a window by her oldest brother, who also dropped to safety from the same window. However, two younger brothers were found at two other second floor windows hesitating. Grove persuaded them to jump and he broke their falls. Grove then broke out a window and kicked in the front door in an effort to enter the living room, which by that time was involved in flame. The body of the deceased boy was found in the dining room, adjacent to the living room about three feet from the bottom of the stairs.

An autopsy performed in Baltimore revealed that the youth died of smoke inhalation.

According to Mrs. Sincell, who was the only person home at her residence at the time, Grove made several attempts to enter the burning house, but was turned back each time by the heat. Another passerby, Jay Umstot, of Oakland, also attempted to enter the house, but to no avail. Mrs. Sincell took the boys to her home and they were later transported to the hospital by a friend of the Hebb family. Grove drove the young girl to the hospital.

Fire personnel got the fire under control within about ten

Thayer Sentences Carroll County Man To 15-Year Term

Following the reading of an emotion-filled letter in his own defense, a Carroll County man, Lee Thomas Barnes, 34, was sentenced Thursday to serve 15 years in prison for arson.

Barnes was charged with setting the July, 1980, fire which destroyed 1.5 million tons of clothing stored in a warehouse belonging to the Church of Brethren in New Windsor. The clothing was stored until time for distribution to needy families around the world.

In his first trial, which was brought to Garrett County on a change of venue, the jury was unable to decide a verdict, and a mistrial was declared. Since that time, testimony by a co-defendant reportedly added strength to the state's case against Barnes, and the case was heard once more in October of 1982.

The fire, which was discovered at 1:45 a.m. on July 15, 1980, had losses reported at 11 million dollars.

Judge Fred A. Thayer passed sentence after reviewing several letters entered into evidence by the defense.

Oakland Visit Of Bloodmobile Nets 232 Pints

The Red Cross Bloodmobile collected a total of 232 pints of blood at its Oakland visit Friday at the National Guard Armory, according to Norma Hesen, local chairman. Of the 351 scheduled donors, 254 presented themselves and there were 36 first-time donors. The quota for the visit was 150 pints.

Janet Hardesty, Mt. Lake Park, gave her 56th pint of blood, to become a seven-gallon donor. W. Perry Shaffer, Oakland, became a six-gallon donor and Claude Swartzentruber and Carl M. Cathell, both of Oakland, completed their fifth gallons.

Those becoming three-gallon donors included Frank Martin, Mt. Lake Park; Foster A. Lewis, Crellin; John Toston, Deer Park; and William Livengood, Oakland. Completing their second gallons were Mamie Wilt, Swanton; Shirley Foglepole, Deer Park; and Tom Browning, Oakland. One-gallon donors were Harold Lewis, Corinth, W. Va.; Elizabeth Lee, Kitzmiller; and Thomas Graybill, Oakland.

Registered nurses volunteering their skills and time were: Teresa Field, Ruth A. Jones, Marie L. Burnett, Mary F. Paige, Lois Cuppett, Mary Kathryn Speicher, Phyllis M. Pacheco, Dorothy Rudy, Helen T. Baumgartner and Reva Rush.

Other volunteers included: Mabel Hauser, Jane Wagner, Elizabeth M. Mullennex, Violet Bowser, Elizabeth McComas, Grayce Quinet, Marianna for less than the requested 200,000 gallons a day, officials say.

County health department and soil conservation officials have inspected the sites and have some concerns of their own. One official worried that a drop in the water table in that area caused by the wells could prohibit future growth there.

Teets believes Frostburg could improve its water supply by repairing pipes running from its reservoir in northern Garrett County rather than using the two wells.

Although Hobatter stated Frostburg intends to compensate any person who loses his water supply, some of the residents are not sure the compensation will be adequate.

"We're just afraid they are going to take our water without anything in return," said Kenneth Duvall whose three-year-old house sits 1,000 feet from the wells.

Duvall signed an agreement with the City of Frostburg, something a few of his neighbors refused to sign, which stated terms of compensation by the city if the person's water supply was affected. There were two separate agreements, one for the testing period and one for a 10-year period upon issuance of the WRA permit.

Duvall then engaged Leonard Eiswert, an Oakland attorney, to make sure the test period agreement would provide adequate compensation. On November 29, Eiswert sent a letter to Frostburg making recommendations to amend the agreement. Those amendments provided for an immediate halt in the testing if Duvall's water supply was damaged, a pledge by Frostburg that it was sincere in its compensation intentions and that any interruption in the water supply would be presumed to be caused by the testing.

The testing period, says WRA official Kenward McKinney, will probably end the day of the public hearing. To date, the Duvalls have received no word that their attorney's recommendations were incorporated in the agreement.

John Leighton, whose property also is near the wells, says he has been monitoring the wells on his own and has noted a drop in the water level. He believes the test period should have been longer than it has been and thinks it should have been performed during a standard dry season of the year when problems may arise.

Hobatter, who monitors the city wells on a regular basis and also monitors area residents' wells, feels the test period, originally planned for two weeks but extended by WRA, has been successful and sufficient. He said the wells are intended to supplement the main water source for the city in times of need and may not necessarily be used daily.

Kenward McKinney, who is chief of the water appropriations permit section, said the public hearing was divided into two sessions to accommodate the large number of persons who have an interest in the subject. The public hearing will be both a time to present testimony and to receive information about the project.

State Jobless Rate Declines, Garrett's Higher

Maryland's estimated unemployment rate declined from 8.0 percent in October to 7.7 percent in November, according to statistics released Friday by the Maryland Department of Human Resources, Employment Security Administration. However, Garrett County's jobless rate increased from 16.7 to 17.8 percent during the same period, giving Garrett County the highest rate among Maryland counties and Baltimore City.

Statewide, 2,013,207 persons were employed in November and 167,398 unemployed which, combined, gave the State a labor force of 2,180,605.

The increase in employment resulted from normal seasonal hiring in retail trade, education and unseasonable hiring in construction due to dropping interest rates and easier financing. In addtion, manufacturing and services showed considerably fewer layoffs than last November.

Last November, the unemployment rate was 7.6 percent with only 2,591 fewer persons unemployed.

Generally, employment has essentially returned to the levels experienced in 1979.

In the Baltimore metropolitan area, the unemployment rate fell from Oct. 9.4 to 8.9 percent in November. Employment increased by an estimated 1,998 persons and unemployment declined by 6,406. Baltimore's City's rate fell from 11.3 to 10.6 percent.

Unemployment in Maryland's suburbs of the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area decreased from 4.9 in October to 4.5 percent in November. Employment in that area advanced by an estimated 5,978 persons and unemployment was diminished by 2,555. Hiring was noted especially in retail trade, business services and local government.

Western Maryland's unemployment rate increased from 12.4 to 12.7 percent. Persistent layoffs in manufacturing is what caused Garrett County's unemployment rate to advance, and Washington County's rate to increase from 13.1 to 14.4 percent. Frederick County's rate fell from 9.8 to 8.8 percent.

Among the 11 counties on the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland, there was a noticeable increase in Somerset County's rate which climbed from 14.8 to 17.2 percent and in Worcester County's rate which climbed from 11.2 to 15.7 percent.

getting to a critical state.

He noted he has applied for state grant monies in previous years for historical preservation projects, but has been unsuccessful.

Conduct Other Business

In other business Tuesday, the commissioners opened bids for printing of 75 copies of the county code. Only one bid was received which was from General Code Publisher, Rochester, New York, for $8,750. The commissioners instructed the county attorney to review the bid.

The commissioners discussed with representatives of the county Extension Service their request for county funds to pay for some costs of the new branch office in Grantsville. Jim Simms, extension agent, said the cost would be about $1,800 to pay a parttime secretary's salary and phone service.

Extension agent Alice Heavner and Simms explained the need for the branch office noting they had received a request from the county farm bureau and noting that two-thirds of the county farm population is north of Deep Creek Lake.

Heavner also noted that the cost of the office would not be picked up by the state.

The commissioners directed their staff to investigate possible ways to fund the request, but did not commit themselves to granting the request.

The commissioners met with Edgar Harman, director of the environmental health section of the Garrett County Health Department, who requested reinstatement of a water well permit fee. Harman noted that the 1982 Maryland legislature had given counties power to charge such fees, a power counties had from 1976-79 but then was taken away. The commissioners directed Harman to develop a cost comparison of what other counties in the state charge before trying to establish such a fee in this county.

DNR To Hold Public Meeting In Bloomington

The Department of Natural Resources will hold a public information meeting on January 18 at 7 p.m. at the Bloomington Volunteer Fire Company in Bloomington. The purpose of this meeting will be to explain the study that is to examine the fisheries habitat in those sections of the Savage River and its tributaries that were damaged as a result of flooding that occurred April 1980 and to study the potential for restoration. Representatives of the Department of Natural Resource's Water Resources Administration and the Cold Water Fisheries Division, Maryland Wildlife Administration and Potomac Engineering and Surveying will conduct the program and be available to answer questions.

This study is to provide the technical assistance necessary to develop a plan to restore those segments of the Savage River and its tributaries that were affected by the flooding and the post-flooding construction that caused stream channel modifications. The Fisheries Study, to be undertaken this winter and spring by Potomac Engineering Surveying of Oakland, will determine the locations and extent of damages to coldwater fisheries habitat and will develop alternative plans for improving habitat conditions to a point that natural trout populations could be supported.

The study area will include the main stem of the Savage River and tributaries to the river.

Both the Water Resources Administration and the Wildlife Administration of the Department of Natural Resources will be managing the study.

A second study will be undertaken later this year and will define flooding problems in the watershed and recommend various ways to reduce and eliminate flood damage. This information will be presented to the Garrett County commissioners as an initial step in devising a flood management plan for the Savage River. The Water Resources Administration also intends to hold a public information meeting on this study prior to beginning the work.

Extension Service Plans Open House

The Cooperative Extension Service will be holding an Open House on Monday, January 17, from 1-8 p.m., at the new part-time branch office in Grantsville. The office is located in the conference room at the Health Center.

The public is invited to stop by, meet the Extension staff and discover what programs and services are available.

After January 17 the office will be open Monday and Friday from 8:30-4:30 p.m. The phone number is 895-3124.

The Cooperative Extension Service offers educational programs and services to Garrett County in the areas of agriculture, home economics, 4-H and youth, energy, and community resource development.

Mary Love Opens Counseling Service

Mary I. Love has announced that she is starting a private Mental Health Counseling Service since her retirement from the Garrett County Health Department on January 1.

Miss Love founded the Garrett County Mental Health Service in 1967 and directed the program for ten years. Prior to working in Garrett County, she was a psychologist in the Cincinnati Public Schools and a lecturer in the Graduate School of Social Work at West Virginia University.

Miss Love has a Master's degree in Clinical Psychology from the University of Cincinnati, with two years of additional training and supervising experience in the Department of Psychiatry there and at the Fort Thomas (Kentucky) VA Hospital. She has also studied at the Universities of Maryland, Pittsburgh, Illinois, Chicago, Rutgers, and Harvard. She is certified by the National Academy of Clinical Mental Health Counselors, and is a member of several national, state, and regional professional organizations.

Miss Love is also chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Board of the Thomas B. Finan Center, a member of the State Mental Health Advisory Council, the Garrett County Children's Council, the Child Abuse Committee, the School Health Advisory Committee, and the Garrett County Hospice Committee.

Board Approves Review Of Family Life Program

The Garrett County Board of Education has approved a review of Focus Area II, Family Life and Human Development program in grade nine.

The review for the girls will be conducted by Carol Clark, Garrett County Health Department, and the boys' review will be taught by an area physician. The review will be held during the students' physical education classes.

Parents are invited to review materials or visit the classes on the following dates:

Southern High School: January 13, 14, 20, 21, 27 or 28.

Northern High School, February 3, 4, 10 and 11.

Parents should contact the schools for the class schedules and the exact time the review classes will be in session.

Students may be excused from this review upon written request from parents or legal guardians, according to a news release prepared by Robert F. Rodeheaver, director of secondary education.

Public Hearing On Lake Sewerage Slated Thursday

All persons interested in speaking out against or in defense of the proposed Deep Creek Lake sewerage project will be given a chance to air their views this Thursday, when the Sanitary Commission conducts a public hearing at 2 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church social room.

Twelve years have passed since the sanitary district was first formed by petition, and the county commissioners have given their approval to proceed with the $17,395,000 project.

Shillingburg New Fair Board Head

Lee Shillingburg, White Church Road, was elected president of the Garrett County Fair Board of Directors at a dinner meeting of the group January 8 at Will O' the Wisp.

Other officers selected were Robert L. Glotfelty, first vice president; Harley Brenneman, second vice president; Helen Bittinger, secretary; Merle Wilburn, treasurer; and Claude Wagner, Jr., Manager.

Robert L. Glotfelty presided at the meeting, according to a news release from Loretta Opel, publicity chairman.

Those charged include Oliver Eugene Beckman, 58, Mt. Lake Park; Raymond Allen Ursin, 36, Sarver, Pa.; Ronnie Emerson Kemp, 26, Ohiopyle, Pa.; James Milton Reckert, 28, Oakland; Tammy Ann Creegan, 18, Lonaconing; and Robert D. German, 52, Chester, Va.

The arresting officers included Tfc. Larry Tracy; Tfc. Jerry Michael; Tfc. Chester Miller; Officer Ronald Beeghley; and Deputy Don Tucker.

Tax Collections Are $739,489 For December

December tax collections in the office of county treasurer Arzella Parsons amounted to $739,489.25, boosted by $331,596.99 from the "other sources" category.

During December, $168,173.76 was collected from real estate taxes; $3,323.29 from personal property taxes, and $22,155.01 from ordinary business taxes. Public utilities taxes amounted to $39,400.43; and taxes for prior years amounted to $71,297.39.

State taxes brought in $25,816.04; and interest received on taxes amounted to $15,750.40. The 1982-83 ad valorem taxes netted $5,821.72, and the 1981-82 ad valorem taxes brought in $508.31.

Coal producers paid $36,613.17 in coal tonnage tax and $12,986.91 in coal severance taxes during the month. The trailer park tax was $850.25, transfer tax was $678.80, and recording fees were $6,714.03. Beer taxes contributed $6,000.

Subtracted from the amount collected was $8,197.25 for discounts and credits allowed, leaving the $739,489.25 total.

What's A Full-Service Office Products Store Doing In Garrett County?
Funny you should ask.
Sometimes, we in Garrett County sell ourselves short.
True, we might not be as cosmopolitan as our city cousins. But neither do we suffer through traffic jams, pollution and all the disadvantages of city living.
On the other hand, just because we live in a rural atmosphere doesn't mean we can't shop with convenience and economy.
That's what we had in mind when we opened Southern Office Supply—local people helping local people. And it's paid off. Your response has been tremendous and we thank you for your support.
Please come in and visit us. Let us show you our available inventory of over 22,000 different office products. We might even mention that we have the least expensive copy service in the area as well as free delivery and professional office counseling.
You might even mistake us for a "big city" store. But we know we're in Garrett County . . . and we love it!

Perhaps He Knows . . .

When Ta Quang Nguyen came to the United States a few years ago he was not yet a teenager, he knew no English and he left his parents behind in Vietnam. He had experienced and witnessed more horror and poverty in his short life than any one of his Garrett County contemporaries could even imagine. In his family's attempt to flee Vietnam, one of his brothers was shot to death. He then spent a year in a crowded refugee camp where his feet were bare and food was more precious than gold.

The radical culture change, difficulty with the language and the prejudice of some individuals made his first few years in this country extremely frustrating. But, despite numerous setbacks, he kept struggling, and about six months ago he seemed to put it all together. He had conquered the language barrier, his school work was coming along quite well and he had made many friends. He was one of those people who could brighten the day just with a smile, because when he smiled, his entire handsome face just beamed.

On Sunday morning, Ta died in a fire which destroyed his house. He was 15. One of the last things he did was break a window so other terrified children could jump to safety. This special young man, who had already had far more than his share of misfortune, was just beginning to understand and enjoy his newly-found freedom from oppression and poverty.

Moments after the fire was discovered there was absolutely nothing anyone could do to save Ta's life, although one heroic youth tried his best. However, dozens of people knew that there was much that could be done to help the survivors and the response by area residents was overwhelming. The telephone at the neighbor's home, where the burned-out family took refuge immediately after the fire, literally rang off the hook all afternoon. At the other end of the line were people, many of them total strangers, who wanted to help. Callers included an elderly woman who offered canned food and a youngster who was representing her Sunday School class which wanted to lend assistance.

Within 24 hours, the family not only had all of the donated clothing they needed, but two truckloads of additional clothing had been hauled from the House of Hope, where the family is presently housed, to the Volunteer Service Center. Clothing and food continues to roll in.

The ice cream truck which delivers to the schools, as if part of some mysterious plan, broke down Monday and could not make its rounds. The students of Southern Middle School, completely on their own, decided to donate their ice cream money to Ta's family. Over $100 was collected.

Sisters Kathryn and Susan, of St. Peter's Catholic Church and the House of Hope, two remarkable human beings, continue their selfless service to God and their fellowman.

An out-of-town couple who own a completely furnished summer home in Oakland have offered to allow the family to stay in this home until they can re-locate.

Even now, more than three days after the fire, the neighbor's phone continues to ring as more persons want to help ease the burden of loss and grief.

Tragedy is part of life which must be accepted by all of us. However, it will never destroy us as long as we continue to help each other through such times with the caring and loving such as was demonstrated this week.

Ta probably never knew so many people cared. Now, somehow, we think perhaps he does.

Points To Ponder

by Carol Fox

There's been a lot of flap lately about the lack of "real" winter in Garrett County. Newspaper articles, pictures, and snow enthusiasts are lamenting the sparceness of white fluffies, and obviously, ski resort owners, snowmobile salespersons, etc., are gnashing teeth over the reduction in their seasonal business. All these things need to be seriously considered . . . however, a second look at the viable aspects of a green and unseasonably mild winter are in order.

Consider that thousands of thermostats in this unemployment-wracked portion of Maryland are able to remain lower, saving thousands of dollars in energy costs; elderly fixed-income residents are being spared the budget-wretching ravages of cold, snow-filled days and nights; Garrett County's financially strapped economy is being spared a few fiscal cents in highway maintenance costs and man hour dollars; school sessions are uninterrupted, making it possible (maybe) for our children to be dismissed for the year before mid-summer. Traffic accidents caused by ice, sleet, and blizzard-like conditions are practically non-existent, at the moment, saving untold lives, injuries, and expenses. Gasoline, kerosene, diesel fuel, and all other assorted vehicle supplements are being saved, in whatever number, making this unusual freak of nature one to be grateful for. All things considered, shouldn't we be thanking God for some relief, however slight, in this troubled time?

On another note, I'm always impressed with honesty, and this week, I had the pleasure of experiencing some—West Virginia style. A gentleman named R. D. Davis, who lives in Elk Garden, found a signed, blank check of mine in a vehicle I had recently rented. It would have been very easy to fill in an amount, any amount, cash the check, and be gone. Mr. Davis not only notified me (through the information printed on my check) but was kind enough to return the item at his own expense. It's good to know how many honest people we really do have left.

Thank you, Mr. Davis.

THAT'S ODD.. THIS AGNEW CHECK WAS ENDORSED BY THE COMMITTEE TO RE-ELECT NIXON, TRANSFERRED TO A CUBAN LAUNDROMAT IN MIAMI AND INITIALED BY JOHN MITCHELL..

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I was shocked to read in the paper that Sheriff Finch hired a non-trained officer for the job. It came from a very reliable source that there were several trained people who applied for the job.

Just last week in The Republican the sheriff said how he was saving the taxpayers money. It will cost by the time this person will be trained thousands of county tax dollars, when you count schooling, meals, room, mileage plus all of his wages while in school. And another bad thing is, this county will still be short a deputy for 14 weeks.

I will remember you, Sheriff Finch, when I go to pay my taxes, and also at election time. I am sure other taxpaying citizens will remember you also.

Name withheld

To the Editor:

Many of our customers are just beginning to realize that Congress passed a law last summer to withhold 10 percent of their interest and dividend earnings beginning July 1.

Banks and other financial institutions have opposed interest and dividend withholding since the idea first surfaced 40 years ago. We still do.

Withholding on interest and dividends will cost America's 80 million savers and investors some $1.5 billion in foregone earnings on their interest and dividends. It will cost the country's financial institutions at least another $1.5 billion to put withholding into place.

Although there is an exemption allowed for most senior citizens and low income people, this exemption process is an administrative nightmare in itself. To be exempt, people will have to file a government form with each institution where they have an account. On this form they will have to swear their tax liability is below the ceiling. Besides the obvious invasion of privacy involved here, banks will be buried under mountains of new and unnecessary paperwork.

The First National Bank of Oakland and The Garrett National Bank in Oakland strongly oppose the withholding of taxes from interest and dividends. It's unnecessary because 95 percent of taxpayers already pay the taxes they owe on interest and dividend earnings that are subject to reporting when they file their federal income tax return. It is unfair because it will lower their interest earnings by reducing the benefits of compounded savings growth.

In short, the law clearly penalizes savers and investors. It should be repealed by Congress, and we will need the help of every saver and investor to achieve this goal.

If you agree that this law is unfair and unnecessary, please write your Congressman and Senators to tell them so. We can get this law repealed, but we must begin now.

Sincerely
Benjamin W. Ridder

To the Editor:

We would like to call your attention to some outstanding people in the automobile industry. Willis T. Shaffer, owner of Shaffer Ford Sales, Oakland, and his mechanics deserve recognition for their help and good will.

Two days before Christmas our family (there are six of us) was headed from Montgomery County to Kentucky. Our car broke down on Route 48, and we were towed to Oakland. It was 4 p.m., and the only auto dealership that worked on diesel cars was closing down its repair shop until Monday (two days after Christmas). We decided that the only alternative would be to leave our car and rent another in order to arrive in Kentucky by Christmas.

In searching for a rental car, we stopped at Shaffer Ford. Mr. Shaffer said that, although his mechanics were familiar only with diesel trucks, they would be glad to look at the car. Four mechanics worked on our car for over two hours (after closing time). Special parts would be needed, they determined. Since all the supply stores were closed and there were no rental cars available in the area, we were sure that we would be stuck in Oakland for the holidays.

Mr. Shaffer came to the rescue, however. He sent us on our way in his 14-passenger van. When we returned to Oakland the following Tuesday our car was in good working order.

Not only did these fine people go out of their way to help us, they charged us far below what the normal charges would be for labor and for the rental of the van. They did not charge us for their travel time to and from Cumberland for the needed parts (50 miles away). These men are in our thoughts and prayers for their concerted efforts and their generosity.

Sincerely yours,
The James J. Hall Family,
Silver Spring

Dear Sir:

Someone once said "bah on Jimmy Carter" in a letter to the editor of the Grit magazine. I'll add to that and say "bah" on politicians period. And an extra big "bah" on the politicians who raised their salaries last month.

If I am correct they were considering more like twice the amount they got, and then they got the guts to talk about inflation. Their salary increase is proof of their blatant disregard for the problem.

There were plenty of greedy and power hungry politicians in the government of ancient Rome before it collapsed and we have plenty of the same kind in Washington today.

Harlan Miller

To the Editor:

From 1972-1981, wages and salaries increased 190%. Productivity increased 10%, and prices increased 218%. The national debt increased to over one trillion dollars, with interest of 100 billion dollars per year.

The wage and salary increases have priced American products completely out of foreign markets, and out of much of the American markets. As a result, American factories have had to curtail production and lay off workers. We now have 14 million, out of 105 million workers, idle. Many of these are drawing subsistance living from the government, and increasing the national debt at an alarming rate.

How much better we would be if we were all working at lower wages and salaries, all producing commodities at saleable prices, all paying reasonable taxes, and reducing instead of increasing the national debt. The interest alone is now costing each employed worker well over $100 per month!

By year-after-year use of "COLA", "cost of living adjustment" in union labor contracts, this situation has developed, and if drastic actions are not quickly taken by our federal government, we are heading into a massive depression, that will make the 1930-1933 depression seem mild by comparison.

The labor union leadership has gotten us into this "hell of a mess", so aptly, but so unintentionally, identified by President Reagan recently. The union leadership is now beginning to realize this, but is floundering around, unable to do anything about it.

Only quick, harsh and drastic action by our federal government, with full cooperation by all American citizens, including union members, can avert the inpending big depression.

Nikita Khruschev may not have been too far wrong in 1959 when he said, "We will bury you!" He meant economically. It is beginning to look like we might do it all by ourselves, without any outside help!

CETA Will Be Replaced By New Training Program

Ten-year-old CETA, the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act created by Congress in 1973, will expire this year to be replaced by another creation of Congress, the Job Training Partnership Act, reports Bonnie Cowan, coordinator of the Oakland office of the Western Maryland Consortium.

CETA will expire September 30 and the Job Training Partnership Act will become effective Oct. 1.

The law, Cowan says, transfers major responsibility from the federal government to state governments and place more emphasis on the Private Industry Council, the representatives of the business community, in decision making.

The Private Industry Council in Garrett County is chaired by Pat Fischetti, president of Garrett Optical Company, Inc., and is comprised of leading local business men who will be instrumental in preparing plans with the local elected officials for administering the program, Cowan notes.

The Job Training Partnership Act of 1982 continues a federal commitment to help prepare people with serious employment barriers to be productive members of the labor force. Like CETA, the new legislation works primarily through a locally-based program delivery system to provide remedial education, training and employment assistance to low income and unemployed youth and adults.

Unlike CETA, says Ms. Cowan, the new act equalizes authority between the private and public sectors over all aspects of local policymaking, planning, administration and program operations.

Locally, the Western Maryland Consortium is conducting classes in trades which cover basic electrical, plumbing, masonry, carpentry, woodworking, wall papering and basic auto mechanics.

Also offered is training in office procedures as well as a program for persons to attain their high school equivalency diploma.

The Consortium is planning training courses for nurse's aides as well as opportunities for eligible persons to attend other vocational and trade schools located outside the county.

An allowance is offered to eligible persons while participating in training classes, says Ms. Cowan.

For more information or for an appointment, persons may call the local office located at 100 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland, at 334-8136 or 334-8445 between the hours of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Lesson from a suitcase

by Harry Fox

The black suitcase rests in one corner of an upstairs room, waiting for the last few loads of things to be carried to the new house.

The stenciled lettering has faded a little in the more than thirty years since it was issued to a young lieutenant, a chaplain in the army air force.

Inside, carefully packed away by hands that knew each item so well, are the cross, chalice and paten, and vessels needed for a portable altar—and creased and folded to one side, some vestments of yellowed linen. Over all, like a funeral pall, is the deep navy blue flag with a white cross, waiting idly to be raised again as before, in places from Italy to aboard ship on the way to Japan (a trip cut short one August day when the ships turned around and headed home).

The ultimate irony—the instruments of peace packed for travel to war—in a world where reason is too often short-circuited.

The silver, tarnished almost beyond recognition, still has a solid feel, a heft to which its user's hands must have become accustomed. The old suitcase itself, from the time before luggage was molded from plastic, belies its age to those who don't know better. Such things as we leave behind for others to ponder over, to find a place in an attic, to move from place to place—perhaps, as now to be opened again.

And so, on this mid-winter's night, a son, untimely born, looks into the past, sequestered in an old suitcase. No longer "needed" for anything, such relics now acquire a new-found purpose . . . to preserve for others the legacy of one generation's hopes and fears.

Such mental suitcases are all around us—in our homes, our towns, our words. To some falls the task of preserving, to others, that of remembering. But most, sad to say, are content to let their own history decay, its landmarks crumble in neglect.

For one, it may be simply a box of personal items left behind. Another may struggle to draw new life from old books. Each has discovered a purpose there, in the leftovers of another generation.

It was an unexpected lesson found in the old suitcase. By better understanding the past, the present makes more sense.

Assessment Answers & Tax Talk

ON THE THEORY OF REASSESSING REAL PROPERTY ONLY AT THE TIME OF PURCHASE

by James Burley

There is a popular and recurrent notion that residential property ought to be reassessed for tax purposes only at the time of sale. Candidates often use this theme in running for office. On the surface it seems to make sense. It has tremendous appeal to property owners, most of whom have no intention of ever selling their homes. "Why," goes the question, "base the tax assessment on what my property might sell for when I have never had it for sale and, in fact, hope to live in it for the rest of my life?" It is a logical question.

Improvements are possible, but any solution should pass the test of fairness first. Here are some of the fallacies of the one in focus.

In any given year, there is only about a seven percent turnover of property. Some properties have never been sold and some properties have been held by the same families for generations. Parents will often, and certainly quite naturally, leave their homes to their children. The bulk of the tax burden would, therefore, be borne by the properties that have changed hands, which is relatively a much smaller percentage.

Local governments, which rely heavily on the property tax as a primary revenue source, would find themselves with a very restricted assessable tax base, with some ninety percent of it virtually frozen. The result would be that the tax rate would have to be increased significantly to recapture the loss, further compounding the problems of the new property owner.

It would seriously hurt the real estate market because very few—probably only the well-off—would be able to buy their home under this type of taxing system.

Younger people, struggling to get a start and hoping to own a home of their own, would be locked out of the housing market altogether. Look at this one example, which, incidentally, is a true situation:

A couple, both employed and established, bought their home in 1967 for $29,500. Their expenses are less; two of their three children are now on their own. Today, their home has a market value of $85,000, and the assessment, having risen along with the value, is now $37,620; but under the proposal, the assessment would be only $13,050.

The house across the steet, of comparable quality but somewhat smaller, recently sold for $78,000. The assessment, based on the selling price, would be $34,520. Here is a case where the larger and therefore more valuable home would be assessed at $13,050; and the smaller home being saddled with a tax assessment more than two and a half times greater. This predicament would be repeated in neighborhood after neighborhood. Comparable houses next door to one another would have dramatically different values and tax assessments, and this situation would be the normal rather than the exception. Far worse, the tax disparity would continue for the rest of their lives or until that eventual time when the homes were sold. And the inequity is further compounded when the newer owners are caught in the lower income brackets as is generally the case when the new owners are younger people.

No one will insist that assessing property on the basis of its current "probable" market value is a perfect solution; but when you study the fallacies of the proposal in focus, its appeal loses a lot of its lustre.

Bambacus Notes Office Openings

Senator John Bambacus (R - Allegany, Garrett) recently announced the opening of his offices in Annapolis and Frostburg.

In Annapolis, Bambacus may be reached in Room 406, James Senate Office Building, Annapolis 21401. Constituents may call toll free 1-800-492-7122, and request extension 3565.

Legislative staff will include Colleen Kirschner and David Eberly. Kirschner brings to the office 10 years of experience with the General Assembly, having served with Senators Aris Allen and David King. Eberly, of Oakland, is an intern from the Public Affairs Institute at Frostburg State College.

The District I office in Frostburg may be reached at P.O. Box 236, College Avenue, Frostburg 21532. The phone number is (301) 689-5132. Hours of operation will be from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The office will be operated by Mona Smith, District Administrator.

"Both offices will provide a variety of constituent services relating to legislative issues of local and statewide concern," Bambacus states. "We look forward to working closely with the citizens of Allegany and Garrett Counties."

Area Man Awaits Trial On Theft, Conspiracy Charges

A Garrett County man who had been held in the Preston County jail following his arrest on theft and conspiracy charges was brought to the county jail here Monday to await trial.

Junior Lee Guthrie had been held in the Preston jail since late last October after his arrest by Preston County law enforcement officials. He was arrested with David Bittinger, who is also charged with the theft of numerous items from the trailer of Elroy Hare on the New Germany Road October 23.

Guthrie has been charged with conspiracy, breaking and entering, breaking and stealing and theft, and is being held in lieu of $5,000 bond. Bittinger is free pending his trial on similar charges next Monday in Circuit Court. At that time Guthrie will be brought in for a preliminary hearing.

Man "Satisfactory" After Accidental Shooting Friday

A Gorman man is in satisfactory condition this morning at Garrett County Memorial Hospital following an accidental shooting at his home January 7.

Jay Allen Kitzmiller reported to the county sheriff's department that while he was cleaning his .22 calibre rifle, he apparently caused the gun to discharge. The bullet struck Kitzmiller in the left side of his chest.

The incident occurred about noon on Alt House Hill above Gorman, and Kitzmiller was transported to the hospital by members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Criminal investigator Harland Tichnell is handling the incident.

IBMI Explains Recent Expansion

Intergrated Business Methods, Inc. (IBMI) of Washington, D.C. recently expanded its operations in its Oakland office, to include a new modern mailing facility. (A photo of the ribbon-cutting appeared in The Republican on December 15).

"The new facility will handle over three million direct mail pieces in the coming year and will use our newly purchased Phillipsburg Ten Station Master Mailer," IBMI President G. Maurice Dufour said. "This is the only machine of its kind on the entire East Coast and gives us a capability in the direct mail field that is unmatched by any firm."

Dufour said the first contract for the new operation is a two-million-plus piece membership renewal program for the National Geographic Society, an IBMI client for the past 12 years.

To accommodate the new facility, IBMI has expanded its existing building in Oakland and will create new jobs not only at IBMI, but also at the Oakland post office to handle the added work load, Dufour said.

Washington-based IBMI was founded in 1957, provides application software, on-line computer access and data entry services for clients nationwide.

Minor Mishaps Reported By Police

Several minor accidents were reported this week by Maryland State Police, including a two-car accident in Loch Lynn on January 5. According to police, an auto driven by Maria Gonder, Oakland, was struck by a 1976 Dodge operated by Oliver Eugene Beckman, 58, Mt. Lake Park.

The Gonder vehicle was reportedly backing out of a restaurant parking lot and preparing to exit the area when Beckman struck her vehicle.

Police charged Beckman with negligent driving and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

An Avilton youth was treated and released from Sacred heart Hospital for facial injuries sustained in a single-vehicle accident on the Old Frostburg Road. Police say Mervin Leroy Kamp, 19, apparently fell asleep at the wheel and ran off the road, striking a large rock. There were no charges.

Members Named To Legion Posts

National American Legion Post members have been named to serve from the Mountain District, according to Charles C. "Bus" Bender, Maryland State Department Commander.

Raymond Chaney, of Victory Post 155, Grantsville, was named vice chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

William Sipple, Grantsville Post, was named as vice chairman of the Distinguished Guest Committee.

John Sloan, a Baltimore attorney and former resident of the Cumberland area, was named as a three-year member of the Constitution and By-Laws Committee.

Lonnie Marsh, a member of the Proctor-Kildow Post 71, Oakland, was appointed to be the national commander's representative to the Military Affairs Committee.

Both Sloan and Marsh are past Maryland state commanders.

William Shuck, a member of Post 24, Frostburg, was named to the National Security Council. He is also currently serving as the Mountain District publicity Chairman.

Jones Reelected President Of Merchants' Group

Jack Jones was reelected president of the Oakland Downtown Merchants and Businessmen's Association at the group's meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Other officers selected for the year are Dee Raynovich, vice president, and George Evans, reelected treasurer. Judy DeWitt is the secretary.

John Kurilla agreed to check into the costs of Autumn Glory bunting, and Kurilla and Jones will be responsible for determining costs and types of Christmas decorations available for the town to purchase.

Various ideas for a town-wide promotion during Feburary and/or March were discussed but no definite plans have been made.

Tax Forms Arrive At Local Libraries

Federal income tax forms have arrived at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland and at branches, according to head librarian, Edith Brock. In addition to the reproducible federal tax forms, including W2 forms, there are copies of the most commonly used tax forms instructions. Several information publications of the IRS are available including "Tax Guide for Small Business" and "Your Federal Income Tax." Brochures explaining the new IRS telephone service is also available, she said.

Maryland property owner tax credit and Maryland renter tax credit applications are also at the library.

Library Corner

by Judith Miller

I hear more and more about the use of computers in the home and in business, but I know nothing about them. Can a personal computer really help me as much as they say?.

Yes, dear reader, the computer can probably help you that much and more. Knowing what a computer can and cannot do will also help you to decide whether to make the investment, or, if you have already made the investment, how to maximize it. Here's where the library can help: The Electronic Cottage by Joseph Deken tells the role of the computer in the 1980s, as well as how it can be your most vital tool: It can figure your income tax, plan your investments, connect you with local and national communications networks—even cook your dinner while you're out playing tennis.

If you already made the decision to purchase a computer, Nailing Jelly to a Tree by Jerry Willis can tell you about the available software—the programs already written that your computer needs to perform the above tasks. If you need to design your own program—maybe nothing available fits your specific needs—Instant Basic by Jerald R. Brown will help you get in touch with your computer—fast.

These and other computer books at the Ruth Enlow Library can help you find out what role the computer will play in your life—how to buy your computer, how to treat it, how to program it, and even how to fix it if it decides to develop a glitch (that's computerese for having something go wrong). Everything you need to know is waiting for you at the library.

Diabetes Group To Meet Jan. 17

Dr. William Savage will be the speaker during the Monday, Jan. 17, meeting of the Garrett County Diabetes Association to begin at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Church on Oak Street, Oakland.

Dr. Savage will speak on the topic of dental hygiene.

The group will also do blood sugar testing during the meeting.

Realtors' Board Forms In County

The Maryland Association of Realtors recently announced the formation of the Garrett County Board of Realtors making this the 20th board situated in the State. The Garrett County Board will consist of approximately 80 members comprised of brokers and salespeople from the county's 15 local real estate offices.

The objectives of the board will be to promote and maintain high standards of conduct in the real estate profession and to provide a unified medium for real estate owners and those engaged in the real estate profession whereby their interest may be safeguarded and advanced.

The first general membership meeting of the newly formed Board will be Thursday, February 17 at the Silver Tree Inn. Jeremy R. Thayer, an associate broker with Garrettland Realty, will be the president of the newly-formed board.

Deputies Checking Thefts, Destruction

Two thefts and two destruction of property incidents were reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department during the past week.

Sometime between November 15 and January 10, someone removed a stereo with cassette player and a turntable from the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College. Value of the equipment was set at $400 by Deputy D.W. Tucker, who is investigating.

Ronald Cosby, Route 3, Deer Park, a resident along the Steyer Mine Road, reported a theft of a Sears 12 volt car battery from the porch of his residence January 10. Deputy Tucker estimated the loss at $55.

Sometime between January 1 and 11, someone used a BB or pellet gun to shoot out a second story window in the home of Mary Patricia Burgess, State Street, Kitzmiller. Estimated damage was set at $15 by Deputy P. J. Pratt.

Two vehicles were vandalized between 10 p.m. January 8 and 1:15 a.m. January 9, according to a report filed by Deputy Richard Kutchman.

Operator of a vehicle owned by Eslin Construction, College Park, reported that the passenger side vent window was shattered, the CB antenna broken, and several cassettes stolen.

Operator of a vehicle owned by Abraham Eagle, Catonsville, reported that someone had broken off the vehicle's mirror, bent back the radio antenna, and bent the hood out of alignment.

Education Board To Meet Thursday

The first Board of Education meeting of the new year will be held tomorrow, January 13, beginning at 1:30 p.m. in the board offices on Fourth Street.

Following approval of the minutes from the previous meeting, the group will select officers and name committees, and decide on a meeting date, time and place as well as a time for executive sessions during meetings.

At 2 p.m., the group is expected to begin discussion of such instructional concerns as the vocational education needs study and the 1982-83 results of student testing programs.

At 2:30 there will be participation by PTA, County Council, and booster organization representatives, followed at about 3:30 by additional instructional concerns such as middle school and secondary school classes for students with emotional disorders, recommendations of the commission on quality teaching, the Northern High School renovation educational specifications and information on the committee for housing of Northern High School students.

Personnel and other executive concerns will be brought up at 4:30.

The public meeting will resume at 6 p.m. with administrative concerns such as the Project Open Space application and the discussion of plans for the Accident Elementary School dedication.

The meeting will be opened for public comment at 6:45 followed by various information items and correspondence.

Moms To Meet

Topics of discussion at the Monday, January 17, meeting of the Mom and Me Play Group will be "Lessening tension between siblings" and "Handling discipline problems."

The group meets from 10 a.m. to noon at St. Peter's School on Oak Street.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

"The New Year" was the theme of the devotions presented by Barbara Heckert and Mildred Wilt, co-hostesses of the January 4 meeting of the Eglon Homemakers at the Eglon Memorial Building. Miss Heckert read a meditation and led in prayer. A poem, New Year's Wishes, was read by Avenell Parsons and they concluded with another poem, New Year Bells, by Mildred Wilt.

Marguerite Shaffer presided at the business meeting. Secretary Ruth Parks read the minutes and took the roll while the treasurer, Avenell Parsons gave her report. Mrs. Shaffer presented the information concerning the proposed trip to witness the legislature in action in Charleston and Mrs. Parks read a "thank you" note from the House of Hope for the donation recently made.

February 1 is the date of the next meeting which will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day with several crafts being taught in addition to the regular meeting. The committee to plan for the crafts is Avenell Parsons, Barbara Heckert and Linda Lewis. There will be a carry-in salad luncheon with the hostess providing tableware, beverage and bread.

An announcement was made to send birthday cards to a former member of the community, Mrs. Clara Fike, in Sabraton for her January 7 birthday. An article from The Baltimore Sun concerning Dr. Pinkerton, the local physician, was passed and comments made concerning the Dominion News Health Council report.

Presenting the lesson on Natural Foods—Good, Bad and Different was Linda Lewis.

Special features were displayed by the hostesses during the refreshment time. There was a picture made from old jewelry, the 23rd Psalm done in gold on a mirror background, and chenille flowers. Attending the meeting, in addition to the above named, were Shirley Strite, Lorraine Fike, Lillian Knotts, Lectie Bonner, Ruth Teets, Carolyn Wilt, Cynthia Bachtel and Adam, Jean Winters, Brenda Hartsell and Carroll Joe, Mary Rembold and Shawn, Nina Layman and Rebecca Teets.

The Mt. Lions Club met January 6 at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, with dinner served by the ladies of the church. A pin was awarded to Frank Stemple for sponsoring new member Sheridan Layman. The club will sponsor one student from Romney State School for the Deaf and Blind to go to Canaan Park for skiing training. They also made a contribution to the Grace Mission in Haiti through which many from the Oakland area have worked.

The Lions wish to remind persons that they have mops and brooms for sale and they continue to solicit donations to their sight and hearing fund, either by making a donation in the boxes placed in area businesses or by mailing to Thomas E. Lewis, P.O. Box 25, Eglon.

The presently oldest member of the Mt. Lions Club is Fred Stemple who will be celebrating his 82nd birthday on January 12.

Denton Skipper broke his arm while playing at his home on January 2. His parents, Glenn "Andy" and Cheryl Skipper, live at Lantz Ridge. Also recovering from a broken leg is Mike Sisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sisler of Amboy. Mike fell on the school playground in December.

Paul Hauser of Gnegy Church was taken by ambulance to the University Avenue VA Hospital in Pittsburgh on Friday where he underwent surgery on Saturday.

Mrs. Nellie Selders received word December 31 that her son and daughter-in-law, Cecil and Mary Selders, were involved in a one-car accident enroute from their home in Russell, Ky., to visit her and Mrs. Selders was in a Sutton hospital. The accident happened after Mrs. Selders, who was driving, went to sleep and she is recovering from broken ribs and has now returned to her home. On January 8, Duard and Pauline Selders of Fairmont visited with his mother at her Aurora home.

A covered dish dinner was served at noon on Saturday when relatives of Mrs. Maude Mosser of Gnegy Church gathered at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, to observe her 90th birthday. Approximately 55 were present for the dinner and 81 guests had signed the register during that time and in the open house which was held from 2 until 4 that afternoon.

Visiting last Tuesday with Mrs. Lela Roth at Eglon were Marie and Darrell Roth and Alma Dumire of Morgantown and Mabel Friend of Oakland.

A venison dinner was served on Sunday at the Eglon Memorial Building by some of the Eglon hunters and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hauser of Amboy accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Loughry of Terra Alta on a post-Christmas vacation to Florida. They returned to their homes.

Visiting at various times during the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Lantz, Dale Knotts, Brookside and Lillian Knotts, Eglon, were Twila Wotring, Marilyn Bachman and daughters of Baltimore and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hinche and sons of Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Knapp and Mr. and Mrs. James Bolyard of Amboy were January 2 visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Layman at Aurora.

Apologies to Ray Beeghly. He underwent surgery in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, not the Medical Center, and is reportedly recuperating satisfactorily.

Fred Radford of Aurora is hospitalized in Garrett County Memorial Hospital as the result of a one-vehicle accident near Horse Shoe Run on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Poling of Stemple Ridge visited with relatives in the Akron, Ohio, area this past week.

Word was received here that Ora Breedlove Christman of Kingwood died there in Preston Memorial Hospital on Sunday. The Christmans are former residents of Silver Lake.

The body of Elva Harsh Waybright, 82, was brought Saturday to the Accident Maple Grove Assembly of God Church for services and interment in the nearby cemetery. Mrs. Waybright had been a resident in a Moundsville nursing home.

Shelley Stemple, a student at Alderson-Broaddus College, Philippi, spent the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Stemple, on Stony Hill, Aurora.

Christmas dinner guests of Jerome and Connie Pearsall were Adrian and Pat Stemple, Frank and Pearl Stemple and Shelley Stemple of Aurora; Dan and Elaine Stemple, John and Patricia Stemple, Debra Stemple and Tom Martin of Morgantown.

Jerry Wotring of Lambertville, Mich. visited his mother, Mrs. Eva Wotring, in Aurora during the holidays. He was accompanied here by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Beulah Wiles, who visited her son, Bill Wiles, and his family.

O.E.S. Chapter Meets January 4

Oakland Chapter #67, Order of Eastern Star, met Tuesday, January 4 at the Masonic Temple, Oakland.

The worthy matron opened the meeting with the reading, "Our Purpose." The deputy grand lecturer, Elizabeth Mullennex, was greeted, as were all members and visitors.

Committee reports were given by Sharon Perando, Emajane Marks and Vivian Burns. A poem, "Measures," was read by the worthy matron at the close of the meeting.

The next scheduled meeting will be held Tuesday, January 18, at 8:00 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, with the official visit of the deputy grand lecturer.

Sen. Mathias Rep To Visit County

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr., has announced his representative, Susan DeHart, will meet with constituents in Garrett County on Wednesday, January 19, in the Garrett County Courthouse between the hours of 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 3 p.m.

Mathias said Ms. DeHart will be available to talk with constituents who may need assistance in dealing with federal programs or who have suggestions on legislation before Congress.

Oppenheimer Special Fund

$2,000 a year turned into $73,612 in just over 9 years.

Good enough for your IRA?

How you invest your IRA retirement money will directly affect how comfortably you live after retirement. That's why we say—take a close look at Oppenheimer's aggressive mutual fund, the Special Fund.

Had there been an IRA program nine and a half years ago when the Oppenheimer Special Fund began operations, a maximum annual IRA contribution of $2,000 a year would now be worth all of $73,612,* had you reinvested all distributions. That's a 22.8% average annual total return on investment. And that performance took place during these turbulent investment years.

Of course, nobody can guarantee the future. We do not suggest that an investor may not have a loss if he or she buys at one time and sells at another, after equity prices have declined.

But 22.8% average per year for over nine years? See if anybody else can top that. Then send in the coupon for complete information about the Oppenheimer Special Fund.

Special Fund is not available in Maine, Miss., Mo., N.H., Ohio or Wis.
* On September 30, 1982, assuming you had reinvested all dividends and distributions and invested your annual $2,000 on March 15, 1973 (inception of fund), and on the first business day of each year thereafter.

Beatrice Glotfelty is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Susie Yommer is a patient in Meyersdale Hospital at this time.

Zion's LCW Meets

The Lutheran Church Women of Zion, Jennings, met at the church for their monthly meeting on January 4. Mrs. Lee Broadwater also attended and assisted with the music.

The study theme "Partakers of Grace Together" was introduced by Leota Baker. The program highlighted the values of relationships and how individuals get their self-esteem. Case studies from the Bible formed the basis for examining relationships.

The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Broadwater who led the group in singing "Blest Be The Tie."

The business meeting opened with a scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. Nellie Yommer who presided. Minutes were read by Ruthella Resh.

Projects for the Year Were Discussed

A gift offering was received from Mrs. Herman Meyers, a former member of Zion's LCW.

The meeting adjourned as the group prayed the missionary benediction and Mrs. Broadwater led the group in singing.

The next meeting is scheduled for February 1.

"Great Decisions" Course Offered

A "Great Decisions," non-credit discussion course will begin at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College January 18 at 7 p.m. and continue for eight weeks, according to course moderator Clint Englander.

The course will cost $8, which includes the cost of a manual, and members of the group will discuss and give their opinions on various problems facing America's leaders. After a vote to decide the most logical opinion, opinions from several hundred similar groups throughout the country, are sent to congressmen, senators and other decision makers weekly.

Old Man Winter No Longer Hiding

Old man winter has come out of hiding, at least temporarily, bringing snow and winds to the area this morning. Highway trucks were busily applying abrasives to roadways in the first significant snowfall of the new year. Skies were overcast for most of the past week.

High temperature for the past week was recorded last Wednesday, when the mercury reached 46. Low overnight temperature for the week was noted last Wednesday, when the mercury dropped to 18 degrees.

High Thursday was 43 degrees, followed by a dip to 25 that night. There was no precipitation Wednesday through Saturday. On Friday the high was 45 degrees.

There were no figures listed at Weber's weather station for Saturday. Sunday had some ice noted, with a drop to 27 degrees the preceding night. High Sunday was only 34 degrees.

More moderate temperatures were noted Monday, when the mercury climbed from 29 to a high of 43 degrees. There was .05 of an inch of precipitation noted Monday. On Tuesday, .11 of an inch of rain was recorded as the overnight low was 33 degrees and the high was 44.

Overnight low Tuesday was 24 degrees.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

Registration

Registration to be eligible to vote in the town election in February will be held Tuesday, January 25, from 4 to 7 p.m., at the municipal building. This registration is for those who have not previously registered. Persons must be a resident of Maryland for one year, a resident of Friendsville for six months, and be 18 years of age or more.

Notice of Meeting

There will be a municipal meeting in the town of Friendsville Monday, January 24, at the town hall at 8 p.m. The purpose of the meeting is to accept nominations for council persons for the upcoming general election.

Rotary News

Charley Miller was in charge of the Rotary program on Monday, January 3. His guest speaker was Mrs. Norma Bolding, a Garrett County public health nurse. Mrs. Bolding explained how the home health care program is conducted in the county. She also explained how the Hospice program is being set up in the county and how it will work. This program will soon be in operation. The Rotary Club meets each Monday at 6:30 p.m., at the Old Mill Grill, here.

U. M. Y. F.

The U.M.Y.F. will meet on Sunday, January 16, at 6:30 p.m., at the Friendsville United Methodist Church.

U. M. W. Meets

The Friendsville U.M.W. met on Monday evening, January 3, at the church with 11 members attending. Winnie Parsons gave the program on "God Speaks In Many Ways." President Janice Fisher conducted the business session. The group is compiling a birthday calendar with Winnie Parsons and Jane Fox coordinating the information. Janice Fisher served refreshments. The group will meet on Monday, February 7, at 7:30 p.m., with Winnie Parsons having the program and Carol Frazee, refreshments.

W. S. C. S.

Mrs. Linda Workman entertained 11 members and one child of the Sand Spring Church of God W.S.C.S. on Wednesday at the church parsonage. Mrs. Ethel F. Friend, devotional leader, presented the program on "Joy In Friendship." The next meeting will be in February.

Homemakers To Meet

Mrs. Ellen Humberson will entertain members of the Homemakers' Club for lunch at 12:30 p.m., on Thursday, January 20, at her home, with a meeting and demonstration to follow.

Presented Gifts

The Friendsville Homemaker members collected canned food and unperishable items before the holidays and they were delivered to the House of Hope, Oakland.

GARRETT COMMUNITY COLLEGE RESERVES THE RIGHT TO CANCEL ANY CLASS DUE TO INSUFFICIENT ENROLLMENT

With respect to admissions, access to courses, student related policies and procedures and employment, Garrett Community College does not discriminate on the basis of sex, race, age, color, religious belief, national origin or physical handicap.

INDEPENDENT STUDY

Independent Study in certain courses is available for students who are prepared to benefit from this mode of learning. An Independent Study course can be started at any time and completed within a six-month period. Interested students should first contact their advisor for course approval, then contact the Independent Study office, LC-108, to initiate the request for Independent Study in a particular course.

LEARNING SKILLS COURSES

Garrett Community College offers Learning Skills courses in the basic areas of reading, writing, and mathematics. In these courses students receive individualized and small group instruction as they work in the Reading Lab, Writing Lab, and/or Mathematics Lab. Some of these courses are designed to be taken concurrently with other courses in the student's academic program; others are designed to be taken as a preparation for college work.

FOUNDATION STUDIES

A Foundation Studies semester is available for students who desire to develop basic skills needed to do college work. In addition to classroom instruction, Foundation Studies courses provide small group and individualized learning experiences that allow students to work at their own pace until they reach the desired levels of competency.

FINANCIAL AID

The college participates in numerous financial aid programs as a means of extending the opportunity for a college education to a greater number of students. These programs include Pell (Basic) Grant, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, College Work Study, National Direct Student Loan, Guaranteed Student Loan and various scholarships.

AUDITING STUDENTS

A student may audit a class by registering as an auditor and paying the regular tuition. Since the student will not take course examinations, no credit is given toward the degree nor for transfer purposes.

Returning students should meet with their academic advisor for course selection purposes. After meeting with the advisor, the student should go to the Registrar's Office and fill out the necessary registration information and then go to the Business Office to pay or make arrangements to pay tuition and fees.

Special students—those not seeking a degree—should go to the Registrar's Office and fill out the registration information and then go to the Business Office to pay or make arrangements to pay tuition and fees.

No registrations will be accepted after the sixth class hour.

All full-time degree-seeking students must see their advisor. All part-time degree-seeking students with 30+ hours should see their advisor.

Persons 60 years of age or more may enroll in any Spring Semester course at NO CHARGE.

A late registration fee will be assessed after February 4, 1983.

Lakers Rebound For Two Wins After Being Trounced By ACC

After taking it right square on the chin last Wednesday evening from Allegany Community College, the Garrett Community College Lakers came back to record two wins this past week, stopping Potomac State, 91-75, in McHenry on Saturday and whipping Essex yesterday afternoon, 81-72, on the losers' court. The Trojans of ACC rolled over the Lakers 105-74, also in McHenry. Coach Tom Bosley's squad now hold an 8-5 ledger for the season.

Although the Lakers jumped out to an early lead in the contest against ACC, the Trojans got a pair of free throws from Brian Waller at the 15:07 mark of the first half to give them a 9-8 lead for the first time. The two teams traded points for the next several minutes, however after the Trojans led 21-18, they surged for ten unanswered points and were never again threatened in the game. The Lakers were down 47-32 at the half.

Waller, an All-American candidate, paced the winners with 31 points on 12 buckets and seven of eight at the foul line. Freshman center Tom Jones, who netted ten of ten free tosses, finished with 24 markers, 22 of them coming in the second half.

Also hitting double figures for the Trojans were Daryl Mackey and Dave Smith with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

Eric Everhart was the top point-producer for the Lakers, netting 24 on nine baskets and six of nine free throws. Kip Washington added 13 and Tom Fulwood finished with 11.

Everhart again led the way Saturday against the Catamounts of Potomac State, but this time in a winning cause as he recorded 23 points one eight goals and six of seven foul tosses. The win avenged an earlier loss to Potomac State, 92-80, in Keyser.

Much of the Lakers' margin of victory was recorded at the foul line as the team hit 22 of 26 free throws. The Lakers also led in field goals, 34-31.

Bobby Smith also finished in double figures for the winners, hitting 18. Leading the Catamounts' scoring were Mike Gore and Charlie Rudisill, who each bucketed 23 points. Bill Scurci chipped in with 11 markers.

The Lakers took the momentum with them yesterday to Essex, but did not put it together until the second half when they came charging back from a ten-point deficit. Essex held a 39-35 halftime lead and then scored six unanswered points in the opening moments of the second half. The Lakers were down by eight with 12 minutes remaining, but their defensive efforts took control of the contest as they grabbed 15 steals and capitalized on most of them to take an 81-71 lead.

Everhart led the way once again for Garrett, scoring 28 points and pulling down seven rebounds. Washington netted 18 markers and pulled 13 rebounds, while Kevin Phillips added ten points. Tom Fulwood contributed nine rebounds and eight assists.

Pacing Essex were Otis Brown and Lawrence Green, who hit 27 and 20 points, respectively.

The loss was only the third for Essex in 15 starts and their first setback in four JUCO games.

The Lakers, now 2-2 in the conference, will attempt to improve that mark this evening at Catonsville.

Rams Topped By Bishop Walsh, Defeat Keyser

The Southern High Rams suffered their second loss of the season to Bishop Walsh Friday evening in Cumberland, 63-49, but then came back last night to knock off Keyser in a Potomac Valley Conference Tilt, 51-40, at Southern. The Rams are now 4-5 overall and 2-0 in conference play.

Marc Firlie and David Smith led the offensive attack of Bishop Walsh, finishing with 18 and 16 points, respectively, while Scott Douglas contributed 12 markers.

The Spartans had little difficulty containing the Rams, leading at the quarters by scores of 18-9, 34-25 and 45-36.

Kevin Winters was the only Southern player to reach double figures, hitting 18 on seven buckets and four of four at the line.

The Spartans, in recording their eighth win in ten outings, outshot the Rams from the floor by a 23-14 margin, however Southern connected on 21 of 27 free tosses, compared to a 17-for-28 performance by Bishop Walsh.

In the preliminary contest, the Southern jayvees were edged by their Bishop Walsh counterparts, 62-59.

Winters was again the offensive leader for the Rams last evening against the Golden Tornado of Keyser, netting 22 points on seven goals and eight of ten from the foul line.

The contest was close throughout the first three quarters, as the Tornado was on top 8-5 at the close of the first period and Southern came back to take an 18-16 halftime lead. Keyser knotted the score at 30 apiece as the third stanza ended, however the Rams pulled away to outscore their oppenents 21-10 in the final eight minutes.

Ron Bosley added 11 points to the winners' total. Brian Redman led Keyser with 12 points and teammates Dan Peterson and Erick Green were close behind with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The Rams were outshot from the floor by a 17-15 margin, but connected on 21 of 30 free throws, while the Tornado managed to hit only six of 13.

The Southern jayvees made it a clean sweep by nipping their Keyser counterparts, 33-31, in the preliminary game.

Coach Oren Yoder's Rams will return to action Friday night at Northern.

Garrett County Elks Hoop Shoot Winners Named

Three boys and two girls, ages 8-13, won the first round of competition in the "Elks Hoop Shoot" free throw contest at Northern Middle School Gym on Saturday. The following have been named Garrett County Champions: Matthew Hill, nine, Mountain Lake Park; Kristin Dawn Edwards, 10, Grantsville; Todd Wagner, aged 11, McHenry; Tracy Ridder, 13, Oakland; and Max Hill, 13, Mountain Lake Park.

Champion and runner-up trophies were awarded to the boy and girl in each age category; 8-9; 10-11 and 12-13, with the best and second best scores out of 25 shots at the basket. The runners-up are Jason Sisler, eight, Friendsville; Bonnie Kay Spicher, 10, Grantsville; Kevin Selby, 11, McHenry; and Eric Rice, 13, Oakland.

The champions now advance to the district finals at Frederick Community College on Sunday, January 23, at 1 p.m. where they will compete with other winners from throughout the area.

The "Elks Hoop Shoot," was begun as a local program by Corvallis, Oregon, Elks in 1946 and is in its 11th year of national competition. Nearly three million boys and girls are expected to participate this year.

Garrett Players Survive Second Cuts Of Pan-Am

Mike Nagle and Eric Shimer, former baseball standouts at Garrett Community College, have both survived the second cuts in their attempts to make the U.S. Baseball Team that will participate in the Pan-American games. The final players selected for the try-outs will be announced in mid-January.

Collegiate players from all over the U.S. participated in try-out camps last summer. The best players (as chosen by a computer) will attend try-out camps in various sections of the United States before the roster for the Pan-Am games is finalized. The Pan-Am games will give an indication of how the U.S. Baseball Team may fare against other countries. Baseball will be played in the 1984 Olympics for the first time.

"The fact that two of our players still have a possibility of making the Pan-Am team speaks highly for our program," stated Garrett baseball coach Phil Caruso. "Our players are competing against players from University of Miami, Arizona State, and the University of South Carolina, just to name a few colleges."

Both Nagle and Shimer played key roles in the Laker baseball resurgence last season. Nagle posted a 5-2 record and had the sixth highest strike-out ratio of any JUCO pitcher in the country. He had been scouted by numerous professional teams and may get drafted this year.

Shimer paced the Lakers in almost every offensive category while being named to the first team All-Region XX All-Star squad. "The experiences both of these young men have gained by being part of the Pan-Am try-outs will help us this season," stated Caruso.

Nagle hails from Charles Town, W. Va., while Shimer is from Fairmont, W. Va.

Husky Matmen Win First By Stopping Keyser

The Northern High wrestling team rallied last night after dropping three of the first four matches to hand Keyser a 42-27 defeat on the Huskies' mats. It was the first win in four starts for Northern.

Brian Saulpaw was given a forfeit win for the Huskies in the opening 100-pound class, but Keyser came back to take the next three events. The Huskies followed with six straight wins which was more than enough for the team victory.

Greg McKenzie, Courtney Rounds, Darren Kamp, Jeff Graham and Jeff McClintock all earned pin victories for the Huskies, while Jamie Spiker also won via the forfeit in the 140-pound division.

Gaining the only pin for Keyser was Erick Wright.

Yoder Carries Huskies Past East Preston

Brad Yoder scored well over half of his teams points and crashed the boards for an incredible 20 rebounds Friday evening to lead the Northern Huskies to a 55-45 win over visiting East Preston.

Yoder connected on 15 of 25 shots from the floor and added a pair of free throws to finish with 32 points. He was the only player in the game to reach the double-figure plateau.

The Huskies maintained a fairly comfortable lead throughout the contest, up 16-11, 32-21 and 47-33 at the quarters.

Schoolcraft led East Preston with nine points.

The Huskies outgunned the visitors from the floor by a 24-20 margin and connected on seven of 12 attempts at the foul line, compared to a five-for-13 effort by the West Virginians.

The win was the sixth in nine outings for Coach Harv Speicher's squad. The Huskies will seek their seventh win tomorrow evening when they travel to Salisbury.

Laker Women Mash Frederick, Fall To Essex

The Garrett Community College women's basketball team had no difficulty in crushing Frederick CC on Saturday afternoon, 76-38, in Frederick, but then dropped a 71-57 contest to Essex last night on the winners' floor.

Sue Jack led all scorers with 26 points against Frederick, while Michelle Payne contributed 16 to the winning cause. Jack hit a dozen field goals and a pair of free throws.

Cathy Fisher and Mary Chrishlow each finished with 12 points for the losers.

Jack continued her outstanding scoring efforts last night, finishing with 24 points on ten goals and four free tosses. Payne added 13 markers and Susan Harper chipped in with 10.

However, Patty Wandishin of Essex topped all scorers with 27, Karen Walker added 16 and Milissa Isaac hit 11 to pace the winners.

Coach Ann Welham's Lakers are now 3-3 on the season and will face Hagerstown on Saturday in the Hub City.

Rams Grapplers' Streak Ended By Frankfort

After opening with three straight wins, their best start in several years, the Southern High wrestling team met with defeat Monday evening, falling to Frankfort 30-21 in Oakland. It was the seventh win in eight starts for the West Virginians.

The Rams picked up only one victory via the pin, that being by Rodney Neely in the unlimited weight division over Danny Northcraft. Wade Deckman, Gordon Gregory, Tim Liller, Chris Foley and Rod Swiger all earned point victories for Southern.

Each team won six matches, however three of Frankfort's were by pins and one was by forfeit, which gave the Falcons the margin of victory.

Coach Joe Heatherman's Southern squad is slated to compete in the Fairmont Tournament this weekend.

100—Wade Deckman, Southern, dec. Jeff Jones, 7-2.
107—Pat Clark, Frankfort, dec. Randy Knotts, 3-2.
114—Gordon Gregory, Southern, dec. Paul Douthitt, 12-7.
121—Gary Spangler, Frankfort, pinned Scott Reed, 4:32.
128—Mark Glenn, Frankfort, pinned Lincoln Pickett, :18.
134—Tim Liller, Southern, dec. Rich Ruckman, 9-4.
140—Chris Foley, Southern, dec. Craig Apple, 5-0.
147—Rod Swiger, Southern, dec. Jim Summers, 8-7.
157—Greg Morris, Frankfort, pinned Dan Clark, 5:51.
169—Larry Maloney, Frankfort, won by forfeit.
187—Jim Rowe, Frankfort, dec. Jim Neary, 9-2.
Unl—Rodney Neely, Southern, pinned Danny Northcraft, 2:19.
Referee — Tom Harman.

Southern Girls Fall To Fort Hill, Defeat Northern

After suffering a 61-41 defeat at the hands of Fort Hill last Wednesday evening in Cumberland, the Southern High girls' basketball team came back to defeat cross-country rival Northern Monday evening, 43-33, at Northern.

Jenny Hillen netted 27 points in the losing cause against Fort Hill, hitting ten buckets and seven free throws.

Ellen Chapman scored 20 points for the winners, while Debbie Clise and Tracy Hutzel added 14 and 13 points, respectively.

It was Fort Hill's fifth win in six starts.

Hillen again led the way for the Lady Rams Monday, finishing with 22 points against Northern.

Linda Yunker paced the Lady Huskies with 18.

Man Found Guilty On Bad Check Charge

A Deer Park man, Tom Upole, 23, was found guilty on Friday in Allegany County District Court on a bad check charge.

Upole was sentenced to 90 days in jail, which was suspended and placed on 36-months unsupervised probation, with stipulation against issuing any further insufficient checks.

A check for $55.41, drawn on First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Cumberland, was presented to the Super Shoes Store in Cumberland. Complainant was Homer Liston, manager of the store.

CRIME SOLVERS

Call 334-3111
Reward $100-$1000

This week, the Maryland State Police and Crime Solvers are seeking information on the breaking, entering, and theft incident which occurred at the Clyde Fazenbaker residence in Bloomington. Unknown persons entered the home on November 24 and December 19, 1982, removing U.S. currency and a .22 calibre handgun.

All leads in this investigation have been exhausted. Anyone with any information on this crime is asked to call the Crime Solvers Hotline at 334-3111. Cash rewards of up to $1,000 will be paid for any tip which leads to the arrest of the person responsible for this crime. The caller may remain anonymous, and no court appearance is ever necessary. Rewards are paid in cash.

Remember the Hotline number—334-3111.

Fire Claims Life

minutes. Martin said that the living and dining rooms and most of the contents on the first floor were destroyed. He said that the fire traveled up the stairway, which was heavily burned, and caused severe heat and smoke damages to the second floor. There was no smoke detector in the house.

Martin and Guy Carola, another local fire investigator, and Robert Shimer, regional fire investigation director, have not yet determined the cause of the blaze, however they are certain it originated in the living room.

Martin stated that Mrs. Hebb does have insurance on the house and its contents.

Firefighters remained on the scene until about noon. Also responding was the Southern Rescue Squad, Maryland State Police, and the county air cascade vehicle, stationed at Deep Creek VFD.

The Hebb family is presently being cared for at the House of Hope in Oakland. Persons wishing to make donations of clothing or other forms of assistance are asked to contact Sister Catherine at the home.

Ta Quang Nguyen was born in Vietnam December 16, 1967, as a son of Bin and Nhah Nguyen. Survivors include two brothers, Minh Nguyen and Quang Nguyen, both of Sunnyvale, Calif.

A mass of Christian burial will be celebrated Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland, with Father Martin Feild officiating. Interment will be in the Oakland Cemetery.

Friends will be received at the Stewart Funeral Home today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. A Christian wake service will be held there this evening at 7:30.

DEER PARK

OAKLAND

Mrs. Denzil Hile is a surgical patient at Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland.

A number of friends and relatives of former State Senator Spencer W. Graham attended an open house in his honor Sunday at his home on North Third Street. The occasion was in celebration of his 89th birthday. Graham is a retired special representative of the Woodmen of The world Life Insurance Society. He also served as Garrett County's last state senator from 1962-1966.

Adorable Adoptables

from the Garrett County Animal Shelter

IT'S CALICO TIME — For the second week in a row, the Garrett County Animal Shelter, located on the Oakland-Sang Run Road, has a beautiful short-haired female calico just looking for a new home. She's not sure how old she is, but it's less than six months, according to her temporary keepers. What a fine pet she would make. Won't you call 334-3553 today and ask to speak to Miss Kitten? Last week's friend went to live with Lisa Dever.

Surviving are one son, William C. White, Kingwood; four daughters, Mrs. Larry (Esther) Morris, Marshall, Wis.; Mrs. Orval (Thelma) Hershman and Josephine Hershman, both of Morgantown, W. Va.; Mrs. Lloyd (Geraldine) Fuller, Boonsboro; 16 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Howard Hess, in 1945, one brother and one daughter.

A funeral service was held Tuesday morning in the Browning Funeral Home with Rev. Howard O. McGinnis officiating. Interment followed in Oakland Cemetery.

DONALD G. CUPPETT, SR.

Donald G. Cuppett, Sr., 57, Princeton, W. Va., was pronounced dead on Sunday morning at the scene of a two-vehicle mishap on Secondary Route 16, near that town.

State Police said Cuppett died when his small car and a pickup truck driven by Jack Mitchem, 50, Princeton, collided. Mitchen was not hurt, and no charges were filed, according to police.

Mr. Cuppett was employed as an assistant state forester and was a retired lieutenant colonel in the Air National Guard.

Born in Cranesville, he was a son of the late Charles Foster Cuppett and Flo Effie Falkenstein Cuppett.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Betty Jo Everley Cuppett; one son, Donald G. Cuppett, Bluefield; three daughters, Mrs. Cheryl Fearer, Mt. Lake Park; Mrs. Debbie Chase, Morgantown, W. Va.; and Mrs. Cathy Shorter, Princeton; one brother, Berlin Cuppett, Terra Alta, W. Va.; and four grandchildren.

Friends were received in the Fike-Watson Funeral Home, Terra Alta. A graveside service was conducted this morning in the Terra Alta Cemetery with Rev. Harry Cristie officiating.

Appeal Case

teaching ability.

The Garrett County Board of Education refused to hear an appeal of the case in May 1981. In June 1981, Lendo appealed the case to the Maryland Board of Education which rejected the appeal case in July.

With the backing of the Garrett County Federation of Teachers, Lendo appealed to the Garrett County Circuit Court. Circuit Court Judge Fred Thayer determined in December 1981 that the state board must hear the case.

The county and state boards appealed to the Maryland Court of Appeals which agreed to hear the case. This court, near the end of December 1982, upheld Thayer's decison.

The court said in it's opinion, "Grievance procedures in education matters provides an option to a party aggrieved as to whether he will or will not appeal the matter. The option is not to the adjudicatory body, the State Board of Education."

Don Lipscomb, GCFTA president, called the decision, "not only a victory for Lendo, but for all teachers."

Although no date for the state board to hear Lendo's case has been set, Lipscomb said he expected it to go before the board in February.

Lendo's attorney throughout the legal proceedings was Joel Smith, Baltimore.

KITZMILLER

The Kitzmiller Fire Department had its election in December. The new officers are Donald Stiles, president; Roger Welch, vice president; Frank Reel, secretary-treasurer; David Burrell, chief; Johnny R. Hershberger, first assistant chief; Garry Bray, second assistant chief; Dale Hanlin, captain; Gerald Iman, chaplain; Tommy David, sgt. at arms; Donald Stiles, David Burrell and Barry Knine, standing committee.

COMPLETE TRAINING COURSE — New Germany State Park Ranger Karl Christensen, Deep Creek Lake State Park Ranger James Wilburn, Savage River State Forest Ranger Rolland G. Schoch and Potomac-Garrett State Forest Ranger Dale Fike were among the nine Maryland Forest and Park Service rangers who recently completed 13 weeks of law enforcement training and received their law enforcement commissions. The training was given at the Eastern Shore Police Training Center, operated by Wor-Wic Tech Community College in Salisbury. Pictured, first row, left to right, are Wilburn, Paul Williams, Terry Moses and Christensen. In the second row, same order, are Dave Chrest, David Baker, J. Keven Josenhans, Schoch and Fike.

Openings Remain In Assertiveness Training Class

There is still space available in the Assertiveness Training Class beginning Friday, January 14, sponsored by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College. The class will be held from 9 a.m. to noon in Room 306 of the Oakland Center of GCC.

The six-week class, held once each week, teaches interested persons how to cope effectively with the conflicts encountered in living with other people. Practice sessions are designed to enable participants to role play situations that may be difficult for them to handle in human relations.

Interested persons are asked to contact the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program office at 334-9546 or visit the Oakland Center in Room 306 prior to the beginning of the class to pre-register. A small registration fee will be charged.

OTD Alleges Recession Helps State Tourism

The worldwide recession which is raising havoc in the manufacturing community may actually be helping the Maryland tourism industry, according to figures released last week by the state Office of Tourist Development (OTD).

In a year-end report sent to Secretary James O. Roberson of the Department of Economic and Community Development, OTD's parent agency, OTD director Kurt Alverson stated the number of visitors to Maryland increased by 17 percent in 1982 over 1981 totals, and that written requests for information on the state were running 201 percent over 1981 figures.

Alverson attributed the increased interest in Maryland as a tourist area to the recession and a revised and more aggressive advertising strategy.

"The U.S. Travel Data Center has a survey showing that vacationers are taking fewer and shorter trips as a result of the overall difficult economic situation," Alverson explained.

"Luckily, Maryland is in the middle of one of the largest population concentrations in the nation and we appear to be one of the main beneficiaries of out-of-staters taking shorter trips," he said.

Alverson also explained his department has increased its advertising in consumer magazines and in newspapers and this has resulted in a 201 percent increase in written requests for tourism information in 1982 over the same period in 1981. Telephone requests for information during that period increased 84 percent.

The OTD report shows that 1,091,000 travelers visited the state's "Welcome Centers" in 1982, a 17 percent jump over the 1981 total of 933,000.

Total tax expenditures in Maryland for the past year are projected at $2.9 billion. OTD estimates that over 70,000 workers, drawing combined annual salaries exceeding $660 million, are directly involved in the state's tourism industry.

The projected $2.9 billion in expenditures will mean an additional estimated $100 million collected in state tax receipts and over $41 million collected in local tax receipts.

Byron Praises Judge's Order To Refund Gas Costs

Representative Beverly Byron last week praised the decison of an administrative law judge to require the major natural gas supplier in Western Maryland to refund money to its customers. Judge Michel Levant ruled recently that the Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., which provides Western Maryland with virtually all its natural gas, had engaged in abusive pricing practices which resulted in unfair costs to consumers. The decision must be reviewed by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and may end up in federal court.

Congresswoman Byron commented, "Although there are still some hurdles to clear before any refunds are actually mailed, this is clearly a major victory for the overburdened natural gas consumer. The decison is a big first step towards bringing natural gas prices into line with supply and demand and down to an equitable level."

Mrs. Byron recently proposed the Natural Gas Marketing Act of 1982, and will reintroduce the legislation when Congress begins considering bills later this month. The measure would sensitize natural gas prices to the marketplace by reforming regulatory procedures and providing a mechanism for downward movement in gas prices.

"What Judge Levant has done," Representative Byron said, "is extend the current standard of the law to its furthest limit in order to help the natural gas consumer. I am trying to help by making some legislative changes that will make it easier for this kind of decision to be made in the future. In the last month we have made a lot of progress toward publicizing the problem—it is important to keep the momentum going."

"I heard the Bell PhoneCenters are different. Is that right?"

Some Bell PhoneCenters changed their names on January 1, 1983. They're now called C&P Telephone Service Centers.

But they offer most of the things you used to get at the old PhoneCenters. Including taking orders for new phone service and leasing and selling phones as long as our inventory lasts.

"You said some have changed. What about the rest of them?"

The others are run by a subsidiary of AT&T named American Bell.

Unlike our Service Centers, they do not take orders for new phone service, or repair or replace phones you get from us.

They do sell phones.

"You mean I could go to my old Bell PhoneCenter and find something else?"

You could.

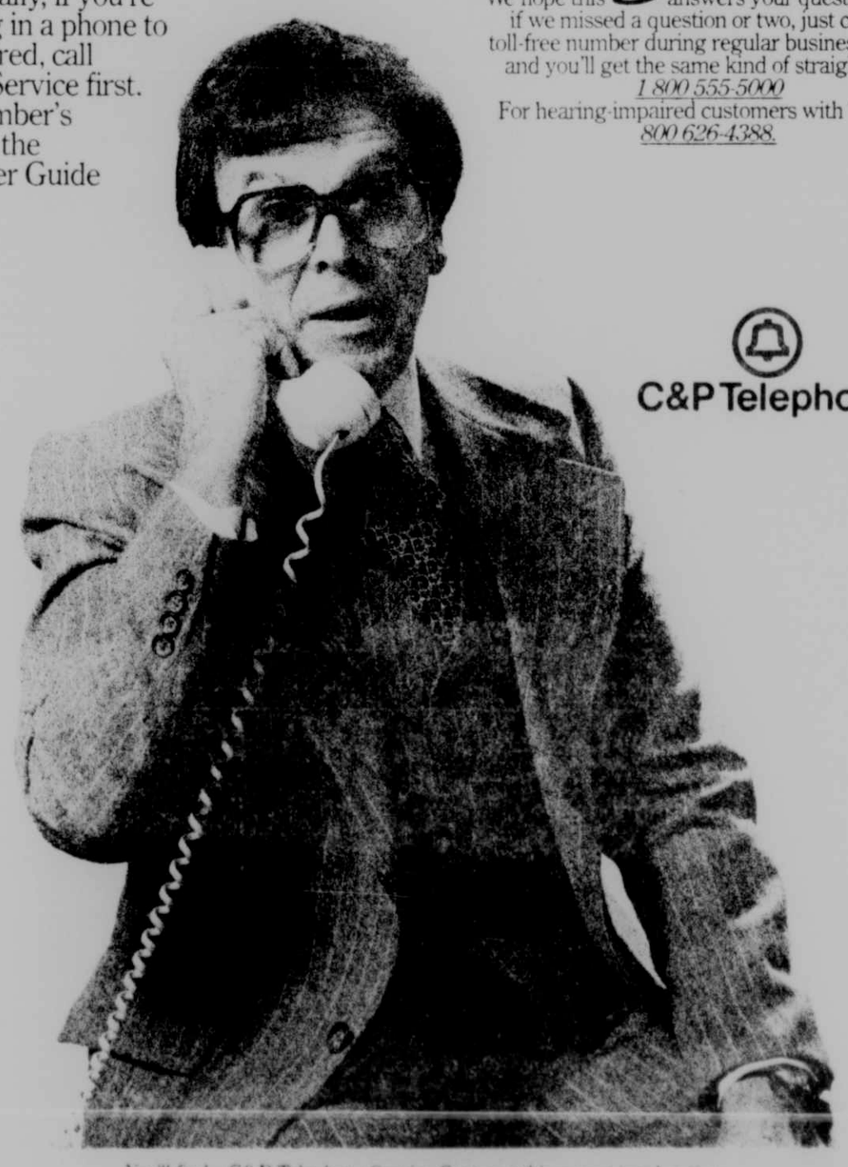
To make sure that doesn't happen, call your local Business Office. They'll steer you to the Service Center nearest you. Incidentally, if you're bringing in a phone to be repaired, call Repair Service first. The number's listed in the Customer Guide in the front of your White Pages.

"You know, I liked the way things were. Why have you changed?"

We've responded to Federal regulators.

They have ordered us to change some of the ways we supply equipment.

We've made these changes, but you probably haven't noticed any change at all.



We still provide you with the kind of service that makes your telephone system the best in the world.

"I guess I ran out of questions. Thanks a lot."

You're welcome. Please call again if you think of any more.

Let's Talk.

We hope this answers your questions. But if we missed a question or two, just call our toll-free number during regular business hours, and you'll get the same kind of straight talk.

On Top Of The World

A little child doesn't understand bigness. Nor does he understand height and depth and length or any other proportions. But he knows love. He has trust.

Nestled in Mother's arms or held in Father's strong hands, he knows complete faith and security.

Man lives his span of life trusting, believing, hoping. Otherwise, he is no different than a stone—his life is empty.

Why must we have faith? Because it gives us reason for living. Faith in the Creator who fashioned us in His own image is increased by prayer and meditation. What better place to find love and understanding—and hope for a better life—than in the church or synagogue of your choice?

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

DEADLINE: TONIGHT!
January 16, 1983

Background Scripture: Luke 12:13-40.
Devotional Reading: Luke 6:46-49.

The deadline is not in question: tonight before a new day begins some of us will no longer be numbered among the living. I have no idea how many people will die this evening, but the statistic, I'm sure, will be staggering. The only thing we do not know is which of us will be numbered among that statistic. As we awoke this morning probably none of us entertained the thought that today might be our very last, although that is certainly not a remote possibility. All of us arose and have progressed through this day as if we had a considerable amount of time left in our lives.

DIVIDING THE INHERITANCE

Consequently, the things that have likely occupied our minds this day have not been questions of death, life eternal, heaven, eternity, the Judgement of God, etc. Much more likely we have been preoccupied with more pressing matters. Like the one, for example, that was brought before Jesus one day: "Teacher, bid my brother divide the inheritance with me."

It was a reasonable request, was it not? Isn't that the way most of us have to spend our days, dividing, acquiring and keeping the things of this world that are necessary to sustain daily life? Now that interest rates are lower again, where shall I put my savings? Shall I invest part of my salary in a tax-shelter? Is this the time for me to buy a new car? Why should I accept a cutback in salary when other people are living off the fat of the land?

Jesus' reply is no less revolutionary now than it was then: "Take heed, and beware of all covetousness; for a man's life does not consist in the abundance of his possessions. "We've repeated these words so often that perhaps their abrasiveness no longer strikes us. But that they are quite contrary to the principles by which many of us live must be quite evident if we think about them. Our society—yes, even many of our churches—is founded on an abundance of possessions. Almost every judgement we make, almost every value we express is based upon material possessions.

"FOOL!"

So once again Jesus told a parable. The rich man in the story is suddenly confronted with the warning that "this night"—not some distant day in the future—"your soul is required of you; and the things you have prepared, whose will they be?"

Many of those who listened to Jesus must have identified with the "rich man" in the story. If their soul's deadline were to be "tonight," obviously they would see life and their possessions in a different light: it is being "rich toward God" and not laying up "treasure," that is imperative when we face that final deadline.

If you were to know that tonight were your "deadline," what would it do to your priorities this day?

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

NOTHING CAN GO WRONG, GO WRONG... — Who did the voice on the robot in the series "Lost in Space"? — C.W., Pueblo, Colo.

Bob May provided the voice in the series, which was on CBS from 1965 to 1968 and which starred Guy Williams, June Lockhart, Mark Goddard, Angela Cartwright and Jonathan Harris, who played the evil Dr. Smith.

Annette Funicello

MAIL TO A MOUSEKETEER — I have had a strong desire for 20 years to write to an actress. She is Annette Funicello and I would certainly appreciate the opportunity to write to her. Can you help me? — J.H., Maplewood, N.M.

You might try writing to Annette through her husband, Jack Gelardi. Mr. Gelardi is an agent with ICM, which is located at 8899 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90048.

David Hasselhoff

CAR AND SUCH — I have been watching "Knight Rider" and I want to know if the car is real or not. Also, I don't know the name of the driver but wasn't he on "The Young and the Restless"? He is a cute little devil. — A.P., Alice, Texas

First, yes: David Hasselhoff, who plays the car's driver, Michael Knight, was on "The Young and the Restless." Now, regarding the car: It is a device of the show's creator. Nothing like it is on the market, if that's what you mean. William Daniels, of "St. Elsewhere," supplies the car's voice.

William Katt's 'Hero' returns to TV screens

By Peter Meade

William Katt never planned on being "The Greatest American Hero." He never even planned on being an actor.

Though the product of show business parentage — his mother, Barbara Hale, played Perry Mason's faithful secretary, and his father is actor Bill Williams — the blond-haired Katt entered college in '69 to study music and perfect his surfing. But he soon found a part-time job working behind the scenes at the South Coast Repertory Theater and later couldn't resist trying out for roles.

"The people there took me in," says Katt. "I liked it, I was comfortable on stage and enjoyed being a ham. For the first time in my life I felt important."

After a succession of stage roles he made his motion picture debut as Sissy Spacek's prom date in "Carrie," followed by "First Love" with Susan Dey and the surfing saga "Big Wednesday."

It looked like the big time was ahead when he appeared in the '79 TV movie "Butch and Sundance, The Early Years." But, though hailed as "the young Robert Redford," almost three years of no work followed. Katt returned to New York theater in "Bonjour, La Bonjour" and then: the red suit of "The Greatest American Hero," co-starring Robert Culp and Connie Sellecca.

When ABC temporarily grounded the series earlier this year Katt had the time to return to his music and, under the name "Billy Katt," he released an album titled "Secret Smiles." It's received invisible promotion here, but Katt hopes it'll hit the charts in Japan, where "Hero" is the No. 1-rated foreign show.

William Katt

"Hero" returned two weeks ago as part of ABC's Thursday night lineup. The respite was spent mainly trying to decide the future direction for the series some people claimed was a "Superman" ripoff. Katt has never been oblivious to the show's shortcomings, and his ideas have not always concurred with the network.

"The show is better than the device carrying it," he says, referring to the red flying suit. "The leads are better than having to deal with that red suit."

While ABC has made clear its desire for more stunts and action, Katt and company feel the show could attract a wide audience — and not just children — if it aimed more toward social satire.

O.J. Simpson signs with ABC Sports

By Mark Nolan

O.J. Simpson, one of the greatest runners in the history of the game of football, has signed a contract with ABC Sports.

After an illustrious college football career at the University of Southern California, it was ABC Sports that gave Simpson his first job — covering a track meet. Simpson still holds many fond memories from ABC, including the work he did at the 1972 summer Olympic Games in Montreal.

He's happy to return to the place where he was first payed for work other than football. "I'm looking forward to getting back there," says Simpson. "I don't know what all my duties are going to be, but 'Monday Night Football' is obviously something I want to be a part of."

Mostly remembered for his years as a member of the Buffalo Bills NFL franchise, Simpson truly was a new breed of running back. Never before had football fans seen anyone who possessed Simpson's keen instinct for running with the football. His quickness, combined with an abilty to leave potential tacklers far behind, were what made Simpson the toast of snowy Buffalo.

Some of his career highlights: He was Buffalo's No. 1 draft-choice in 1969; while with the Bills, he was the AFC's leading rusher four times, and in 1973, he set an all-time NFL rushing record for having gained 3,003 yards in a single season.

O.J. Simpson

That record still stands today, and it certainly won't be broken this year, in view of the shortened season caused by the NFL strike. Simpson's feelings on the recent strike are not at all vague — in his mind, the players gained little. He believes the players lost because of shabby leadership within the ranks of the players' union.

Simpson confessed that he never was a big fan of Ed Garvey, the gentleman who spoke for players throughout the long negotiating sessions with management. He later added:

"I'm glad it's over now, but I don't think that the players really gained anything. As for the future, I just hope that the one thing they consider at this point is their leadership."

A tropical Anne Murray in new variety special

By Debra Morgenstern Katz

Anne Murray's last prime-time special on CBS, "A Special Anne Murray Christmas," did so well in the ratings that not only was she nominated for a People's Choice award but she was asked by CBS to do another musical-variety program this winter.

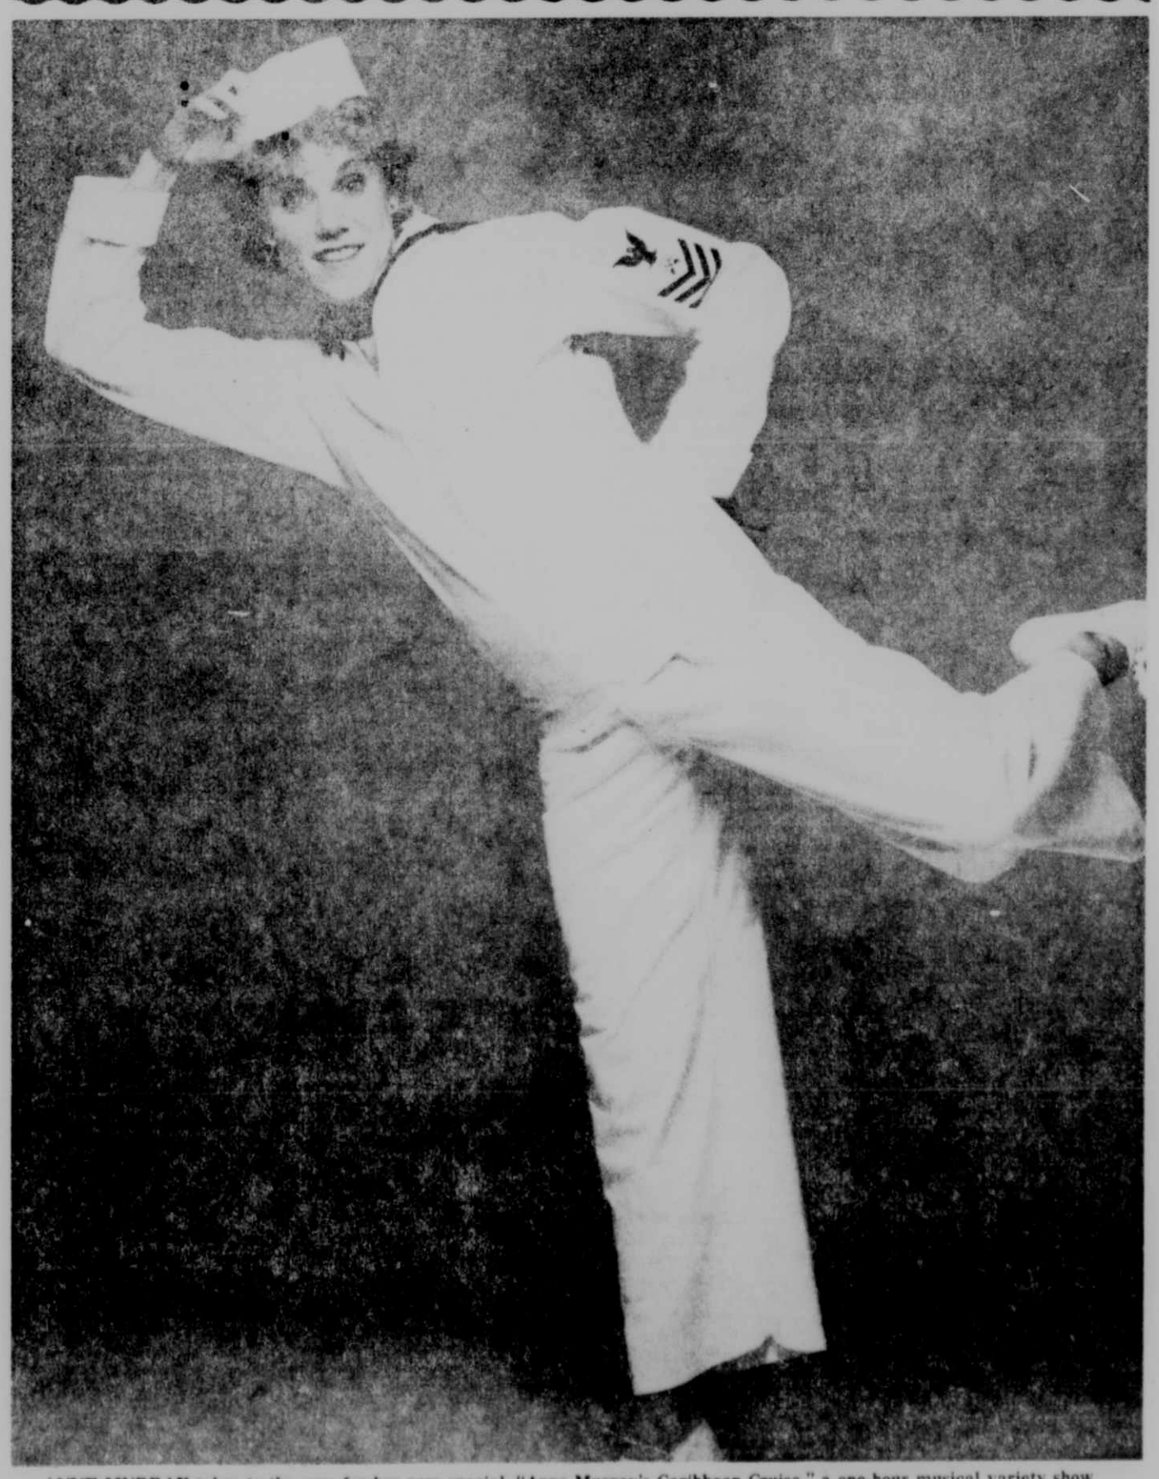
But a Christmas extravaganza, it won't be.

"I didn't want to do another Christmas special," says Miss Murray, in a phone interview from her native Canada. "I don't want people looking at the TV set and saying, 'Oh, look, there's Anne Murray. It must be Christmas.' "

So there'll be no sleigh bells and red-faced Santas on Miss Murray's newest special, airing Wednesday, Jan. 19 on CBS. Quite the contrary — palm trees and sailor suits will be the most common sights.

"Anne Murray — Caribbean Cruise" features the award-winning singer and her co-stars, singers Eddie Rabbitt and Jose Luis Rodriguez and diet-expert/comedian Richard Simmons, aboard the S.S. Norway for a musical journey around the hot, lush Caribbean islands.

"I've always wanted to go on a cruise," says Miss Murray, who's earned 3 Grammy awards, six gold albums, two platinum albums, and 18 Juno awards. "Ever since I was a little girl, that's been a dream of mine. I've always thought I'd like to get on a boat and sing for a couple of weeks."



Anne Murray

And that's what she does. Both the ship itself and the island of St. Thomas are backdrops for the steel bands and musical numbers — from rock to reggae — of the special. Songs from Miss Murray's latest album, "Hottest Night of the Year," will be included.

If this special does nothing else for Miss Murray — which is doubtful — it will have, at the very least, warmed the bones of the Nova Scotia native. And that's nothing to make light of.

"When you're a Canadian," says Miss Murray, "weather is first and foremost."

ANNE MURRAY takes to the seas for her new special, "Anne Murray's Caribbean Cruise," a one-hour musical variety show filmed aboard the S.S. Norway in the islands of the Caribbean. Richard Simmons, Eddie Rabbitt and Jose Luis Rodriguez co-star in the special, to air Wednesday, Jan. 19 on CBS.

SUNDAY

Gene Wilder is the mad scientist who unknowingly creates a monster, played by Peter Boyle, in the comedy "Young Frankenstein," to air Sunday, Jan. 16 on NBC.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

SATURDAY

Burt Reynolds stars as an adventurous and free-wheeling Hollywood stunt man in the film "Hooper," to be rebroadcast Saturday, Jan. 15 on CBS.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

STARVIEW

'Over Easy' host is easy-going Jim Hartz

By Ruth Thompson

You read the clues right when you conclude that his quick smile and easy manner mean that Jim Hartz is a man of good will. You misread, though, if you think this nice man is one of life's followers. When he believes in a cause you won't find him on the corner waiting for the right bandwagon to roll by. More likely he's first at the reins hollering "Giddyap!"

This is his second career in television but he always was active behind the scenes in the industry's non-profit associations. "I was lucky to have the kind of success so young that most people spend years working up to," he says.

He was in the big leagues at NBC News — foreign correspondent, specialist on technical stories and, briefly, host of "Today" — until a round of personnel changes loomed. He smiles, "When push came to shove I decided it was time to get into another business and out of television entirely."

He did; but later, when the bid came from producer Jules Power ("We met years before when we served on the television academy board") to co-host "Over Easy" with Mary Martin for PBS he grabbed it. "Our show tells people facing life's transitions how to make things work along the way," he says.

He approves of PBS in general, and is a sincere booster for his show. (And not because he needs the take-home. His business, alternate energy development, is doing OK, too).

When government funding for PBS was pared last year, Jim volunteered to testify before the pertinent Congressional committee and he recruited Pearl Bailey to go, too. "And boy was she on target. But things are now much worse."

Jim Hartz

He challenges the statement of administration spokesman David Stockman that government funding should be cut because Public Broadcasting "serves an elite." Says Jim:

"Well it serves a whole broad spectrum. 'Sesame Street' elite? It was designed to give poor kids a leg up. Our series serves an audience largely ignored elsewhere."

Government should continue co-partnering, he feels, along with corporations and viewers. "So," he said, looking me in the eye, "if you really like public broadcasting, after you've written your check, write your Congressman." No, Jim Hartz doesn't wait for his bandwagon.

CINDY SAYS

Mariel as Stratton; Crystal as sandwich

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Mariel Hemingway will play Dorothy Stratton in Bob Fosse's movie about the late Playboy centerfold beauty, called "Star 80"... Crystal Gayle hit The Big Time. MGM Grand's deli named a sandwich for her: tomato, avocado, cheddar, alfalfa sprouts, onion, sesame seeds on whole wheat.

Crystal Gayle

Sergio Franchi nailed the Raoul Julia role in the "Nine" road company... A lady approached Shirlee Fonda at a public cafe and said: "I think we should meet one another." She was Afdera Fonda, the Mrs. Henry Fonda who preceeded Shirlee... Lili Palmer flew round-trip from Switzerland for Angela Lansbury's opening in "A Little Family Business." She's already back in the Alps... Standing center-court in her own tennis tournament, Linda ("Dynasty") Evans led the audience in singing "Happy Birthday" to her beau of two years, George Santopietro. Listen, some ladies send ties... At 2:45 a.m. Liza Minnelli whisked from her stretch limo into a crowded cafe on Manhattan's West side, collected a package of food to-go and whisked out. The city never sleeps. Neither does Liza... The Grace Kelly movie starring Cheryl Ladd is out in February. Lloyd Bridges, who plays Grace's father, told me: "My hair was cut and slicked back like Jack Kelly's and there's a resemblance. Both 6 feet 2 inches, same build, same weight, same hairline, only he was getting bald. That hasn't happened to me — yet."

Cheryl Ladd

The film about Totie Fields is underway and producer Bernie Wayne is looking for someone to play Totie... Elton John gifted 12 kiddies with E.T. dolls... Fight promoter Don King gifted his own bones with another fur coat... Erik Estrada spends weekends distributing gifts to youngsters at L.A. hospitals.

TV TATTLE

Jessica Savitch

Savitch to the front

On Jan. 17, PBS premieres "Frontline," a series of 26 documentaries about current events, hosted by Jessica Savitch — on loan from NBC News for the program. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

The premiere program investigates the link between professional football and organized crime and gambling. In "An Unauthorized History of the NFL," it is estimated that a quarter of a billion dollars is bet on the Super Bowl alone.

The documentary will present interviews with gamblers, organized crime figures, law enforcement officials and NFL administrators. One organized crime figure cites specific instances in which, he claims, he fixed professional football games.

Other programs will discuss gun control, nuclear war, abortion, and the Ku Klux Klan.

Discovery No. 3

The third "Discover: The World of Science" special comes to prime-time viewers the week of Jan. 17. The syndicated, one-hour special is hosted by Peter ("Mission: Impossible") Graves. (Local times and stations will vary; check listings.)

Peter Graves

Five topics are covered in the program: an experiment in sleep deprivation in which volunteers go 72 hours without sleep; the use of a laser to diagnose and treat a serious eye disease; a 24-year-old paralyzed veteran who uses a voice-controlled robot arm; an international bicycling competition in California that sheds new light on aerodynamics; and a visit to Mt. St. Helens to view the repair work done by nature two years after the eruption of the volcano.

Debbi Morgan is following her dream

By Nancy M. Reichardt

Debbi Morgan (Angie Baxter on "All My Children") is already well on her way to realizing her dream to become one of the most recognized black actresses of the decade.

Debbi Morgan

Born in North Carolina but raised in New York's South Bronx, Debbi became involved in theater workshops with The Negro Ensemble Company and The New Federal Theatre. She appeared on Broadway in "What the Wine Sellers Buy," then toured with that show's national company for a year.

Debbi's subsequent move to California netted her several appearances on "Good Times," and a semi-regular role on the series "What's Happening." But she says her biggest break came when she appeared in "Roots: The Next Generation."

Since "Roots II," Debbi has appeared in the film "Love's Savage Fury," and guest-starred on nighttime TV's "The Love Boat," "The White Shadow" and "The Incredible Hulk," to name a few. She played "Lynette" on the defunct late-night soap, "Behind the Screen."

Debbi is married to actor Charles Weldon, who recently joined the cast of "AMC."

Although Micki Grant (Helen Tynan on "Guiding Light") is new to soap viewers, her name is easily recognized in New York for her musical contribution to the Broadway hit "Your Arms Too Short to Box with God."

In her latest theater venture Micki has written the score for the new play, "The Boogie-Woogie Rumble of a Dream Deferred," which is running at the Urban Arts Theater in downtown Manhattan.

Daytime newcomer John Hutton has joined the cast of "Another World" as Peter Love, a young lawyer with an eye for the ladies. John, a native of Southington, Conn., studied acting at San Francisco's American Conservatory Theatre where he appeared in several theatrical productions.

Hugo Napier (Gunnar St. Clair Stenbeck on "As the World Turns") took some time off from his soap duties to fly to Scotland for a visit with his parents, who are both well-known anthropologists.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Nancy Reichardt at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

TUESDAY

Karen Valentine plays an American designer of western wear who becomes involved in a chilling mystery after her husband is murdered in "Illusions," to air Tuesday, Jan. 18 on CBS.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

HOME INSULATION

As stated in last month's article, insulation can be effective in stopping heat loss. Heat can flow through the building envelope by a process called conduction, and insulation can help stop this conduction. However, to be effective, insulation must be installed properly.

There are as many ways insulation can fail as there are insulated buildings. In this article I will mention a few of them.

It may seem obvious that insulation must be in place for it to do any good. However, it is common to find homes where great pains have been made to install insulation, yet large gaps have been left in several areas. Void-prone areas include narrow openings in the corners of exterior frame walls, places where interior partitions meet an exterior wall, hollow areas over windows and doors, irregular seams between window and door jambs and the adjoining framing members, and the rim joist, which is the area where the foundation meets the house.

Settling or blown-in (loose-fill) insulation can also cause problems. Vermiculite, which was once commonly used for wall insulation, often settles considerably over the years. However, vermiculite is rarely used now, and properly installed fiberglass and blown-in cellulose insulation settle little, if any. But, if a contractor skimps on materials and blows in insulation so it is too light and fluffy, settling may very likely occur. If your house has loose-fill insulation and you discover that the top of the stud cavity is colder than the bottom, suspect settling.

A third type of void occurs when insulation simply falls away from its original location. This problem happens often with fiberglass batts. The batt itself is supposed to be held in place primarily by friction between the edges of the fiberglass and the framing members. If this friction is not enough, the correct procedure is to add some kind of additional support such as nylon cord to support the insulation from beneath.

Thermal bridges allow heat to cross over the barrier of installed insulation, and are another example of how insulation can be ineffective. In an ordinary wall the framing members form numerous thermal bridges between the warm interior of the home and the cold exterior; the insulation between the studs may be rated at R-11 while the studs themselves may only be R-4. The heat conducts through the studs to the outside of the home. Thermal bridging can be minimized in new construction by "double studding," a technique that places a continuous layer of insulation midway through the wall. Another alternative is to line the walls of the home with a continuous layer of rigid-foam insulation. In existing homes it's rarely cost effective to correct thermal bridges caused by wooden framing, unless major remodeling is planned anyway. However, thermal bridges caused by metal should be corrected because metal is an excellent conductor of heat. Common metal thermal bridges are metal joist hangers, pipes running through walls, long nails and metal studs.

Most insulations, when wet, are not as effective as when they are dry. Although vapor barriers on insulations can help slow down the movement of moisture, no vapor barrier is perfect. Moisture that enters insulation must be given an exit, which is usually in the form of a controlled amount of air movement across the back of the insulation. This moving air dries out the insulation and carries the moisture away. But, if there is not adequate ventilation, there will be no air movement to dry out the insulation.

Often, in an attempt to seal up their homes, people block off the attic vents. This cuts off the attic's supply of dry, outside air, and causes a buildup of moisture in the attic. This buildup of moisture in the attic causes a lower R-value for the insulation that becomes wet due to the moisture buildup. It also makes a prime environment for wood-destroying fungi and bacteria to begin rotting out the roof.

Too much air flow can also cause problems with insulation. An attic floor can be swept clean of blown-in insulation with the draft from an exhaust fan or an improperly installed vent. Strong wind currents can also cause intrusion, which is where air moves through the outer few inches of an insulation material, taking with it the warm trapped air.

Often mice, squirrels and chipmunks may find a home in your house's insulation. This can result in an amazing network of tunnels within your insulation, which also reduces its R-value.

One last insulation flaw can also be a fire hazard, and that is the practice of putting insulation on top of recessed lighting fixtures. The waste heat from these lights can build up to such a point that it can actually start a fire. Recessed lighting fixtures should be surrounded by a sheet metal box with a 3-inch space on all sides of the fixture. Insulation should not be placed over that box, however, it can be placed around the sides.

For more information on proper installation of insulation, contact the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, 11 Prospect Square, Cumberland, Maryland 21502, Telephone (301) 724-3320, or 303 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, Telephone (301) 334-2145.

Information from the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service is available to all persons regardless of race, color, national origin, sex or handicap.

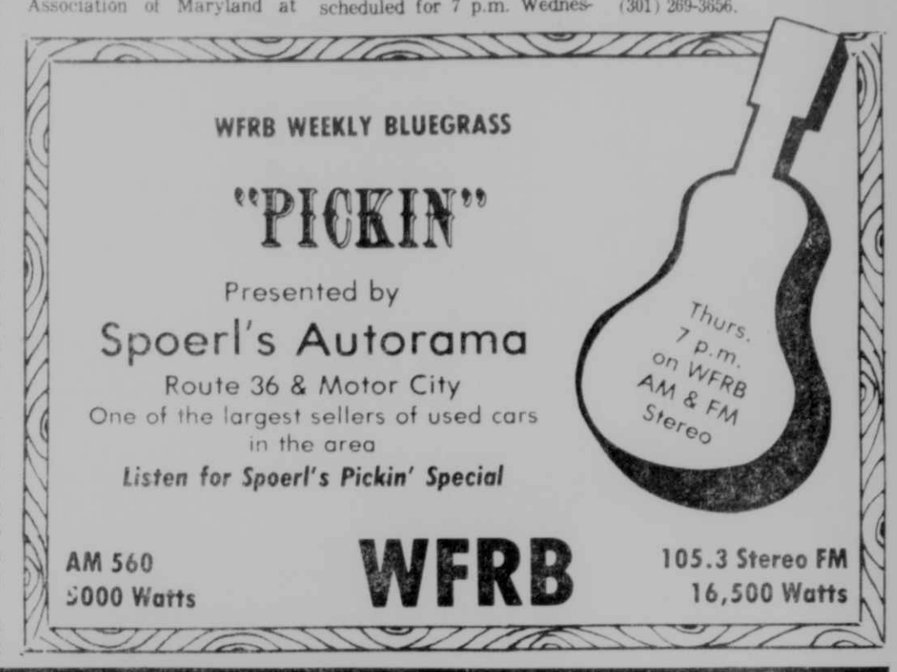
Offices To Close

County and state offices in the Garrett County courthouse will be closed Friday in observance of Martin Luther King Day, courthouse officials have reported. Federal offices will be open for business Friday.

New Program To Be Introduced By Lung Association

"Smoking Deserves A Smart Answer," a new program to help adolescents make the healthy decision about cigarette smoking, will be introduced at the next meeting of the Allegany/Garrett Regional Council of the American Lung Association of Maryland. Designed to be used in the school classroom and by civic, religious, and service groups working with youth, "Smoking Deserves A Smart Answer" is a comprehensive program incorporating the latest research. Included are seven full color posters, bright stickers, worksheets and an educator's guide to use the materials.

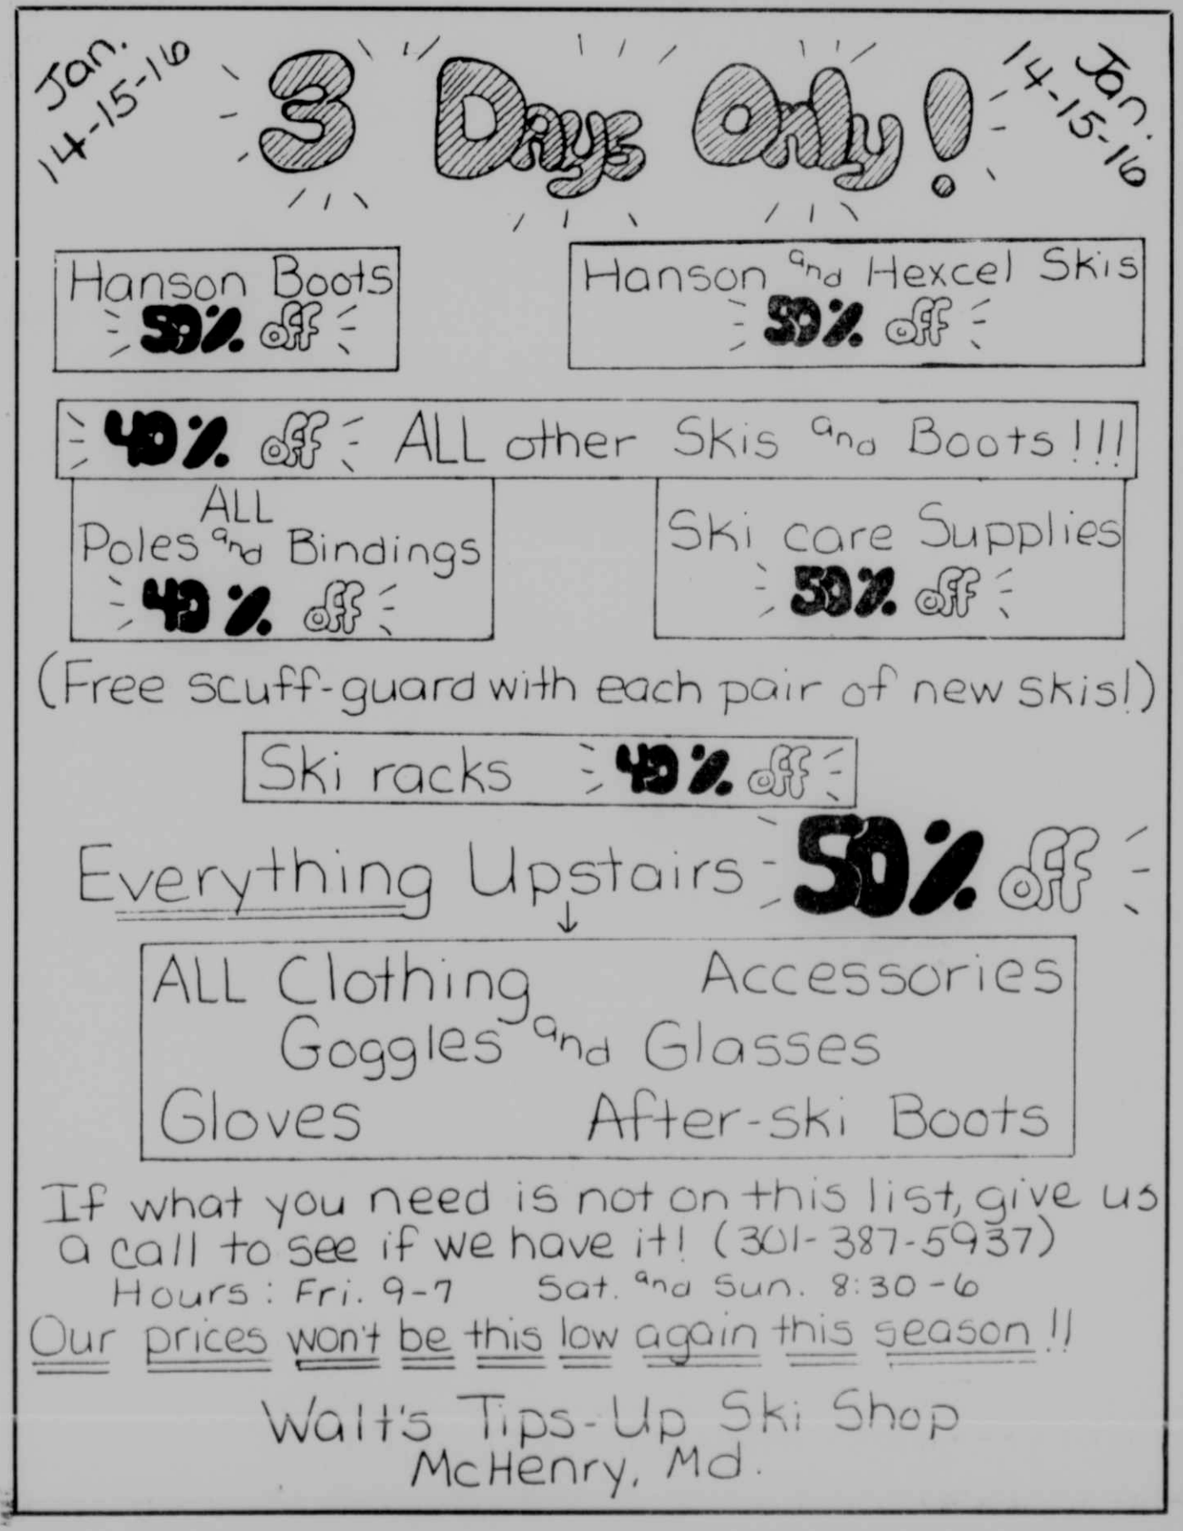
The Allegany/Garrett Regional Council is an all-volunteer group of concerned citizens, with a common interest in promoting lung health, who provide support to the American Lung Association of Maryland in Allegany and Garrett counties.



The Allegany/Garrett Regional Council will meet at the Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, Doctors' Dining Room, on Wednesday, January 26, at 3 p.m. The meeting is open to all Allegany/Garrett residents according to council chairman, Jody Hammond. For more information persons may contact the American Lung Association of Maryland at 1-800-492-7527 toll free.

Yough River Board Meeting Postponed

The Department of Natural Resources has announced that the meeting of the Youghiogheny local Advisory Board scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday, January 19, in Friendsville has been cancelled.



Unless notified otherwise, the board will meet again in February.

Grimm Named General Heart Fund Chairman

Francis L. Grimm, Mt. Lake Park, has again accepted the position of General Heart Fund Chairman for all of Garrett County, according to Buford L. Saville, president of the American Heart Association-Western Maryland Chapter.

According to Grimm, even though much progress is being made, Heart Disease is still the nation's #1 Killer, and a total of 42,330,000 Americans have one or more forms of heart or blood vessel disease. Cardiovascular Disease killed 1,012,150 Americans in 1980. In 1983 it is estimated stroke will afflict 1,830,000 people, 1.5 million may have a heart attack this year and about 550,000 will die. It is estimated the economic cost of cardiovascular disease will amount to $56.9 billion in 1983. This year, Grimm said, $25,000 babies will be born with heart defects.

Grimm said that 57.6% of the deaths from all causes in Garrett County are due to heart disease which is higher than the national average and "should bring reason to the residents of the county as to why they should support the work of their local Heart Association."

The 11th Annual Educational Dinner to kickoff the Annual Heart Association Campaign has been set for Thursday, February 3, at 6:30 p.m. in the Oakland American Legion Home, with the Oakland Rotary Club serving as host.

Heart Sunday will be February 20, however, Grimm pointed out workers may begin collecting February 1 and should be finished by February 20.

Main Heart Sunday Headquarters will be the First National Bank of Oakland with Francis and Rita Grimm, Donna Shaffer, Dorothy Cathell, Merritt Feather, and Betty Wildesen coordinating the headquarters. The telephone number to call that day will be 334-9417. Other area chairman for Heart Sunday will have headquarters in their areas. A Heart Sunday Volunteer Tea/Orientation will be held January 22, 2-4 p.m. at the First National Bank.

An active Heart Volunteer for a number of years in both Garrett and Allegany Counties, Grimm is vice president of the First National Bank of Oakland. A graduate of Fort Hill High School in Cumberland, he has received a graduate degree from the Installment Credit School at the University of Chicago. He has taught Installment Lending at Garrett Community College, and has completed courses at Allegany Community College in accounting, psychology, and business law. He is attending the University of Maryland School of Bank Management.

Grimm is past treasurer of the Mt. Top Home Builders Association and is a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland. He served 2 years in the U.S. Navy and two years in the active Navy Reserve. He is married to Rita C. Grimm. They have three children, Mark, Kimberly, and Denise who is currently serving as Miss Allegany County.

Grimm said that any individual or group wishing to hold a special event or help with the Heart Campaign may contact him at 334-9471, ext. 204.

Almanac

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 12, the 12th day of 1983 with 353 to follow.

The Moon is moving toward its new phase.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Mars.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Capricorn.

American patriot and statesman John Hancock was born Jan. 12, 1737.

On this date in history:

In 1943, the World War II Office of Price Administration said standard frankfurters would be replaced by "Victory Sausages" consisting of meat and soybean meal.

In 1971, a federal grand jury indicted the Rev. Philip Berrigan and five other people, including a nun and two other priests, on charges of plotting to kidnap then-presidential adviser Henry Kissinger.

In 1976, the U.N. Security Council voted, 11-1, to seat the Palestine Liberation Organization for its debate on the middle East. The United States cast the only dissenting vote.

In 1981, Polish bus and streetcar drivers staged a strike in Warsaw to support the fiveday work week.

A thought for the day:

French poet Jacques Dellille said, "Fate chooses our relatives; we choose our friends."

ZONING & BUILDING PROTECTION

Most communities now have some rules about what you build where, and for what purposes. Check these restrictions carefully before buying or building. You could discover, for example, that local zoning laws forbid running a business out of your home. Or you may be prohibited from using certain building materials, or building a guesthouse on your land. Generally, your recourse is to appeal to the local board for a variance, an exception to the rule.

Sometimes the law requires you to take out a building permit in order to make changes in your home. Normally, a permit is required just for major projects, not simple tasks like laying down a new floor or adding cabinets or bookcases. If you aren't certain about the need for a permit, it's wise to check. Also, be sure that any contractor you hire has obtained the necessary permits. To be safe, have that guarantee in writing. Also have him state in writing that the work he completes will comply with local building codes.

I ♥ My IRA

An individual retirement account gives you a double tax break today and financial security tomorrow . . . two good reasons why we hear more people say . . .

I ♥ My IRA

Why give away your money in TAXES when you could be investing it? With a First National IRA, any wage earner can put away up to $2,000 each year—without losing a penny of it to the Internal Revenue Service. For example, an individual in the 30% tax bracket—having taxable income of about $18,000—would save $600.00 in taxes each year by putting $2,000 into his IRA. If he would choose not to invest that $2,000, Uncle Sam would take $600.00 in taxes, leaving the individual only $1,400 of his $2,000. Of course, the tax savings would be 30 cents on every dollar he puts into his IRA—so even if he couldn't invest the full $2,000, any amount he could put aside would help!

On top of that, the government will allow your IRA interest to grow and compound tax free until you begin to take withdrawals. You may begin to withdraw any amount you wish, at any time you wish, between the ages of 59½ and 70½ at which time you'll presumably be in a much lower tax bracket. If you make a withdrawal before you've reached age 59½, you pay a 10% penalty on the amount withdrawn, and that amount also becomes taxable as ordinary income.

Have it your way

We have a broad range of investment options available for your IRA—even one which can get you started for $10.00. You can choose the one that suits you. Remember—even if you can't invest the full $2,000 you are allowed each year, or if you choose to skip some years, the tax savings and growth potential are still very great.

So, before you send in your 1982 Federal Income Tax Return, come in and find out how much you'll benefit by opening an IRA at First National.

Stop in—have a cup of coffee on us!

We'd love to explain the various IRA plans available to you. With an IRA from First National, you'll be deferring taxes, greatly increasing your savings and planning for your very special retirement. In fact you may be so happy you'll want to say . . .

Tracy Satterfield Becomes Bride Of Michael Belmonte December 19

The First United Presbyterian Church, Fairmont, W. Va., was the setting for the December 19 candlelight wedding of Tracy Jo Satterfield of Fairmont, to Michael Martin Belmonte, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Belmonte of Pittsburgh and Deep Creek Lake.

The Rev. Brent J. Dugan was the officiating clergyman. The double-ring ceremony was performed during a Communion worship service.

Paul Detterman, church organist, presented a program of special wedding music of Johann Sebastian Bach. The Cambridge Handbell Choir also performed during the service.

Soloist was Pamela Davies, a friend of the bride's from Carlisle, Pa. Special church decoration arrangements were done by Mrs. Hartley E. Roush and Mrs. James R. Kettering.

The bridal gown was fashioned of antique white crochet knit over taffeta, with a high old-fashioned girl neckline and fitted bodice. It was highlighted with an A-line skirt with a partial overskirt and a chapel-length train.

Her headpeice was a chapel-length illusion veil of nylon tulle edged in Alencon lace. She carried a cascade of split white carnations and white roses centered by red silk poinsettias with holly accents from which hung streamers tied in love knots.

Serving as matron of honor was Brenda Sue Watson of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. Donald A. Koon of Farmington; and Mrs. Richard W. Willoughby of Peachtree City, Ga., sisters of the bride; Tracy A. Christin, Helena, Montana; Suzanne Smith, Charlottesville, Va.; Teresa M. Savocchia, New Castle, Pa.; and Mrs. Davis Quilter, sister of the bridegroom from Ocean City.

The attendants all wore ankle-length Christmas red taffeta skirts accented with plaid sashes and bows. Their blouses were ivory silk fashioned with pleated bibs and lace ruffled sleeves. They each carried a white wrought-iron hurricane lamp nestled in a bed of silk poinsettias and holly.

Christen Lynn Willoughby, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a matching plaid jumper and carried a small fireside basket of silk poinsettias. Robert Clark Willoughby, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Serving as best man was the bridegroom's father, Michael F. Belmonte. Groomsmen were Donald A. Koon, Farmington Jay A. Iole, Santa Clara, Cal.; Charles F. Tursky, Paul M. Meister, Oakmont, Pa.; James W. Lacy, Washington, D.C.; and Curtis D. Parkins, Tulsa, Okla.

Immediately following the service, a reception was held in the social rooms of the church.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. Patsy Thobois, Mrs. Marvin Watson, and Mrs. Warren G. Langley, aunt of the bride from Uniontown, Pa. Music for the reception was provided by Mrs. George Phillips.

The couple is residing at 4031 Chariot Circle, Smyrna, Ga. Mrs. Belmonte is a second-grade teacher at North Fayette Elementary School and Mr. Belmonte is associated with Welco in Atlanta.

HOW TO RE-LINE A COAT OR JACKET

Very often, a coat or jacket that is perfectly good on the outside has a lining that is in shreds or close to it. What can be done about this problem? In order to get more use out of the coat, the best solution is to re-line the coat. This will take a little time, but in the end, it will be worth it. Follow these steps in re-lining your coat:

1. Carefully remove each piece of the lining with a seam ripper and scissors. Press each one well with seam allowance and hems opened up.

2. To determine the amount of lining needed—draw a chalk line on a table 22½ inches from one long edge. (Lining fabric is usually 45 inches wide and lining will be cut later with the fabric folded in half).

3. Place the lining pieces to best advantage within the chalkline—with the vertical grainline parallel to the table edge. (To find the vertical grain, pull each piece vertically to find where there is the least stretch). Use only one sleeve, one front and one back piece.

4. Measure the total length needed for the lay-out. This is the amount of yardage to buy. Use the old lining pieces to cut out the new fabric.

5. Assemble the lining and sew it into the coat or jacket as though you were working on a new garment.

FOOD NOTES

Interested in a new way to try pork chops? Try this:

SWEET SOUR PORK CHOPS

185 calories per serving.
4 (about 1 pound) loin pork chops, thin cut
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ cup vinegar
½ cup pineapple juice (and water if needed)
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 tablespoon brown sugar packed
1 small green pepper, cut in squares
1 cup canned pineapple chunks in natural juice drained

Trim fat from pork chops. Brown pork chops on both sides in non-stick frypan. Mix cornstarch with vinegar until smooth. Add juice and water mixture, soy sauce and sugar. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Pour sauce over pork chops. Simmer, covered, until pork chops are almost tender, about 30 minutes. Add green pepper and pineapple. Simmer, covered, until pork chops are tender and green pepper is tender crisp, about 10 minutes longer.

MMI Searches For Dairy Solution

Milk Marketing Inc. (MMI) and other dairy cooperatives are searching for solutions in easing the overproduction problems of the dairy industry. As a result, the voting delegates of MMI have passed a resolution that would offer an incentive to dairy producers to reduce their milk production. The MMI delegates discussed the milk marketing conditions at their recently held annual meeting in Columbus, OH.

The MMI proposal calls for the return of $1.00 per hundredweight assessment to dairy farmers who reduce their production in proportion to the amount of the national surplus of dairy products. The plan, if accepted, would become effective April 1, 1983.

The $1.00 refund plan would include the 50 cents government surplus assessment scheduled to be deducted from dairy producers' milk checks beginning December 1, 1982 and the second 50 cents assessment due to begin April 1, 1983.

"MMI believes this is a more positive and fairer method of reducing the supply of milk than a straight reduction in the dairy support price," said MMI President Norman D. Alger, Mantua, OH.

"MMI's point of view represents a matter of principle that should be part of any plan. That principle is the incentive to reduce production rather than a price penalty. Our plan retains its tie to the parity concept and offers to producers a positive incentive to cut production. We have said for some time that we would support a plan that would take a few cows off all farms, rather than all cows off some farms," said Alger.

The MMI proposal also included the delegates' support of additional expenditures for advertising and promotion of dairy products, but only if the funding for those expenditures came from all dairy farmers in the nation.

Alger stressed that MMI is willing to discuss variations of the proposed plan if such discussion can lead to a consensus among milk producers of this nation and its enactment by Congress.

In other action at the meeting MMI staff members reported an increase in membership over the last year and an increase of member equity. More than $1.6 million will be returned to members and inactive former members in this year's equity redemption program MMI members equity redemption program is set on a ten-year revolving basis.

MMI General Manager Gordon Riehl reported a successful marketing year for the cooperative. But he stressed that increasing marketing costs and the problems of overproduction will hurt dairy producers. He emphasized a need to reduce production throughout the MMI territory and the nation.

Riehl reported that milk sales to consumers are remaining relatively constant, and the price of dairy products at the retail market has not gone up as substantially as other food items.

MMI is a 9,500 member dairy farmer owned cooperative encompassing an eight state midwestern area including Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Michigan, New York, Kentucky, Maryland and West Virginia. Last year MMI marketed more than 4.5 billion pounds or nearly 517 million gallons of milk.

Farming in Maryland

Acreage Treated For Water And Soil Conservation

During 1982, 20,449 acres of Maryland farmland were treated and served by one or more of the conservation practices available under the Agricultural Conservation Program, according to William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. The Agricultural Conservation Program is the oldest and most widely used ASCS program.

To help farmers solve soil and water conservation problems, the agency provided cost-share funds totaling $851,389. "This assistance was used by producers to carry out necessary conservation measures," Crum said. Such measures included planting trees, constructing terrace systems, establishing sod waterways, and pollution abatement practices. Sod waterways, planting trees, animal waste control facilities, cropland protective cover, and permanent vegetative cover establishment are the most widely used conservation practices in Maryland.

Crum said it is vital that farmers perform good soil and water conservation practices such as those eligible for cost-sharing under the Agricultural Conservation Program because soil erosion is a major problem facing farmers today.

He said the program is designed to encourage farmers to voluntarily perform pollution abatement, soil, water, and energy conservation measures.

It authorizes funds to help those who could not or would not perform such practices to the extent necessary without some federal assistance.

About 1,010 farms were enrolled in the 1982 program and 39 entered into long-term agreements to conduct practices over the next 3 to 10 years.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service official said the conservation program endeavors to protect soil and water resources for the benefit of farmers and the public.

NEW WORD PROCESSING COURSE OFFERED — The Spring Semester will mark the first offering of Business 140, Word Processing Concepts, at Garrett Community College. This three-credit course is required for the certificate and degree in the Secretarial Science curricula. It is also a valuable course for secretaries who will need this skill as employers up-date office equipment, according to William P. Ewing, GCC director of admissions. Word Processing Concepts will devote much time to the "hands-on" experience. Students will use the memory typewriter, IBM and Lanier transcribing equipment along with an electronic typewriter which is wired to the TRS-80 Computer. The course is offered Mondays and Wednesdays, 10:30-noon, at the McHenry Campus. The first class is January 31. Registration is now open and class size is limited, Ewing said. For additional information persons should call the Registrar's office at 387-6666, Ext. 140, or Tammy Garber, Ext. 114.

Additional Insurance Benefits For Unemployed Now Available

Unemployed Marylanders may now be eligible for an additional four weeks of unemployment insurance benefits under the Federal Supplemental Compensation (FSC) Program, beginning with the week ending January 15.

According to officials of the State Employment Security Administration, the federal Highway Revenue Act of 1982, signed by the President on January 6, provides from two to six additional weeks of Federal Supplemental Compensation benefits to claimants based on an individual State's rate of insured unemployment or the rate which determined the State's initial FSC benefit duration.

Based on the provisions of the Highway Revenue Act, Maryland became eligible for four additional weeks of benefits beyond the ten weeks provided in the initial Federal Supplemental Compensation legislation which became effective September 12, 1982.

The Employment Security Administration will notify all eligible claimants of the availability of the four additional weeks of benefits.

Persons who are currently receiving benefits under the State Additional Benefits Program will receive filing instruction for the FSC Program in the mail. They will not be required to report to their local offices to file for FSC benefits. Those persons eligible for FSC benefits cannot continue to receive State Additional Benefits until all FSC benefits to which they are entitled are exhausted or denied.

Persons currently receiving regular unemployment insurance benefits will be notified shortly before their regular benefits are exhausted to report to their local offices to file for FSC benefits.

Individuals who exhausted their Federal Supplemental Compensation benefits and are not now receiving any benefits, will receive written notification to report to their local Employment Security Administration office. In order to expedite the claims of these individuals, the Employment Security Administration will open its offices on Saturday, January 15, 1983 for the taking of these claims only. These claimants, who have exhausted all benefits, must report as directed on Saturday, January 15, 1983. Failure to report as directed may result in a delay in receipt of benefits.

HCO Program To Sponsor Workshop

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College will sponsor a free workshop entitled, "Managing Stress", to be held on Wednesday, January 19, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Oakland Center of G.C.C.

The workshop is designed to help participants learn coping skills in dealing with stress. It is open to the public and will be held in Room 306 of the Oakland Center. To register of for further information persons may call 334-9184.

Human Resource Offices To Close

All offices of the Maryland Department of Human Resources, including local departments of social services and employment security, will be closed Friday, January 14 (Martin Luther King's Birthday).

Unemployment Insurance claimants who regularly report on Friday, should report on Thursday, January 13 at the exact time assigned to them.

Holds Christmas Party

The Flatwood Homemakers Club held a traditional Christmas dinner for members and their families December 5 at the Accident Fire Hall. Children made reindeer before dinner under the direction of Pat Williamson. Games and singing followed the meal until Santa Claus arrived. Each child was presented with a handmade sleigh made by Ruth Smouse. The group also collected clothing and food to be given later in the month to a family the club has been helping for the past year.

The January meeting will be on the 12th at 7 p.m., at the home of Carol Strong.

The public is welcome.

Census Bureau Slates Survey

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in Garrett County during the work week of January 17-22, John Bell, acting director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Philadelphia, announced recently.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the January survey will include others concerning occupation mobility, job tenure and job training. These questions will be asked of employed and experienced unemployed persons.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals according to Bell.

Ann Beeman, her twin brother James Abernathy, another brother Robert Abernathy will celebrate their birthday on January 10.

Persons wishing to have items published in the Bradley Manor Column should submit information to Virginia Beeman on Sunday nights at Apartment 408 by 5:00 p.m.

Mieczkowski Notes Medicare Coverage Enrollment Period

According to Joseph E. Mieckowski, district manager of the Cumberland Social Security office, individuals who do not have full Medicare coverage may enroll in the Medical Insurance part of Medicare until March 31, with coverage to begin July 1, 1983. This is an annual enrollment period for those who already have Medicare Part A Hospital Insurance, but not Part B Medical Insurance he said.

Medicare Part B Medical Insurance covers physicians and surgeons' fees, outpatient testing, emergency room visits, ambulance transportation, and durable medical equipment. The basic cost of Medicare Part B is $12.50 per month and this will increase to $13.50 in July 1983. Medicare Part B pays for 80% of reasonable and customary charges after an annual $75.00 deductible.

Individuals who have any questions or who want to apply for Medicare coverage should call the Cumberland office at (301) 724-0970. The office is located at 316 Paca Street, Cumberland.

Several areas outside the Oakland Corporate Limits have been determined to be eligible for construction of public sewage collection. These areas labeled 1 through 5 are shown on the map below. The following letter and postcard are being mailed to property owners in these areas on January 14, 1983. If you have property in one of these areas and did not receive a letter, you may let us know of your interest in public sewage service by contacting Franklin Associates, Inc. at 203 South Third Street, Oakland or phone 334-2305.

The public meeting indicated in the letter will be held at 7:00 p.m. on February 7, 1983 at the Oakland Town Hall.

Dear Property Owner:

As you may be aware, Oakland has received a federal grant to assist in the construction of a sewer treatment plant. Included in the facilities plan is the recommendation to extend the existing sewage collection system to your area.

Septic systems are considered to be a temporary form of sewage disposal. The disadvantages of a septic system are:

1) It tends to pollute groundwater.
2) There is an extreme likelihood of long-term failure.

Advantages of having public sewerage are many, some of which are:

1) The town will maintain the system.
2) Public sewerage adds to the property value.
3) Groundwater pollution is lessened.

The approximate cost for sewerage to those people on city water will be 67% of your water bill while the plant is in construction, 76% of your water bill after construction completion. If you do not currently have city water the approximate cost after hookup to the system will be $152 per year for in-town users and $265 per year for out-of-town users. The money generated from these fees will be used to operate and maintain the sewer treatment plant, maintain the collector lines and retire the project debt.

Below is a sample of the stamped, self-addressed postcard. This postcard gives you the opportunity to express your opinion on whether or not you are in favor of public sewerage for your area. We also ask that you answer the questions regarding the construction date of your home and whether or not you have a basement. These questions are necessary for the collector system design. This is a very important issue and your time in consideration of it is appreciated. Please fill out and mail the postcard by January 24, 1983. Two weeks thereafter on February 7, 1983, a public meeting will be held (time and location to be announced). At that time the results of the survey and additional information will be discussed. If you have any questions before that time, you may contact our office at 203 South Third Street, Oakland or phone 334-2305. Once again, thank you for your time.

Sincerely yours,
Morgan France
Project Manager

PUBLIC NOTICE

Public notice is hereby given that the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., has caused surveys, plans, specifications and estimates to be made for Project C-240565-03, Deep Creek Lake Sewerage Facilities. The probable cost of the contemplated improvements, based on the available engineering estimates, which cost figure shall not be final for any purpose other than this notice is $17,395,000. Funds for this project are being obtained by grants from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the State of Maryland, and loans from the State of Maryland and Farmers Home Administration. It is estimated that the annual sewer charge to a single family residence with a lot front footage of 100 feet will be $211.00.

The plans of the Deep Creek Lake Sewerage System may be inspected at the office of the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., in the Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland. Any person interested in this sewerage project will be heard by the District at St. Peter's Catholic Church basement meeting room, located at 200 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, on January 13, 1983, at 2:00 p.m.

STATE OF MARYLAND PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

ORDER NO. 66055

IN THE MATTER OF THE INVESTIGATION BY THE COMMISSION UPON ITS OWN MOTION OF THE JUSTICE AND REASONABLENESS OF THE EXCHANGE CLASSIFICATION METHOD OF THE CHESAPEAKE AND POTOMAC TELEPHONE COMPANY OF MARYLAND.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF MARYLAND

CASE NO. 7450

On December 7, 1982, a Joint Motion for Expansion of Scope of Proceeding was filed by attorneys for People's Counsel, Commission Staff and The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland ("C&P"). In their Motion, the parties state that while this proceeding presents a timely opportunity for C&P to set forth its current exchange classification system, it can also serve to establish the appropriate rate structure principles to be observed by C&P in proposing rates for its regulated intrastate services after it is divested by AT&T. Expanding the scope of this proceeding to include post-divestiture rate structure principles would afford more time than the maximum suspension period provided by Maryland Annotated Code, Article 78, Section 70, once the proposed post-divestiture rates are filed.

In light of the importance of full exploration of the impact of C&P's divestiture by AT&T on C&P's rates and the optimum rate structures to be adopted for the regulated intra-state services, the Commission concludes that the Joint Motion be granted.

Accordingly, the scope of this proceeding will be expanded to include consideration of the intra LATA exchange structure, and rate structures for access charges, basic business and residential service, service connection charges and other vertical services remaining with C&P.

IT IS, THEREFORE, this 20th day of December, in the year Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-two, by the Public Service Commission of Maryland, ORDERED:

1) That The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland shall cause a copy of this Order to be published in newspapers in general circulation in its service area during the week beginning Monday, January 10, 1983.
2) That persons not yet parties to this proceeding, who can demonstrate sufficient interest and desire to produce direct evidence and who believe they cannot adequately be represented by the Office of People's Counsel, or other parties to this proceeding, may request leave to intervene through their own counsel by filing with the Commission (15) copies of a petition seeking intervention, such petition to be addressed to the Commission, American Building, 231 E. Baltimore Street, Fourteenth Floor, Baltimore, Maryland 21202, by no later than the close of business of January 17, 1983.
3) That a conference is hereby set on Tuesday, January 25, 1983 at 10:00 a.m., in the Offices of the Commission, American Building, Fourteenth Floor, 231 E. Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland, for the purpose of considering petitions seeking intervention in this expanded proceeding, for consideration of other preliminary matters and for the purpose of establishing a procedural schedule.

By Direction of
The Commission,
Ronald E. Hawkins
Executive Secretary

Special Service To Be Presented

Rev. Harry Lamb

Rev. Stephen D. Wilson, pastor of the Mt. Top Christian Assembly of God Church, Route 135, one mile east of Mt. Lake Park, invites the public to attend a special service this Sunday, January 16, at 7 p.m.

Rev. Harry Lamb, missionary to the Solomon Islands and the South Pacific, will be the guest speaker.

Rev. Lamb recently returned from five years' service in the South Pacific. He will offer a slide presentation and information concerning the peoples, cultures, and government situations in these areas.

He is also the area director for the International Correspondence Institute in the South Pacific area, as well as an instructor at the Island Bible School, SCL.

Prior to his missionary appointment, the Lambs pastored churches in New Jersey and Delaware. Rev. Lamb received his B.S. degree from Northeast Bible College, in Pennsylvania.

There is no admission charge to the service.

Couple To Conduct Revival Services In Crellin Church

Rev. Ken and LuAnn Snyder will conduct revival services this weekend at the Crellin Assembly of God Church, the Rev. Ray A. Beahm has announced.

Services will be held Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m. in the church and Sunday at 10 a.m.

Rev. Snyder, originally from Manassas, Va., received a bachelor's degree in Bible and Pastoral Studies from the North Central Bible College at Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Upon his graduation, he traveled as a member of a gospel team and for almost three years served as a church youth leader and director of a Christian youth group at the vocational school in Sheldon, Iowa.

For five years, he traveled by himself singing at church services, retreats, banquets, youth rallies, as well as holding three or four-day special meetings until December 1980 when he married.

His wife, LuAnn, received a bachelor's in education from Northwestern College in Orange City, Iowa, in 1972. For 10 years, she taught elementary music and kindergarten in Iowa Schools. During this time, she was involved in various musical ministries including traveling and recording with her family, directing a youth choir and participating in her church choir.

The couple now travels throughout the United States presenting their ministry which consists of singing songs applying to Christian living and sharing personal testimonies and a message.

Bambacus Named To Committees

State Senator-Elect John W. Bambacus has been assigned to the Committee on Constitutional and Public Law, according to State President Melvin Steinberg. Under the new Senate leadership, Bambacus will be the only Republican serving on the committee that deals with transportation, education, veterans affairs, election laws, and constitutional amendments.

Bambacus was also appointed to the Maryland Commission on Intergovernmental Cooperation. This statutory committee is involved with federal-state-local relations, interstate compacts, the new Federalism, and is comprised of the leadership of the Senate and House, as well as members from the Maryland Municipal League and Maryland Association of Counties.

Commissioners Hold Recreation Plan Hearing

The hearing record for the draft "Garrett County Recreation Plan" will be held open until January 28, Garrett County commissioner Ernest Gregg stated during yesterday's public hearing.

Few comments were made about the draft plan by the handful of persons attending the hearing. The plan was written in accordance with State regulations governing the county's participation in "Program Open Space."

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County schools, asked the commissioners to consider what the schools currently offer to the public in carrying out some of the recommendations in the plan which calls for two public swimming pools, one in the northern part and one in southern part of the county. He suggested that the pool at Camp Hickory could be enclosed to provide a year-round facility to the public.

Ryscavage also noted recent work done at Southern High School to install a track, softball fields and tennis courts, which could serve the needs of the public when completed. He asked the commissioners to consider approval of a school board application for Program Open Space funds which would be

MARYLAND SPECIAL OLYMPICS opened Sunday with a festive torchlight parade to mark the 1983 winter games being held through today at the Wisp ski resort. More than 120 athletes representing 22 Maryland counties and communities, plus staff and volunteers gathered from across the state. Above, some of the finest moments of the four-day event, as winners and coaches share the joy of competition and the spirit, courage and enthusiasm of the participants.

Garrett Central Handles 9,591 Calls In 1982

A total of 9,591 calls were handled by Garrett Central Alarm during 1982, according to statistics released recently by Ed Livengood, chief dispatcher. Garrett Central handled 10,085 calls the previous year, however Livengood stated that the system of logging non-emergency calls was revised last year so that certain types of calls are no longer recorded as they were in 1981.

There were 5,476 emergency calls and 4,115 non-emergency calls in 1982, compared to 5,125 and 4,960, respectively, in 1981.

Local rescue squads, including Southern and Northern Garrett County squads and Elk District squad, were summoned a total of 1,866 times in 1982, an increase of 231 over 1981. Assistance from fire departments was required on 1,251 occasions, compared to 1,135 the previous year.

The Southern Rescue was called on 1,092 occasions, the Grantsville station of Northern Rescue, 347; the Accident station, 278; and Elk District 149.

Area fire departments and number of calls are as follows: Oakland, 297; Deer Park, 184; Deep Creek, 130; Grantsville, 129; Elk Garden, 91; Friendsville, 73; Accident and Bloomington, 70; Gorman, 52; Kitzmiller, 48; Bittinger, 44; Bayard, 23; Eastern Garrett,

Commissioners, School Board Discuss Organization, Budget

Members of the Garrett County Board of Education were formally introduced to the county commissioners Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools and secretary treasurer of the Board of Education, who also reviewed pertinent information with the board.

Introduced to Commissioners Ernie Gregg, Jr., and Elwood Groves II were Board President Clarence Stem, a board member for many years, and Vice President Earl Clark, who was elected to continue serving on the board; appointed member Anna Mary Fratz, and newly elected members Beverly Murphy and Leo O'Neill.

In his information presented to the commissioners, Dr. Ryscavage explained the table of organization of the board, noting that they are the policy-makers for the schools. He noted that there are 575 staff members, including 300 teachers.

He then pointed out information about the school system as revealed in the statistical handbook, "Facts About Maryland Public Education" printed by the state Department of Education.

The county school system is the 17th largest in the state, including Baltimore City, and has 5,200 students. Cost per

Kitzmiller Man Found Guilty Of Sexual Offense

A Garrett County jury found a Kitzmiller man, William Ray Browning, 20, guilty of a fourth-degree sex offense early Friday before Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer, who presided in the case.

Court records indicate the victim, a 15-year-old Oakland girl, was abducted following a wedding reception under false pretenses, and taken in a van to an unnamed area, where she was sexually abused. The victim reported she was offered a soft drink, which had been opened, and that she became ill and passed out shortly after consuming a substantial portion of the beverage.

Spectators who jammed the courtroom during proceedings, listened as witnesses told of the events surrounding the incident. On one occasion, the judge cautioned the viewers against verbal comment.

Browning's bond was revoked and he was remanded to the Garrett County Jail pending the results of a pre-sentence investigation.

Sanitary Commission Delays Decision On Deep Creek Sewerage Project

Due to lack of a quorum, the Garrett County Sanitary Commission was unable to vote on whether or not to proceed with the Deep Creek Lake sewerage project at their meeting last night and has scheduled a special meeting January 25 at 7 p.m. in the grand jury room of the courthouse in order to make their decision.

Those present Tuesday in addition to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator, were Randy Rodeheaver, vice chairman, and Bill Thoman. Unable to attend were John Dever, Lawrence Groves, and chairman Harry M. Filemyr.

On Monday, January 24, there will be a hearing in federal court in Baltimore before Judge Frank Kaufman to decide whether there should be an environmental impact study performed concerning Deep Creek Lake.

Additional Testimony Taken

Some 50 persons filled the meeting room at St. Peter's Church last Thursday afternoon to hear information about and to give testimony concerning the system.

Beitzel said at the beginning of the meeting that it beginning of the meeting that it had been suggested that all testimony from the October 21 meeting be entered into the record of Thursday's meeting. He introduced a typed transcript for inclusion if those present agreed.

Two members of the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake spoke in agreement, saying that they felt this was a positive step and would allow time for questions and additional information.

Ed Schofield, of the Deep Creek Lake Businessmen's Association, also felt that this would be a positive move, and allow time for the presentation of new information. The general concensus seemed to indicate willingness to include the record and thus was done.

Commission president Harry M. Filemyr introduced Tom Lash, project engineer with the

Gregg Says Exclusionary Sludge Law Would Be Deemed Arbitrary

A county ordinance to forbid all sludge from being deposited in Garrett County would be deemed arbitrary and capricious in a court of law, county commissioner Ernie Gregg told the group of 14 persons assembled for the second public hearing last night on the proposed county sludge ordinance.

The issue of an exclusionary ordinance was actually brought up by Gregg, not members of the group which was primarily comprised of county sludge task force members and county officials. There were four persons present, not including news media, who had not been directly involved in the ordinance.

Gregg said he and the other commissioners have received many calls from county residents wanting an exclusionary ordinance. He noted the commissioners had been advised by legal counsel that if an exclusionary ordinance was challenged in court, it would be ruled invalid.

Task force member Hugh Trimble noted the state has already indicated its attitude toward local control over waste disposal by forbidding local control over selection of hazardous waste disposal sites.

He added that he had served on the Governor's Commission on Sewage Sludge last year which is to issue its report in the next month. He advised the commissioners to stay informed about the issue because there will be legislation introduced during the 1983 General Assembly session which could be shaped by state government if county governments do not watch it closely.

George Shoemaker, superintendent of the Upper Potomac Waste Treatment Plant, read a letter to the commissioners noting the satisfactory results of three strip mines reclaimed in Garrett County by sludge from this treatment plant which is comprised of about 80 percent of Westvaco waste. One of the reclamation projects drew national acclaim, he noted.

Shoemaker asked the commissioners to consider the effects of the ordinance on the Deer Park Men Charged In Thefts

Two Deer Park men were charged this week with breaking, entering, and theft on the Bray School Road in an incident at a summer home owned by Erven Maki, who resides in Pittsburgh, Pa.

According to Maryland State Police, David William Cosner, 22, and Randy Wayne Cosner, 18, were charged with entering the Maki home and stealing an eight track stereo setup.

The pair was also charged with the theft of three snowmobiles on January 12 which belong to Arthur Kirkland, Rawlings. The recreational vehicles were stolen from the Leo Friend property in McHenry.

The snowmobiles were recovered, and the pair was lodged in the Garrett County Jail.

Board Awards $550,300 For Oakland System

Richard B. Sellars, Jr., Director of the Office of Environmental Programs' Water Management Administration, has announced the award of $550,300 by the Board of Public Works from the State Water Quality Loan Fund for the design and construction of a sewage treatment plant and collection system for Oakland. These funds are the State's contribution to the joint local/state/federal Sewerage Construction Grants Program.

In all, $4,447,400 will be spent in local, state and federal funds to purchase, modify and expand an existing industrial wastewater treatment plant at the Sterling Processing Company and the town's collector system, enabling this industrial facility to treat Oakland's sewage. A new innovative wastewater treatment technique will be used to remove nitrogen before the effluent is discharged to the Youghiogheny River.

The long-awaited wastewater treatment plant and collection system will be built to alleviate 27 direct discharges of raw sewage to the upper Youghiogheny.

The Construction Grants Program was established by Congress in the Clean Water Act to correct health hazards and improve water quality. Under the program in fiscal year 1982, $88,188,059 were obligated for sewerage facilities in Maryland.

Teachers Request Binding Arbitration

Two of three kindergarten teachers at the Broad Ford Elementary School have filed a grievance concerning what they feel to be unreasonably large classes, and have asked binding arbitration in the matter.

The teachers' contract including the binding arbitration was ratified just last year, and this is the first case to involve the new system of solving disagreements.

According to Betty White, local grievance coordinator for the Maryland State Teachers Association, the teachers have followed the steps outlined in their contract but so far without relief. The first approached Albert Ringer, supervisor of curriculum and instruction, who is responsible for hiring additional personnel. Ringer declared the matter not grievable so the teachers next approached Dr. Jerome Ryscavage and the board of education president Clarence Stem, both of whom denied that the request for additional staff was grievable.

The contract says that if teachers feel their classes are unreasonably large, then they may take legal steps to attempt to have additional personnel hired. Kindergarten classes have 30 or more pupils at Broad Ford.

The teachers have now had their attorneys, Jim Waddam and Walter Levin of Baltimore, to file for binding arbitration as step three in the case. To date, however, the local board of education has refused to cooperate in choosing candidates from the list provided by the American Association of Arbitrators (AAA), and had sent the AAA a letter saying they do not wish to participate.

Mettiki Supervisor, Mapco, Inc.; Charged In $24 Million Lawsuit

Citing 19 allegations of wrongdoing and negligence, a young miner named Brian Sanders, whose right arm was dismembered just below the shoulder in a coal conveyor belt accident at Garrett County's Mettiki Mine in January of 1982, has filed a 12 million dollar suit against George Kutchman, the mine supervisor, in Garrett County Circuit Court, as well as an identical 12 million dollar suit against Mapco, Inc., Tulsa, Oklahoma, owner of the mining complex.

Sanders, a resident of Oakland, alleges in both suits that Kutchman, with Mapco's knowledge, ran an unsafe workplace, and threatened or punished employees who complained. Sanders' attorney, Joseph A. "Chip" Yablonski, said the scope of the suits goes beyond compensation for the single accident, citing that the bulk of the $24 million is "punitive . . . we don't want to see this ever happen to anyone again."

The suit alleges that Kutchman knew that the beltline was dangerous, defective, and unsafe and was to be used only temporarily. The beltline was used for nearly two years, with Kutchman's full knowledge, the suit continues, until a federal mine inspector ordered the belt shut down just 12 hours after the young man's injury. It was torn down and disassembled shortly after Sanders right arm was completely severed from his body just below his shoulder.

The suit further alleges that Kutchman knew or should have known that Mettiki had received more than 30 citations by the federal Mine and Safety and Health Administration for failure to install guards on beltlines and other equipment. A separate allegation in the suit claims that Kutchman reportedly threatened several employees of Mettiki with reassignment, layoff, or discharge if they in any way cooperated with Sanders or his counsel in pursuit of litigation, and ordered mine employes to tear down and dismantle the beltline on which Sanders was injured.

Last spring, according to press reports, Kutchman was the subject of an internal investigation conducted by Mapco, for his alleged involvement in kickbacks, thefts or company property, and employee harassment. Kutchman survived the investigation, according to reports in the Baltimore Sun, after agreeing to repay the corporation approximately $70,000.

Sanders lost his arm on January 13 when he was assigned to work outside the preparation plant. According to his statements in the suit, he observed that the steam coal belt was slipping and reported this

County Students Surpass National Norm In Testing For Second Year

Garrett County students held their own and even improved in California Achievement Test scores as revealed in a report Thursday by Albert Ringer, assistant superintendent of instruction for the county Board of Education.

Ringer presented the report to the school board Thursday showing composite results of the test administered October 1982 to third, fifth, eighth and eleventh graders. "The reports on the whole are very good," Ringer told the board members.

Last year, county elementary students surpassed the national norm on the tests, a first in county educational history.

Ringer praised administrators and instructors in improving instruction and materials, particularly noting the work of instructional supervisor Robert Rodeheaver in developing a new language arts program at the middle school level.

He noted a jump in the eighth grade test results in the language section from 8.3 in 1981 to 9.3 in 1982. The national norm for this section is 8.3 which means a student is at the educational level of eighth grade, third month.

Ringer further pointed out that an improvement in test scores by special education students and high scores by gifted and talented students also helped to raise scores this year.

County third graders scored almost identically to last year's third graders with a battery total of 3.3 both years. The national norm was 3.1.

The third graders, on the average, scored a 3.5 reading total, a 3.5 language total and a 3.3 math total as compared to the national norm in those areas of 3.3, 3.4 and 3.1, respectively.

Fifth graders scored above the national norm and higher than last year with a 5.6 reading total, 5.7 language total and 5.4 math total. The national norm was 5.4, 5.6 and 5.3. The battery total, total of all scores, was 5.4 compared to the national norm of 5.3.

Besides their improved language totals, eighth graders also improved in reading and math with totals of 8.7 in both areas as compared to 1981 scores of 8.3 in reading and 8.4 in math. The national norm was 8.4, 8.3 and 8.5. The students battery total of 8.7 was above the 8.5 national norm.

Eleventh graders also showed improvement in all test areas. They achieved a battery total of 11.2 as compared to the 10.6 national norm.

In reading, eleventh graders raised last year's score of 10.9 to 11.3 this year, above the national norm of 10.5. They scored 11.6 in language and 11.9 in math, both higher than last year's scores of 11.1 in both areas. The national norm was 10.3 in language and 10.4 in math.

Delta Mining Cuts Work Hours

Delta Mining, Inc. has announced that due to a slow down in the economy which has caused considerable reduction in the demand for and the price of coal, it is cutting back to three-day work weeks.

Except for backfilling, Delta has totally shut down one of its mines near St. Paul, Pa. and one pit at one of its mines in Allegany County.

The Delta Group employs 140 people in the two-state area of Maryland and Pennsylvania.

AID DRIVE NETS OVER $7,700 — Members of the Aid Association for Lutherans, Branch 588, Cove, sponsored a cooperative benevolence project to help defray the expenses of the new fire truck for the Accident Volunteer Fire Company recently, and their efforts resulted in a $7,731.75 check to the department. Shown above, front row, left, is Hobart Bowser, vice president of the fire company, accepting the check from Fred Bentz, president of Branch 588. Pictured in the second row, left to right, are James Margroff, vice president of Branch 588; Mildred Haenftling, local representative of Aid Association for Lutherans; Earl Haenftling, district representative of Aid Association for Lutherans; Vaughn Vitez, chief of the fire company; Paul Thomas, member of Branch 588; and Beulah Thomas, secretary of Branch 588.

ROTARIANS MAKE DONATION — A check for $1,076.50 was recently donated by the Oakland Rotary Club to the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. The funds were raised by the Rotarians during the 1982 Oktobertest celebration at the Oakland Fire Hall, through the sale of French fries and funnel cakes served through the windows of the club's mobile French fry trailer. Receiving the check in the above photo from Jim Murray, right, president of the Oakland Rotary Club, is Don Sincell, president of the Oakland VFD.

Board Of Education Publicizes Vocational Study Recommendations

The Garrett County Board of Education is making efforts to inform the public of a study, "Garrett County Vocational/Technical Needs Assessment," which recommends the construction of a vocational-technical center in the central portion of the county.

The study also recommends that vocational offerings be expanded either through the center or at the two high schools, whichever the county decides is most feasible.

The study also concluded that if the decision is made to keep the vocational programs in the two high schools, buildings should be renovated to provide for the expanded programs and to bring facilities up to state standards.

The board must make a decision on a center or expansion at the two high schools by early April, when plans for the renovation of Northern High School must be placed in the hands of the architects. Actual renovation work is scheduled to begin in 1984.

The Garrett County Board of Education and the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees had authorized the study to be conducted by a team from the University of Maryland. The team began its evaluations in May and the study was completed in September 1982. The University team was chosen by the boards in order that someone from outside the county could evaluate present vocational programs and facilities, recommend programs to be offered in vocational training, and the delivery system for such programs.

The board is planning extensive discussions with the Vocational Advisory Council, the Vocational Task Force composed of professionals in the local school system, various organizations, and the general public before concluding decisions on the recommendations.

Students Affected

Nearly 75 percent of county students are affected by the vocational programs in the county, according to Kenneth Bittinger, supervisor of vocational education, who called a press conference last Thursday to announce the findings of the study. He announced that the study recommends that the following programs be offered at a vocational-technical center: agriculture, masonry, automotive-power lab, electronics lab, electricity lab, carpentry lab, cabinet making lab, food service, drafting, machine tool, cosmetology, body and fender lab, metal forming and fabrication, plumbing lab, welding, marketing and distribtution and health services.

The study also noted that if a center is constructed in the vicinity of Garrett Community College, the facilities could be shared with the college students.

If the programs remain in the two high schools, the study recommended that Northern High School offer the following: agriculture, business education, home economics, masonry, auto mechanics, auto body, electricity, carpentry, drafting and health services.

Southern High School should offer programs in agriculture, business education, home economics, masonry, auto mechanics, auto body, electricity, carpentry, drafting, health services, foods service, machine tool and cosmetology.

Public Meeting Slated

There will be a public meeting on March 2 to provide an opportunity for committees to make their recommendations and for the general public to have input regarding the future of vocational education in Garrett County, Bittinger announced.

Bittinger has also prepared a list of pros and cons for the three types of delivery systems proposed by the University of Maryland team. Among the pros for a vo-tech center are elimination of duplication of programs, space and equipment; equality of vocational opportunities to all county students; specialization in areas by the various teachers; use of ninth and tenth grades for general education requirements prior to entering vo-tech; greater course offerings; and expansion of industrial arts in the present facilities.

Drawbacks include the problems of transportation, and the fact that students would be members of two schools, making coordination between the schedules more complex. There would also be additional administrative expenses, some loss of student class time in travel, difficulties for vocational students to get business courses if the business education departments remain in the two high schools, and losing out on special programs in high schools when offered on vocational time.

In the comprehensive high schools alternative, pros include the following: students are members of one school, scheduling is compatible, switching of programs requires no school changes, schools would operate at a capacity for which they were built, bus costs would be the same, costs would remain the same, all courses would be under one roof, and students would lose no time in travel.

Difficulties would be that program space and equipment would be duplicated, equal vo-tech opportunity would not be available, number one objective is not vo-tech programs; one teacher must do all contents for each subject; limited industrial arts expansion room at Northern High School, and limitations of class variety because of expense duplication.

The study also suggested a vocational-technical high school which would be constructed as a separate facility and concentrate on vo-tech subjects in addition to basic general education. Pros in this instance include: the number one objective would be vo-tech progams and courses that support it; equality of opportunities; elimination of program duplication in two schools; more specialized programs, students would be members of one school, elimination of most scheduling problems; and a greater variety of courses.

Difficulities would be that switching from the vocational program would necessitate a change of schools; decreases in home school population; increased bus expenses, and additional administrative expenses.

Costs Explored

The renovation costs to provide programs for Southern and Northern was estimated to be $3,907,730. To construct a separate center would cost $8,702,941 which could be eligible for 100 percent state funding if approvals could be obtained from the state vocational board and the Maryland Public School Construction Program. It would be at least three to six years before construction could begin, once approvals would be received.

GCC Announces New Courses For Spring Semester

As Intersession draws to a close and the January days begin to lengthen, faculty and staff at Garrett Community College are preparing for spring semester, scheduled to begin on Monday, January 31.

This year a total of 134 different credit courses are being offered at the McHenry campus and at the Oakland Center, according to Robert L. Trantham, dean of the college. There is also one course being offered in Grantsville and one in Bloomington.

Today's world of high technology is reflected in several new courses on the spring schedule, Trantham said. Word Processing Concepts (BUS 140) will be taught by Tammy Garber of the Business Division. The Math/Science Division will offer two new computer courses: Advanced Microcomputer Programming (CS 121) to be taught by Chuck Coddington, and Computer Literacy (CS 105) to be taught by Don Robinson. According to Robinson, this course is designed to introduce the student to the area of computer technology.

Another course being offered for the first time is Fundamentals of Technical Theatre (THE 104) which will be taught by Ben Sincell of the Humanities Division. Students in this course will learn the "behind the scenes" aspects of theatre, including lighting, set design and construction, costuming, make-up, and box-office promotion. In addition to classroom activities, they will have a "hands-on" experience working on the stage for a live production.

A number of courses scheduled in the spring semester are available for independent or home study. Brochures explaining GCC's "Fireside College" have been distributed to display racks throughout the county. Students interested in pursuing this mode of learning may get further information by calling Joan Crawford at the College, 387-6666.

Registrations for the spring semester courses are now being taken during regular business hours at the Registrar's Office, McHenry Campus. A week of special evening registration will be held January 24-27 from 6-8 p.m. at both the McHenry Campus and the Oakland Center.

St. Matthew's Church Slates Annual Meeting

St. Matthew's Episcopal Church membership will hold its annual meeting on Sunday, January 23, following the 10:30 a.m. service.

A potluck covered dish luncheon will precede the meeting. Regular church business will be conducted and two members will be elected to serve on the vestry.

David Skillman and I. Robert Rudy have been nominated.

Anyone desiring further information may contact Rev. Manning Smith at the church office.

Financial Aid Program Set At Southern High

An open meeting on financial aid for students who will graduate from Southern High School will be held Thursday, January 20, at 7 p.m., in the school cafetorium. A representative from Frostburg State College will be on hand to answer questions and offer information to students and parents who will be seeking aid for further education.

Also to be discussed will be various types of grants and scholarships which are available to applicants who plan a college career.

Those in charge of the program encourage the public to attend.

One Injured In Vehicle Mishap

A two-car accident last Wednesday on the Oakland-Sang Run road sent one man to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Dennis E. Hannibal, 29, R.D. 5, Oakland, was taken to the hospital, where he was admitted after a collision with another auto driven by Mary Sines, 37, Oakland.

According to police, the Sines vehicle was traveling south on the Oakland-Sang Run road and was in the process of passing another vehicle, which had become disabled on the highway, when the Hannibal auto came over the crest of a hill and was unable to stop before the collision.

Sines was charged with improper passing. Hannibal was discharged from the hospital the following day.

Sheriff Releases Year-End Report

Records indicate a total of 2,804 complaints were answered by the Department during the year. Over 3,000 patrol checks were made checking homes and businesses for security.

Some 3,896 papers served relating to civil, criminal, juvenile, etc.

A total of 254 arrests were made during the year on various charges such as breaking & entering, theft, assault & battery, bad checks, driving while intoxicated, sex offenses, possession of marijuana and drug related charges, gun violations, disorderly conduct, destruction of property, and others.

The highest population in the jail totaled fifty; the lowest at any one time was twenty-one. Average population of inmates for the year was twenty-nine.

Over 240,000 miles were traveled by the departmental vehicles transporting prisoners, answering complaints, performing patrol checks, serving papers, etc.

Delegate Edwards Announces Address, Phone Numbers

Freshman Delegate George C. Edwards announced this week the opening of his offices in Annapolis and Grantsville.

In Annapolis, Edwards may be reached at 411 Lowe House Office Building, Annapolis 21401-1991. The toll free number is 1-800-492-7122, extension 3435. He may also be reached at 1-841-3435.

His home office address is P.O. Box 8, Grantsville, and his home telephone number is 895-5720.

Within the next week, Edwards plans to announce the opening of an office in the southern part of the county, to help keep in touch with local issues and concerns.

Edwards urges all citizens to air their concerns through letters or telephone calls.

Speaker of the House Benjamin Cardin of Baltimore appointed Edwards early this week to the House Appropriations committee, and Edwards will serve on the education and human resources subcommittee.

FIRST MEETING FOR ELECTED SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS — Garrett County's first elected school board members, Earl Clark, Beverly Sines Murphy, and Leo O'Neill, jumped right into educational matters Thursday during the Board of Education meeting which was attended by county PTA representatives. The group elected Clarence Stem, not pictured, as president, and Earl Clark as vice president. Pictured around the board table, left to right, are school superintendent Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, and board members Anna Mary Fratz, Earl Clark, Leo O'Neill, and Beverly Sines Murphy.

Jim Vandiver, Mt. Lake Park, co-owner of the Mountain Lake Emporium, is the author of a new book, "Criminal Investigation: A Guide to Techniques and Solutions," released this month by Scarecrow Press, Metuchen, N.J.

Vandiver is an Army criminal investigator who will be retiring in 1984 after 20 years of service. He and his wife, Margo, have a residence on M Street.

Although this book is his first to be published, Vandiver has written syndicated columns in police journals for the past 15 years.

CRIME SOLVERS

Call 334-3111

Reward $100-$1000

This week, the Maryland State Police and Crime Solvers are seeking information on a white male, approximately 35 years of age, who has been uttering stolen checks throughout Garrett County.

According to Sgt. Charles Hinnant, the unidentified man presented a total of four checks in Grantsville, Friendsville, Deer Park, and the Deep Creek Lake area. The suspect is believed to be driving a dull blue colored 1972 Pontiac Firebird. The checks appear to be payroll, and are made payable to Ronald McIntosh. They average about $140 each.

The checks were stolen in Cumberland from Best Toyota, Inc., a company which has been closed for several months.

Anyone with any information on this crime is asked to call the Crime Solvers hotline at 334-3111. A cash reward of up to $1000 will be paid for information, no matter how slight, which leads to the arrest and indictment of the suspect in this case. The caller may remain anonymous, and no court appearance is necessary.

Pupil Services To Hold Meeting At Yoder School

The Department of Pupil Services of the Garrett County Board of Education has announced that a meeting will be held at the Yoder School on Tuesday, January 25, a 7 p.m. The purpose of the meeting is to obtain ideas from parents of Yoder students and other interested community citizens for the development of a fair, equitable and lawful procedure for determining the priorities to use when registering students for Yoder School.

Depending upon the turnout for this meeting, those in attendance will be broken into discussion groups. Each discussion group will be asked to generate criteria and then to present their suggestions to the total group. The Department of Pupil Services and other Board of Education staff members will use this input in determining a working procedure which will be used when registering future Yoder students.

Helbig Clarifies Oakland's Snow Removal Rules

Terry Helbig, street department chairman for the town of Oakland, presented clarification this week regarding the town's snow removal parking regulations.

During periods of heavy snow, when four inches or more has fallen, the regulations will go into effect and be enforced. Cars need not be moved unless heavy snow blankets the ground.

The regulations say that parking will be permitted Monday, Wednesday and Friday between 5 p.m. and 7 a.m. on even numbered sides of streets. Parking will be permitted Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday between 5 p.m. and 7 a.m. on uneven numbered sides of streets.

Violation of the regulation means a $10 fine.

Deputies Checking Thefts, Property Damage Reports

Garrett County Sheriff Franklin G. Finch described the past week as "fairly quiet" as far as crime was concerned in the county. Deptuies were called out on two thefts, two destructions of property, and an attempted theft.

It was reported to police on January 17 by Paul Tressler that someone had taken a 90 cc black Honda motorcycle and a power unit with blower for a fuel oil furnace from the parking lot of his garage on the Old Crellin Road. Deputy Larry Gnegy estimated the loss at $425.

Don DeWitt reported on January 16 that someone had apparently tried to remove the Pepsi Cola dispenser from in front of his garage on Route 39 between 2 and 6 a.m. that day.

Witnesses told Deputy Gnegy that they had observed a pickup truck at the scene about 2:30 a.m., but the vehicle left. Occupants were apparently scared off by the neighbors. The pickup was observed at the garage again at 6 a.m., but apparently nothing was missing. The cola machine was found to by lying on its front panel, but was not damaged.

Sometime between 2 p.m. January 12 and 8:30 a.m. the following day, unknown persons cut the cables and removed the battery from a vehicle belonging to Myrl Joseph Wilt, 2 W. Second Street, Loch Lynn. Deputy Paul Pratt estimated loss at $43.

Keith Ashley Cannon, Star Route 2, Oakland, reported that sometime during the night of January 14, someone crashed a vehicle into his mailbox and continued across his front yard before returning to Route 39. The vehicle traveled approximately 60 feet through the yard, according to a report filed by Deputy Gnegy.

Another destruction of property was noted January 11, when someone shattered the windshield of a vehicle belonging to Gary Hinebaugh while the car was parked in the front lot at Southern High School. Deputy Russell Drenning estimated damage to be $200.

Library Corner

by Judith Miller

January is national hobby month and local hobbyists have loaned some fine examples for display at the Oakland branch of the Ruth Enlow Library.

Besides the large collection of antique advertising owned and displayed by Bob Fousek inside the library, there are hobbies exhibited in the front window. A model train set and a model plane were donated by David Lang. A carved duck and a painting of ducks was done by Gary Yoder and his brothers. Another wood carving was done by Roger Zbel. "Papa" James Ross donated a rock collection and some photographs by Karen Fauber are also on display in the window.

Ivan Rowe assisted in organizing the window display.

Other hobbyists will find many books about their hobbies in the library's collection.

WARNING:
10% OF THE MONEY YOU EARN IN INTEREST IS GOING TO DISAPP

Recently, Congress quietly passed a withholding law that will cost American savers and investors the use of 10% of their interest and dividends.

In simple terms, effective July 1st, 1983, this new law requires banks and other financial institutions to deduct 10% of the interest or dividends you earn on your savings and investments. That money then goes to the Internal Revenue Service in much the same way as payroll deductions are now handled.

The sponsors of this law have told us it was designed to catch a small minority of Americans who evade taxes on their interest and dividends. But the truth is the law penalizes the great majority of America's savers and investors who pay their taxes faithfully. What's more, the federal government is now receiving all the necessary information to curtail tax cheating.

Though the law does include exemptions for some low income and elderly Americans, if they go through the red tape of filing an application, most savers and investors will forfeit some of the money they could earn in compounded interest.

We urge you to join our efforts by writing letters to your representative in Congress and to the two senators from this state. Tell them you want the 10% withholding tax repealed, because it would impose an unfair penalty on savers like yourself.

For assistance in contacting your representative and senators please ask any of our bankers. If we all act now, Congress will get a clear message from the voters back home, and they will work to repeal this needless law.

If you would like to see this bad law repealed, write to your senators and congressmen today:

Many Deserve Credit . . .

Although we have editorialized on the following topic in the past, we believe that there are certain accomplishments which deserve additional recognition even at the risk of our being redundant. Also, with so many possibilities for negative comments, it is nice to be able to concentrate on good news instead.

We refer to the report this week that Garrett County school students at all three levels—elementary, middle and high school—have surpassed the national average in achievement testing in language arts, reading and mathematics. This is truly wonderful news which will have long-reaching effects on Garrett County.

Obviously, personnel of the Garrett County Board of Education, particularly teachers, deserve most of the credit for this accomplishment. These results prove that the majority of our teachers and administrative staffs are dedicated to educating our youth and are using effective methods to do so. The accomplishment is magnified even more when one compares the number of educational resources available to Garrett County students to those of other school systems. Compare the situation in Montgomery County, for example, where hundreds of classroom computers are available, to the situation here where even paper and textbooks are at a premiun.

There are others deserving praise for these scores, however; namely parents and the students themselves. Such learning cannot go on without the encouragement, involvement and support of parents, and the desire, commitment and hard work by the students. All of these people should be extremely proud.

A pleasant environment, plenty of recreation, a low crime rate, sound businesses, and good medical care are among the many things that make Garrett County a good place to live. A solid, effective education system doubles that desirability.

Happiness Is . . .

by Carol Fox

On the local scene, happiness is . . . following a snowplow.

Having no drunken drivers to report for the week . . .

Knowing that Hospice of Garrett County is almost a reality . .

Hearing that recent Garrett County student scores on National Aptitude Tests are remarkably high . . .

Looking forward to the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department buckwheat cake supper . . .

Finding a crocheted heart lapel pin in my mail . . .

Having a faithful reader call to tell me how she enjoys my work . . .

Elsewhere, happiness is reading of a newly formed charity called National Fund for Runaway Children, which has collected thousands of small contributions since September, 1982, to aid homeless children all over America. Two dollars came from a 9-year-old child whose brother cannot be found. The new charity has already divided $20,000 among 40 runaway shelters throughout the country. The fund is administered without charge by Act Together, a Washington-based nonprofit organization serving "high-risk" youth. Not one cent of the donations goes for overhead, according to the report.

The fund's address is 1511 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

I found some zany headlines this week . . . for instance, Hamburger Airlift Sponsored—I wonder if Ronald McDonald was responsible.

How about Votes Cast On Garbage Collections? I vote to continue weekly collection at my door.

Just in time for spring is Lawn Mower Clinic Slated. I didn't realize grass cutters became ill.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In your January 12 letters there was a Mr. Obenshain who seemed to be blaming the problems of this country on the working people. I can't bring myself to believe this.

Apparently he has never belonged to a union. If he had, he would know that the COLA (cost of living adjustment) is based upon the CPI (consumer pricing index). The CPI is sent out by the federal government. The CPI may have to rise a full point before a union member gets a percentage raise. This is based on how the contract is negotiated. Now that's not getting ahead, that's just keeping up.

Mr. Obenshain also suggested that we all work for less pay. Well, maybe he could start it off by asking his boss for a cut in pay. And while he's at it, maybe he could ask his elected officials to take a cut also. That should start their year off with a laugh.

Thank you,
Richard Dodge

Dear Mr. Dodge,

Mr. Obenshain is retired from the Westvaco Corporation. He was one of the founders of Westvaco's research and design department and he has over 70 U.S. patents on inventions. So presently, he has no boss.

Editor

To the Editor:

I wasn't a bit shocked to read that someone would be finding fault with Sheriff Finch's decision to hire a man and have him trained by the Sheriff's Department instead of the Town. Half of the deputies were city policemen and someone had to pay to train them. I am just glad Sheriff Finch can do something on his own for a change in the department.

I can't see where it is right for one department to send someone to school only to have him go to another department already trained, and if there were any who applied for the job who had already been trained, it had to be someone who was already in the police department.

Don't worry, Sheriff Finch, there will be a lot of others who will remember you at election time again and I don't think they will hold it against you for doing what was right for both departments.

I am sure you are doing a good job and people are going to know that, whether they are taxpayers or not.

You did the right thing and no matter what anyone does there will be someone to complain. Just do what you think is right. You can't please everyone all of the time.

Thank you.

Wanema G. Painter

Sludge Law

Upper Potomac operation which has dumped some of its sludge on primarily Westvaco property in Garrett County. He noted the ordinance would increase the plant's operation costs.

Gregg pointed out the issue of an individual's rights in deciding whether or not he would want to use good sludge as a soil conditioner. He indicated the sludge ordinance would allow this while also preventing abuse of a neighbors property.

Rodney Glotfelty, sanitarian for the Garrett County Health Department, said he felt the ordinance is sufficient to prevent bad sludge from being deposited in the county.

Earlier in the day during the commissioners' regular meeting, commissioner Elwood Groves explained the main reasons citizens want an exclusionary ordinance were distrust of experts and their statistics, concern that policing of sludge disposal will be inadequate and a relaxation enforcement of the ordinances in the future.

Gregg noted that the hearing record will remain open until February 1 for written comment about the ordinance.

If the commissioners adopt the ordinance, they will do so with their powers as the local Board of Health.

School Board

pupil here is $2,281, ranking Garrett 21st in the state. Average state cost per pupil is $2,618. Local wealth per pupil, including adjusted real property assessments, public utility operating property, and net taxable income, is $57,109 per student, compared with the state average of $79,797.

He also presented some results of the California Achievement test administered to students in third, fifth, eighth and eleventh grades. Third graders here were found to have a mean intelligence quotient of 105, and scored above their level in reading. Eleventh graders also scored slightly higher than their counterparts across the nation.

Dr. Ryscavage's final discussion point was the school budget, since funding for local schools is a mix of federal, state and local funding. Ten percent of the school budget comes from federal sources, 49 percent from the state, 37 percent from local sources, and three percent from other sources such as revenue sharing and budget carryovers.

He pointed out that there are five levels of budget work, at the school level beginning in November, Board of Education staff level, board level, commissioner level, and negotiation level.

Both the commissioners and the board expressed the hope that lines of communication regarding funding will remain open so that school board members will know just what amounts they have to work with. Commissioner Gregg said his board would soon be issuing budget guidelines for all departments, particularly regarding salary increases.

Dr. Ryscavage then distributed copies of a letter from the Board of Education to Senator John Bambacus and Del. George Edwards, who are requesting that non-certificated employees in the school system be given collective bargaining rights.

The board's letter suggests that the legislators change Public School Law 6-506 so that whoever represents the non-certificated employees must represent the majority. As the law is presently written, collective bargaining may take place with those representing only 30 percent of the group.

After additional discussion of the budget process and previous lack of public input into the process, the group went on to discuss whether the county commissioners would endorse the Program Open Space, (POS) application for additional work on the sports complex behind Southern High School.

Paul Shockey, county personnel director, told the group that the Southern Garrett Athletic Association will be holding a meeting with the commissioners' representative and the board to determine future action toward completing the work and how to meet POS guidelines concerning the local share of expenses.

Recreation Plan

used to complete the outdoor facilities.

Anna McNallie, senior planner, briefly described the major recommendations in the plan which, besides the two indoor swimming pools, included continued development of community parks.

The plans proposed six new recreation objectives to be added to those already part of the 1974 Development Plan for Garrett County.

Also included in the plan is discussion of the physical and socio-economic profiles of Garrett County, the role of educational facilities in local recreation, feasibility of a multipurpose recreational facility, winter recreation, cooperative programs between public and private recreation providers, role of state lands in local recreation and a recommended action program.

McNallie stated the next revision of the plan will be a recommendation for development of winter trails for both snowmobiling and cross country skiing.

In other business Tuesday, the county commissioners received reports from several agencies.

Dave Ramsey, Region I director of emergency medical services, accompanied by representatives of the Northern and Southern Rescue Squads reviewed the accomplishments of EMS in the region since its inception.

Ramsey, who used a slide presentation, discussed new equipment, available services, the addition of the Medevac emergency helicopter and some problems such as lack of funding and volunteer burn out.

Mike Rodevick, Water Resources Administration chief of watershed management program accompanied by a site inspector, reported the status of the study to prepare a restoration plan for a segment of Savage River damaged by heavy rains and landslides several years ago and to prepare a flood plan for the watershed. He noted the department was in the process of awarding a contract to Potomac Engineering & Surveying, Oakland, for the study which he hoped would be awarded this month.

He noted that a study for a flood control program for the Savage River watershed was given preliminary approval recently. He said the purpose of that study was to define and determine how to prevent damage from flooding.

He added his department needs the support and advice from the public concerning the study.

County roads administrator Ken Metheny and assistant Earl Foster reported on winter snow removal by the department and presented a list of 20 county roads, a total of 9.6 miles, to consider for possible abandonment.

Metheny offered to take the commissioners on a tour to see the roads before scheduling a public hearing. He noted most of the roads were short distance or had no one living on them.

In a report of winter snow removal, Metheny noted his office was logging complaints by county citizens and had received 39 since Dec. 20, almost half were about the same roads. They said that two years ago, they usually received as many as 40 calls a day.

Mona Smith, staff assistant for Sen John Bambacus, attended the Tuesday commissioners' meeting.

Lawsuit

to his immediate supervisor, who instructed him to beat the belt rollers with a hammer and apply some dressing to the roller head to increase its traction. Sanders proceeded to the belthead and began to apply the dressing from the unguarded left side while the belt was moving, as he had been instructed to, since the on-off safety switch was inoperative. Sanders right hand and arm got caught between the moving belt and the belt roller and his right arm was torn from his body. The arm was reattached by surgeons at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, however, Sanders subsequently lost the tips of three fingers. He has undergone numerous surgical procedures to reattach the arm, including bone, nerve, muscle, and skin grafts.

While the allegations in the two lawsuits are identical, the charges against Mapco, Inc., were filed in U.S. District Court in Baltimore, and the suit againt Kutchman, a resident of Deer Park, was filed in Garrett County Circuit Court.

County Students

secondary school program for students with emotional disorders. The board members noted the difficulty of their decision because of uncertain state financing and their commitment to continue the program if they started it.

Al Coviello, supervisor of pupil services, explained the county currently has no special program and cannot serve some students with emotional disorders in special education because they do not qualify. Northern Middle School principal Tom Fowler explained these students disrupt classroom activities.

Coviello brought the subject before the board to inquire whether he should submit an application for state funds, available for four months, for a program. He noted there was no guarantee they would receive the money nor receive money in subsequent years from the state.

Board member Leo O'Neill stated if the board were to begin the program it would be morally committed to continue it to minimize adjustments from one program to another by the students.

Coviello noted there are approximately 10 students in the northern part of the county and nine in the southern end who could qualify for such a program.

Board member Beverly Murphy stated the problem may have to be addressed in the future if not now while member Anna Mary Fratz pointed out the problems created for other students by having those with emotional disorders in the same classroom.

Assistant superintendent Al Ringer told the board it had received state approval to hire an architect to plan phase one of a two-phase renovation project at Northern High School. Phase one calls for the interior renovation of the school except the vocational education section. Phase two is renovation of the vocational education section depending on the final board decision on the future for vocational education in the county.

The phase one project is projected to begin in the summer of 1984.

The board passed resolutions of appreciation to be sent to former board members Troy Gnegy and Mary Earley who finished their terms in December 1982.

The board appointed five members to the Vocational Advisory Council: Charles Springman, Accident; county commissioner John Braskey, Grantsville; David Terlizzi and James Simms, both of Oakland, and Helen Bittinger, Swanton.

The Maryland State Police were called 868 times, the Garrett County Sheriff's Office 938 times, Oakland City Police 325 times, Grantsville Police 26 times and other police units outside the county 78 times. The Medevac helicopter, which became active on July 1, was summoned on 22 occasions.

Livengood reminded citizens that the number to dial in the event of emergency is 911.

Teachers Request

The AAA, however, has mailed the teachers group a notice saying they will provide arbitration even if only one side participates in choosing arbitrators. No hearing date will be scheduled until the arbitrators have been chosen.

The board may change its mind at any time and decide to participate.

Tax Exemption Bill Introduced By Bambacus

State Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany and Garrett) introduced legislation Thursday that will exempt the sale of diesel fuel used for land reclamation from Maryland's retail sales tax. Senator Bambacus' proposal would amend previous legislation that had not included diesel fuel tax for various mining operations, and adds equity to the industry.

Bambacus said that since reclamation is part of the total mining process operators should be granted relief that others now have in the manufacturing process. "This is a small, but important step in assisting this vital industry," he stated.

The bill, S.B. 89, has been assigned to the Senate Budget and Taxation Committee and will be scheduled for a public hearing at a later date.

Second Impression

Them and us

by Harry Fox

Feeling slightly out of step with the times? Ever get the idea that you zig when everyone else seems to zag? Don't feel bad—get glad! Glad, that is, that you're not part of the enlightened generation.

Sometimes I think we've created a world where it's easier to know about what's going on in California, for instance, than why the cinder truck seems to have forgotten where your street is located . . . and when the chips are down, home is, as someone observed, the place where you go when there's nowhere else to go, and they take you in. It's true, but only if you can get there.

In the year just past, we've seen teenage girls wearing antennae headgear with bugs' eyes attached—a fad that disappeared only to be replaced by leg warmers, the snuggies worn by dancers in training and arthritic grandmas. The retailers are scurrying to feed this current craze before it, too, loses the fleeting attention of its adolescent protagonists.

More puzzling attributes of modern life lead us to wonder who should be treated for behavioral disorders, them or us.

They wonder about how much snow the ski resort made last night; we wish we could fit more wood in the truck on Saturday afternoon.

They can't decide where to shop for designer jeans; we add iron-on patches to the shopping list.

They can't find a thing to wear; we can't find a thing we can afford.

They can't afford a vacation this year; we can't afford water and sewer service charges.

They're getting conservative—no more charge accounts; we are too—we're putting back all layaways.

They aren't dining out as often; we're packing the kids' lunches and buying peanut butter in bulk.

They aren't getting a new car this year; we're learning to change our own oil.

They can't understand the unions; we can't understand the unemployment lines.

They're upset about the service charges at the bank; we just took some contributions to the food bank.

They understand that President Reagan is using strong medicine to treat the national economy; we hope the patient survives the cure.

They can't see what all the fuss is about—

We can.

Accident Plans Voter Registration, Town Convention

The town of Accident will hold corporation registration for new voters and a town convention within the next few weeks, according to Marjorie Fratz, clerk.

Registration is scheduled Saturday, January 29, when the town clerk will be at the town hall from 3 to 5 p.m. To be eligible, individuals must be at least 21 years of age and a resident of the municipality for one year. Residents already registered to vote in town elections need not register again.

The annual town convention will be held Tuesday, February 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall to receive nominations for the office of mayor and two councilmen.

Those whose two-year terms of office will expire are Wayne Fratz, mayor, David Davis and Charles Strauss, councilmen.

Those remaining in office are Richard Carlson and Owen Bach, councilmen.

All registered voters are entitled to vote in the town election which will be held March 1.

by Jim Willis

Do you know who the greatest fiend in history was? No, it wasn't the Marquis de Sade, nor Ivan the Terrible. It wasn't Adolph Hitler or James Watt. It was Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone and subsequently, the telephone company.

Little did Alexander know that he was spawning that huge, impenetrable fortress of micro-waves and mega-bucks we've all come to regard as THE PHONE COMPANY.

Did you know that Alexander's friends were so miffed at him for inventing the telephone company that they didn't call him for weeks?

I have had to deal with many phone companies in many locations. It has never been a pleasant experience. Usually, I have to take a little blue pill and lie down in a dark room for an hour afterwards.

Generally, if I receive unsatisfactory service from a merchant, I simply take my business elsewhere. Such threats do not work with the phone company since the "two paper cups and a string" method of communication went out of vogue when I was eight years old.

I'll say one thing for the phone company—they have got to be some of the most pleasant people I've ever screamed at. I recently told one of their business executives that an amoeba could probably defeat her at Chinese checkers and I could practically hear the lady smiling over the phone. Then she wished me a good day!

During the past year, I have dealt with three phone companies in three different locations. After reading a press report that claimed that approximately 80 percent of the bills the phone company sends out contain errors (not necessarily in the phone company's favor), I did some checking. I discovered six or seven errors within recent phone bills.

I didn't call the phone company to complain, nor did I attempt to have the errors corrected. I didn't think my heart could take the aggravation. Instead, I gained immense satisfaction by lining my bird cages with old phone bills, although my accountant is concerned about this practice.

In the year 1982, the phone companies collectively: 1. connected the wrong phone number at my place of business; 2. connected the wrong phone number at my residence; 3. billed me $80 for installation of a telephone that I installed myself; 4. replaced a defective phone which would not ring, with a defective phone which would go dead everytime I picked up the receiver; and 5. told me I'd have to pay an additional $1.25 per month to not have my phone number listed.

When I went down to the phone company to complain, the clerk pulled my file and did some checking. She then informed me that I had an overdue bill of $2.57 since 1979.

Now the phone company is advertising that it will sell you phone equipment (at exorbitant prices) instead of leasing it to you (at exorbitant prices). They've also applied for a rate increase which we would assume they need to improve services. And being as concerned about convenience as they are, they are closing a number of their local offices. I guess long distance is the next best thing to being there. How will we ever repay such kindnesses? Monthly, I'm sure.

It all makes me wish I'd been born in 1873. You see, old A. G. Bell invented the telephone in 1875 . . . so if I'd been born in 1873, I could have languished in my bubble bath for a good two years without the (expletive deleted) phone ringing.

Ashby Awarded Briner Scholarship

Thomas Ashby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Ashby of Oakland, has been awarded the Charles Briner Memorial Scholarship to Garrett Community College. Ashby is a freshman at the college and is planning to pursue a political science program in preparation for law school.

A 1980 graduate of Southern High School, Ashby played trumpet in the Highlander marching band, as well as in the stage and concert bands. Along with his studies, he is now working fulltime on the family farm.

He views the several years' lapse in his education as a benefit.

"I am glad the college is here," he says. "I needed something to brush up. I wasn't ready to go to college right out of high school."

Dr. Stewart To Offer Nutrition Lecture Jan. 29

Dr. Donna Stewart, who feels nutrition is the foundation for good health, will offer a nutrition workshop Saturday, January 29, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church parish hall in Oakland.

Dr. Stewart, who was diagnosed as having cancer well over a year ago, began studying the effects of diet and nutrition in her effort to combat the disease. She drastically altered her diet, began taking megadoses of vitamins, and at the present time no traces of cancer can be found in her body.

She received her PhD degree in 1978 with a major in clinical psychology and a minor in nutritional physiology and has worked as a counselor and therapist. She opened a nutrition counseling office in Morgantown recently and gives numerous lectures on her findings in nutrition research and the effect nutrition can have on weight loss and gain, hypertension, hyperglycemia, cholesterol, depression, anxiety, hyperactivity, and stress.

Anyone interested in attending her lecture on menu planning and proper food selection should contact Mary Lou Stemple, 334-9094, for reservations.

Health And Stress Is BPW Topic

"Health and Stress" was the topic for the January meeting of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club as 19 members gathered for aerobic and Yoga instruction from instructor Patty Manown.

Following the exercise class, members were served dinner at the Will O' the Wisp before a brief business session conducted by president Marci McClive.

January has been declared Young Careerist month by the state federation, and the group was also asked to make suggestions for amendments to state by-laws.

There will be a board meeting of the local group at Garrett Community College's Oakland Center February 3 at 7 p.m. The club's next meeting will be February 10 at Will O' the Wsip, when Pat Fischetti will discuss employment and the disadvantaged. Tammy Garber was chairman for the January meeting.

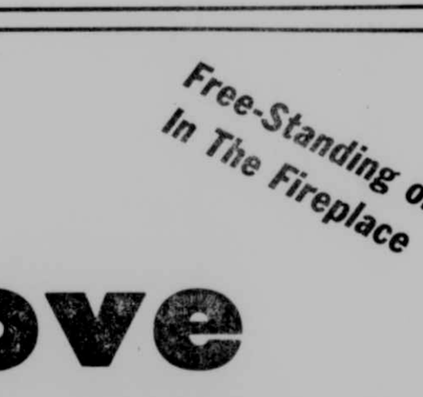
Put a Buck Stove to work. Now



Free-Standing or In The Fireplace

Why a Buck Stove?

The Buck Stove heating system's patented air flow pattern is the most innovative system for efficient wood heating currently available. The Buck Stove is constructed of 3 steel walls which create two air chambers. A rear-mounted fan pulls cool air into the outer chamber of the stove, and then blows it over the hot inner walls, where it soaks up heat from the firebox.

From there, four hot air vents direct the heated air out, down and in, resulting in a fast-moving mass of hot air directly in front of the stove, six to ten inches off the floor.

COMPETE IN TOURNAMENT — Both the Northern and Southern wrestling teams were participants in the Fairmont, W.Va. Tournament this past weekend. The Southern grapplers finished in fourth place overall with 109 points and Northern finished fifth with 89 points. There were 15 teams in competition. Coach Joe Heatherman of Southern and Jack Lear of Northern were both pleased with their teams' performances, stating that at least ten of the teams involved in the event were from triple-A schools. Pictured above are Southern wrestlers who placed in the event. From left are: Wade Deckman, sixth place in the 90-pound class; Jim Neary, fifth place, 167-pound; Rodney Neely, fifth, 185-pound; Gordon Gregory, champion, 112-pound; Tim Liller, second, 132-pound; and Chris Foley, third, 138-pound. Not pictured is Rodney Swiger, who finished sixth in the 145-pound class after sustaining a back injury. Northern High wrestlers finishing in the top six places included Darren Kamp, champion, 145-pound class; John Merrbach, third, 98-pound; Jett Graham, fourth, 155-pound; and Greg McKenzie, sixth, 119-pound.

IN TROUBLE is Northern High wrestler Brian Saulpaw as he is about to be pinned by Southern grappler, Randy Knox, in the 107-pound division. The match, held yesterday at Northern, ended in a tie, 36-36.

Friendsville Student Awarded Scholarship

Kathy Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Baker of Friendsville, has been awarded the Mountain Top Volleyball Scholarship to Garrett Community College where she is a member of the women's volleyball team.

Miss Baker attended Northern High School where she played volleyball, basketball and softball. She was also in the Northern band and on the staff of the Viking, the school's newspaper.

Now a freshman in the Math/Science program at the college, she plans to pursue a pre-medical curriculum at either West Virginia University or Johns Hopkins University after her graduation at GCC.

Of her situation as an Early College Admissions student, she says, "I find everyone very helpful. I get lots of help from the instructors, and the students are very friendly."

Hillen Leads Lady Rams Over Beall And Bruce

Jenny Hillen, Southern's leading scorer, turned in 24 and 30-point performances during the past week to pave the way for victories over Beall and Bruce. Coach Don Stemple's team stopped Beall on Thursday, 51-39, in Frostburg and rolled over Bruce on Monday afternoon 68-49, in Oakland.

Hillen netted nine goals and six free tosses against Beall, while the Lady Mountaineers were paced by Michelle Cotton with 13 points and Molly Coberly with 12.

Hillen hit all 12 of her attempts at the free throw line and sunk nine buckets from the floor against the Lady Bulldogs, while her sister Amy Hillen netted 18 on eight fielders and a pair of free tosses.

The leading scorer in the game was Bruce's Margie Morris, who finished with 31 points on ten goals and 11 foul shots.

The Lady Rams are now 5-4 on the season and will return to action this evening by hosting Bishop Walsh in a 7 p.m. matchup.

Softball League Managers To Meet

The Mt. Top Softball League announces a meeting Monday, January 24, at 6:30 p.m. at the Deer Park fire hall on Route 135 for all team managers.

Rules and schedules will be the topics, according to Mike Reamy, who noted that managers must attend this meeting.

Garrett Drops To 8-8 With Losses To Hagerstown, Boyce

The Garrett Community College Lakers experienced a frustrating week on the basketball court as they fell to Hagerstown Junior College Saturday evening, 86-71, on the Hawks floor and then dropped a 90-87 overtime contest to visiting Boyce Community College on Monday. The Lakers, now on a three-game losing streak, saw their season record drop to 8-8.

Garrett captured the momentum early against Hagerstown and led throughout the first half, at one point by as much as eight points. The Hawks cut the Laker advantage to three at intermission, 39-36, however, and then took over the lead for good at the 17:21 mark of the second half. Hagerstown expanded the lead during the final five minutes of the contest mainly via successful foul shots.

Troy Dingle, the game's leading scorer, paced the winners with 24 points on 11 buckets and a pair of free tosses, while teammates Tim Mason and Doug Hess netted 15 and 13, respectively.

Freshman Eric Everhart, the Lakers' leading scorer, finished with 21 points on eight goals and five of eight free throws. Tom Fulwood, another freshman, was close behind with 18 points, Kip Washington hit 16 and Kevin Phillips chipped in 14.

Fulwood also provided ten rebounds and Everhart, seven.

The Lakers were outgunned from the floor by a 34-28 margin and made good on 15 of 18 free throws, compared to an 18-for-29 performance by the Hawks.

The Lakers allowed another second half rally to get the best of them on Monday against Boyce.

Garrett was on top 38-27 at the half and led by as many as 16 points before going cold midway through the second half, enabling Boyce to net 20 points compared to two by the Lakers during a four-minute period.

The Lakers had an opportunity to win the contest in regulation time as they had possession of the ball with six seconds remaining and the score knotted at 77-77. However, they did not get the shot off in time.

Everhart was the top point producer in the game, finishing with 29 points on 13 goals and three of four free throws. Fulwood contributed 24 points on 11 baskets and two of three foul shots.

The winners were paced by Randy Pickett, who led four other teammates in double figures with 23 points. Randy Burton scored 17, Matt Barnes, 15, and John Juniko and Tony Williams, 14 each.

The Lakers outshot the invaders from the floor by a 39-36 margin, but converted only nine of 16 free throws, compared to an 18-for-31 effort by Boyce.

Garrett will attempt to rebound this evening by hosting Frederick Community College. Tip-off is at 8 p.m.

Rams Hang On To Whip Rival Huskies, 45-43

Emotions always run high for any Northern-Southern high school encounter and Friday night was no exception when the varsity basketball teams opposed each other on the Huskies' court. Such emotion often results in a close contest between the schools, which also occurred, with the Southern Rams emerging as the victors, 45-43.

The Huskies jumped out to an early lead in the first stanza, holding an 11-8 advantage as that period ended. The Rams came back to tie the score at the half, 21-21, and then proceeded to take the lead in the third quarter. The Rams were on top 31-27 when the final quarter began.

The Huskies staged a rally, but six successful free throws by Rick Selders, all in the fourth quarter, paved the way for the Southern win.

Scott Stem paced Southern's scoring attack with 12 points, while Kevin Winters finished with ten.

Brad Yoder, one of the area's leading scorers, paced the Huskies with 20 points.

Both teams netted 17 field goals, however the Rams converted 11 of 16 free throw attempts, compared to a nine-for-16 effort by the Huskies.

The win evened Southern's record at 5-5 and dropped Northern to 7-4 on the season.

Huskies Defeat Salisbury, But Drop Next Two

The Northern Huskies enjoyed success Thursday evening by whipping host Salisbury, 69-61, but then took a double dose of disappointment by falling to cross-county rival Southern Friday evening (see separate story) and then losing to Mt. Savage in overtime Tuesday night, 60-58, on the Tribe's floor.

Brad Yoder ripped the nets for 33 points on 15 fielders and three free tosses against Salisbury, while teammates Rich Humberson and Scott Graham finished with 23 and 10 points, respectively.

The Huskies led by an arm's length throughout most of the contest, on top 19-12, 28-24, and 49-35 at the quarters.

Eric Yoder led the Pennsylvanians' scoring, hitting 27 points on 13 buckets and one free throw. Floyd Butler contributed 14 markers.

The Huskies edged Salisbury in goals by a 28-27 margin and bucketed 13 free tosses, compared to seven by the losers.

The Northern jayvees made it a clean sweep by defeating their Salisbury counterparts in the preliminary, 36-28.

Brad Yoder again took scoring honors last night against Mt. Savage, but his 32-point performance was not quite enough for the victory.

Mt. Savage's Allen Cook finished with just two points in the game, but they were scored with just ten seconds remaining in the overtime period, giving the Indians the win.

A goal by Eric Wisler in the waning moments of regulation play knotted the score at 52-52.

The score see-sawed throughout much of the contest, with Mt. Savage on top 14-10 at the end of the first period, Northern up by two at the half, 32-30, and ahead by a pair, 43-41, as the final stanza opened.

Yoder, the only Husky to reach double figures, recorded his points on 14 fielders and four of six from the line.

Billy Joy and Dave Felker paced Mt. Savage with 15 points each, while teammates Dave Reith and Wisler finished with 14 points apiece.

Both teams netted 22 field goals, but Mt. Savage connected on 16 of 24 free throw opportunities, while the Huskies hit 14 of 18 attempts.

Northern had defeated Mt. Savage on two previous occasions this season.

Winters Leads Rams Past Beall For Sixth Win

Kevin Winters led four Southern cagers in double figures Tuesday evening as the Rams breezed past the Beall Mountaineers, 61-39, in Oakland.

Winters netted 20 points on ten buckets as the Rams picked up their sixth win in 11 starts. Ron Bosley finished with 11 points and Rick Selders and Tom Stem each contributed ten points.

The Rams were never threatened in the contest, assuming quarter leads of 13-9, 27-17 and 45-31.

Rick Eberly was the only Beall Cager to reach double figures, finishing with ten points.

The Rams outgunned the Mountaineers from the floor by a 27-16 margin. Both teams netted seven free throws, Beall on 11 attempts and Southern on nine.

The loss dropped the Mountaineers to 4-7 on the season.

Southern will be seeking its seventh win Friday night against visiting Valley.

Ram Grapplers Stage Rally To Tie Northern

The Southern High wrestling team had to have pins in the final two matches against arch rival Northern yesterday in order to tie the Huskies in a meet at Northern, and that is precisely what Jim Neary and Rod Neely did in the 187-pound and unlimited divisions.

Neary pinned Jeff McClintock and Neely pinned Luke Maust to knot the final score at 36-36. In regular season action, Southern is 3-1-1, and Northern is 1-3-1.

Also recording pins for Southern were Randy Knox in the 107-pound class; Gordon Gregory in the 114-pound class; Tim Liller, in the 154-pound class; and Chris Foley in the 140-pound class.

Northern grapplers achieving pin victories were John Merrbach in the 100-pound division; Greg McKenzie in the 121-pound class; Howard Finzel in the 128-pound class; Jamie Spiker in the 147-pound class; and Darren Kamp in the 157-pound class.

Northern's Jeff Graham won by forfeit in the 167-pound class. There were no decision wins.

The Huskies return to action Thursday evening at Valley and the Rams are scheduled to compete in the Fort Hill Tournament on Saturday.

Laker Women Stopped, 95-71, By Hagerstown

The Garrett Community College women's basketball team was overpowered by Hagerstown Junior College on Saturday, 95-71, on the Lady Hawks floor. It was the fourth loss in seven starts for Coach Ann Welham's cagers.

The Garrett women played evenly with the home team during the first half and were down by only two at intermission, 43-41. However, behind the scoring efforts of Kathy Rosini, Hagerstown pulled away for good midway through the second half.

Rosini finished with 20 points, Diane Snyder netted 16, Jody Pepple, 15, Sylvia Parson, 11, and Barb Reeser, ten.

Michelle Payne paced the Lakers with 20 points, Sue Harper finished with 17, Sue Jack netted 14 and Sue Sanders chipped in ten.

The Laker women will host Potomac State this evening at 6 p.m.

The Southern freshmen team went 1-1 during the past week, topping East Preston in overtime 48-46 on Thursday and then falling to Keyser Monday, 33-23.

John Reneslacis paced the Rams against East Preston with 15 points, while Jeff Sweitzer hit 12 and Curt Miske, ten. Rich Myers led the West Virginians with 18.

Mark Farris and Tracy Gilmore netted nine points each for Keyser on Monday, while Sweitzer led Southern with seven points.

Cross-Country Ski Activities Scheduled At Park

Cross-country ski activities are scheduled at Herrington Manor State Park, according to the Maryland Forest and Park Services.

Cross-country ski time trials will be held at the park this Saturday, January 22, from 10 a.m. to noon. Skiers are invited to compete against the clock and their own best times.

Herrington Manor will feature a "Kick and Glide Race" on January 29. This cross-country ski race has an adult and child class and begins at 10 a.m. Pre-registration information can be obtained by calling the park office at (301) 334-9180.

National Cross-Country Ski Week—Saturday, January 29 through Sunday, February 6—will find cross-country ski enthusiasts around the country joining together to promote their sport. Signed ski trails are located at New Germany State Park and Herrington Manor State Park. All skiers must be off the trails at 4 p.m. Up-to-date snow conditions can be obtained by calling (301) 768-0895.

People interested in ice fishing can see an ice fishing demonstration at Deep Creek Lake State Park on Saturday, January 29. They may call (301) 387-5563 for details.

District Court Cases Are Heard

Garrett County District Court sessions heard recently have resulted in the following decisions by Judge Jack Turney:

Timothy Ray Dumire, Oakland, was fined $50 on a charge of theft from Fratz Red and White Supermarket, Oakland. According to the report, Dumire stole a pack of cigarettes, valued at $.85.

He was sentenced to six months in the county jail, which was suspended, and placed on six months supervised probation.

William Albert Thoman, Village Inn, McHenry, was fined $100 on a charge of illegal sewerage discharge from a single family dwelling located on Deep Creek Drive that he owns with Richard L. Barnes, Pittsburgh, Pa.

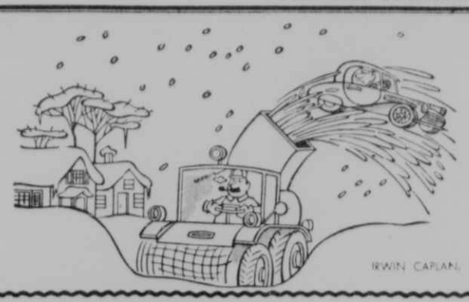
The charges were filed by Edgar Harman, a representative of the Garrett County Health Department.

According to Harman, the discharge of laundry waste on the ground surface was first noticed on September 9, 1982, but letters sent to the property owners were apparently ignored and there was no correction of the situation. The discharge is in violation of the Maryland Department of Health code, according to the files.

A Cumberland couple was charged with issuing worthless checks, fined $50 each, ordered to make full restitution, and placed on 12 months probation.

Timothy Galownia and Linda Puffenberger were charged with writing bad checks to Jake's Tavern in Crellin and Crystal Waters Marina in McHenry on an account which was closed.

James Glenn Tasker, 20, Deer Park, was ordered to pay a $25 fine, and make restitution in the amount of $36 to P.G. Arnold's Service Center following his arrest for malicious destruction of property. According to the report, Tasker collided with the pumps at the station, then struck them with his fists, smashing the glass in one. He was also placed on six months probation.



Howard Rhodes, 19, Loch Lynn, was fined a total of $50, and ordered to accept alcoholic counseling from the Garrett County Health Department following his arrest on theft and breaking and entering. According to the files, Rhodes broke into the Deer Park Sportsmen's Club in October of 1982, stealing cigarettes and whiskey valued at $31.50. He was sentenced to serve two years in the county jail, which was suspended, except for 60 days already served, and placed on 22 months probation.

Donald Liller, 21, Oakland, was fined $50 and ordered to accept alcoholic counseling following his arrest for trespassing at the home of Adria Lee, Oakland. According to Ms. Lee's statement, Liller entered her apartment, began making advances to her, and refused to leave when she asked him to. The incident occurred in September, 1982.

A four-way tavern dispute in September of 1982 resulted in fines and probation for Karen Friend, 23, Swanton; Russell Tasker, 31, Deer Park; and Mary Friend Tasker, Oakland.

According to the files, the parties were arguing among themselves in The Tap Room, formerly located behind J&M Market, when a physical altercation broke out between the two women. Apparently, the husbands attempted to break it up, and became involved as well.

Each party was fined $50, and placed on six months probation.

Snow Enthusiasts Delighted With White Covering

Winter sports enthusiasts and owners of businesses dependent upon such tourists received their wishes at last, in the form of snowflakes which accumulated nine or more inches high this week. The whiteness provided a welcome relief for many who were tired of the "boring browns" of a snowless season.

For the past two days, the county has been congealed beneath frigid temperatures. Low mercury reading for the week was three degrees Monday night at the Weber weather station south of Oakland. High temperature for the week was 45 degrees, on Friday.

Last Wednesday had a high of 34 degrees, dropping to 13 during the night. There was one inch of snow recorded Wednesday, and a trace on Thursday. No precipitation was seen on Friday, which boasted the high temperature of the week after an overnight low of 18 degrees.

Precipitation late Friday and Saturday amounted to .17 of an inch, falling in the form of one inch of snow. During Saturday night and Sunday, an additional four inches fell, coating trees, cars and ski slopes with a soft covering of white.

Low Friday night was 25 degrees, and the low Saturday night was 15. High on Sunday was 27.

An additional two inches of snowy accumulation was noted Monday, after the mercury climbed from the overnight low of 13 to 22 degrees.

Even colder temperatures were experienced Tuesday as frigid air deadlocked the mercury, allowing it to climb to only eight degrees from the overnight low of three, and then dropping slightly overnight Tuesday to four degrees. Skies remained overcast through the first three days of the week.

Shallmar Group Appeals Decision By Mines Director

Shallmar citizens filed an appeal last week of the decision released December 17 by Maryland Bureau of Mines director to deny the citizens' petition to designate the Short Run watershed as unsuitable for surface coal mining operations.

The appeal was filed in the Garrett County Circuit Court Thursday, January 13, by attorney Linda Golden, a Cumberland attorney with Sullivan & Sullivan, P.A. The appeal bore 32 names of appellants versus the Bureau of Mines, Department of Natural Resources:

Reportedly, the appellants must now file a petition which states grounds for the appeal. Ms. Golden could not be reached for comment.

Bureau of Mines director Tony Abar stated the citizens' appeal has been the only one filed. Persons had 30 days from the date of Abar's decision to appeal.

Correction Noted

The phone number 689-5132 for Sen. John Bambacus' regional office in Frostburg reported in the Jan. 12 issue of The Republican was incorrect, Bambacus' staff assistance Mona Smith notes. The phone number is 689-4666.

Grantsville Water Back To Normal

Grantsville officials are still uncertain how large amounts of chlorine got into the town's water system Sunday, but they do know that the water was found to be safe for drinking by Monday morning.

Gerald Beachy, council member, said Tuesday that town residents noticed the excessive chlorine in the water about 2 p.m. Sunday, and the town's mayor, Bill Edwards, and other council members received numerous phone calls from people who were taking showers, etc.

As soon as the problem was made known, announcements were made over local radio stations, telephone calls, and house to house visits to tell the residents of the problem and advise them not to drink the water. The Northern Rescue Squad was also alerted and drove up and down the town's streets announcing the problem over their loudspeaker.

Highest quantity of chlorine measured was 30 parts per million parts of water. Chlorine burns the eyes at ten parts per million, and the health department level considered safe for consumption is two parts per million.

The cause of the problem is still under investigation, and members of the state health department will be visiting the town next Wednesday to help track down what went wrong.

The town had recently installed a chlorine metering pump as required by state law, but the pump had not yet been placed into service. The pump has a check valve which is supposed to prevent such siphoning action through the pump.

The town is conducting tests on a regular basis to ensure that if the problem recurs, the residents can be notified at once.

Indications showed that the water system had been sufficiently flushed so that the water was considered by the health department to be safe by 11 p.m. Sunday.

Mt. Lake Officials Review Petition For King's Estates

The Mayor and Town Council of Mt. Lake Park are proceeding with reviews of findings of fact concerning a petition which recommends that the entire King's Hills Estate subdivision be rezoned from suburban residential to town residential.

The officials did not set a time for making their decision, and may discuss the matter again at their next regular meeting February 10 if no decision has been reached by that time. There are six criteria on which to base their decision.

Mayor Russell Alexander and council members conducted a public hearing January 13 to hear testimony concerning the petition. The zoning change had been recommended by the four-member planning commission, which said that it believes a mistake was made in the original zoning rules. Many of the subdivision's lots fail to meet the minimum 18,000 square foot size required for suburban residential.

Several property owners in the subdivision and adjacent property owners expressed concern about their deed covenants with the developer of the subdivision, which have more restrictive requirements than those of the zoning amendment proposed. They were told that deciding which set of rules to follow would be up to their property owners' organization.

Town council members are Tommy J. Ritchey, Ethel D. Boltz, George D. Welling, David M. Turney, and Welton Lane. Planning commission members are Lane, George Evans, Morgan France and E. Bryan Thayer.

County DWI Arrest Results Handed Down

Garrett County District Court Judge Jack Turney heard ten cases of driving while intoxicated during the last two sessions of traffic court, with the following results:

Donald Junior Baker, 29, Oakland, was fined $1,000, ordered to serve 15 days in the Garrett County Jail, and placed on 17½ months probation.

Joyce Suzanne Baker, 27, Oakland, was fined $500, ordered to attend DWI school, and placed on one year probation.

William Barry Glunt, 28, Delmont, Pa., was fined $500, ordered to attend DWI school, and placed on one year probation.

James Edwin Vincent, 53, McHenry, was fined $500, and placed on one year probation.

Joyce Elaine Fields, 21, Swanton, was fined $150, ordered to attend DWI school, and placed on one year probation, as was Charles Edward Simon, 42, Deer Park; William Edward Stewart, Jr.; Eveline Dorthee Watkins, Oakland; Anthony Ray Doerr, 21, Accident; and Dennis Alan Gibson, 28, Oakland.

Fire Blamed On Cracked Flue

Oakland Volunteer firefighters were summoned Monday evening to a Mt. Lake Park residence after fire was discovered in the wall beside an exterior flue.

Garrett Central Alarm dispatched the OVFD at 7:46 p.m. to the home of Bud and Elda Whetsell, 1202 Oakland Avenue. Upon their arrival they found fire in an exterior wall adjacent to a flue, later found to be cracked. They quickly extinguished the blaze and damage was kept to a minimum.

Whetsell discovered the fire when he and his wife noticed smoke inside the house. He went outside and threw some buckets of water on the fire, which stopped it from spreading.

Fire personnel remained on the scene for about on hour.

Several other flue fires were reported throughout the week, all with little or no damage reported.

Sewerage Project

engineering firm of Rummel, Klepper and Kahl. Lash explained the way the pressure sewer system was designed, noting that this type of system had fewer pumping stations and therefore would be more cost effective.

The pump, vault, and pressure system costs would be borne by the sanitary commission, while individual homeowners would bear the cost of having a plumber cut into the present septic lines and would also be responsible for costs of connecting to the main lines.

Lash informed the group that since May, his engineering firm had cut the estimated construction costs by nearly $1,000,000 through cost cutting and specification revisions. He assured the group that these measures would in no way detract from the proper functioning of the system.

Construction costs are now to be $13,676,657 and the total capital cost is $16,394,000, down from the bid costs last spring of $17,395,000.

Total annual operating costs, including power, labor, materials, etc., is estimated to be $175,000 for Step I of the basic system. It was estimated by the firm that total annual charge per single family residence would be $208, based on a lot with front footage of 100 feet, plus the $162 sewer service charge.

Local capital costs which would not be covered by EPA grants would be $1,266,300, repayable through a state loan of $806,000 from the state over 30 years at one percent interest and a loan from Farmers Home Administration of $546,813 repayable over 40 years at 11-3/8 percent interest. This would amount to a total amortized cost of $124,000 per year to be repaid through the sewer use charges.

Beitzel then interjected the information that in order to insure collecting the $124,000 annually, the county will probably draft a sewer use ordinance which will be developed to set regulations. One of the regulations is expected to be that all those whose property abuts the sewer line will be required to hook up, from Route 219 at Sand Flat through the Deep Creek Drive area.

This was a source of some concern to many of those present, who pointed out that when the line reaches the state park at the lake the park will not be required to hook up.

The commission noted the Environmental Protection Agency's requirements that anyone who could hook to the system must do so.

Although a member of the property owners association later described the meeting as "less intense" than several which had preceded this one, many of those in the gathering displayed emotional reactions in opposition to the project.

Several persons reiterated the sentiment that the system will only help the businesses along the lake. Others reminded the commission of the two polls taken last summer in which the majority of residents voted against the system. This led to the question "When did majority rule stop?"

Ed Starr stated the opposition of the property owners organization, asserting that they oppose it monetarily, technologically, and questioning the need for the project in this scope.

Rodney Glotfelty, sanitarian for the Garrett County Health Department, reiterated their position, saying that department has supported the project for a number of years and will continue its support. He called the project the best possible alternative to increasing problems in densely populated areas of the lake.

Mass Exodus

Ed Beckman, manager of Glen Acres trailer court, then spoke in favor of the project, saying "Let's protect the lake—and give the economy a boost." However, the crowd booed when he said that "Most of you are retired" and approximately half of those in the audience stood up and left the room.

John Ross Sines, former county commissioner, then took the floor to indicate the sanitary commission was forcing the project on those "who don't want it and can't afford it."

He continued by reminding the audience that when he took office in the late 1960s, they cut the tax rate 55 cents and were "called on the carpet" by then governor Spiro Agnew, who told the commissioners they should have kept the same tax rate and used the funds for water and sewerage projects. Sines reminded everyone that Agnew just recently repaid $268,000 he had received in kickbacks and bribes while he was in office and intimated that possibly such types of illegal dealings were behind the apparent forcing of the project here on those who don't want it.

At this point Lash stood and demanded to know if Sines was telling the assembly that Rummel, Klepper and Kahl gave kickbacks or bribes to any elected official or any individual. Sines said that he was sure his meaning was clear, but declined to answer the question directly.

Lash, in an interview following the meeting, told this newspaper that during Agnew's tenure his company's state contracts fell to zero and that his firm was one of only two determined to be without wrongdoings in the kickback scandal.

The Rev. Gail Hixon informed the group numerous members of his congregation from Glendale Assembly of God had asked him to speak on their behalf since they cannot afford the costs involved and some would have to sell out. Rev. Hixon said he felt the county had become "a rich man's paradise."

Another member of the audience, Dr. Andrew Mance, then took the floor to say that although he was not running for office, he had attended out of curiosity and it appeared that the sanitary commission had lost some credibility, and that the people do not want the project stuffed down their throats.

A resident of Route 219, Kate Filsinger, indicated that she had taken a house-to-house poll to Sand Flat, and only five homeowners were in favor of the project. At this point Filemyr said that people often changed their minds about obtaining service and that this area has a history of septic problems.

Following the segment of public comments and questions, the members of the board who were present adjourned and then returned to say that since two members were missing, they would postpone their decision until the following Tuesday. Present in addition to Filemyr were Randy Rodeheaver and Bill Thoman. Unable to attend were John Dever and Lawrence Groves.

Local Chiropractor Earns Certification As Team Doctor

Dr. Ronel R. Williams, Swanton, recently received certification as a Chiropractic Team Doctor from the American Chiropractic Association's Council on Athletics and Physical Fitness. This certification was received after successfully completing the required hours on the care and treatment of sports injuries given by the National College of Chiropractic, Lombard, Ill., and passing an examination by the Council on Athletics and Physical fitness.

Dr. Williams completed his third season as team doctor last fall from Westernport's Bruce High School football team. This season he assisted in organizing a program for student trainers. He also directed the training and the duties of the student trainers.

Williams is a graduate of Bruce High School. He attended Allegany Community College, Cumberland, and the University of Maryland. He was graduated from the National College of Chiropractic in 1977, receiving a bachelor of science in human biology and doctor of Chiropractic degrees.

Williams holds licenses to practice chriopractic in Maryland and West Virginia. He is a diplomate of the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners.

He is a member of the American Chiropractic Association and its Council on Athletics and Physical fitness, the Maryland Chiropractic Association, the Western Maryland Chiropractic Association and the First Baptist Church of Westernport. He is on the board of directors for the Salem Youth Home of Grantsville.

Williams is in practice with his father, Dr. R. Neil Williams, and his brother, Dr. Earl N. Williams. They maintian offices at 136 Main Street, Westernport, and 607 Oakland Avenue, Mountain Lake Park.

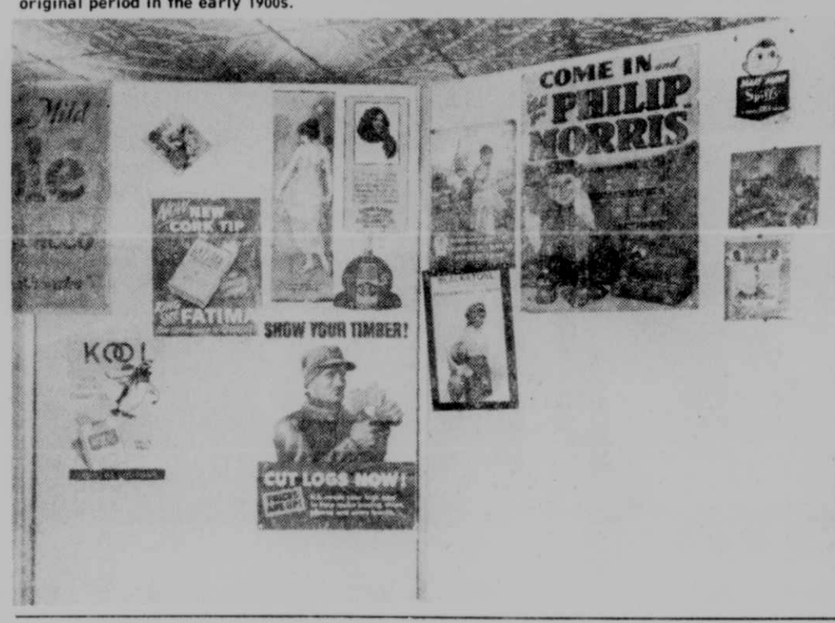
Williams is married to the former Sally Ann Klotz of Star Route, Frostburg. They reside with their daughter, Sarah Nicole, in Swanton.

Council Seeking Public Input To Force Legislation

The Consumer Council of Maryland, in response to inquiries from consumers and legislators about truck "covered load" legislation is asking citizens whose cars or property have been damaged as a result of debris falling from uncovered trucks to contact the Consumer Council.

For the past 17 years, the Council says, legislation has been introduced that would require the beds of trucks transporting loose loads such as gravel or trash to be fullly enclosed on the top by a secured canvas or other covering. Historically, the bill has failed to pass because the trucking industry has testified that covering materials being transported would be too costly, and dangerous for the drivers. Consumers whose windshields have been broken or tires cut have not come forward to testify.

"There doesn't seem to be enough citizen outcry and the public doesn't indicate a need for this type of legislation," said Maryland Delegate Ida G. Ruben.



During the 1982 General Assembly a new approach was introduced by the Prince George's and Montgomery County Delegation that permitted uncovered loads if the loads were several inches below the sides of the bed walls. This would prevent debris from blowing off of peaked loads. This also was defeated.

Little or no information is available from the insurance industry on cars damaged as a result of uncovered truck loads. However, sources within the industry indicated that this is a consumer problem as clients rarely receive reimbursement for damages because citizens are unable to properly identify the offending vehicle.

Consumer Council is interested in being contacted by letter or telephone by any member of the public whose car has been damaged by debris falling from a truck. Such persons are asked to contact: Consumer Council Musey Building, Seven North Calvert Street, Baltimore, MD. 21202, (301) 576-6550.

FROM TIN CANS TO TINTYPES — An unusual collection of all types of advertising memorabilia from the collection of Robert Fousek is displayed through the month of January at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland as part of National Hobby Month. Displayed in the collection, labeled "Art of Antique Advertising," are numerous antique tins which once held spices, tobaccos or other perishable goods; trays for beer and sodas, old, unopened packages of cigarettes bearing names no longer remembered by most; paper advertising such as trade cards and posters, glassware such as a huge Planters peanut jar, and even several of his collection of 30 glass advertising globes which were seen atop gas pumps and outside stores and taverns from 1920 to 1950. Fousek said his interest in such a hobby grew from a challenge 16 years ago to name 20 different kinds of cigarettes. Since he couldn't oblige then, he made it his business to learn the kinds of cigarettes and now has packages of 800 brands in his collection. His interest, and collecting, expanded about five years ago to include advertising of all types. Wife Linda is his chief helpmate in his hobby, helping discover pieces for the collection, labeling and record keeping, and assisting him in shows he has presented on advertising throughout Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Maryland. Fousek is a member of the Tin Can Collectors of America, devoted to collection of antique tins; the Cigarette Pack Collectors Association, which is about 80 members strong; and the Paper Advertising Collectors Association. Fousek, who moved here from Harford County several years ago and is now county clerk, and his wife have two children, Robert, Jr. and Beth. The family resides along Route 495 in a farmhouse they are restoring to its original period in the early 1900s.

HCOP Offers Basic Nursing Skills Course

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College, in cooperation with the Continuing Education Division of the college, has arranged a 12-week course entitled "Basic Nursing Skills for the Geriatric Aide & Nursing Assistant" to begin on February 8. The class will meet twice weekly. Tuesday and Thursday nights, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the McHenry Campus of GCC.

The course is designed for individuals who wish to enter the health care profession as a nursing assistant or geriatric aide. Upon successful completion of the course the participants will receive a certificate stating that they have successfully completed the Geriatric Aide training course mandated by the State of Maryland.

Tuition assistance for qualifying individuals is available through the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program. Persons interested in enrolling in this class are asked to contact the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program at 334-9184 or visit the Center at GCC-Oakland Center in Room 306. Maximum enrollment for this class is 24. Tuition will include the text to be used in the class.

Suppose you were given the keys that would unlock the mysteries of the universe. With them, you could answer the "whys" that plague all of us. You'd know what was going to happen to you and those around you tomorrow—next month—next year.

Would you use them?

Of course, you say! Think again. And, once you've thought, you might shake your head, hand them back, and say, "No thank you."

Common sense tells us that man was not meant to understand every mystery of life. The reasons "why" remain as they are because our Creator and His wisdom thoroughly knows just how much man can both stand and understand.

God has a greater gift for you than these, or any other keys . . . the gift of Faith. You will find it by worshipping regularly.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE PRODIGAL'S BROTHER

January 23, 1983

Background Scripture: Luke 15
Devotional Reading: Luke 15:4-7.

Few of Jesus' parables are as well-known and popular as the story of the Prodigal Son. Yet, despite that fact, there is a part of this story that is frequently passed by without due attention. For many people, the story seems to end when the celebration commenced: "And they began to make merry."

If you are the "prodigal" type, then that may be far enough for you—it is wonderful to know that God's love is like that of the father who forgave his son and welcomed him back into the family circle with great celebration. Lots of us, however, are more like the character in the parable who doesn't even enter the scene until after the celebration has begun.

A MAN HAD 2 SONS

As Luke begins the story, we are told that "There was a man who had two sons." Although most of the narrative is devoted to the younger son, the Prodigal, we must remember the other son, the Prodigal's brother—for many of us often share something in common with him.

The brother of the Prodigal was not at all like his younger sibling. He was hardworking, steady, dependable, and apparently had no great compulsion to sow the wild oats that so intrigued his brother. Apparently, he did all the right things, just as his younger brother had done all the wrong things.

Yet, although he had apparently done all the right things, he had done them for the wrong reasons: "Lo, these many years I have served you, and I never disobeyed your command; yet you never gave me a kid that I might make merry with my friends." He had played the part of the "good son," but apparently not because he wanted to serve his father, but because he wanted something in return. He begrudged the celebration thrown for his brother because he felt that the Prodigal was getting what rightly belonged to him.

"THIS SON OF YOURS"

In other words, the older brother believed that his good service had earned what the father was giving to his undeserving younger brother. He thought that his service to his father placed him above his brother. In fact, his disregard for the Prodigal is evident when the elder brother speaks of him, not as "my brother," but as "this son of yours."

How often is it that we are resentful, jealous and envious when we think that one of God's children is getting something that either rightfully belongs to us or is undeserved by them? Isn't it our own insecurity with God that makes us jealous when he is benevolent to someone else?

We may come to God complaining about the good fortune of "this son of yours," until he reminds us that the Prodigal is also "your brother."

"FAITH" IS AN EXTRA INGREDIENT

As we fill each prescription, we know that in addition to the ingredients that your physician specifies, there is an extra intangible ingredient that does not appear in writing. It is 'Faith' that through his knowledge and experience he has prescribed a medicine that will help to cure or relieve an illness.

Sometimes, this 'Faith' can be as important as the medicine itself. We too have a great deal of faith in the accuracy of the prescriptions we dispense and we derive much satisfaction when you tell us on a future visit that someone in your family is now well.

Julie Harris tries all: poetry and soap opera

By Ruth Thompson

A noted director was saying nothing new by praising the luminous Julie Harris as the greatest actress "of all time." She has a shelf's worth of television Emmy awards as well as a record number of best actress Broadway Tony awards to bear him out.

The director had only one criticism of her: "She takes a lot of acting jobs that are beneath her; she'll even do Westerns."

Once, when asked about that, she led off with a smile that was half-angel, half-imp. "It was nice for my son when he was young to see me in something he liked and besides it was fun for me. There is always something interesting you can find in a role and acting is what I do. I like to keep busy at it." Right now, she's keeping herself busy in CBS's prime-time soap opera, "Knot's Landing."

She does not choose, as the director might wish, to wrap herself publicly in Garbo-like remoteness and mystery.

Yet, paradoxically, gracious as she is in conversation, there is an air of mystery about her. Film and television personality Arlene Francis, who also hosts a daily radio talk show (WOR, New York), says that those who have worked with her on stage comment on Julie's "almost nun-like concentration on her work." No joke-swapping, no yakking it up after the show with the late party-goers. One reason for that may be that she's hatching projects in her mind beyond her present role.

Julie Harris

Charles Nelson Reilly, a friend since they met in a Broadway play, describes the genesis of one of those projects — her one-woman show, "The Belle of Amherst." Until he coaxed her to bring it to Broadway, she was content to slip off quietly and appear for college and club groups, who shared her fondness for "The Belle" — poet Emily Dickinson, whom she evoked through readings.

And though Julie Harris is the last to put down television in even its most crass, mass-appeal moments, she has to be grateful that there was a place (PBS) where the "Belle" went on to become a television special, too.

The word is that she herself will next incarnate one of the Bronte sisters. But in the meantime, perhaps it's time for PBS to schedule an encore showing of Julie as "The Belle."

'Puppet Man' Clash: It's a job — but fun

By Peter Meade

Kevin J. Clash admits he was always a backward child. Maybe that's why even today he is usually heard, but not seen.

Clash is a puppeteer on the syndicated children's show "The Great Space Coaster" during the week and on CBS' "Captain Kangaroo" on weekends.

At 22 years old, he is completing his first decade of puppetry, a craft he began performing at recreation centers near his home in Baltimore.

"I was always criticized a lot by my peers for being the 'Puppet Man,' " explains Clash, "but I was shy and puppets brought me out of it."

As a youngster, Clash became interested in working with and building puppets, and, with his mother's encouragement and support, he continued to improve his craft. As a teen-ager, he became well-known in the Baltimore area for his work on two local children's television shows.

This experience led to CBS asking him to design puppets for "Romper Room." He later did several guest spots on the popular children's show before the network asked him to work on and create characters for the kids' show "Caboose."

For advice Clash contacted Kermit Love, creator of Big Bird of "Sesame Street" fame. The two later discussed their work when Clash visited New York City on a school trip. Love was so impressed with Clash's work that he got him work on "Sesame Street" and as a member of the original cast of "The Great Space Coaster."

Kevin J. Clash

Meanwhile, Bob Keeshan, alias "Captain Kangaroo," saw a tape of "Caboose" and asked Clash to do guest spots on his show.

On "The Great Space Coaster," Clash's character is Goriddle Gorilla, a husky-voiced, bright orange character who loves to tell riddles.

Gorilla is as boisterous and outgoing as Clash is quiet and reserved.

"Doing a character that is so wild, crazy and energetic, I have to be calm afterward," he says. "There is so much explosion I need the change afterward.

"People ask me if I take the puppets home and talk to them," he says. "I say, 'Are you crazy?' It's a job. But it's a fun job and that's what's important."

TV TATTLE

George Peppard

New on NBC...

It's January and that means station changes for the networks.

NBC leads off the programming changes with three new series: "The A Team" is one, with George Peppard and Mr. T ("Rocky") starring in the action-adventure comedy. "The A Team" premieres Jan. 25.

"Bare Essence," a nighttime soap opera revolving around the romances and schemes of a wealthy family, premieres Feb. 15.

"Mama's Family," starring Vicki Lawrence and Ken Berry as characters formerly of "The Carol Burnett Show," premiered Jan. 22; and "Family Tree" will be a limited series (Feb. 5 through March 12) about divorced parents who marry each other, starring Ann Archer and Frank Converse.

And a new weekly magazine program, anchored by Lloyd Dobyns, will begin Saturday, March 19 and continue on subsequent Saturday mornings.

Eric Roberts

...new 'Lonelyhearts'

A new version of the Nathanael West story, "Miss Lonelyhearts," airs on PBS Jan. 25. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

Eric Roberts stars in the drama, filmed in black and white to make the '30s setting more realistic, as the young, idealistic, newspaper reporter who is assigned the task of writing the advice to the lovelorn column.

Arthur Hill portrays the cynical city editor, Shrike, who assigns the column and who refuses to reassign it after the reporter begs to unburden himself of it. The reporter wants to leave the column behind because he becomes too involved in the lives of the readers who write for his help. Conchata Ferrell stars as one of those readers.

Deborah Raffin plays heavy in 'Running Out'

By Debra Morgenstern Katz

Though Deborah Raffin has no children ("just five dogs," she says), she does have a husband and she expresses strong opinions about the importance of family responsibility — unlike the character she plays in "Running Out" on CBS Jan. 26, a young woman who abandons her husband and infant daughter.

"I personally think what she did was very wrong," says Miss Raffin, about the woman she portrays, who leaves her family when she cannot cope with her husband's infidelity and her infant's demands and has no further contact with them for 12 years. "There was a responsibility there. Just as if a man had abandoned his wife and child, that's wrong too.

"It was very important for me while playing her, that I didn't condone what she did." Instead, she says, "the writer and director and I tried to create a character who was a full-rounded human being who did something very wrong."

Still, despite showing that the woman was young (16) and immature when she abandoned her family, despite her character's nervous breakdown afterward, Miss Raffin knows she is portraying a character to whom the audience will remain unsympathetic. But all Miss Raffin wants from the viewing audience is an open mind.

"I hope they understand her and have compassion for her," she says.

Miss Raffin says she doesn't know how many women in real life actually abandon their families, or whether there are more today who do than ever before. There are, however, more movies and articles about women who leave their children than ever before and Miss Raffin speculates on the reasons why.

"Relationships are quite a bit confused today," she says. "In the next few generations maybe male-female relationships will balance out. But today, women are still struggling to find themselves — although it seems a cliche to say it.

"And it's a shame that women today are made to feel guilty to want to be a mother and housewife. Whatever your choice is, you should be able to be proud of it."

DEBORAH RAFFIN portrays a young woman who comes back into the life of her husband (Tony Bill) and child 12 years after she left them in "Running Out," a "GE Theater" presentation to air Wednesday, Jan. 26 on CBS.

TUESDAY

President Reagan will deliver his annual State of the Union message to a joint session of Congress on Tuesday, Jan. 25, with press coverage on all three networks.

Arlene saves paper; Morey recycles gift

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Holiday postscript: Christmas is weeks past but the memories are with us still, helping to brighten the winter doldrums. How did the famous fare this holiday season?

Arlene Francis ironed the Christmas paper from the gifts she received. She'll use the stuff next Christmas... Having received a leather box with "Morey Amsterdam" emblazoned in gilt, Morey stamped the word "From" on it so he can give it away at Christmas '83... Jerry Stiller and Anne Meara gave each other a remodeling job. "Most couples look for smaller space when their kids leave," said Anne. "Ours go to college nearby and keep bringing friends home — so we're adding a dorm."... Joanne Woodward gifted friends with gift certificates for facials.

Dick Van Patten

Colleen Dewhurst

When I asked Colleen Dewhurst what she wanted for Christmas, she said "a good role in a play that'll run."... Barbara Mandrell wanted someone to teach her to be organized... Dolly Parton wanted five days alone in Nashville with her husband — and no phone calls... Dick Van Patten requested tennis balls.

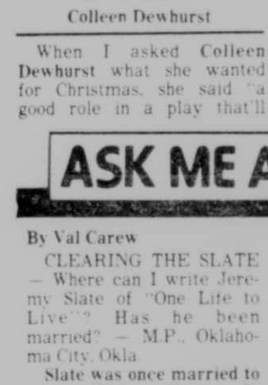
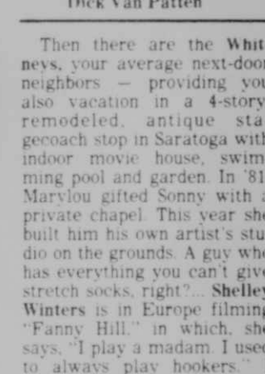
Then there are the Whitneys, your average next-door neighbors — providing you also vacation in a 4-story, remodeled, antique stagecoach stop in Saratoga with indoor movie house, swimming pool and garden. In '81, Marylou gifted Sonny with a private chapel. This year she built him his own artist's studio on the grounds. A guy who has everything you can't give stretch socks, right?... Shelley Winters is in Europe filming "Fanny Hill," in which, she says, "I play a madam. I used to always play hookers." I asked what the former Mrs. Vittorio Gassman wanted for a present. "After $80,000 in analysis I only know what I DON'T want — another Italian husband."

ASK ME ABOUT TV



By Val Carew

CLEARING THE SLATE — Where can I write Jeremy Slate of "One Life to Live"? Has he been married? — M.P., Oklahoma City, Okla.



Slate was once married to actress Tammy Grimes. In 1969, he starred in a series that ran for a season on CBS. It was called "The Aquanauts," and co-starred him with Keith Larsen and Ron Ely. Write Jeremy in care of the soap at ABC, 1330 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10019.

SCARLET MAN — What can you tell me about Anthony Andrews, who played in "The Scarlet Pimpernel" opposite Jane Seymour? Is he British or American? What else has he been in? — A.S., Colorado Springs, Colo.

Andrews is English and he made a big splash with American viewers when he played Sebastion Flyte in the magnificent PBS series "Brideshead Revisited." Prior to that, he had been seen in this country in another English series, "Danger UXB." He also played Lord Stockbridge in "Upstairs, Downstairs" and Lord Silverbridge in "The Pallisers." He is married and he and his wife and children maintain a home in Hollywood as well as in England.

Anthony Andrews

Mark Hamill

MARK'S PLACE — I wrote you before to ask for Mark Hamill's address. Please hurry. Also, where can I write Steven Spielberg? — B.N., Augusta, Ga.

Well, if you hurry, you can write Mark in care of "Amadeus," The Schubert Theater, 2020 Avenue of the Stars, Century City, CA 90067. He is playing Mozart in the play. Write Spielberg in care of "E.T.," Universal City, CA 91608.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Christine Jones joins cast of 'Ryan's Hope'

By Nancy M. Reichardt

Christine Jones, who made her soap debut on the defunct "For Richer, For Poorer" as Amy Cushing, is back on the small screen in the role of the wealthy and somewhat mysterious Catsy Kirkland on "Ryan's Hope."

Christine Jones

Christine was last seen on "One Life to Live" when she took over the role of Vicki Buchanan, while Erika Slezak took time off to await the birth of her second child.

Christine was also seen as the evil Janice Frame on "AW." In a surprisingly swift cast axing, "RH" has dropped Lori Cardille (Carole Baker) and Jacqueline Brookes (Sister Mary Joel), who were members of the cast for a few short weeks.

Here's some info about stars from the defunct "Texas": Pamela Long and her husband, actor Jay Hammer (ex-Ashley Marshall and Max Dekker), became the proud parents of a baby boy on Dec. 11.

Picking up Youth in Film awards as best young actress and actor were Janine Turner (ex-Laura Templeton on "General Hospital") and Michael Damian (Danny Romalotti) of "The Young and the Restless." Meanwhile, The Hollywood Woman's Press Club presented Michael's castmate, Steven Ford (Andy Richards) with a Golden Apple award as daytime star of the year.

READERS WRITE:

Whatever happened to Beverly Penberthy (Pat Randolph on "Another World")? I know Pat was written off to New York on the show, but what was the real reason she was shipped out of town? M.J.K., Holly Ridge, N.C.

During Corinne Jacker's reign as "AW's" head writer, Ms. Penberthy was dropped from the show when her contract ran out. Although no real reason was given for the axing, it took place during a time when the show shifted to a "younger" look. Unfortunately, we have no information on Beverly's current professional status.

Who was the last actress to portray Laura Horton on "Days of Our Lives," and how long has the show been on the air? J.B., Cut Bank, Mont.

Susan Flannery portrayed Laura. "DOOL" debuted Nov. 8, 1965.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Nancy Reichardt at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

nutrition NEWS

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

Did you enjoy that marinated steak recipe from the "Heart Cookbook" last week? or are you waiting until January is over and you have vegetable, salad, and dessert recipes to make a complete meal?

The Heart Association's Nutrition Committee is committed to providing you with sound menu ideas for healthier eating throughout 1983. This week's feature is a simple, but very tasty vegetable recipe to accompany the Marinated Steak featured last week.

Fresh Green Beans with Water Chestnuts

2 9-ounce packages frozen green beans, french style
1 15-ounce can water chestnuts, drained and sliced

Cook beans according to directions on package. Add drained water chestnuts and heat thoroughly. Season to taste with freshly ground black pepper.

Yield: 6 servings
Approximate calories per serving: 40

VARIATION

Top beans with sauteed fresh or canned mushroom caps or slices, or with ½ cup of toasted, slivered almonds.

Approximate calories per serving: 90

In this January column, ideas for weight control are being addressed each week. These tips for the three categories of successful weight control should help you continue taking off (and keeping off!) those extra pounds gained over the holidays.

Diet—Change Food Habits for Life!

Avoid non-nutritious, high calorie foods, such as alcohol, snacking chips, candy, and soft drinks.

Behavior—Change Habits Permanently!

Do not buy high calorie "problem foods." Keep lower calorie foods available.

Become aware of times that you are likely to overeat and plan ahead to substitute another behavior for eating, or plan what you will eat and stick to it.

Exercise—Start Slowly Today and Keep on Doing It!

Make exercise enjoyable: join friends or a group; use music.

Did you miss the Marinated Steak recipe last week? Call Wendy Norris, R.D. at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, 334-2155 for the January recipes and tip sheet. Interested in the Heart Cookbook? Call above number for information.

Next week's feature: a delightful salad to complement the other January recipes. Enjoy!

The Nutrition Committee of the Heart Association is committed to providing you with sound menu ideas for healthier eating throughout 1983.

This week's featured recipe, Celery Seed Coleslaw, will add a tangy salad to the Marinated Steak and Fresh Green Beans with Water Chestnuts recipes featured in early January.

Celery Seed Coleslaw

3 cups finely shredded cabbage
3 tablespoons oil
¼ cup vinegar, warmed
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon celery seeds

In a large bowl, toss the shredded cabbage, oil and warm vinegar. Add the remaining ingredients and toss again. Cover and refrigerate until serving time.

Yield: 6 servings
Approximate calories per serving: 90

Did you miss the earlier recipes? Call the Heart Office at 724-4011 for the January recipes and tip sheet. You are on the way to preparing a delightful dinner or supper, using coordinating recipes.

Attorney General's Docket

BY STEPHEN H. SACHS
ATTORNEY GENERAL OF MARYLAND

Many consumers, particularly those living alone, the handicapped or the elderly, are tempted to try any one of a number of "work-at-home" schemes that promise them a steadily growing income. The best advice you can receive regarding practically all of these get-rich quick opportunities is: Don't try them. You'll probably lose your money.

Maryland law forbids companies from requiring you to advance money to a mail-order firm in order to receive instruction booklets, brochures or information materials for setting up your own work-at-home business.

Two common get-rich-quick schemes involve envelope addressing or stuffing. The promoters of the schemes claim that you will develop a large, weekly income in a short period of time simply by addressing envelopes or filling them with promotional materials.

A typical ad will invite you to send in a hefty chunk of cash in order to receive information about the supposed business, but when you pay the fee, often all you'll get are instructions on how to place ads just like the one that hooked you. In essence, your road to riches is supposed to be paved with the cash you've fleeced from other people!

According to the federal government, the U.S. Postal Service has assigned many inspectors to investigate these envelope-stuffing and addressing schemes and they haven't found a single legitimate one yet.

Another typical scam entices people to send in money as a "registration" fee, after which they will be "authorized" to sew baby booties or aprons for some distant distributor. Almost invariably, the poor victims later are told their handiwork isn't satisfactory and they are left with a pile of merchandise to unload as best they can.

There are some basic rules of thumb to apply regarding work-at-home schemes:

•Ask the firm that advertises the business if it will send you free literature about its offer. If not, you'd be better off avoiding it.

•Don't be taken in by boasts about huge demand and certain markets for the scheme's product or service.

•Remember: No legitimate work-at-home business guarantees you a reguiar market or steady salary.

If you have questions regarding a work-at-home plan you've seen advertised, check with our Consumer Protection Division, federal postal authorities or the Better Business Bureau to see if there have been any complaints about it or if it's legitimate.

The Council of Better Business Bureaus also has a free brochure on work-at-home promotions called "Tips on Work-at-Home Schemes." You may write for a free copy to the Better Business Bureau, 1334 G Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., 20005.

If you have any information about a suspicious work-at-home scheme, or you think you've been the victim of one, you may want to contact our Consumer Protection Division and file a written complaint about it with us or with the Better Business Bureau or federal postal authorities.

There are some legitimate work-at-home opportunities, and the federal Small Business Administration (SBA) has two informative booklets on how to get started with these. The booklet titles and numbers are Handicrafts (No. 1) and Home Businesses (No. 2). You can obtain free copies of them by telephoning the Small Business Administration's toll-free number, 1-800-433-7212.

MATHIAS RECEIVES AWARD — Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.), right, is shown receiving an award from the National Coalition for Science and Technology for his contributions to science, engineering and science education in the 97th Congress. Presenting the award is Dr. Henry Williams of the University of Maryland Dental School and a member of N.C.S.T. The National Coalition for Science and Technology is a nonpartisan coalition of scientists, engineers and science educators representing all scientific disciplines. It is headquartered in Rockville, Maryland.

Assertiveness Training Class Is Rescheduled

The Assertiveness Training class, originally scheduled to begin on January 14, has been rescheduled to begin on Friday, January 28. It is sponsored by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College. The class will be held from 9 a.m. to noon in Room 306 of the Oakland Center of GCC.

This six-week session, held once each week, teaches participants how to cope effectively with the conflicts encountered in relationships with other people. Assertive behavior, according to Barbara Frey, director of the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program, is a level of behavior that is desirable to almost everybody—and elusive to many of us. "Learning to be assertive is not just a mechanistic skill taught from a behavioral perspective," she said. "It involves an examination of one's self-esteem and requires a willingness to be reassured and convinced that we all have certain rights and the right to express them within limits. It is a particularly important goal for individuals in transition because they often have come from very vulnerable situations. They may have been used and manipulated by people they trusted, and they are angry, depressed, suspicious and hurt. They don't trust themselves or thier own judgment. They must learn the basics of assertiveness as well as the rationale for becoming assertive."

The class provides participants with reinforcement and the opportunity to practice and feel good about their assertive behavior, she said, which will increase their self-esteem and make them more confident of their abilities.

There are still a limited number of openings in the class and interested persons are asked to contact the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program at 334-9184 or visit the Oakland Center in Room 306 prior to the beginning of the scheduled class to register. A small registration fee will be charged.

Body Language Workshop Offered

A free workshop entitled "Body Language" will be sponsored by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College on Wednesday, January 26, from 10 a.m. to noon. The session will explore the non-verbal ways in which persons communicate and will focus on the effect such non-verbal messages can have on interpersonal relationships with others as well as on job interviews and employment situations.

The leaders of this workshop will be David Rockwood, pastor of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish, and Linda Leitz, administrative assistance of the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program.

The workshop will be held at the Oakland Center of GCC in Room 306 on January 26. The public is invited to attend. For further information or to register persons may call 334-9184.

Real Estate

By DON CARSTENS
Deep Creek Realty

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE

A mortgage is the pledge of your home to secure a loan. If you fall behind in your monthly payments, the lender is entitled to foreclose. Quite simply, he can sell your home in order to recover his money, though in most states you have the right to reacquire your foreclosed property by paying the mortgage and covering the foreclosure costs.

If the home is sold under foreclosure, you would get any cash left over after the loan is paid. (The court will oversee the transaction to protect your rights.)

Fortunately, foreclosures on family homes don't happen often these days, even during financial crunches. Most lenders prefer to work out some arrangement with you rather than foreclose. Your best protection is to keep up mortgage payments. But if you get into a jam, tell the lender right away and see if you can figure out a compromise about payments.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices:

An individual retirement account gives you a double tax break today and financial security tomorrow . . . two good reasons why we hear more people say . . .

I ♥ My IRA

Why give away your money in TAXES when you could be investing it? With a First National IRA, any wage earner can put away up to $2,000 each year—without losing a penny of it to the Internal Revenue Service. For example, an individual in the 30% tax bracket—having taxable income of about $18,000—would save $600.00 in taxes each year by putting $2,000 into his IRA. If he would choose not to invest that $2,000, Uncle Sam would take $600.00 in taxes, leaving the individual only $1,400 of his $2,000. Of course, the tax savings would be 30 cents on every dollar he puts into his IRA—so even if he couldn't invest the full $2,000, any amount he could put aside would help!

On top of that, the government will allow your IRA interest to grow and compound tax free until you begin to take withdrawals. You may begin to withdraw any amount you wish, at any time you wish, between the ages of 59½ and 70½ at which time you'll presumably be in a much lower tax bracket. If you make a withdrawal before you've reached age 59½, you pay a 10% penalty on the amount withdrawn, and that amount also becomes taxable as ordinary income.

Have it your way

We have a broad range of investment options available for your IRA—even one which can get you started for $10.00. You can choose the one that suits you. Remember—even if you can't invest the full $2,000 you are allowed each year, or if you choose to skip some years, the tax savings and growth potential are still very great.

So, before you send in your 1982 Federal Income Tax Return, come in and find out how much you'll benefit by opening an IRA at First National.

Stop in—have a cup of coffee on us!

We'd love to explain the various IRA plans available to you. With an IRA from First National, you'll be deferring taxes, greatly increasing your savings and planning for your very special retirement. In fact you may be so happy you'll want to say . . .

C&P Proposal To Sell Standard Phones Approved

Single-line residence and business telephone customers in Maryland now have an alternative to leasing their standard, Trimline or Princess telephones from C&P Telephone Company. They may purchase their in-place telephones from C&P, or buy additional models from the company's inventory.

The Maryland Public Service Commission has approved the company's proposal to offer customers the choice of buying both dial and Touch-Tone models of desk and wall sets. The company emphasized it will continue leasing telephones at monthly rates. No one is required to buy the equipment they currently lease.

Customers eligible to purchase the equipment they already have in their homes or places of business will be notified of the option in a brochure to go out with next month's telephone bills. The bill insert will provide complete information about the purchase option and include an order form for customers who wish to buy the phones they already have.

For a 90-day period following notification, C&P will offer a lower purchase price for in-place equipment. After the 90-day introductory period, all equipment, whether in-place or from the company's inventory, will be offered at the same inventory price.

Customers choosing to buy the equipment they currently lease from C&P may apply the purchase price to their telephone bill in one lump sum or in four monthly installments. Customers who wish to buy the telephones from C&P's inventory can use major credit cards, pay cash, or have the charge applied to their telephone bill all at once or in four installments.

For equipment already in place, C&P will provide a 30-day warranty beginning the day of purchase and covering repair or replacement of the telephone. For equipment purchased from the company's inventory, a 90-day warrantly will cover repair or replacement. After the warrantly expires, the customer will be responsible for maintenance or replacement of the telephone. C&P will provide repair service at a fixed rate: $27 for dial telephones and $29 for Touch-Tone. C&P will continue to maintain leased equipment at no additional charge.

The company has sold decorator telephones, but this is the first time C&P has offered standard telephones for sale. The decision to do so was a response to desire expressed by some customers and consumer leaders who wanted the option of owning their own phones. It does not change any of C&P's current leasing options.

Oakland Rotary Honors Families

At a recent holiday Ladies' Night banquet at the Will O' the Wisp, the Rotary Club of Oakland honored the Clarence Stem family and the Frank Herring family for their "outstanding contributions in time and effort" during the past year to Rotary projects which generate funds for community service.

Clarence Stem has been general chairman of the French Fry project for the past two years. He and the members of his family have contributed an extra share of time and work to help make the project successful, according to Jim Murray, club president.

Frank Herring has been chairman of the mobile food trailer during the past year and he and his family members have spent many hours in maintaining, cleaning and transporting the trailer and equipment to various fund raising events, Murray said.

The Oakland Rotary French Fry project was started in 1961 with a temporary booth at the Garrett County Fair under the leadership of John Wolf, who was then club president. During the 22 years, 177,950 pounds (89 tons) of potatoes have been peeled, sliced, fried and served at the fair booth, generating over $75,000 for use in community projects.

The mobile food trailer was built and put into service in 1979. This converted travel trailer has self-contained water, waste, heat and electrical systems and is designed for serving of French fries, soft drinks and various fast food items at public events.

This trailer has been used by the Oakland Rotary club at such community events as the Old Fashioned 4th of July picnic and the Oakland Fire Dept. Oktoberfest. It is also rented to other service organizations for their community service projects. It has appeared at the W. Va. Forest Festival, Buckwheat Festival, Heritage days at Hancock and Cumberland, music festivals at Frostburg and Midland, Old Fashioned Weekend at Westernport, Greater Cumberland Fair, the Fiddlers' Contest at Friendsville and at Oakland's Autumn Glory Festival.

Grand Opening For New Oakland Grocery Scheduled

The grand opening for a new grocery store in Oakland will be in the first week of February, owner and operator Tom Browning has announced.

The new store, Hometown Market, has been open since Saturday, January 15, and is located on Oak Street at the former J&M Market location.

Browning, who has been in the grocery business for 35 years, said his store hours are 6 a.m. to 12 midnight.

Among grocery items, the Hometown Market offers convenience foods, daily and Sunday newspapers and a deli section, Browning said.

Browning said he chose to call his store Hometown Market because, "I've spent all my life here and am proud of Oakland and its people."

On Dean's List With 3.8 Average

Connie J. Schroyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Schroyer, Grantsville, has been named to the Dean's List with a 3.8 average for the fall semester at the University of Maryland, College Park.

Miss Schroyer is enrolled as a senior in the psychology honors program. She is a 1980 graduate of Northern High School.

Accepted AT A-B

Cheryl Ann Arnott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Arnoti, Deer Park, has been accepted at Alderson-Broaddus College in Philippi, W. Va. for the fall term 1983. She plans to major in medical technology.

Miss Arnott is a senior at Southern High School where she has been in the band and colorguard. She attends the White United Methodist Church in Deer Park.

Sisler Is NCO Of The Quarter At Fort Riley

Sgt. Jamie L. Sisler, son of Carlton and Joanna Sisler, Accident, was recently named NCO of the Quarter for the fourth quarter of fiscal year 1982 at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Sgt. Riley entered the U.S. Army in July 1977 and presently works for the First AG Company. Before being assigned to Fort Riley, he worked at the Regional Personnel Center in Germany.

At the age of 23, Riley has already been decorated with the Army Commendation Medal, Army Achievement Medal, NCO Professional Development Ribbon, Overseas Service Ribbon and the Army Service Ribbon.

He was selected as NCO of the Quarter on the basis of personal appearance and bearing, knowledge of current affairs and military subjects and his performance of duty.

Sisler was also named Soldier of the Month in December of 1977 while stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, after being in the Army for only six months.

He is a graduate of Northern High School.

Crellin PAC Meets

The Crellin Parent Advisory Council met on January 10 for its regular business meeting and parent workshop.

Joann Whetsell, who conducted the meeting, also discussed study skills and test results with the parents. Dr. Lillian Mitchell, of Garrett Community College, spoke to the group about scheduled courses at the college.

The Garrett County PAC meeting will be held on Thursday, January 20, at 10 a.m. at the Friendsville Elementary School.

Parents Invited To Visit Planetarium

The Broad Ford Elementary School Parent Advisory Council is sponsoring a special program for parents at the planetarium in the Board of Education building in Oakland. Parents are invited to the planetarium on Wednesday, January 26, at 10 a.m. when Jim Hart, planetarium resource teacher, will present a program entitled "Starbound".

The purpose of the program is to give parents the opportunity to see the facility, which is visited each year by their children.

The PAC invites all parents to participate.

WATCH FOR SPENDING LEAKS

If you want your money to do the most it can for you, watch for spending "leaks"—the "hidden" ways you spend money.

If you're like most people, you aren't aware of how much you spend for some things. This could mean that a lot of your money—usually a little at a time—is leaking away. And it's going for things that don't give you as much satisfaction as others you want, but feel you can't afford.

A few people like to keep spending records and know just where every penny goes. That's fine if this satisfies them. However, more people keep track of what they spend in a general way without extensive accounts.

But there can be a hidden cost, in that you may have one or more spending leaks without knowing it.

To find out, take a closer look at certain kinds of spending. Look at your personal spending for a week or two. Or watch the grocery bills closely for several weeks. See where the money is going. You may discover places where you could spend less to free money for things you really want.

For example, you might check the telephone bills for the last few months. How many long distance calls did you make? Were they the best way to spend your money? You might not check this each month. But once in a while, it may pay to do more than write a check for the bill.

Another example is the heat setting in your home. Is it as low as possible while still being comfortable? Would it be worth setting it a few degrees lower to save money?

A check on personal spending often reveals leaks. As an example, the person who quits smoking often realizes how much more money is available for other things when no cigarettes are purchased. Or you might find that the candy machine at work is too handy for economy's sake. One or two bars a day can add up.

Another leak occurs when you buy things before you need to. This is particularly true on big items. If you have money in a savings account for a big purchase, this money can earn more money as you wait to buy. Also, you have more time to save for a bigger down payment or even total payment so you can avoid interest.

Keep these things in mind—they may just help you plug some needless leaks.

FOOD NOTES

A carrot a day gives you Vitamin A. Carrots are so common that their value is often overlooked, even though they are one of the most popular and economical vegetables available. Use this tasty carrot recipe and enjoy:

CARROT CASSEROLE

3 cups carrots, shredded
1½ cups water
⅔ cup long grain rice
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups American cheese, shredded
1 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons instant minced onion (or ½ cup chopped onion)
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine carrots, rice, salt, and water. Bring to a boil, reduce heat to simmer and cook, covered, 25 minutes. Do not drain. Stir in 1½ cups cheese, milk, eggs, onion and pepper. Bake in 1½ quart casserole, uncovered, about 1 hour at 350°F. Sprinkle remaining cheese on top and return to oven until cheese is melted. Serves 6.

Senior Citizens Take Advantage Of GCC Courses

Across the country as many older Americans are returning to the campus, more and more colleges are recognizing the importance of these senior citizens among their student populations. Garrett Community College is no exception.

Special classes have been offered at convenient locations for these older students, and now the college has issued a "Bag of Gold" Opportunity Card to seniors who have taken credit courses.

According to Bill Ewing, director of admissions, these cards entitle the holder to free tuition, free admission at college athletic games, reduced admission to college-sponsored musical and dramatic performances and free use of the college library facilities. The first mailing of these Opportunity Cards took place this month, with additional mailings planned for the future.

At the present time, two special credit courses are being offered for residents of the county's two retirement homes. Twelve residents of the Meadows East in Mt. Lake Park are taking Fundamentals of Painting (ART 206) on Tuesday afternoons. Instructor Ron Skidmore says that students in the class have learned to paint with both water colors and acrylics, and have done landscapes, still lifes and abstract paintings.

At the Town View Village in Accident, another group of senior citizens has been taking the Art Workshop (ART 120) on Tuesday evenings. Students in this class have learned to make a variety of crafts, including Christmas cards, wreaths and marbleized paper. This class is being taught by Skidmore and Nancy Geisler.

Other courses will be offered at these facilities or at other convenient locations when there are enough interested students, according to Ewing.

Aerobic Exercise Offered By GCC

Aerobic Exercise, a physical education activity class, will be offered at two different sites during the upcoming spring semester of Garrett Communtiy College.

The two locations are Broad Ford Elementary School and Northern Middle School. Both classes begin on February 1 and will continue for eight weeks.

The class at Broad Ford Elementary meets from 4-5:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and the class at Northern Middle School meets from 7-8:35 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

"We have been offering the Aerobic Exercise course to meet student needs," noted Dennis Fearnow, chairman of the Physical Education, Health, and Outdoor Education Division of the college.

Students may register for either course at the McHenry campus or at the first meeting of the class on February 1.

Their sister, Helen Fike, also attended, as did Bonnie Westbrook, of Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haenftling were Thursday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haenftling.

CONDUCTS CLINIC — Dr. James V. Jones, Oakland optometrist, recently conducted a free vision screening clinic for the self-contained special education class at Southern High School. Parents were invited to attend and ask questions about their child's diagnosis. Vera Graham is the teacher for the class and Sarah Wilson is the supervisor of special education for the Garrett County Board of Education. Dr. Jones is pictured above examining Michael DeWitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley DeWitt.

Local Students On Shepherd Dean's List

Two Garrett County residents have been named to the Dean's List at Shepherd College for the fall semester, Academic Dean Carolyn J. Zinn has announced.

Students earning this honor are Paul D. Barnard, Rt. 1, Bloomington, and George R. Corliss, Mountain Lake Park.

A total of 293 Shepherd students were named to the Dean's List at Shepherd. To earn this honor, a student must maintain a 3.2 grade point average and carry at least 15 hours of course work or be enrolled in a professional teaching block.

GCC Schedules Non-Credit Courses

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer numerous non-credit courses during the spring semester. A continued list and description of those courses is as follows. Persons desiring further information about any of the courses, including fees, may contact the Continuing Education Office of GCC at 334-8266.

NEW TESTAMENT PARABLES

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer a New Testament Parables course beginning on Monday, February 7. Sessions will be held each Monday from 6:30-8:30 p.m. for eight weeks at the Oakland Center of the college.

This course will examine a series of parables of the New Testament and the religious teaching to which they apply. It will provide an introduction to the historical development of the New Testament and will review the background of the different writers who composed the New Testament.

Enrollment is limited and registration is now being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

PHYSICAL ASSESSMENT

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer a Basic Skills of Physical Assessment course beginning on Thursday, February 10. Sessions will be held each Thursday from 7-9 p.m. at the Grantsville Elementary School for eight weeks.

The goal of this course is to provide the health professional with the necessary skills to make an overall patient assessment of physical, emotional and psychosocial status. Topics will include: overview of health assessment, history taking skills, and assessment skills for each system.

Enrollment is limited and registration is now being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

CPR

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer a Basic Cardiac Life Support Training: CPR course beginning on Thursday, February 3. Sessions will be held each Thursday from 6:30-9:30 p.m. at the McHenry Campus of the college for three weeks.

This course is designed to equip an individual with the basic skills of cardiac life support.

The course is limited to 10 participants and registration is now being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

PERSONAL FINANCIAL PLANNING

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer a Personal Financial Planning course on February 8 and February 15. Sessions will be held at the Oakland Center of the college from 6:30-9:30 p.m.

This overview course will touch on personal money management, personal investing, risk management, tax strategies and tax shelters, and retirement and estate planning. This is the first course in a series of five courses related to financial planning.

The course is limited in enrollment and registration is now being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

HEALTH & SAFETY, UNDERGROUND MINING

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer an 80-hour Health & Safety Underground Mining: Coal course beginning on Monday, February 7. Sessions will be held Monday through Thursday from 6-10 p.m. for five weeks at the Oakland Center of the college.

This course is designed for the individual wanting to obtain training and a job related to underground mining. This 80-hour course should enable persons to challenge a test to comply with state and mine requirements.

The course is limited to 25 participants and registration will be taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

CAKE DECORATING

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer a Basic Cake Decorating course beginning on Tuesday, February 8. Sessions will be held each Tuesday from 9 a.m. to noon at the Oakland Center of the college for eight weeks.

This course is designed to teach the basic skills of cake decorating. Topics will include striping, borders, flowers and color and piping.

The course is limited to 15 participants and registration is now being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

NURSING SKILLS

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer a Basic Nursing Skills for the Geriatric Aide & Nursing Assistant course beginning on Tuesday, February 8. Sessions will be held each Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30-9:00 p.m. for 12 weeks at the McHenry Campus of the college. The course also includes 18 clinical hours to be arranged with the instructor.

This course is designed for individuals who wish to enter the health care profession as a nursing assistant or geriatric aide; are currently working but wish to upgrade their skills; or for those who have been inactive but wish to reenter the field. Upon successful completion of the course the individual will receive a certificate for completing the course approved by the State of Maryland.

The enrollment is limited to 24 participants and registration is now being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer an Effective Parliamentary Procedure course beginning on Wednesday, February 2. Sessions will be held at the Oakland Center of the college each Wednesday from 6:30-9:30 p.m. for four weeks.

This course is designed to teach rudimentary parliamentary order and meeting procedures for community associations and business meetings. Topics to be covered include: organizing and conducting meetings, the constitution and bylaws, order of the day, main and privileged motions, amendments to motions, types of voting, and nominations and elections.

The course is limited in enrollment and registration is now being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Baptist Academy Honor Students Are Designated

Wilbur Hinebaugh, principal of the Mt. Lake Baptist Academy, announced the Honor Roll for the second term.

Honor students in Mrs. Geer's second and third grade classroom are: Jason Deal, Sara Geer, Gary Golightly, Wendel Hartman, Jonathan Hinebaugh, Matthew Umbel, Gregg Wagner, Lisa Wagner, Sammy Wagner, Tammy Wagner and Addy Wilson.

These students earned all A's and B's and have recited all monthly Scripture passages to date. The Bible selections for this term were: Matthew 5:3-12 and Luke 2:8-14.

Honor students in Mrs. Deal's and Mrs. Helmick's Learning Center are: David Deal, Jan Fitzwater, Angela Geer, Ronnie Hardesty, David Hinebaugh, Martha Rice, Julie Shrout, Scott Wagner, Melissa Wampler and Wendy Weeks.

These are students in grades 4-12 who have completed 12 packets of Accelerated Christian Education with academic balance, scored 80% or higher on all tests, and have recited three Bible passages, word-perfect. The Bible verses for the 2nd term were I Peter 1:3-9, Psalm 100 and Matthew 1:21-25.

The student with the highest academic average was Angela Geer with a 98.4% average. The student completing the most paces was David Hinebaugh with 22.

Great Decisions Class Underway

"Great Decisions", a discussion and study of current international problems, began Tuesday evening at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College, Center Street. The topic discussed this week, and which will be continued next Tuesday, is U.S.-Soviet Relations. Negotiation of arms reductions was among the items of discussion.

During the nine weeks of the course, the following other topics will be covered: Lebanon—Shattered State in the Middle East; Trade and Unemployment—Global Bread and Butter issues; Africa South of the Sahara—Poverty, Hunger and Refugees; Nuclear Proliferation—Who's next to get the bomb?; Southeast Asia and its Communist Neighbors; Inter-American Security—Lessons from the South Atlantic; and West Germany and the U.S.—What's wrong with the alliance?

The class meets at 7 p.m. A copy of the publication being used as a guide and reference for the course is available at the Oakland branch of the Ruth Enlow Library.

Garrett County To Host State Holstein Event

For the first time in the history of the Maryland Holstein Association, its annual convention will be hosted by Garrett County. The Garrett County Holstein Club is organizing the convention program.

The convention will begin March 23 with the business meeting and luncheon at the Grantsville Holiday Inn, Convention Headquarters. James Lewis, manager of the Shanghi Dairy Farms of Orient, Ohio, will be the guest speaker at the luncheon.

There will also be a luncheon and a crafts demonstration for spouses, as well as a tour of the maple syrup farm of Alphonsus Weimer.

The evening program will feature the Convention Banquet at the Grantsville Fire Hall. Toastmaster for the evening will be Robert (Whitey) McKown, associate manager of the Holstein World. The guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. Frank Custer, long-time county veterinarian and presently state veterinarian.

March 24 will feature the sale of some of the top Holstein cattle in the State of Maryland. The cattle can be viewed March 23 and 24 at the old Grantsville Elementary School, and they will be sold at the Grantsville Fire Hall at 11:00 a.m., March 24.

For additional information persons may contact the Garrett County Extension Office, P.O. Box 112, Oakland, MD 21550.

Mason-Dixon Polled Hereford Field Trip Set

At the last meeting of the Mason-Dixon Polled Hereford Association plans were made to hold the annual meeting and Field Day at the Flat Stone Lick farm, Route 1, Marianna, Pa., on Saturday, June 4, 1983. Dr. Leslie P. Midla, manager of the farm and a member of the Board of Directors, will serve as chairman of the event. The program that day will feature "The Importance of Fertile Females in the Cow-Calf Operation."

Flat Stone Lick recently received national attention in Polled Hereford circles when they were notified that they had one of the largest number of benchmark dams in their herd of any of the thousands of Polled Hereford breeders in the United States and Canada.

Additional details related to the event will be released at a later date.

A progress report was also given on the Spring Sale plans which will be held on Saturday evening, May 14, at 7:30 p.m. Plans are also progressing to hold the MDPHA first annual show as a part of the Greater Cumberland Fair the first week in August.

The Mason-Dixon Polled Hereford Association is now composed of about 70 registered and commercial cattlemen in the states of Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Individuals desiring more information about the organization or who desire to affiliate with the group should write Mrs. Brenda Jenkins, Sec., Star Route, Box 35, Friendsville, Md. or Dr. William H. Buser, P.O. Box 3025, Swanton, Md. 21561 or call (301) 746-5321 or (301) 387-6930.

Belgium Student Seeks Employment

Many high school seniors are already attempting to line up summer employment in Garrett County and Dirk de Neve is no exception.

Dirk is a citizen of Belgium and spent last summer working on a farm in the United States. In passing through the Horse Shoe Run area last fall he stopped at the residence of Marvin and Ellen Harsh, where he spent the day visiting and assisting with farm chores.

Mrs. Harsh, who has maintained communication with Dirk, said that he is seeking work on a farm in the United States again this summer and would be available between the months of July and October. Because they operate a small farm, the Harshes are unable to hire him for the summer, but told Dirk that they would let him know if any other area farm operators would be interested.

Persons who would want to hire Dirk for the summer, or desire more information, may contact Mr. and Mrs. Harsh at Rt. 1, Box 306, Horse Shoe Run, W. Va.

Farmers Advised To Report Changes

Maryland farmers were urged this week to report any changes in their farm operations which could affect farm program benefits for 1983, according to William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

For ASCS to help producers get program benefits, farm records must be up to date. Therefore, Crum said, producers should contact the county ASCS office if a farm will have a new owner effective for 1983, or if a change is made in the operation of an existing unit.

Likewise, he said, farmers who want to establish proven yields for 1983 feed grains or wheat should assemble proof of production records for this year's crop.

According to Crum, production evidence must be kept separate for each year. Farmers will be given the opportunity to request a proven yield until the March 31 final signup date if production evidence so warrants, the ASCS offical said.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our darling Darla Diane DeWitt. Ten years ago today we had to say goodbye to our darling little angel who was flown to the sky. God must have needed another little bud, to bloom in heaven, so we will not ask why our little one? Our hearts still grieve, our eyes still weep, the pain is too sharp, hurt too deep. In our hearts and minds each day are loving thoughts time can never take away.

Loved and sadly missed,

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on February 3, 1983 at 7:30 p.m. in the Old Grand Jury Room (Third Floor, Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review an application made by Railey, Inc. for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance (Docket VR-59) as it affects the definition of "lot." The application was made for a Variance from the requirement that a parcel of land in one ownership not be divided by a street right-of-way. This request is being made to allow the construction of a maximum of 35 condominium units on the west side of U.S. Route 219 while designating land area on the east side to fulfill the density standard of one unit per acre. A previous application by Railey, Inc. for the same variance request was withdrawn from the Board's consideration on 12/21/82. The property is located along U.S. Route 219 at Deep Creek Bridge (Zoned LR).

NO. 8325 EQUITY
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT
FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property situate in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and the State of Maryland to Roy F. Elliott:

One acre of land, more or less, assessed in the name of Martin A. Carney, in Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, and being the same as described in two deeds, the first from John G. Sines and wife, dated October 1, 1891 and recorded in Liber No. 19, Folio 106, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and the second from Thomas J. Pendergast and wife, dated August 24, 1895 and recorded in Liber No. 28, Folio 422, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The bill states, among other things, that title to said property was vested in the above named defendants at the time of said tax sale and still so remains; that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than one year and a day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREFORE, this 17th day of January, 1983, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ordered that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks, before the 10th day of February, 1983, warning all persons interested in said property to be and appear in this Court by the 21st day of March, 1983, and redeem the property herein described and answer the bill, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the plaintiff a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

BLASTING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Buffalo Coal Company, Inc., P.O. Box 282, Bayard, WV 26707, having been issued the following surface mine permits, will conduct blasting activities in accordance with all applicable State and Federal laws, rules and regulations. The descriptions and locations are as follows:

Permit No. 215, on the property of William H. Wildesen, R. A. Moreland, and J. M. Reall, Election District No. 8 Garrett County, at Maryland Grid N: 549,400, E: 132,850.

Permit No. 240, on the property of Jack R. Turney, Paul Scoggan, Buffalo Coal Company, and Larry and Donna Steadman, Election District No. 8, Garrett County, at Maryland Grid N: 547,750, E: 123,500.

Permit No. 360, on the property of Wilbur L. Upperman and Hazel King, Election District No. 16, Garrett County, at Maryland Grid N: 568,421, E: 149,211.

Permit No. 366, on the property of Jenkins & McCall Coal Company, Robert Whitacre, and Donald Fratz, Election District No. 13, Garrett County, at Maryland Grid N: 580,000 E: 181,200.

Such activities will commence and continue in accordance with the following schedule of dates and approximate times as approved by the Maryland Bureau of Mines.

Monday through Saturday from February 1, 1983 through January 31, 1984 from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. There will be no blasting on Sundays.

At least ten minutes prior to each blasting activity all accesses to the area will be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry, and three minutes prior to blasting a warning signal will be audibly indicated by 4 blasts with an air horn at two second intervals, with the all clear signal being audibly indicated by one 10 second blast with an air horn. Blasting activity will not be conducted at times other than those scheduled above without appropriate notification, or, in the event of an emergency situation where rain, lightning, other atmospheric conditions, operator, or public safety dictates unscheduled detonation.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

A daughter was born January 13 to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Helmick of Horse Shoe Run. Their first child, the seven-pound, one-ounce baby arrived at 3:25 a.m. in the West Virginia University Medical Center. The name chosen for her is Lisa Marie.

Mrs. Helmick is the former Lois Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Snyder, Horse Shoe Run. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Helmick of Horse Shoe Run are the paternal grandparents. Great grandmothers are Mrs. Gertrude Shaffer of Horse Shoe Run and Mrs. Nellie Harsh of Crellin.

Lester Stemple was moved last week from West Virginia University Hospital to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he remains a patient.

Cecil Evans returned Sunday to his Horse Shoe Run home from WVU Hospital where he had been a patient since Christmas.

Mrs. Beryl Knotts of Akron has been a patient for more than a week in a hospital there and relatives here were notified that she is critically ill.

Homer Fike of Eglon was taken by ambulance to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he was admitted to the cardiac intensive care unit. He had suffered an attack while shoveling snow.

Mrs. Effie Stahl of Sunnyside is also a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital as the result of a broken hip.

Mrs. Roy (Violet) Fint of Aurora underwent hand surgery last week at Monongalia General Hospital and has returned to her home.

Word was received here that Louise Stemple Winters died early January 17 at her home in Dubuque, Iowa. Her husband is Delton Winters, also formerly of this area, and the body will be returned for interment.

Albert Dumire of Parsons, recently released after hospitalization in an Elkins facility, is recuperating at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Ruby and Norman Feather, Eglon.

Claude and Eldean Poling were involved in an automobile accident last Monday, January 10, as they returned from their Ohio visit. The accident occurred near Clarksburg where they were treated at United Hospital Center and released to return to their Stemple Ridge home.

Roxanne Evans, chairman of the program committee, introduced guest speaker Louise Norwish to the assembled Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club members on January 10 at the Eglon Memorial Building. Miss Norwish, assistant director of dietetics at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, spoke to the group concerning the importance of good nutrition and the basic four food groups.

The meeting was opened with the 4-H Pledge and the singing of West Virginia Boys and Girls. Devotions were presented by Guy Wayne Shaffer, Jennifer Whitehair and Roxanne Evans. Terry Hauser gave the treasurer's report.

It was decided that insurance for all club members would be paid for from the club treasury. Members will meet at the Eglon Memorial Building on February 6 from 2 until 4 p.m. to prepare tray favors for use at Cortland Acres. Linda Lewis asked that each member affirm his project to determine a correct listing, as this was the last date to drop a project. Elaine Roth emphasized that national report forms are due by March 25.

Talks were given as follows: Arlene Roth—Important Factors in Making Bread; Guy Wayne Shaffer—Work Safety With Tools; Gary Shaffer—What is a Forest?; Danny Roth—Composition and Properties of Goat Milk; and Andrea Delaney—What is Your Appearance? John Lipscomb demonstrated Winterizing and Trouble-shooting Your Small Engine.

Refreshments were served by the Shaffer and Delaney families. Attending the meeting were Willie and Jackie Lantz, Arlene and Danny Roth, Roxanne Evans, Terry Hauser, Nathan Teets, John Lipscomb, Andrea Delaney, Shannon Eskridge, Carolyn Evans, Eddie and Ronnie Wolfe, Stephanie Evans, Debra Rinehart, Mark Harsh, Cherri Minnig, Guy Wayne and Gary Shaffer, Mark Utterback, Elizabeth and Jennifer Whitehair and guests, Emily Lewis, Dianne Beckman, Regina Shaffer, Judy Shaffer, Jean Rinehart, Ardis Teets and leaders Linda Lewis and Elaine Roth.

The first Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club meeting of the New Year was held in the home of leader Opal Myers on January 10. Devotions were presented by Shauna Sisler, John Grego and Alan Selders.

Cara Sisler showed sourenirs of her recent Chicago trip. Members and leaders discussed preparing boxes for the shut-ins and decided to prepare and distribute them at Easter.

After the meeting, the club had a pizza party. The next meeting will also be held in Mrs. Myers' home on February 13 at 1:30 p.m. A bowling party is planned for immediately following the meeting for all members who wish to go.

No PTO meeting was held last week at Aurora due to bad weather.

Edgar L. (John Bill) Teets, 77, a native of Aurora, died December 27 in Akron, Ohio. He is survived by one daughter, Delia Teets Phillips of Akron, three grandchildren and one great-grandchild. His wife, Pauline Donham Teets, died May 17, 1982.

He is also survived by four sisters, Thelma Adams, Alice Mankins and Grace Denison of Aurora, Helen Nine of Rowlesburg. Attending the services were Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Mankins and Mrs. Nine and nieces and nephews Jack and Doris Adams, Tom and Lois Adams, Ben and Opal Myers, Peggy Louise Myers, and Peggy Hauser, all of Aurora. Burial was in the Greenlawn Memorial Park at Akron.

REAL LEADERSHIP — One of the jobs of all school principals is to serve as a guide for students, and that is exactly what Jack Rickman, principal of Southern Middle School, did this week with a group of sixth graders on the snow-covered school property. Rickman conducted a cross country ski instruction session for interested members of the class on Monday. In the photo, left to right, are Brian Richter, Randy Marple, Jon Trantham, Zack Gibson, and Rickman.

Commissioners Receive Capital Projects List

Garrett County planning director Tim Dugan presented a summary of county agency requests for FY '84 capital projects to the Garrett County commissioners Tuesday for their use in capital improvements planning.

Along with the summary were recommendations by the county Planning Commission on how each of the projects should be funded as determined during the commission's meeting Wednesday.

In submitting the commission's recommendations, Dugan noted the commission "did not make explicit recommendations for or against the merit of the agencies' proposals."

The Planning Commission recommended funding methods for 21 requested capital projects with two projects considered appropriate for a general obligation bond and four considered appropriate for funding under established Sanitary District bonding authority. The remainder of the projects were recommended to be funded out of the county's general fund during FY 1984.

Two projects recommended for a general obligation bond, contingent upon commissioner approval, were renovation projects for the old county courthouse totalling $902,562.

Sanitary Commission projects recommended for funding through Sanitary District bonding authority included the county's contribution to the Deep Creek Lake, Bloomington, Gorman, and Kitzmiller sewerage projects. The county share in each project, as currently estimated was: Deep Creek Lake, $600,000; Bloomington, $18,725; Gorman, $4,862; and Kitzmiller, $19,875.

Projects recommended for general fund financing were: Garrett Bus System, $3,000 (local share of $60,000 expenditure); replacement motors for county courthouse, $5,000; three separate purchases of law enforcement equipment for the Sheriff's Department totalling $37,700 and including radios, a breathalyzer and a vehicle; three modification projects for the county jail totalling $48,770 and including bunks, camera system and lighting;

A Civil Defense mobile command post, $3,400; computer system, $6,000, and maintenance and radio repair equipment, $1,500, for the communications department; county share of a Southern High School open space project, $25,750; Northern High School renovation, $75,453; Northern High School athletic fields, $7,500; and a vehicle acquisition for the Soil Conservation District, $10,000.

Dugan stated Monday he did not believe the amount for the two projects recommended for general obligation bond funding was enough to warrant floating a bond.

Because Garrett County must obtain General Assembly permission to float a general

Friendsville Man Pleads Guilty To Sexual Abuse

A Friendsville man was lodged in the Garrett County Jail on Thursday pending the results of a pre-sentence investigation on charges of sexual abuse of a 12-year-old child.

Blayne Lawrence Garlitz, 36, was charged following an investigation by law enforcement officials and the county Social Services office.

Garlitz pled guilty to the charges, which had most recently occurred from February 15 through May 6, 1982. The child was removed from the home. It was reported in court by his attorney that Garlitz is currently undergoing psychiatric counseling.

The maximum penalty for this offense is 15 years in prison, according to Judge Fred Thayer, who presided.

Friendsville Man, Two Others Arrested On State, Federal Charges

Through an extensive investigation by Maryland State Police Pennsylvania State Police, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, a Friendsville man and two Pennsylvania residents were arrested on charges of theft, conspiracy, and interstate transportation of stolen property, valued at $105,000.

Wayne Martin Casteel, 49, Friendsville, was charged along with Thomas William Rice, 41, and Wayne Ronald Casteel, 29, both of Farmington, Pa. They were lodged in the Garrett County Jail last night following a bond hearing. The trio awaits arrignment on federal and state charges in the theft of mining equipment from Maryland and Somerset County, Pa.

The investigation led to the recovery of $30,000 worth of rotary mining drill bits from Maryland, and $75,000 worth of similar bits from a Somerset firm.

The news release came jointly from Special Agent Dana Caro and First Lt. W. R. Presley, Maryland State Police.

Senator, Delegate Favor School Bus Safety Program

Senator John Bambacus and Delegate George Edwards have responded to concerns of several Garrett County officials who have noted a recent increase in vehicular traffic passing school busses while the flashing red warning lights are activated. A potentially tragic situation exists which is the cause of deep concern.

In a joint statement issued by Senator Bambacus and Delegate Edwards, the District I officials state "As highway users we each have a moral obligation for traffic safety, with the protection of school children being a matter of paramount importance. Violations of school bus laws touch all of us, we each have children, relatives or friends who ride the busses daily and must wait beside or cross dangerous roadways."

Bambacus and Edwards have lent their support to a bus safety program initiated by the Garrett County Board of Education, in cooperation with the Maryland State Police, the Sheriff's

Arrests Made On Charges Of Theft, Vandalism

Maryland State Police report several cases of theft and vandalism this week, including an incident Tuesday afternoon at Ralph's Richfood Market, Rt. 135, Mt. Lake Park.

Sgt. Richard Edwards was notified approximately 1:30 p.m. that four juveniles had been involved in shoplifting and the attempted theft of gasoline from a vehicle in the parking area. When police arrived, two of the juveniles had fled on foot. The two remaining were charged with theft, and the others were apprehended a short time later by Deputy David Crossland, Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

The four were taken to the juvenile detention center in Allegany County, awaiting their return to Morgantown, W. Va., where they had run away from the Kennedy Youth Training Center. The youths were fifteen and sixteen years of age. They had fled in a stolen car from the Morgantown area.

In a separate case, a 23-year-old Prince George's County

SIGN PROCLAMATION — The Garrett County Commissioners signed a proclamation Tuesday declaring the week of January 29 - February 5 as "National Cross-Country Ski Week," and called upon Garrett County citizens to join with all sportsmen in the observance of the first National Cross-Country Ski Week. Pictured above are, left to right, front row, county commissioners Ernie Gregg, Elwood Groves and John Braskey; back row, Bill Pope, president of the Kick & Glide Cross Country Ski Club; Perry Edmiston, New Germany State Park manager; Ward L. Ashby, Deep Creek Lake State Park manager; Gerry Sword, Herrington Manor State Park manager; Mike Gregory, Maryland Forest and Park Service Interpretive Specialist; and Joe Stevens, New Germany State Park assistant park manager. Facilities in Garrett County for cross-country skiers are available at New Germany and Herrington Manor state parks where skiers will find plowed parking areas, warming huts and maintained trails. In addition, there are many miles of logging roads and trails within Savage River, Potomac, and Garrett state forests that are suitable for skiing.

Oakland Scout Attains Top Rank

An Oakland area youth, Dave Stonesifer, has attained the rank of Eagle Scout, upon the approval of the National Executive Committee of the Boy Scouts of America. A member of Troop 31 in Oakland, where he serves as Senior Patrol Leader, Dave is the son of Glenn and Barbara Stonesifer of Route 2, Oakland.

In order to achieve scouting's pleted a major community service project, involving the transfer of the emergency food pantry from Garrett County Community Action to the Hose of Hope.

The rank of Eagle also involved the completion of six different ranks of scouting as well as numerous requirements in community service, citizenship, conservation, and scouting skills such as physical fitness, first aid, and life-saving.

A Junior at Southern High School, Stonesifer is also a member of scouting's honorary Order of the Arrow and he is active in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church.

Presentation of the Eagle award is planned for late February.

GCMH Offers New Diagnostic Test Of Heart

Echocardiology, a diagnostic test for certain disorders of the heart, is the latest of new services offered by the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, according to Kenneth A. Richmond, hospital administrator.

Until now, patients had to travel to Morgantown or Cumberland to have this test, called an echocardiogram, which involves sending sound waves into the heart to produce a picture of the heart in motion.

This painless test is performed by specially trained technologists in the Ultrasound Department of the hospital. The patient simply lies on his back and a small instrument is placed on his chest wall which sends harmless sound waves into the various chambers and valves of the heart. These sound waves reflect back, and a picture of the heart is printed on a strip of paper. The image is then interpreted by specially trained physicians. Information about heart valves, abnormal movements and actual measurements of the heart chambers can be obtained.

The new Ekoline Echo Cardiograph machine was purchased by the hospital when Dr. Robert A. Goralski joined the medical staff of the hospital. He is a family physician and a member of the Garrett Medical Group, and is trained to interpret echocardiograms.

Goralski and Dr. Thomas G. Johnson are in charge of the Echocardiology Department of the hospital. They will work closely with Karen Sue Savage, chief technologist ultrasonographer; Joseph Dever, ultasonographer; and Richard Shaffer, director of Radiology Services, in providing this test to the public.

Public Hearing Slated Saturday On Youghiogheny

There will be a public hearing on the proposed Youghiogheny River legislation on Saturday, January 29, at 2 p.m. at the Garrett Community College auditorium.

The meeting will be conducted by Sen. John Bambacus, who is, along with Del. George Edwards, drafting legislation which would turn control of the river corridor over to the county.

Such a proposal already faces opposition from conservation proponent Ajax Eastman and from Trout Unlimited, although Bambacus said Monday that he has heard no opposition to the proposal from county residents. He has received two petitions in favor of the control change.

The commissioners have taken a wait and see attitude towards the legislation. Commissioner Elwood Groves stated Tuesday the commissioners have indicated to Bambacus their willingness to support his original proposal to change the designation of the river from wild and scenic to strictly scenic. The commissioners believe this would eliminate some of the restrictions currently placed on property owners.

Eastman, in an article in the January 13 Conservation Report, printed by the Maryland Conservation Council, relates a brief history of the Yough regulations, noting that "the regulations promulgated by DNR were opposed by both the environmentalists and the landowners for different reasons. The environmentalists felt the regulations allowed too much development and the landowners felt they were too restrictive. The landowners reacted by denying access to anyone by erecting barbed wire barriers, slashing auto tires and even shooting at people on the

Garrett County Tourism Jumps 10% In 1981

Tourism generated nearly $20 million for Garrett County in 1981 which is a 10%, or $2 million increase over monies generated from tourism in 1980. This ranks Garrett County as 14th in the state for the amount of monies generated by travel, according to Cindy Kutchman, executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

An 11% increase was noted in Travel Generated Payroll and Local Tax Receipts increased by 24%. Increases were also noted in Travel Generated Employment and State Tax Receipts.

Each year the U.S. Travel Data Center in Washington, D.C. revises Maryland's travel income figures for the Office of Tourist Development according to Kurt Alverson, director of the Maryland Office of Tourist Development. "Maryland gained 9.7% in revenue over 1980," he said. "Our total in 1981 was $2.7 billion. For 1982 we are anticipating a 9% increase. Obviously, tourism spending is on the rise even in a sluggish economy."

Alverson emphasized, "Nothing generates so much business and tax revenue with so little cost for government services as tourism."

Sanitary Commission Votes To Proceed With Lake Project

The five-member Garrett County Sanitary Commission agreed unanimously last night to proceed with the Deep Creek Lake sewerage project at an estimated cost of $17,395,000.

Before the members of the commission voted, each was given an opportunity to comment on his feelings about whether or not to proceed. Their various feelings were summed up by vice chairman Randle Rodeheaver when he said that this project appears to be the most sensible thing that can be done with long-lasting benefit to the area. He noted there are some concerns about the project, particularly with front foot assessment charges, but said that these will be worked out with the help of an advisory board.

A decision written by the commission's attorney, Gorman Getty, was put into the form of a motion by vice chairman Rodeheaver and seconded by John Dever. Votes from Harry M. Fileymyr, chairman; E. Lawrence Grove, treasurer, and William Thoman made the decision unanimous.

Prior to the vote, each commission member and Wendell Beitzel, the coundy sanitary district administrator, had announced any interest they may have within the lake sanitary district boundaries, at the suggestion of their legal counsel. This was in response to allegations of conflict of interest brought by the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake.

After the vote, Bill Burke, member of the Property Owners Association, reiterated that group's statement that they are not opposed to a sewerage system—just this system as designed for the lake. Filemyr said that the commission is open to suggestions for a viable, legal and fundable system.

Burke went on to query Beitzel about the legal expenses paid by the commission to an Annapolis firm to fight the suit brought by the property owners against the commissioners and the sanitary commission members. He alleged that some $17,000 has been spent from administrative grant funds, and that this would appear to be illegal from the standpoint of regulations given by the Office of Management and Budget.

Beitzel retaliated by saying that these are considered administrative expenses and as such are handled through normal administrative procedures.

Burke said that he did not agree with this interpretation and stated that there is a serious doubt as to the propriety of payment of litigation counsel from grant funds from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Burke concluded his comments by raising a question of noxious odors from the 11 pumping stations planned for the lake system, quoting an attorney who recently won a case for a client in Ocean Pines

Civil Defense, Central Alarm To Conduct Test

Garrett County Civil Defense, in cooperation with Garrett Central Alarm, will be conducting a test of the Garrett County Civil Defense Warning System on Saturday, January 29, at noon.

The purpose of the Civil Defense Warning System is to warn all citizens of an impending attack and of the necessity of taking shelter from radioactive fallout, to provide warning of imminent danger arising from natural disasters, such as tornadoes and floods, and to provide official instructions through the news media, according to Terry Spear, assistant director of Garrett County Civil Defense.

Central Alarm will be activating the warning sirens at each fire station in Garrett County via the county fire alerting system. This test will be conducted every three months to ensure the system is operating properly. Spear reminded that no action is required on the part of the public, as this is only a test exercise.

Beckman Named GNB President

The Board of Directors of the Garrett National Bank announce the promotion of Milford E. Beckman to the position of president of that institution. He was also elected to serve on the Board of Directors.

Beckman, a native of Swanton, is the son of Mrs. Earl S. Beckman and the late Mr. Beckman.

Following graduation from Southern High School, he was employed by the Social Security Administration in Baltimore for a period of six years. He served a two-year tour of duty with the United States Army, returned to Oakland, and began his employment with Garrett National in April of 1965.

During that time, he held numerous positions including note teller, branch manager, loan officer, assistant cashier and trust officer, vice-president of operations and executive vice-president. In addition to his extensive training in those positions, he has also attended numerous schools and seminars sponsored by various correspondent banks and state banking associations; is an active participant in the American Institute of Banking education program; and a graduate of the Dale Carnegie course.

Beckman is a member of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club; a member and financial officer of the American Legion-Proctor Kildow Post No. 71; a member of the Elk BPO Lodge 2481; current president of the Oakland Country Club; past chairman, Group I, Maryland Bankers Association; past president of the Cumberland chapter, Bank Administration Institute, and a member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church.

Beckman resides in Swanton with his wife, Louise, and son, Jay.

ECHOCARDIOLOGY, a relatively new diagnostic test of the heart, is now available at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. This painless test involves directing harmless sound waves into the heart, which then bounce back to create a picture which can reveal certain heart disorders. Dr. Robert Goralski, who is specially trained in interpreting echocardiograms, will head the Echocardiology Department at the hospital, along with Dr. Thomas Johnson. They will work with personnel in the Ultrasound and Radiology departments. In the photo, conducting an echocardiogram on an unidentified patient, are, left to right, Dr. Goralski, Karen Sue Savage, chief technologist ultrasonographer, and Joseph Dever, ultrasonographer.

Friendsville To Hold Primary For Councilman Posts

Eight persons were nominated Monday evening at a town meeting in Friendsville for the position of councilman, thus requiring a primary election on Monday, January 31, to reduce the slate to six candidates. The remaining six candidates will be voted upon in the town's general election on February 8. Three of the six will be elected.

Nominated were Floyd Baker, Charles Ross Clemmensen, Carl Helmick, Ross Selby, Lucile Sines, Roger (Doug) Sines, Larry Suter and Maureen Thomas.

Councilmen whose terms will expire include Baker, Selby and Lillian Bates. Holdover councilmen include Raymond Schlosnagle, Gene Sines and James Spear. Karol Rush, the mayor, is also in mid-term.

Polls will be open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the municipal building for the primary race on Janury 31, as well as for the general election on February 8.

Hearings Scheduled On Senate Bills

Hearings are scheduled in Annapolis Thursday for two bills sponsored by Sen. John Bambacus in the state senate—SB 35 on collective bargaining for non-teaching personnel in the county schools, and SB 109 which would eliminate intoxication by alcohol or drugs as mitigating circumstances in criminal cases subject to the death penalty.

A meeting was held Monday afternoon with Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county superintendent of schools, and Board of Education president Clarence Stem to discuss the board's position on the collective bargaining bill.

Both Bambacus and Del. George Edwards will join with other legislators from Allegany County in attempting to repeal a ten-year-old law which makes it illegal for home builders to install coal furnaces or stoves in their homes.

Del. Casper R. Taylor, Jr. filed the bill at the request of numerous homeowners who are illegally operating such heating devices in their homes. Homes constructed before the bill went into effect were exempt from its strictures. Enforcement of the bill has been difficult, if not impossible, say state health department officials, but the law is still in effect.

Del. Edwards is co-sponsoring several pieces of legislation in conjunction with Sen. Bambacus and the Allegany County delegation, and noted this week that he has been attending numerous committee meetings on the budget with the House Appropriations committee.

Sponsoring Joint Resolutions

Sen. Bambacus is also co-sponsoring two Senate Joint Resolutions (SJR) and SB 16.

SJR 1 concerns extension of the equal rights amendment, and SJR 2 which requests the Maryland delegation to the U.S. Congress to introduce into Congress a resolution calling for the President to negotiate with the Soviet Union for a mutually verifiable freeze in testing, productions, and deployment of nuclear weapons, missiles, and delivery aircraft, if such a freeze is at a level of weaponry that guarantees the national security of the U.S.

SB 16 is related to cloud seeding and its weather modifications, and asks a halt on cloud seeding until the state officials can determine the full impact of such actions on weather and state farmers.

Jaycees Planning Membership Drive

Area young men between the ages of 18 and 36 interested in developing their leadership capabilities while serving their community are invited to join the Oakland Jaycees.

The Jaycees will be holding a membership drive and reorganizational meetings during the coming month, according to Ralph Perrey, interim president. Perrey, a news commentator for WXIE and WMSG radio, has been instrumental in bringing the Frostburg Jaycees to a position among the top three clubs in the state, serving as its president for eight years. Three western Maryland clubs have been recognized by the state and national organizations for the quality of their programming, Frostburg, Greater Cumberland and Upper Potomac (Westernport).

Maryland presently has 5,000 Jaycee members in its 100 organizations.

Perrey emphasized that members are given numerous opportunities for personal development, in a manner similar to on-the-job training. Each organization can develop its own plans for community service and individual development to meet local needs. The U.S. Jaycee organization also offers programs in family life, time management, leadership, spiritual development, and public speaking. These offerings can also be opened to the public if the group wishes.

Many Jaycee chapters are also involved in sports events and sponsor volleyball and basketball teams. Other area clubs are involved in such community projects as the Greater Cumberland Seafood Festival, Christmas shopping tours for underprivileged children, haunted houses at the Halloween and senior citizens programs. Several years ago, the Oakland club was the catalyst for formation of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, and several members became part of the squad.

There are approximately 20 area men now enrolled in the Oakland Jaycees. Treasurer is Bob Michael. Local dues are $25 a year. For further information, contact Perrey at 334-1284.

Planning Board Endorses Penelec Zoning Request

The Garrett County Planning Commission Wednesday endorsed a proposal by the Pennsylvania Electric Company for a blanket zoning variance on an approximate 15-acre site owned by Penelec and known as Penelacres.

In a memorandum to Commission members, planning director Tim Dugan explained that for about 25 years, Penelec has leased cottage sites in the development located off Stockslager Road on Deep Creek Lake. Jack Allison, Penelec real estate manager, explained the lots leased to the employees were shown on a Penelec Plan which was never recorded.

Penelec, Allison noted, now wishes to sell the currently leased sites to the leasees, but is aware those sites do not conform to the one-acre minimum size adopted in the 1975 Deep Creek watershed zoning ordinance.

Allison showed the Commission a revised plat of Penelacres which showed currently leased lots and vacant lots which were revised to conform with zoning laws. Allison also noted a sufficient right-of-way was planned in the development so the access road serving the lots would conform to county roads standards.

In requesting the Commission's support, Allison noted their endorsement would be used as part of testimony in Penelec's application for the variance to the zoning appeals board.

Dugan noted the revised plat was to be filed with the appeals board with the request that all of the non-conforming sites be given the status of grandfathered lots, in a single proceeding. Dugan noted the lots to be considered to be grandfathered have been occupied for about 25 years and leasees have paid property taxes on improvements.

He recommended the Commission endorse the proposal as "an efficient way to achieve as nearly as possible the basic purposes of the Zoning Ordinance while avoiding uncertainty, inconvenience or hardship for the families who have occupied and used these sites for many years."

Poll Indicating Oakland Sewerage Expansion Opposed

A poll is currently being conducted by Franklin Associates, Inc. to determine if the citizens in several areas outside Oakland are interested in public sewerage. The preliminary results of this poll are 32 for, 47 against, as follows:

Area one, Dennett Road: 12 for, eight against; Area Two, Mitchell Manor: four for, five against; Area three, Cherry Glade Run, 219 from town just past Crabtree Photography: six for, 11 against; Area four, Rosedale: one for, 11 against; Area five, Underwood: nine for, 12 against.

This gives a total of only 79 replies out of 250 letters mailed. Morgan C. France, project manager, asks that those people who have not returned the postcards please do so. It will be assumed that those people who do not return the postcards are not opposed to the extension of public sewerage to their area.

Additional copies of the reply card are available at Franklin Associates' office in the Bolyans building in Oakland.

Bambacus Sponsors Legislation To Eliminate Mitigating Circumstances

Senator John Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) announced Tuesday that he has introduced legislation which would eliminate intoxication by drugs or alcohol as a mitigating circumstance in criminal cases subject to the death penalty.

The legislation was introduced in response to the Stephanie Ann Roper tragedy which occurred last spring. Senator Bambacus has met with members of the Roper Committee to discuss their legislative agenda. The elimination of mitigating circumstances is one of the committee's legislative goals.

"It's about time we look out for the victim and stop finding a way out for criminals," Bambacus said. "Voluntary consumption of drugs or alcohol should no longer be considered an excuse for criminal acts."

The bill, SB-109, has been assigned to the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee. It has not yet been scheduled for public hearing.

Warnick Receives Westvaco Scholarship

Paul Warnick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warnick of Oakland, has been awarded a Westvaco scholarship to Garrett Community College.

Warnick is a graduate of Southern High School where he won numerous awards. He participated in both the junior and senior class plays, was a member of Quill and Scroll, the National Honor Society, the Acorn staff, the high school chorus, and was named to Who's Who in America. He won the Bausch and Lomb Science award and the Rotary Club Mathematics award.

Currently Warnick is enrolled in the engineering program at Garrett where he is also a member of the Engineering Club. When he graduates he plans to transfer to West Virginia University to study engineering.

He is a member of the Youth Choir of the Sand Flat Assembly of God Church and he plays volleyball with the Mt. Top Volleyball League.

Local Students On Dean's List; Three Earn 4.0

Eleven Garrett County students attending Frostburg State College have been named to the Dean's List for their outstanding academic performance during the first semester of the 1982-83 academic year, according to Dr. Kenneth Jablon, vice president for academic affairs. Three of those students earned straight-A averages for the semester. They include David Alan Gnegy, Oakland; Kathryn Louise Sincell, Mt. Lake Park; and Susan Marie Wildman, Swanton.

The other eight students named to the list achieved at least a 3.40 average for the semester for a minimum of 15 credit hours. They are: Hilda Celeste Kolb and Donna Marie McFetridge, Accident; Barbara Lou Harvey, Deer Park; Hillel Brandes, Grantsville; Jacqueline E. Tasker, Kitzmiller; Carol Ann Corliss, Mt. Lake Park; and Jack C. Riley and Amy Jo Stanton, Oakland.

THE GORMAN VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT received a check for $616 from Modern Woodmen of America Thursday during a 100th anniversary dinner held in Gorman by Modern Woodmen. The money was presented as a match in a fund-raising campaign for the fire department during December when drawing tickets were sold for a color television. Modern Woodmen matched money raised dollar-for-dollar said Lou Ann Fletcher, agent and camp secretary of #8852 for Modern Woodmen of America, a fraternal life insurance society. The fire department also presented service pins to various members. Pictured above, some service pin recipients noted, are, left to right, front row, Richard D. CRIME SOLVERS

Reward $100-$1000

This week, the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and Crime Solvers are seeking information on a breaking, entering, and theft at the home of Paul Reese, Old Crellin Road.

According to Harland Tichnell, special criminal investigator for that department, unknown persons entered the residence and removed jewelry and U.S. currency valued at $1,120. Several other thefts have recently been reported in that area including a 90cc Honda motorcycle from Tressler's Garage, and an attempted theft from the Don DeWitt garage.

All leads in this investigation are exhausted, and Crime Solvers is now seeking the help of the public. Anyone with any information on these, or any unsolved crimes, is asked to call the Crime Solvers Hotline, 334-3111, to report the information and become eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000. Callers may remain anonymous, and no court appearance is ever necessary. If the tip leads to the arrest and indictment of the suspected culprit, the reward will be paid in cash. A conviction is not necessary to be eligible for the money.

Bambacus Will Fight Tax Hike

In a response to Governor Harry Hughes' budget proposals, Senator John Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) says he finds the plans "unacceptable."

In a series of plans aimed at eliminating the projected $133 million deficit for fiscal 1984, Hughes has requested an increase in the taxes on beer, wine, liquor, cigarettes and property. The proposed property tax hike would generate an additional $16 million in revenue, while the so-called "sin taxes" would add an estimated $22 million.

"In a time of high unemployment, as we hear of the burden that the triennial assessments are placing on our people, an increase in the property tax rate just doesn't make sense," Bambacus said, "especially when, just three months ago, Governor Hughes promised no increase in the state property tax."

Hughes, in his budget message to the General Assembly, also proposed a one-time transfer of $29 million from the Transportation Trust Fund, which had a surplus following last year's increase, into the General Fund. "This shows again that the hike in the gas tax was unnecessary," Bambacus commented. "The budget must reflect changing realities in the lives of Maryland's citizens. These proposals do not represent the realities for a district of 90,000 people."

Two Arrested For Public Intoxication

Two Oakland area men were arrested January 21 and charged with public intoxication and disturbing the peace at the Par-Matt Lanes by the Garrett County sheriff's department.

Arrested were Joseph Douglas Ford, 20 and Mark Allen Ford, 24. Mark was released the same day and Joseph the following day on their own recognizance.

A Good Idea? . . .

Although Jim Cochran's cartoon shown at right was created purely in jest, perhaps it offers an idea worth consideration for the threatened Social Security system.

Individual states which operate their own lotteries have found them to be most helpful in providing a financial boost to their economies.

Some of the plans which the president and Congress are likely to implement to aid the Social Security system are: steeper payroll taxes; a delay in cost-of-living increases for 36 million retirees, their survivors and the disabled; a tax on benefits of higher-income pensioners; payment into the Social Security system by newly hired federal employees; and dumping several billion dollars from the general Treasury into the Social Security system.

All of the above measures seem to be steps in the right direction, however all will also place additional hardship on many individuals. These same individuals will be given no choice in the matter, either.

This is where a national lottery would be different. A lottery would not be a hardship on anyone, except maybe that small percentage of chronic, fanatic gamblers who are probably already losing their shirts in other forms of gambling.

A lottery also offers a choice to the citizen, to play or not to play. It is almost a form of voluntary taxation.

Most importantly, a lottery works. Let's assume that 20 million Americans would play a one-dollar daily national lottery, which is most likely a conservative figure, and one million dollars is the daily prize. The country would stand to gain 19 million dollars a day, less a few hundred thousand or so for administrative costs. Nineteen million dollars a day, six days a week, comes to almost six billion dollars a year! What a shot in the arm for Social Security!

Jim Cochran, maybe you have something there.

I Think That I Shall Never See . . .

by Carol Fox

There's probably nothing more lasting, sturdy, and beautiful than a tree . . . a piece of nature that lives for decades after planting, to be enjoyed by our children and their children after them.

All over America, a new awareness of trees is currently being promoted through such agencies as the National Arbor Day Foundation, a non-profit organization dedicated to the beautification of our country.

In celebration of the 101st anniversary of Arbor Day, the Foundation is seeking participation in a campaign to promote tree planting in America by offering three White Flowering Dogwood trees or three Black Walnut trees to all new Foundation members who join the organization now. The Foundation, which works to improve the quality of life through tree planting, will send three hardy, ready to plant trees to any new member contributing $10 or more. The trees will be shipped in time for spring planting, and each one, three to four feet tall, is guaranteed to grow, or will be replaced free. The address for membership is National Arbor Day Foundation, Box DW-1005, Garnerville, N.Y. 10923, (for the dogwoods), or Walnut Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, Arbor Lodge 100, Nebraska City, NE 68410. Orders must be received by January 31.

Another effort by the Progressive Gardening Institute, Inc., enables the purchase of two dwarf apple trees as part of a restructuring and advancement of the American food supply throughout the country. In an effort to attract new members to that organization, one yellow delicious and one red delicious apple tree will be shipped, three to five feet tall, for $7.50 (tax deductible). Grants are being made available through the Institute for research into progressive crop science to develop a greater variety of fruits and vegetables adaptable to different parts of the country.

This seems an excellent way to guarantee a lasting tribute for generations to come.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

We would like to thank the members of the Oakland Fire Department for the prompt way in which they responded to the flue fire that occurred at our home on Saturday, January 22. All of the men were very courteous and helpful. We are grateful to have such dedicated volunteers.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert H. Fletcher

To the Editor:

I believe the time has come for the people of Friendsville to go back to the mountain springs for their drinking water.

If Delegate Edwards and Senator Bambacus open the Yough River corridor up for mining and vacation home development, there is no way we can treat this river water.

No. 1. The Friendsville water plant was never designed to treat river water because two important components were never installed: a separator, for taking out heavy metals like lead, cadmium, mercury and etc., and a skimmer for removing petro products such as oil, grease and diesel fuel. Our intake pipe is below the freeway.

No. 2. If we go back to the mountain springs, we will have water that is free of man-made pollutants.

No. 3. The mountain spring water can be brought in to the town reservoir without using expensive electric pumps, just with gravity flow.

And remember, your present water plant must be replaced in 10 or 12 years; it was a 20-year plant on a 40-year mortgage.

Think of that. . .

Jim Ross, Sr.

To the Editor:

We often hear that Garrett County is the poorest county in Maryland. We have understood for years this is why our county workers (roads, courthouse, teachers, etc.) are paid the low salaries they receive.

We would expect, of course, that our county officials should also be the lowest paid in the state—but are they?

The following information is from the Cumberland Evening Times, Jan. 18, 1983, p. 9, concerning the salaries paid to members of our school administration.

(1) Our superintendent is paid $3,000 more than the lowest superintendent in the state.

(2) Our assistant superintendents receive $6,000 more than the lowest in Maryland.

(3) Supervisors receive $7,000 more than the lowest and also are higher than Allegany or Washington counties' supervisors.

(4) Principals can make a maximum of $8,000 more in Garrett than in the lowest county.

The conclusion is obvious: If our employees need to be the lowest paid in Maryland, why are the school officials not at the bottom as well? Perhaps our newly elected school board will deal with this matter.

river."

Eastman continued by noting that "The latest threat, removal of the 'wild' portion of the state law, would transfer the responsibility of maintaining the scenic corridor from the state to Garrett County officials who have been notoriously lax in their enforcement of environmental quality. With no effective zoning laws in Garrett County, the river would be vulnerable to strip mining and adverse development and could never be considered for national designation in the future. The Yough is truly a national treasure and belongs to all Marylanders. Senator Bambacus, representing the landowners, made the Yough a campaign issue. Del. Edwards, as chairman of the county commissioners in 1976, sought repeal of the wild and scenic designation. They may be rightfully representing their constituents but the resource represents a much broader constituency."

Eastman concluded by saying that Bambacus and Edwards have requested written comments, and urging people to write to Sen. John Bambacus, James Senate Office Building, and Del. George Edwards, Lowe House Office Building, Annapolis, 21401 to urge them not to file a bill repealing the wild designation.

Trout Unlimited Offers Ideas

Joseph Kessler, president of the Nemacolin Chapter of Trout Unlimited, met with Sen. Bambacus and several T.U. members in late December to discuss the proposed Youghiogheny legislation.

That meeting led to a unanimous concensus by the Trout Unlimited officers that:

They are opposed to any measure which would place the future of the river in the hands of the county commissioners, since the commissioners have no zoning guidelines in place, the makeup of the county commission can change markedly from election to election, and the county government cannot be expected to adequately represent all interests throughout this state which are vitally concerned with the river. T.U. feels that state government is the appropriate administrative body.

The group also said they favor enforcement of present laws and regulations in such a way to protect the rights of the landowners to manage their domain without undue restraint.

In addition they favor: continued identification of the river and its watershed as having a very special and unique character important to all citizens; legislation which would promote the preservation of the trout and other natural resources for present and future generations.

The group also said they believe there is a need for legislation to assure a reasonable but responsible public access to the river, and that timber harvesting, mining or other development should not be permitted unless such an activity is conducted for the primary purpose of benefiting the entire resources.

Landowners Continue To Block Completion Of Snowmobile Trail

Negotiations are still in progress with three landowners who are blocking completion of the Meadow Mountain snowmobile trail from one area of state lands to another but so far no agreements have been reached.

According to Michael Gregory, interpretive specialist for the Maryland Forest and Parks department, the landowners continue to ask higher prices for recreational easements or purchase of their land than the state says it can afford to pay.

During the past weeks, snowmobilers have been coming in large numbers to the county, and failure to observe private property markers and use of the county roads has led to several problems for the DNR already this year. Snowmobilers are reminded to use only designated trails and to observe the state and private property regulations, said Gregory.

All but a few miles of the approximately 23-mile Meadow Mountain trail has been opened for snowmobile use, so snowmobilers can travel from the northern part of Savage River State Forest to a point one-half mile below the Frank Brenneman Road, or from the designated trail out of Deep Creek Lake State Park to a point three miles northeast of the Thayerville Tower. Construction of the trail on state property began in 1980, and turn around points are provided.

In Garrett State Forest, the Forest Service has added another loop to its present snowmobile trails, increasing the length approximately three miles.

Gregory also noted that several hardy souls have been camping in the state forest and parks each weekend, as shown by the camping permits issued.

Sewer And Water Plan Hearing Held

Garrett County citizens were not drawn to the public hearing Tuesday in the county commissioners' office concerning the water and sewer master plan update, but the commissioners and several county department heads discussed revisions to the plan.

Because of the issue of the Town of Frostburg's application for a permit to draw water from wells owned by the town in the northeastern part of the county, the commissioners discussed possible changes of wording in the plan to reflect the county's attitude towards such use.

The commissioners also discussed an amendment to the plan for operation of sewerage treatment plants at condominium complexes.

The master plan, when revised, must be approved by state health department officials.

The commissioners, who noted the hearing record will remain open for a week, agreed to meet with development director Tom Jones on Thursday, a day set aside by the commissioners as a work session day to work on the amendments.

In other business, Commissioner John Braskey returned to work Tuesday after a medical leave, although reports were he would not return until Feb. 1. He stated he would have to restict activities for a few weeks, but soon hoped to fulfill his campaign promise to be a full-time commissioner.

Dorothy Leighton, who was assigned by the commissioners to organize a state-required children youth advisory council, submitted a list of persons to serve on the board for the commissioners' approval. The commissioners noted they would review the list and appointed commissioner John Braskey to be the commissioners' representative on the council.

Gray Clouds Hover Over Mountaintop

Low, gray clouds seem to have become a permanent part of the landscape this past week, as they dropped either snow or sleet from the skies.

Coldest night of the week was last Wednesday, when skies were clear and the mercury plummeted to minus 12 degrees. The week's high temperature was 36 degrees, reached on Monday.

Last Wednesday's so-called high was 18 degrees, and there was .01 of an inch of precipitation. Thursday's high was 27 after the frigid night before, when many residents awoke to find frozen water lines.

Thursday night's low was 15 degrees and the high Friday was 32. There was no precip recorded either of those two days. By Saturday, when the thermometers reached 33 degrees after the previous night's low of 21, some three inches of new snow had fallen. The low Saturday night was 24 degrees. Sunday continued the gloomy sky pattern and had a high of 35.

The mercury dipped to 28 Sunday night before climbing to the week's "high" Monday. There was some .32 of an inch of precipitation Sunday and .06 of an inch Monday. Tuesday brought additional precipitation, .01 of an inch, but no new measurable snow accumulation.

Monday night the temperature dropped to 28 degrees, peaking at 31 on Tuesday before slipping to 25 last night.

Second Impression

World Council of Churches—does the end justify the means?

by Harry Fox

One of television's best examples of journalism in action—60 Minutes—has made a name for itself by never hesitating to take a look at any subject worth investigating. They don't make any cows that are sacred enough or big enough to scare away the skeptical eye of this video news magazine.

Now 60 Minutes has raised eyes by turning its cameras on two big names in the arena of world religion. Correspondent Morley Safer reports that the World Council of Churches and its American brother, the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, have been funneling portions of the contributions received from member church bodies into leftist and communist causes throughout the world. Among those given WCC funding was the government of South Vietnam. Two million dollars was contributed toward "new economic zones" in that ravaged land; another title, Safer suggests, for forced labor camps.

NCCCUSA contributions in this nation, from most major protestant denominations, have funded "solidarity conferences" to support liberation struggles, a Cuba Resource Center, kept busy at projects to define the gospel in Marxists terms, and other similar projects. All of these programs sounded very liberal and open-minded on paper. Safer's report suggests that they were actually examples of heavy-handed Marxism. One literacy program combined reading skills with teaching political awareness—but, strange enough, only teachers from Cuba were on staff—no Americans.

60 Minutes' coverage of this controversy makes it pretty hard to dismiss such charges as the raving of right-wing fanatics.

It does make it harder to appreciate the benefits of membership in the WCC. Many church members will find, on asking, that their church organizations belong to one or both groups.

Asking your pastor about this won't help very much. Nor will anyone notice holding back at the offering plate, either, despite the temptation. But bishops, presidents, and superintendents, all church leaders, have mail boxes. Church members have a right to ask questions, and get answers.

Dr. Phillip Potter, general secretary of the WCC, is an adept defender of the council's support of leftist causes. He points out that "helping" persons who are starving, deprived, and denied basic human rights isn't enough—that we (Christians, particularly) ought to change the system.

He is right, about that.

But, one of the more liberating values conveyed in the gospels is the recognition that the end doesn't justify the means.

Perhaps, in its desire to change the system, the church is reading too much Marx, and not enough Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John.

4-H Club News

North Glade Club
by Kelly Friend, reporter

In December our club had our Christmas party at the home of Andrew and Leslie Beckman.

Those attending the party were: Marsha Custer, Leslie Beckman, Andrew Beckman, Heather Hamilton, Scotty Hamilton, Rita Harvey, Norma Custer, Kelly Friend, Eddie Friend, Brian Friend, Dee Dee Friend, Jody Friend, Diana O'Brien, Shirley O'Brien, Dottie Beckman, Ilene Custer, Debbie Friend, Ellen Friend, Donna Harvey, Louella Friend and Mary Lynn Friend.

Heather, Scotty and Kelly gave demonstrations.

Our January meeting was held at Diana O'Brien's home. Those members attending were Eddie Friend, Andrew Beckman, Marsha Custer, Leslie Beckman and Kelly Friend.

Our record books are to be in by February first, so anyone not finished should do so soon.

We were to have a public speaking workshop at this meeting but Marvin Beckman, our guest speaker, was unable to attend so we will have our workshop at the February meeting. Everyone is to have a speech prepared for then. We will each give our speech and then Marvin will give us pointers on improving them. After hearing the speeches the club will decide who should go to the area contest.

Leslie Beckman suggested having a Valentines Day Party at the bowling lanes. The other members all agreed so Ellen Friend contacted the lanes and made the arrangements to have the party on Feburary 16 right after school.

After our business meeting we played a game and then enjoyed the refreshments Diana had for us.

We will be working on our club building on January 29, so please try to come and help. Our next meeting will be February 9 at Ellen Friends.

ENERGY TIP: To help keep you warm, always wear stockings or socks with shoes, slippers or boots. Longer socks which reach the knee are warmer than ankle or shorter socks. Wool, cotton, or acrylic socks are bulkier and warmer than nylon socks or stockings. You can cut felt soles the size of your feet and sew them on the bottom of socks for added warmth inside shoes.

BAG LUNCH TIPS

When packing your child's lunch, here are some tips you may want to keep in mind:

•Keep it simple to allow the child time to enjoy lunch.

•Be careful not to pack many small containers, particularly for the small child.

•Try to avoid messy foods, but when you do pack them, include a moist towelette.

•Let your child help prepare and pack the lunch.

•Don't worry if your child wants the same main course day after day. Just try adding some enticing extras to vary the lunch, like different fresh fruits and vegetables. The one-food binge will soon pass.

Here's a variation of the peanut butter sandwich for you to try in your child's lunch:

PEANUT BUTTER-ORANGE SANDWICH FILLING

Makes 2 cups sandwich filling.

1 cup peanut butter, crunchy
2 tablespoons honey
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup oranges, peeled, diced

1. Thoroughly mix peanut butter, honey, and salt.
2. Stir in oranges
3. Chill
4. Use about ⅓ cup filling per sandwich.

NOTE: Filling can be made the day before using. Store covered in the refrigerator. Stir lightly before making sandwiches.

Also, try this recipe for a special dessert in your child's lunch:

CARROT-RAISIN BROWNIES

Makes 24 brownies, 2x2¼ inches each.

1½ cups light brown sugar, packed
½ cup butter or margarine, softened
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups flour, unsifted
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup raisins, chopped
1½ cups carrots, finely grated
½ cup walnuts, finely chopped

1. Preheat oven to 350°F (Moderate).
2. Grease a 9 by 13 inch baking pan.
3. Mix sugar and fat.
4. Add eggs and vanilla, beat.
5. Stir in dry ingredients. Add raisins and carrots, stir.
6. Spread mixture into baking pan, sprinkle with walnuts.
7. Bake about 40 minutes or until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.
8. Cool, cut into squares.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

A workshop entitled "Teaching the Beginning Server" will be presented on February 7 at 1:00 p.m. at the Grantsville Extension Office and on February 9 at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. at the Oakland Extension Office. All interested persons are invited to attend. For more information call 334-2145 or 895-3124 (Monday's or Friday's).

Holiday Drama Presented By Grantsville Staff

During the recent holiday season, faculty and staff of the Grantsville School demonstrated their belief that "turn about is fair play" when they chose to present a play to the children, rather than the traditional reverse method.

Following a Christmas special by the fourth grade classes of Michael Warne and Mrs. Ruby Thompson, the "Night Before Christmas" was adapted into a narrated comedy.

Mrs. Rose Folk was narrator. John Helmick, in his flannel nightshirt and cap, portrayed the father, and the health class mannequin (whose head rolled off when father shook her awake) played the mother. Carolyn Collen Dubase portrayed the absent-minded Santa; Marie Brenneman, the mouse; John Whetsell and Marsha Swauger, the sugar plums, and reindeer were Cherie Rettel; Mary Susan Norris; Louise Vought; Bernadine Friend; Debbie Bittinger; Betty Kolb; Ruby Thompson; and Cassandra Sobota.

The faculty at Grantsville encourages other elementary schools in the county to attempt a reverse entertainment of this type so the students might sometimes be the audience rather than the stage participants, according to a staff spokesperson.

Grantsville prinicpal is Matthew Steiringer.

VOLUNTEER RETIRES — After providing several years of volunteer service to the local Red Cross Bloodmobile program, Mary Frances Paige, Loch Lynn, retired early this month. Mrs. Paige was responsible for scheduling the various local nurses who assist during visits of the Bloodmobile. She was presented a silk Red Cross scarf by Norma Hesen, Bloodmobile chairman, in token of appreciation for her service. In the photo, left to right, are Mrs. Paige, Mrs. Hesen, and Reva Rush, who has assumed the scheduling duties.

Accident To Hold Voter Registration

The town of Accident will hold its corporation registration for new voters on Saturday, January 29, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Town Hall. Voters must be at least 18 years of age and residents within the corporate limits for one year. All registered voters will be eligible to vote in the March 1 election.

Accident will hold its annual Town Convention on Tuesday, February 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Hall. The purpose of the convention is to receive nominations for the office of mayor and two councilmen. Those whose two-year terms of office will expire are: Wayne Fratz, mayor, and David Davis and Charles Strauss, councilmen. Terms of office remaining in effect are those of Richard Carlson and Owen Bach, councilmen.

Missionary To Speak At Local Baptist Church

Rev. Edward W. Blakslee, a missionary to Brazil, will be the speaker at a special worship service at the Mt. Lake Park Independent Baptist Church on Wednesday, February 2, at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Blakslee is a native of Ashfield, Mass. He is a U.S. Army veteran, having served during the Korean War. He received a college education at Shelton College.

He and his wife traveled to Brazil and did missionary work along the Amazon River. The Blakslees started a river launch ministry in 1967 by building a 50-foot diesel-powered boat complete with living accommodations and a small medical dispensary. They traveled up and down the Amazon River, establishing 57 preaching locations along the river. They also established their home base in Fonte Boa.

The couple is presently on a one-year furlough from their work in Brazil, traveling throughout the United States reporting their work to support churches. They will return to Brazil next year.

GCC Registration Now Underway

Registration for the 1983 spring semester will be held this week at Garrett Community College from 8:30-4:30 and 6-8 p.m. in the Registrar's Office, newly located in the Learning Center Addition. Classes begin January 31; however, it will be possible to register during regular office hours and evenings from 6-7 p.m. from January 31-February 3.

Part-time students may also register at the Oakland Center.

SPRINKLERS CUT HOME FIRES

Anti-fire ceiling sprinklers may be appearing in the home within a few years, following the lead of the widely-accepted smoke detectors. Work has been progressing for two years in the development of a low-cost, effective residential sprinkler system.

Federal officials, now setting standards for a model residential system, estimate home sprinklers could reduce home fire deaths by up to 80% and cut residential property losses by 90%.

Research has shown that most home fires can be contained in the room of origin—and often extinguished—with the sprinkler system using about 6 gallons of water per minute. Sprinklers may not be able to put out all fires, but they can usually control a fire for 15 to 20 minutes so the occupants can get out and the fire service can get in. When the fire service does get there the fire has been kept to one room so they normally would have very little trouble dousing it. Sprinklers would not be used to replace smoke detectors or fire departments. Residential sprinklers would be used with smoke detectors to save lives and help fire fighters by containing the flames.

Fundamentals Of Technical Theatre Course Planned

Garrett Community College will offer the course "Fundamentals of Technical Theatre" at its McHenry campus during the spring semester.

The three-credit hour course, to be taught by instructor Ben Sincell, will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5 to 6:30 p.m. beginning Feb. 1.

In the course, students will be introduced to the "behind the scenes" of theatre such as set construction, basic design, basic lighting, theatre management, costumes and makeup.

Sincell pointed out, "the class will not necessarily meet as scheduled each class period because a lot of work will be done outside of class. Student assignments will not be restricted to college productions, but could include community productions such as dinner theatre, church and high school productions."

"After the Garrett Choral Society production of 'Fiddler On The Roof' in November 1982, several people asked me how it was done technically" said Sincell, who was the designer for the show. "This course will introduce them to some of the techniques involved."

Bookmobile Fund Drive Launched

The Ruth Enlow Library is launching a fund-raising campaign this week for a new bookmobile, librarian Edith Brock announced Tuesday.

The new bookmobile, with a price tag of $25,706, is to replace the old bookmobile which has been out of service since October 28, 1982.

The Library Board of Trustees has already ordered the new vehicle, Miss Brock said. The new bookmobile, a bubble-top van, is to arrive in May.

Miss Brock said letters asking for help will be mailed out Thursday and Friday to Garrett County service organizations.

The library needs to raise $16,332 of the total price for the van. Miss Brock noted the library had enough to make a down payment through various funds, primarily through money set aside over the years for such a purchase. Money not raised will have to be borrowed, she said.

Besides letters to service organizations, campaign plans include placement of donation boxes in all branch libraries and in some businesses and sale of used and donated books. Miss Brock said other plans to raise money are not yet final.

Miss Brock noted any group wishing to hear a presentation about the bookmobile service should contact her at the library in Oakland.

Nolan Presenting Classes On Drug Use And Abuse

Deputy Charles Nolan of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department has been presenting information about drugs and drug abuse to a number of organizations during the past four months.

His classes teach how to identify drugs, particularly the abused depressants, stimulants, hallucinogens, and marijuana, and also teaches how to identify the abuser as well as the user and what drugs are found in the county. His information includes a 15-minute movie and sessions conclude with a discussion.

Any group or organization which would like to have this information presented may contact Sheriff Franklin Finch, at the county sheriff's office.

Kitzmiller HUD Application Denied

Kitzmiller's mayor Lois Mosser was notified Tuesday by Representative Beverly Byron that the town's application for $500,000 in Housing and Urban Development housing rehabilitation grant funds was turned down.

The grant, which would have been distributed as a mixture of grants and loans, based on property owners' incomes, would have been used to bring some 85 structures into compliance with HUD Section eight standards over a two-year period.

According to municipal coordinator Wendell Keaton, an application for the rehabilitation grant will be re-submitted as soon as possible.

Woman Remains Hospitalized Following Mishap

An Oakland woman, Kathryn L. Harvey, 31,. was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital in satisfactory condition Monday following a single-vehicle mishap on the Jasper Riley Road, off Rt. 219. The accident occurrred approximately 10:40 a.m.

Treated and released were two passengers in the Harvey auto, Darvin Pysel, 26, and Arthur Pysel, two years old.

According to police, the Harvey vehicle was traveling east on the Jasper Riley Road when the driver crested a hill, observed another vehicle sitting in the roadway. The driver steered sharply to the left to avoid a collision, causing the 1979 Ford Bronco to overturn.

Southern Rescue Squad, the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, and Tfc. David Riggleman, Maryland State Police, responded to the alarm.

No charges were filed against Mrs. Harvey, who remains hospitalized in satisfactory condition this morning.

A Big

Thank You to Ralph's Richfood

The Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department would like to take this opportunity to thank Ralph's Richfood for their generous donation to this department of a ½ baby beef which was purchased at the Garrett County Fair's Baby Beef Sale. It was an honor to receive this donation. The proceeds were a very big help in the decision to buy a 1982 Chevrolet 2340 gallon tank truck which is a big boost for us and to the protection of the community we serve.

We would also like to say congratulations to Ms. Jennie Vodopivec who was the lucky ticket holder and thank you to all who supported us in this fund raising drive.

"Thank you again Ralph's Richfood."

Garrett Skiers Place Third In Five-Team Event

The Garrett Community College ski team participated in its first collegiate race this past weekend at the Wisp Ski Area and wound up placing third in the five-team event.

Winning the competition was Penn State, followed by Frostburg, GCC, Indiana University of Pennsylvania and West Virginia University.

Brian Wachter, of Garrett, won third place overall individual honors by placing second in the giant slalom on Saturday and first in the giant slalom on Sunday. Pat Riley was the second place overall finisher, winning third place in the slalom on Sunday and third in the giant slalom, also on Sunday.

Individual honors were decided according to combined racing times. The other two members of the Garrett team are Mark Ruhe and Roger Zinn.

GCC will compete in three more regular races this season. This weekend they will travel to Seven Springs, return to Wisp for a meet Feb. 5-6 and then compete at Ski Mount, Pa., Feb. 12-13. If by that time the team is in the top three in the region, the Garrett skiers will then participate in the regional competition at Elk Mountain, Pa. With success there, they will then participate in the National Collegiate Ski Association Nationals at Waterville Valley, N.H. on March 5.

Southern Winter Guard Captures First Place

The Southern High School Belles Winter Guard took first place honors during a recent competition at McKeesport (Pa.) High School held January 22.

The guard scored 65 points of a possible 100. The second place squad of Utopia (Pa.) High School scored a 53.

The guard, under the direction of Richard Clever, will now travel to New Philadelphia, Ohio, February 11-13 for (WGI) Midwestern Regional Competition.

Drill instructor and design coordinator is Bob Thomas, Greensburg, Pa.

PLAN FIRST GARRETT COUNTY RUN FOR LIFE — Planning has begun for the first Garrett County Run For Life, an activity to benefit the Western Maryland Chapter of the American Heart Association. The event, scheduled for May 14 at Garrett Community College, is a run-walk, non-competitive affair in which participants obtain pledge contributions for each mile they complete. Anyone, of any age, is welcome to take part in the one to five-mile event. Above, left to right, local committee chairman Gene Helbig and vice chairmen Jim Murray and Don Sincell meet with Bill Hesen, president of the Central Coca-Cola Bottling Company which has agreed to serve as a sponsor for the event. For more information, persons may contact Helbig or Murray at 334-3127.

Hershman had 186 points. In second place with 146 points was Denny Glotfelty, McHenry, and in third was Tommy Kelly, Erie, Pa., with 104 points.

There were approximately 85 entrants in the various classes which were run according to sanctioned rules this year.

Winners were: women's class, Susan Mason; Novice II, Dean Eyler first; Tim Rodeheaver second, Jim McCrobie third; Senior Sno-Cross II, Lee Wolf; Senior III, Lowell Stern first, Gary Crosco second, Kevin Sisler third.

Senior IV, Bob Hershman first, Lowell Stern second.

Senior V, Dale Sisler first, Lee Wolf second; senior VI, Chris Breining first, Denny Glotfelty second, Bob Hershman third; Senior VII, Bob Hershman first, Tommy Kelly second and Denny Glotfelty third.

Winners of the Senior Pro class were Jim Fiske first, Tommy Kelly second and Denny Glotfelty third.

This coming weekend Jan. 29 and 30, the Snowdrifters will sponsor the Maryland State Championship Sno-Cross at the Double G, in cooperation with the Strohs Brewing Company. Registration will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. both days, with racing to start at 1 p.m.

For additional race information call 387-5536 or 387-5466.

The club is also sponsoring a dance Saturday night beginning at 9 p.m. at Village Inn. The dance is open to the public.

Wisp Ski School Rated Number One

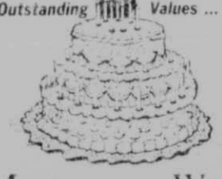
The 1982-83 issue of "Ski Resorts," an annual publication which provides information about winter ski resorts in the eastern United States, rates the Wisp Ski School of Wisp Ski Area, McHenry, as the best in the east, along with the ski school at Camelback resort in Pennsylvania.

The Wisp Ski School is operated by Dieter Baer, director, and Ludwig Grimm, assistant director. Both are members of the Professional Ski Instructors Association. They are citizens of Austria and reside at the Wisp resort during the winter months.

"Ski Resorts" is published by Entertainment Research in Greenbelt and has a circulation of over 20,000.

Cross Country Ski Race Slated At Herrington

The Garrett County Kick and Glide Ski Club and the Maryland Park Service will sponsor a cross country ski race this Saturday, January 29, at Herrington Manor State Park.



Registration will begin at 9 a.m. for the adult race, which will be five miles in length, and the children's race, which will cover one mile.

Races will start at 10 a.m. Trophies will be awarded to winners in all age classes.

For more information, call the Maryland Park Service at 334-9180 or Steve Shaffer, 334-8442.

Lakers Fall To Frederick, Dundalk Before Stopping Baltimore, 81 - 73

The Garrett Community College Lakers suffered two more sound defeats this past week, stretching their losing streak to five, before rebounding with a 81-73 victory over Baltimore Community College Monday evening in McHenry. The losses came at the hands of Frederick CC last Wednesday, 108-95, also in McHenry, and Dundalk, 114-81, on Saturday on the Lions' court.

Garrett's Eric Everhart and Tom Fulwood paced all scorers in the Frederick contest, netting 27 and 25 points, respectively. Three other Lakers reached double figures, including Doug Ernst, Kip Washington and Tim Winters, who each hit ten points.

However, five Frederick cagers also finished in double figures. Powell and Tolson each recorded 21 points, Scott Newland scored 20, Allen, 15, and Randy Smith, 14.

Garrett held a two-point advantage at the half, 45-43, but Frederick began to pull away midway through the second half.

The winners outshot Garrett from the field by a 45-39 margin and made good on 18 of 24 foul shots, compared to a 17-for-24 showing by the Lakers.

The Dundalk Lions hit a sizzling 64 percent from the floor against the Lakers Saturday and led by as many as 38 points in the second half, easily avenging an 100-92 overtime loss to the Lakers earlier this season.

Garrett played evenly with the Lions until about midway through the first half. The score was knotted at 23 each, but Dundalk then reeled off 18 points to take control. The halftime was 57-36.

Fulwood and Winters paced Garrett with 17 points each, while Everhart hit 14 and Bob Smith, 10.

Harold Murray led seven Lions in double figures, finishing with 16 points. Vince Delaney and Greg Mohr each contributed 14, Pat Fry, 11, and Roy Wilson and Troy Goldring each hit ten.

The Lakers were outshot from the floor by a 54-30 margin, although they converted 21 of 31 free tosses, compared to a six-for-nine effort by the Lions. Garrett was also out-rebounded, 47-31.

The Lakers were also outshot by Baltimore CC from the floor on Monday by a 34-27 margin, but connected on 27 of 35 free throw opportunities, or 77 percent, to pave the way for the win. The Red Devils managed to hit just five of ten free tosses.

The contest remained close throughout the first half, with Garrett taking a 32-28 advantage into the lockerroom at intermission. The Lakers increased their lead to as many as 12 in the second half and then hit all 14 of their final free throws to secure the victory.

Everhart, who grabbed eight rebounds, led Garrett with 22 points on eight buckets and six of 12 free throws. Winters finished with 18 points, Fulwood netted 15, and Smith, ten.

Baltimore's Charles Pate was the game's top scorer, finishing with 23 markers. Doren Chapman and Craig Parnell each added 13 and David Jennifer, ten.

The Red Devils' only lead came early in the contest at 7-6. They tied the score for the last time early in the second half at 32, after scoring the first four points of the half.

Garrett is now 9-10 overall and 3-6 in conference action. The Lakers' next encounter will be Saturday in Cumberland when they face rival Allegany CC, a team which is currently riding a 14-game winning streak.

Drag In The Profits!

The Farmi logging winches convert any tractor into a productive forest machine. Your tractor and the Farmi winch is a low cost way of winching in and skidding out your firewood, pulpwood and logs.

The robust construction and a one year warranty assures that the Farmi Winch will last for years. The Farmi winch fits any 3-point hitch. You reduce damage to the woodlot as the Farmi winch and tractor is compact and easy to maneuver.

Several logs can be winched in at one time. The stabilizer legs dig into the ground when the winch is operated which prevents the tractor from sliding backwards. The override clutch which protects the cable and winch from damage is standard on all Farmi models.

The cable is locked when the logs have been winched to the tractor. The 3-point hitch is raised to lift the logs off the ground when the logs are transported to the landing.

INSULATION makes the big difference in your home heating bills!

How Does Your Home Measure Up?

Whether or not electricity is the sole means of heating and cooling your home, proper insulation is extremely important in saving you dollars and energy. Insulating a home which has no insulation can provide substantial savings of up to 30% of your heating and cooling costs.

Heating and air conditioning requirements are far less in a home that is properly insulated. Of course, this means greater comfort for the homeowner at a lower cost.

Your home may not have enough insulation and we recommend the following guidelines:

Ceilings - R 30 Insulation
Walls - R 11 Insulation (existing homes)
- R 18 Insulation (new homes)
Floors - R 19 Insulation

If you aren't sure about the amount of insulation in your home, call a reputable contractor or dealer for an inspection. Properly installed insulation can make a big difference in comfort and cost.

Storm doors and windows represent another major source of energy and costs savings. For example, storm doors and windows or insulating glass can actually reduce the heating or cooling loss through windows by almost 50% when compared to standard doors and windows. For even greater savings, you might consider triple-glazed windows and insulated doors.

Installation of storm doors and windows also provides greater comfort by eliminating cold drafts, especially across the floors.

Some doors and windows leak so much they might as well be open. Keep the warm or cool air inside where you want it. You'll enjoy greater comfort and save energy and money at the same time.

Storm doors and windows can still lose heated or cooled air if they aren't properly sealed. Check to make sure that yours are weatherstripped around movable joints and well caulked around all frames. It does make a big difference.

Rams Whip Black Knights, 74-62, Before Falling To Unbeaten Aggies

The Southern Rams earned their seventh victory of the season by topping Valley in a convincing fashion Friday evening, 74-62, in Oakland. Their momentum came to a screeching halt last night, however, when they faced undefeated Flintstone on the Aggies' court and lost, 69-58.

The Rams built an early lead against the Black Knights, assuming a 19-8 advantage in the first quarter. Southern was on top 32-21 at intermission and then outscored their opponents 26-12 in the third period to take a 58-33 lead into the final stanza.

Four Rams finished in double figures, led by Tom Stem with 16 points. Kevin Winters, Rick Selders and Scott Stem each netted a dozen markers.

Valley's Dave Llewellyn led all scorers with 20 points and teammates Mark McMillan and Andy Winner contributed 12 and ten points, respectively.

It was the eighth loss against five wins for the Black Knights.

Southern outgunned Valley from the floor by a 31-24 margin and made good on 12 of 15 free throws, compared to a 14-for-17 showing by the Knights.

Southern's jayvees made it a sweep with a 57-38 win over their Valley counterparts in the preliminary game.

The Southern varsity continued to play in impressive style throughout the first three quarters against Flintstone last night, staying almost even with the 13-0 Aggies. The Rams were on top 17-16 at the end of the first eight minutes and were behind by just four at intermission and at the end of the third period. However, the Aggies seized control of the game early in the final period and were finally able to expand their lead.

Charles Owen and Ken Robertson each bucketed 21 points for the winners and teammate Greg Rinker was close behind with 20 points.

Rick Selders led Southern's offensive attack, finishing with 16 points. Scott Stem netted 14 and Kevin Winters, 13.

Southern was outshot from the floor by only one goal, 27-26, but managed to convert only six of 16 free throw opportunities, compared to a 15-for-24 performance by Flintstone.

The Southern jayvee team also went down to defeat in the preliminary contest, 55-46.

The Rams will play again Friday evening by hosting University High of Morgantown.

Foley, Neely Win Tournament Titles For Rams

Chris Foley and Rod Neely of Southern earned championship trophies in the Fort Hill Invitational Wrestling Tournament this past weekend, although the Rams finished sixth overall in the eight-team event.

Foley decisioned Greg Cunningham on North Marion, 13-8, in the 138-pound title match-up and Neely out-pointed North Marion's Drew Analock, 11-8, in the 185-pound final. They were the only two Rams to make it into the final round.

North Marion won the tournament with 206½ points, followed by Meyersdale with 171½, Williamsport, 152, Fort Hill, 112½, Frankfort, 112, Southern, Hyndman, 73 and Keyser, 26.

Most Valuable Wrestling honors went to Jim Whitacre of Meyersdale and Ken Rhodes of Williamsport.

The Southern wrestlers will travel to Valley Thursday for a 7:30 meet.

Huskies' Record Falls To 5-5 With Losses To Flintstone, Bruce

The Northern Huskies saw their season record even out at 7-7 during the past week in losing to undefeated Flintstone Friday evening, 76-63, at Northern and falling to Bruce last night, 68-60, on the Bulldogs floor in Westernport.

The Huskies did not allow the Aggies' unbeaten streak of 11 games intimidate them throughout most of the contest, as the first three quarters were played almost evenly. Flintstone netted nine of 11 free throws in the fourth quarter, however, to secure the win. The Huskies were down by only one at the end of the first two quarters, 14-13 and 34-33, and behind just 53-50 when the final eight minutes began.

With four minutes to play the Huskies pulled to within one of the Aggies, 59-58, but turnovers allowed the winners to pull away.

Carlos Owen scored nearly half of his team's total, ripping the nets for 37 points on 16 buckets and five of eight free throws. Teammate Greg Rinker contributed 21 points and Ken Robertson, 14.

Although Owen's performance was outstanding, Northern's Brad Yoder surpassed his effort by netting an incredible 43 points on 19 baskets and five of five from the line. He was the only Husky to reach double figures.

The Huskies were out-goaled by a 31-27 margin and converted nine of ten free throws, compared to a 14-for-21 effort by the Aggies.

The Northern jayvee team softened the varsity's loss by recording a 47-36 win over their Numerous Thefts Reported To Sheriff's Dept.

Numerous attempted or accomplished breakings and enterings, thefts and destruction of property incidents were reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department during the past several days. Stolen items ranged from bee hives complete with honey to a grandmother's ring.

Thieves entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reese on Old Crellin Road between 6:50 a.m. and 4 p.m. January 20 and ransacked the house, making off with an estimated $1,220 in cash, coins, and jewelry.

According to the report filed by Deputy Russell Drenning of the county sheriff's department, an unknown person kicked open the door of the basement. Some $905 in cash was taken from a kitchen cabinet and the thief proceeded to a bedroom and ransacked the room. Two rings, a 14 carat gold wedding band and an 1972 Elk Garden High School girl's class ring, were removed from a jewelry box.

Also missing from the home was a grandmother's ring with three stones and a black piggy bank containing $80 in coins.

There was an attempted breaking and entering reported by Wallace Taliaferro, Springwood Acres, McHenry, January 24. Sometime between 7:50 and 4 p.m., unknown persons had pried open the front and rear doors of the residence. The amount of damage done to the doors was not recorded by Deputy Larry Gnegy, who investigated.

James Brown, Edmonston, reported that three bee hives and the honey they contained were stolen from his farm near Sand Flat between December 11 and January 19.

Chief deputy M. Van Evans reported the loss as over $200.

Someone removed the rear-view mirror and a chrome strip from a 1975 Buick owned by Henry Armstrong, Main Street, Deer Park, while the vehicle was parked in front of his home January 23. Deputy Gnegy estimated loss to be $65, and is investigating several leads.

A destruction of property was reported at the Loch Lynn town garage, which is rented to the Garrett County Sanitary District, sometime January 21. Apparently someone using an air rifle or BB gun shattered the window on the driver's side of a dump truck parked there. Criminal investigator Harland Tichnell figured the loss at $50.

There was a breaking and entering and destruction of property incident at Miller's Barber Shop between January 17 and 19, according to proprietor John E. Miller. The door to the shop was kicked open, causing considerable damage, and the contents of a drawer were emptied onto the floor but nothing appeared to be missing. Investigator Tichnell estimated damage at $125.

Deputy D.W. Tucker responded to the scene of a reported theft January 18 at Par-Matt Lanes, in response to a call from Anthony Decrispino, Ellicott City.

When the deputy arrived, Decrispino told him that someone had removed two pairs of skis and poles and their mounting rack from the trunk of his car. The deputy found the missing articles lying approximately 100 yards from the car and the property was returned to its owner.

Ski Property Stolen

The rear window of a camper top was shattered so thieves could remove two pairs of skis, bindings, and poles, and also a pair of ski boots from a vehicle owned by Emerson and Shirley Frazee, Route 1, Friendsville, on January 20. The theft occurred between 10:45 and 11:30 p.m. at the Wisp area parking lot.

Deputy Russell Drenning is conducting an investigation.

Investigator Tichnell was called to the Wisp on January 18 after Mary Jo Takello, Towson, reported the theft of her Rossignol skis, along with bindings and poles, from the outside of the ski lodge. Loss is estimated at $550.

Unclaimed Benefit Owners Sought By Comptroller

In today's economy, it's hard to believe that anyone could have assets they don't know about. But that could well be the case where insurance benefits are concerned, according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. "During the weeks of January 24 and January 31, the ad sections of local papers, including The Republican, will be carrying the names of some 3,400 Marylanders who are apparently the rightful owners of $372,000 in unclaimed benefits and other funds reported by insurance companies in Maryland," Goldstein said.

The great majority of the unclaimed insurance accounts, he said, are in the form of matured endowment policies. The most common situation occurs when a parent or another adult takes out an endowment policy after a child is born. After three or more years, they may stop paying the premiums on the policy. Years later, the person who took out the policy has either forgotten it or incorrectly assumes that it has no cash equity. Such a policy may mature after 20 years. If the beneficiary doesn't claim it, it is reported to the State Comptroller's Office five years past the maturity date. The situation is complicated by the fact that the beneficiary may never have known the policy even existed Goldstein said.

Other unclaimed insurance property reported by the insurance companies includes life or casualty insurance benefits, unclaimed wages, or other property held by insurance companies.

"If you spot your name or the name of someone you know in the ads, contact the Abandoned Property Section at the address listed, and you will be told whom to contact at the appropriate institution to file your claim," Goldstein said.

Maryland's Uniform Disposition of Unclaimed Property Act, passed in 1966, is not a tax. Rather, is it designed to give the State care and custody of certain abandoned property when the owner cannot be located. No time limit is placed on reclaiming the funds. Rightful owners or heirs can reclaim the funds at any time in the future.

Notices are mailed to the presumed owner's last known address and advertisements placed in local newspapers based on information reported by institutions operating in Maryland.

In addition to insurance proceeds and abandoned wages, the law also includes savings, checking, and share accounts; certified checks and certificates of deposit; money orders, travelers checks, and safe deposit boxes; utility company deposits and refunds; stocks, bonds, and dividends and interest on them; fiduciary and trust interest; funds held by courts and by State, county, and municipal agencies; and other unclaimed funds. Unclaimed property reported by institutions except insurance companies (such as banks, building and loan associations, and corporations) is advertised in the spring.

Property that remains unclaimed is turned over to the Abandoned Property Section. At the end of each fiscal year, net revenue is distributed to the political subdivisions based on the owner's last known address. However, the owner can still recover his or her property on the amount realized from its sale at any time.

Because a recent change in Maryland law requiring that unclaimed insurance property be reported to the Comptroller's Office within five years of becoming inactive (instead of the previous seven years), the number of accounts being advertised this year is double the usual advertisement. Unclaimed insurance property was also advertised statewide in December, 1982.

The United States has about one-fourth of the world's estimated recoverable coal reserves.

obligation bond, the county commissioners proposed legislation two years ago for a $1.9 million bond, but did not pursue it because former House of Delegates member DeCorsey Bolden did not support the legislation.

The commissioners will review the projects and consider them when planning the FY 1983-84 county budget. Those approved may be either funded through the general fund or through revenue sharing.

The commissioners concurred that unless there were other major capital projects to add to the two courthouse renovation projects, the amount of the two projects was not enough to justify a general obligation bond.

Arrests

man, John Warden Mitchell, Lanham, was arrested by Maryland State Police for a Sunday morning crime spree in Garrett and Allegany County. He is being held on $20,000 bond. Charges include auto theft, destruction of property, two counts of grand theft, and two counts of breaking and entering.

He was charged in connection with a breaking and entering incident at Green Ridge State Forest and the Juvenile Services Administration camp in Garrett County.

Tfc. Larry Tracy arrested two McHenry teenagers last night, charging them with theft and destruction of property.

Charged were Kelvy W. Cosner, 18, and Merle Travis, also 18. The two are charged with removing a cold drink machine from the Hoyes Country Store, forcing it open, and removing the money. Another machine was reported stolen from the Taylor Cleaning Center in Accident. It was found a short time later behind the building, but nothing was stolen. Eyewitnesses reported the make and model of the car the two were driving, which aided in the arrest.

Another theft incident is being investigated from the Delta Mining Company's Altamont coal yard, near Swanton. Four to five tons of coal, valued at $50 a ton, were reported stolen sometime this month. Tfc. Tracy is also investigating this case.

Lake Project

development near Ocean City. That system was a vacuum sewerage system, and both Beitzel and Thoman countered by saying that the projected system for the lake is a grinder pressure system, which does not need to be vented to the extent that a vacuum system does.

Beitzel later pointed out that the pumping stations have been located in as remote areas as possible, and that each will contain a charcoal filtering system to eliminate odors. He concluded by saying that there is no use arguing about the point—"sewerage stinks."

Project Status

The sanitary commission still cannot issue notices to proceed to the seven contractors who were awarded the bids for the system, as the property owners have ten days in which to file a petition for a second meeting in attempts to get the commission to change its mind about proceeding.

If a petition is filed, another meeting will be held and the petitioners will be given an opportunity to present testimony. If the commission remains firm in its decision, 20 property owners or other dissidents may petition the county commissioners; then the final decision will rest with the commissioners.

This could mean the appeal process would not be exhausted until late February.

There is still a restraining order against proceeding, placed by Associate Judge John A. Corderman in Circuit Court. Until Judge Corderman is satisfied that all procedures have been properly carried out, the order remains in effect.

Contractors Threaten Suits

Three of the contractors who were low bidders and were awarded the contracts have sent letters to the sanitary commission, stating that due to the delay, they have lost work and have also lost bonding power. Suits could total several million dollars against the county if the companies carry out their threats to seek court judgments for damages. Beitzel said this morning that he would hope the EPA would stand behind the project and defray the costs of any judgments leveled by courts against the sanitary district or the county.

Federal Court Postponed

A hearing scheduled Monday in federal court before Judge Frank Kaufman was postponed until February 16 after the court received a letter January 20 from the property owners' counsel, Whiteford, Taylor, Preston, Trimble and Johnston, pointing out that the administrative hearing process would not conclude until mid or late February. All counsels representing the various interests agreed to the postponement late last week.

Several members of the opposing counsels met Monday in Baltimore to iron out procedural problems so that matters may flow smoothly when the court hearing is held. The postponement will also allow all attorneys additional time to file documents and briefs.

Bus Safety

Department, Court officials and school bus drivers. The program in patterned after a similar public awareness effort which was successfully implemented in Allegany County early in 1982.

There will be a concerned effort to identify, apprehend and prosecute persons who violate school bus regulations. No warnings will be given. The minimun fine for an uncontested citation will be $250 as set by the District Court.

Efforts by the police and school bus drivers can be greatly enhanced by the cooperation of all motorists in being aware of, reporting and assisting prosecution of offenders in these cases. In most instances, a correct tag number, date, time and location of the incident immediately reported to State Police is sufficient.

"If this problem is approached in a cooperative manner," Bambacus and Edwards state, "we can succeed in our commitment to the safety of school children. It is a commitment which cannot be compromised. The consequences are too great."

Byron Announces Grants To Counties

Sixth District Congresswoman Beverly Byron announced Saturday that Allegany and Garrett counties have received grants from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Allegany County received $500,000 from the federal agency to establish a low-interest housing rehabilitation loan program, an emergency home repair grant program, and new sewer system for the Franklinville-Brophytown area. Garrett County received $65,000 for a sheltered workshop expansion. Both grants are from the Small Cities program of HUD's Community Development Block Grants program.

DWI Arrests Noted By Police

Two persons were charged this week with driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs.

Officer Ronald Beeghley, Oakland City Police, charged Hensel R. Deckman, 67, Oakland, and Tfc. Gary Resh, Maryland State Police, arrested Gary A. Beitzel, 34, Grantsville.

A compilation of 1982 figures from the office of Governor Harry Hughes, shows that Western Maryland police nearly tripled arrests in this category over the previous year.

Huskies

Flintstone counterparts in the preliminary contest.

Yoder again took scoring honors last night against Bruce, hitting 28 points on ten goals and eight of ten at the line, but the Huskies were never really in the game after the opening minutes.

Bruce jumped out to a 19-11 lead by the end of the first quarter and increased that margin to 34-19 by halftime. The Huskies cut the deficit to 47-39 by the end of the third period, but could get no closer. It was the Bulldogs' ninth win in 13 outings.

Rich Humberson contributed 15 points to the Huskies' total.

Ludwig paced the Bulldogs with 26 points on ten goals and six free throws, while Greg Morris chipped in with 16.

Bruce outshot the Huskies from the floor, 25-20, and netted 18 of 30 free tosses, compared to a 20-for-33 effort by Northern.

The Northern jayvee team also went down to defeat in the preliminary, 56-33.

AN AROMA OF TURPENTINE follows Melda Georg, she says, whenever she is in the throes of creating a new painting. Mrs. Georg stopped her career as a registered nurse three years ago to devote more time to her creative hobbies, and as a result has hung her second display of paintings at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland this month. Some of the new paintings in her collection of oils were responses to scenes she encountered during a trip to Arizona. Although she got a fairly late start, (in 1978 with a class taught by Gail Prentice at GCC) this Accident woman keeps up to date on new techniques and is an avid fan of the Andrew Wyeth style of painting, although she says that she would never have the patience to work six months or more on one painting. "When I paint, I paint very fast," she explains. A graduate of Grantsville High School, she recalls that she was good in the art classes offered but never took the chance to learn more about painting until nearly four years ago, when she was 53. She and her husband, Irvin, have four children and when she tires of painting she moves to rug braiding, quilting, or canning depending on the season and her desires. In her portraits on display this month, she notes that she is attempting more to capture facial features and expressions, as shown above with an Indian woman spinning, with Rachael, daughter of the superintendent at Cathedral State Park near Aurora, and with her grandfather, Peter Opel.

Maryland Tourism Office Announces New Ad Campaign

Kurt Alverson, director of the Maryland Office of Tourist Development, announced Maryland's all new 1983 advertising slogan and campaign at the Maryland Inn, Annapolis, on Tuesday. The announcement was made at the Maryland Travel Council winter meeting. The Maryland Travel Council consists of private tourism businesses from across Maryland.

The new slogan is "Capture A Maryland Memory." It will be promoted through a series of color and black and white magazine and newspaper ads in Maryland's Northeastern U.S. markets.

Earle Palmer Brown and Associates, Inc., located in Bethesda, Maryland, is the Office of Tourist Development's new ad agency. "They carefully researched Maryland's best tourist markets," Alverson said. "They then thoroughly tested each ad. One color ad shows Baltimore's Inner Harbor. Another displays the beautiful 60 foot Muddy Creek Falls in Western Maryland's Garrett County. Ocean City will be represented by an intriguing photograph of a girl sunbathing on the beach. A variety of all-print ads will also be used to explain the various regions of the state."

A sampling of the media to be used includes People Magazine, TV Guide, Better Homes and Gardens, and Parade Magazine.

"We are anticipating airing radio and TV spots in some of these same markets in May and June," stated Alverson. "Production schedules will be revised on those, depending on the weather this spring," he said.

Thousands of lapel buttons and bumper stickers will be distributed in Maryland's Northeastern markets and in Maryland. "New York promotes its slogan with mass distribution of items like these," noted Alverson. "It will work for Maryland, too."

VIEWS ON DENTAL HEALTH
By Ted Reeder, D.D.S.
"Remove the Pain . . . Not the Tooth"

A common belief is that once a tooth is abscessed, it must be extracted. However, the truth is that in most cases the pain can be relieved and the tooth saved by a procedure known as ROOT CANAL THERAPY.

Root canal therapy removes the source of the infection, which is inside the tooth, instead of removing the whole tooth. There is a small chamber in the middle of every tooth which contains what is commonly known as the nerve. This nerve can become infected and die and this causes a toothache. If the dead or dying nerve is removed, the pain is usually removed also. Root canal therapy involves removing all infected tissue from the nerve chamber and then sealing that chamber to prevent recontamination and allow the tissue surrounding the tooth to heal. In most cases, this treatment will remove the pain permanently and allow the tooth to remain in place.

an intellectual and environmental setting that offers intensive learning opportunities. Young people love it."

A total of 13 summer centers will be open across the state, with all but two residential. Those at the Maryland Academy of Sciences and the National Aquarium Center are day programs.

For information and application forms students should see their school principal or gifted and talented program coordinator. Deadline for 1983 application is February 11.

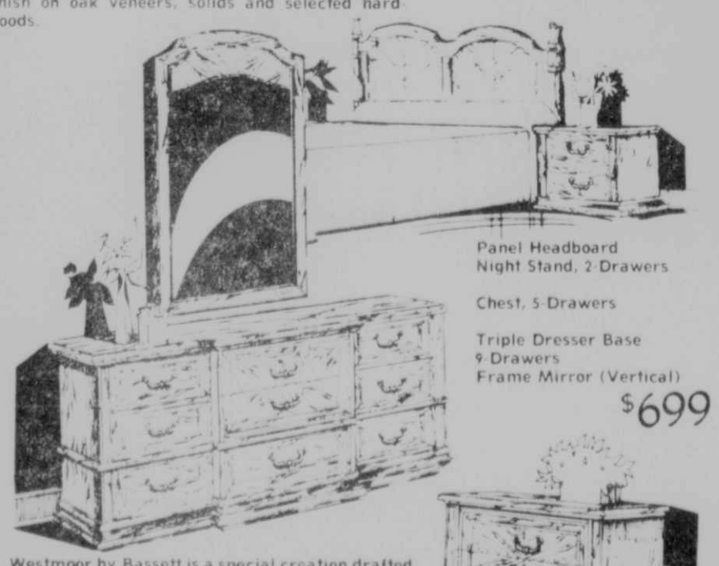
Applications Being Accepted Now For Summer Programs

The summer programs for outstanding students sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Education enter their tenth year in 1983. The state agency is now accepting student applications.

Gifted and talented students in grades four through 12 are invited to apply for placement at any of 13 summer centers across the state for studies in a range of academic and artistic subjects. Total enrollment will be limited to 2,600 students.

"The special appeal of this summer program," says Dr. Karen Davison, state coordinator, "is that it brings together bright young people with similar interests and talents in career goals (both immediate and long range), but also to help plan the strategy needed to obtain these goals.

For further information or to register for this workshop persons may contact the Center's main office at 334-9184.



Second Career Workshop Slated

The second in a series of free career workshops offered by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College will be held at the McHenry Campus of GCC on Monday, February 7, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. in the Board Room of the new learning center addition.

There was plenty of gasoline during the blizzard. Yet we couldn't go anywhere. So we made the best of it, and tried to help one another.

Our society is changing today. We are learning to cope. To appreciate what we have in abundance. Make do with what's in short supply. Share.

The message of our churches has not changed. They have always reminded us that life should not be measured in terms of material possessions. Christ in his own way offered men an abundant life.

For the Christian believer and worshipper that abundant life is founded on spiritual conviction and commitment. It includes things that blizzards and gas crunches cannot take away.

Come worship this week and share in the abundant life.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

LEARNING FROM A CROOK

January 30, 1983

Background Scripture: Luke 16:1-13, 19-31

Devotional Reading: Amos 5:6-15

The parable of the Dishonest Steward in Luke 16 is likely not a very popular one in the churches. For the most part it is simply ignored in the lectionaries and collections of sermon resources. Those who stumble upon it are likely to race on without a backward glance.

The reason, of course, is self-evident. Jesus' parable is about a crook who cheats his employer and then is commended for it. How embarrassing! Surely there must be some mistake here.

TURN IN THE ACCOUNT

If we examine the parable more closely, however, we find there is some important teaching here for us from Christ. The steward is clearly dishonest—in fact, that's the point Jesus is trying to make. If a dishonest steward is smart enough to use worldly goods to secure his future, shouldn't the followers of Christ do even more?

Look at the story carefully. The steward is first in jeopardy because charges were brought to his master that the man is "wasting his goods." Threatened with the loss of his position, the dishonest steward now begins to use the material goods to protect his future. Because he is a dishonest man, he uses these goods in a fraudulent way to insure his security. Oddly enough, when the master learns of this skullduggery, he shocks us by commending the crook for his crafty strategy.

Jesus does not condone the man's deceit, but he is telling us that we must be no less intelligent in our own use of material goods. "For the sons of this world are wiser in their own generation than the sons of light." The choice confronting the followers of Jesus is not between being moral or being wise, but of being both. Just because the Christian chooses to be good is no reason for him to allow himself to be stupid. In the parable it is apparent that resourcefulness is a quality that God looks for in all his children.

THE TRUE RICHES

The parable Jesus told about the dishonest steward is meant, not to shock us, but to shame us. Even the dishonest servant is a better steward than some of God's honest servants. Being honest is not enough—although it is a good start—for we are also expected to be good stewards of what God gives us. If "the sons of this world" do a better job in being crooked than we do in being honest, that is a judgement upon our stewardship. The servant who hid his talent in the ground didn't do something evil with it, but his failure to do something worthwhile made him an "unprofitable servant."

Once again let us understand what Jesus is saying in this parable: let not the dishonest but enterprising steward stand at the top of the class when it comes to using material things wisely. Let the "children of light" be even more enterprising in order to fulfill their stewardship in God's sight.

POTENCY IS AN IMPORTANT QUALITY

No medicine can be really effective in curing an illness, if it has, by the time it reaches your home, lost its potency. Just as certain foods can deteriorate if not kept properly, so can medicines.

Some drugs must be refrigerated to retain their powers — such as insulin, certain eye drops and many types of vitamins. With other medicines exposure to light is the culprit and special containers must be used to keep light out. Every manufacturer of drugs supplies us with detailed instructions on how best to preserve the potency of their products, and we carefully follow their directions.

Teen heart transplant in 'Thursday's Child'

By Debra Morgenstern Katz

Without meaning to sound callous, it's getting harder to watch dramas like "Thursday's Child," movies based on true stories in which good, loving people are felled by serious illness.

Viewers enter laughter-filled homes only to fall in love with the sweet-natured victim and then be devastated along with family members when illness strikes. You know every scene by heart and when it's coming — but you cry all the same.

Though there's no denying the predictability of these films, there's no denying their popularity. Perhaps the universality of grief — coupled with the individual way each person responds to his or her loss — is irresistible. No matter how many times we witness another person's tragedy, we respond.

And each of these films is a loving personal tribute to the victim. In "Thursday's Child," a Hallmark Hall of Fame special on CBS Feb. 1, newcomer Rob Lowe portrays 17-year-old Sam, a happy, sensitive, varsity-letter athlete who comes home one Christmas with a nagging cough and shortness of breath.

His parents, played by Gena Rowlands and Don Murray, learn that a minor case of bronchitis is not the problem — Sam has degenerative heart disease and, ultimately, risky heart transplant surgery is his only chance at survival.

To their credit, cast members don't overact their lines in this melodrama, especially as high-caliber actress(es) which, due to the subject itself, are indeed heartbreaking. The film ends on a hopeful note for the courageous Sam, but the most wrenching aspect of watching this drama is knowing that the real Sam died just weeks ago, six years after his heart transplant.

At one point, his mother says "Why?" I've never said that word. I've never tried to argue with God. I've never questioned."

Perhaps that's the key to understanding these dramas. For anyone in crisis, "Thursday's Child" helps show away the question "Why me?" Terrible things happen to us all, to happy families, children, people we love. This drama, which spotlights other families in the hospital, too, underscores that.

And if there are people watching who are in their shoes, maybe they'll find strength in seeing other people's strength, in seeing how others have coped with insensitive doctors, with the grief of other family members, with the burden of a major illness.

Yes, "Thursday's Child" belongs to an overplayed genre, but perhaps its importance lies in reminding people that for even the most agonizing times of our lives, others have been there, too.

Alda produces for TV; Dahl gets betrothed

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Alan Alda is producing his movie "The Four Seasons" as a TV series. It begins shooting in April starring Jack Weston, who's spending a month at Florida's Palm Aire spa trying to lose weight... Arlene Dahl is getting married. Again. I don't know when long-time beau, Marc Rosen, popped the question but I know he popped that Oriental pearl and diamond engagement ring in the silver Cartier box at Regine's on New Year's Eve.

Gregory Peck plays priest in WWII drama

Gregory Peck is having a colorful year on television.

Last fall, he made his television dramatic debut in the miniseries "The Blue and the Gray" on CBS, and this week he returns to television for the three-hour war drama "The Scarlet and the Black," to air Wednesday, Feb. 2 on CBS.

Also starring in the special, which is based on the true story of a Vatican official who concealed thousands of allied POW escapees in German-occupied Rome during World War II, include Christopher Plummer and John Gielgud.

Raf Vallone, Ken Colley, Walter Gotell, Barbara Bouchet, Julian Holloway, Angelo Infanti and Olga Karlatos co-star.

Monsignor Hugh O'Flaherty, played by Peck, is the official of the Vatican's Holy Office, who shields the Allied soldiers escaping from prison camps in the fall of 1943. Plummer plays SS Col. Herbert Kappler, who wants the priest restrained, but Pope Pius XII, played by Gielgud, refuses to do so.

When the number of O'Flaherty's hidden soldiers swells to more than 4,000, the German hierarchy is enraged and they determine that the only way to stop O'Flaherty is to kill him.

"The Scarlet and the Black," which was directed by Jerry London and written by David Butler, was filmed entirely on location in Rome. Bill McCutchen produced the drama.

The 66-year-old Peck has a list of theatrical film hits that goes on and on: "Days of Glory," "Gentleman's Agreement," "Twelve O'Clock High," "The Snows of Kilimanjaro," "Moby Dick," "The Guns of Navarone," "Spellbound," "Roman Holiday," "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit," "To Kill a Mockingbird" (for which he won an Academy Award as best actor), "The Omen," "The Boys from Brazil."

Gielgud's acting career is most noted for the theater, where he has worked in almost every Shakespeare play. Film credits for the distinguished actor, who was knighted in 1953, include "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," "Murder by Decree," "The Elephant Man" and "Arthur," for which he won an Academy Award as best supporting actor.

Governor Hughes Declares Maryland "Basically Sound"

Governor Harry Hughes, declaring the condition of the State "basically sound but gravely threatened," Friday unveiled a $6.4 billion budget providing for several revenue-raising measures to prevent cuts in state aid to local programs.

In his annual State of the State address to the General Assembly the Governor declared that the measures were necessary primarily because of the sluggish national economy and public-employee pension obligations generated mostly by local governments.

To help close a $133 million revenue gap resulting chiefly from these conditions, he laid out a program including these measures:

—Transferring $29 million for one year to the General Fund from the Transportation Fund.

—Initiating a twice-weekly, four-digit game to increase the net from State lottery operations by $31 million.

—Increasing the present 21-cent State property tax rate by three cents, or the equivalent of $10.50 a year on a home with a market value of $100,000, thereby producing $16 million in new revenues.

—Increasing taxes on cigarettes by three cents a pack, on distilled spirits by 25 cents a gallon, on wine by 10 cents a gallon and on beer by 1½ cents a gallon, raising an additional $22 million.

The balance of the shortfall will be made up by such steps as a 1½ percent cutback in current spending programs and earlier qualifying for federal matching funds.

Noting the basic soundness of the economy, the Governor said it is threatened by "a national crisis of spirit."

He observed that State revenues throughout the Nation had dropped by more than $8 billion and that fiscal problems elsewhere included $1 billion deficits in California and Wisconsin and added:

"To a greater degree than most of our sister states, Maryland is able to meet that threat, to survive that crisis and to help restore that spirit."

He said the State would be able to accomplish this without following the lead of the federal administration in casting the nation's poor, handicapped, elderly and mentally ill "adrift on the Stockman sea of insensitivity."

Resume Writing Workshops Slated

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College will hold free Resume Writing workshops during the month of February on Thursday afternoons from 1 to 2 p.m. in Room 306 of the Oakland Center of GCC.

Linda Leitz, administrative assistant of the HCO Program, will be conducting these workshops which will assist job seekers to successfully present themselves on paper. She will be presenting the general rules for writing a resume and assisting participants in the preparation of letters of application as well.

Participants are asked to bring to the session a complete list of previous employment and volunteer experience to be used in compiling a correct resume.

The scheduled dates for workshops are February 3, 10, 17 and 24. Interested persons are asked to contact the HCO Program's main office at 334-9184.

Local Student Receives Scholarship At Frostburg State

Eight students, including one from Oakland, who have transferred to Frostburg State College this semester have been named recipients of a Board of Trustees Scholarship, according to Dr. Nelson P. Guild, president.

The scholarships are awarded to high ability students transferring to Frostburg State College from other institutions and cover tuition and fees for one semester.

The scholarship winners include William Stover, Pennington Street, who transferred from Garrett Community College.

Asbestos Control Regulations Are Adopted By State

The Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Office of Environmental Programs has adopted regulation changes and additions to carry out legislation requiring the control of asbestos and the licensing of asbestos removers in Maryland.

The regulations will become effective on February 25. However, in order to provide time for businesses to train employees and apply for licenses, the Department is delaying the effective date of the licensing regulations until April 1.

The regulations require procedures to control asbestos emissions to a level that the Department believes is necessary to protect both the health of the public and the health of the asbestos workers.

The regulations also require that after April 1, all business entities removing or encapsulating friable asbestos must obtain a license annually from the Department. Additionally all workers engaged in an asbestos project must take a Departmentally-approved training course in the handling of asbestos.

Exposure to asbestos is associated with lung cancer, a rare cancer of the chest and abdominal lining called mesothelioma, and cancers of the esophagus, stomach, colon, and other organs. Asbestos exposure can also cause a chronic and debilitating lung disease called asbestosis, which usually follows long exposure to high levels of asbestos fibers. In combination with cigarette smoking, asbestos also acts as a potent cancer-causing agent.

Inquiries concerning application for licenses to conduct asbestos projects should be directed to Frank Whitehead, Air Management Administraiton, 201 W. Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201 (Phone: (301) 383-2776.

Inquiries concerning applications for approval of training courses should be directed to Dr. Katherine Farrell, Division of Environmental Disease Control, 201 W. Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201 (Phone: (301) 383-2759.

Reforestation Tax Incentives Noted By Local Forester

As income tax filing time approaches Garrett County Project Forester Ernie Metz reminds forest landowners involved in reforestation efforts that federal reforestation tax incentives are in effect.

Since 1980, Public Law 96-451 has allowed landowners a direct ten percent investment tax credit plus seven-year armortization of the first $10,000 of capitalized reforestation expenditures each year. This tax incentive should serve as encouragement to forest landowners in Maryland, Metz says, to reforest their land and invest to "write-off" their costs early in the life of their forest and "expense" their costs as other business owners do.

Landowners may deduct ten-percent of their reforestation expenses in the year that they occurred from the federal tax owed and also amortize their expenses over a seven-year period by subtracting from their taxable income.

If a timber owner spends $10,000 for reforestation, for example, such as, site preparation, seeds or seedlings, labor and tools used in planting or seeding, he will receive a $1000 credit ($10,000 x 10 percent) against the taxes otherwise owed in the year of the investment, plus an amortization deduction of one-fourteenth of $10,000 ($714) in the year of investment, one-seventh of $10,000 ($1428) in each succeeding six years, and one-fourteenth of $10,000 in the last year.

This tax incentive is limited to the first $10,000 of capitalized reforestation expenses each year. There is no carry-over of excess expeditures to subsequent years for either the investment tax credit or seven-year amortization. Qualifying expenses are direct costs incurred to plant or seed for forestation, or reforestation purposes including costs for site preparation, seeds and seedlings and labor and tool costs.

Metz urges Garrett County woodland owners to recognize the business aspect of managing their woodlands. "Remember that Forest and Park Service personnel can provide advice, guidance, and assistance in all phases of forest management," he said. Persons may contact the Forest and Park Service office at Mt. Nebo (334-3296) to find out how their woodland can be profitable today and tomorrow.

"Forest management is good business and to date federal government tax incentives continue to be available to make reforestation attractive to a landowner," Metz stated. "Reforestation assures forest products for the future."

Roller Skating Lessons Planned For Area Youth

Dennett Roadrunners 4-H Club, in conjunction with the Tri-R-Roller Skating Rink and the Extension Service, will be sponsoring a series of eight roller skating lessons in the coming weeks. All Garrett County youth are invited to participate.

The first lesson will be this Saturday, January 29, and lessons will continue the following seven Saturdays.

These lessons will run from 1-4 p.m. Cost is $2.00 per lesson or $1.50 for those who have their own skates (cost includes instructor's fee). All lessons will be at the Tri-R-Roller Rink located on Rt. 39 one mile west of Oakland.

Recognition will be given to those completing seven of the eight lessons and the "4-H On Wheels" project book.

A pre-registration is not required, but leaders of the program wish to have an approximate number and the names of those planning to attend because enrollment will be limited. Interested persons should call the 4-H Office at 334-2145.

An individual retirement account gives you a double tax break today and financial security tomorrow . . . two good reasons why we hear more people say . . .

I ♥ My IRA

Why give away your money in TAXES when you could be investing it? With a First National IRA, any wage earner can put away up to $2,000 each year—without losing a penny of it to the Internal Revenue Service. For example, an individual in the 30% tax bracket—having taxable income of about $18,000—would save $600.00 in taxes each year by putting $2,000 into his IRA. If he would choose not to invest that $2,000, Uncle Sam would take $600.00 in taxes, leaving the individual only $1,400 of his $2,000. Of course, the tax savings would be 30 cents on every dollar he puts into his IRA—so even if he couldn't invest the full $2,000, any amount he could put aside would help!

On top of that, the government will allow your IRA interest to grow and compound tax free until you begin to take withdrawals. You may begin to withdraw any amount you wish, at any time you wish, between the ages of 59½ and 70½ at which time you'll presumably be in a much lower tax bracket. If you make a withdrawal before you've reached age 59½, you pay a 10% penalty on the amount withdrawn, and that amount also becomes taxable as ordinary income.

Have it your way

We have a broad range of investment options available for your IRA—even one which can get you started for $10.00. You can choose the one that suits you. Remember—even if you can't invest the full $2,000 you are allowed each year, or if you choose to skip some years, the tax savings and growth potential are still very great.

So, before you send in your 1982 Federal Income Tax Return, come in and find out how much you'll benefit by opening an IRA at First National.

Stop in—have a cup of coffee on us!

We'd love to explain the various IRA plans available to you. With an IRA from First National, you'll be deferring taxes, greatly increasing your savings and planning for your very special retirement. In fact you may be so happy you'll want to say . . .

HOSPICE VOLUNTEERS recently completed an intensive training program to ready them for service in Garrett County's newest health care concept, known as hospice—care of the terminally ill and their families. The organization, scheduled to begin February 1, has a number of trained medical professionals, clergymen, legal representation, and a complete staff of volunteers who will work with the hospice coordinator, offering assistance to those whose loss of a loved one has been designated as within a six-month period. Hospice patients are referred to the group by the attending physician, and the program begins after approval of the family is secured. Pictured above are members of the volunteer team, including, seated left to right, Carol Fox, Jarlath Fitzwater, Jean Eberly, and Sara Wine. Standing, left to right, are Harry Fox, Rev. Manning Smith, Shirley Habel, and Colleen Thayer. Volunteer members not present for the photo include Sister Susan Plews and Esther Benedict.

Hospice Volunteers Ready and Waiting: Program Slated To Begin February 1

by Carol Fox

My brothers stand aloof from me, and my relations take care to avoid me. My kindred and my friends have all gone away, and the guests in my house have forgotten me. Job 19:13-14.

Because of the growing number of terminally ill cancer patients in this county, and the lack of a viable program to help manage this problem, Hospice of Garrett County has been formed. Hospice—a concept of care for the terminally ill and his family—is scheduled to become operational on February 1. A medical component, coupled with a trained volunteer group, is now ready to serve the patients and families of Garrett County who face a terminal illness and its trauma.

Death and dying . . . how often have we avoided those words and their meaning? It's against human nature to discuss one's own death, or the death of a loved one for any length of time or in any great detail. Facing reality seems painfully impossible. Feelings of helplessness prevail, fear overwhelms, and all seems lost.

When a prognosis of terminal illness is finally realized, the patient and those who love him suddenly find themselves stricken with fear, and paralyzing panic surfaces in all phases of life for a time.

On January 6, 1982, a representative group of concerned Garrett County community members met to discuss the need for and the possibility of beginning a concept of care for the terminally ill and their families called hospice.

The main concern of the hospice program is the management of terminal disease in such a way that patients live comfortably until they die, that their families live with them to the very fullest as they die, and that life for the loved ones goes on afterward. The goal of a hospice service is not to prolong life, but to ensure that what remains of life is free from pain, as comfortable as possible, and satisfying to the patient. Hospice may begin and continue at home, or in a medical facility. Family members are considered an integral part of the service, and receive the comfort and help they need to live with the dying patient until his death, as well as to cope with events immediately afterward.

Hospice offers around-the-clock service. A team of medical personnel, clergy, counselors, and volunteers plan and execute regularly scheduled visits to the patient and family; provide drivers and escort service for necessary appointments and social outings; drivers for errands, such as medicine, food shopping, laundry; childcare; homemaking assistance; and sitting with the patient to allow the primary care person a rest or social break.

Nurses, doctors, mental health professionals, and clergy provide experienced services to the patient and his loved ones. Professionals and nonprofessionals in areas of music, art, handcrafts, and recreation provide service or consultation on an on-call basis when needed. Foreign language experts and persons trained for communication with the deaf provide service on an on-call basis, as well. A bereavement team follows the family through the period before and after the death when mental and spiritual support is needed.

As the Garrett County program flourishes, it is hoped that volunteers may be added to provide indoor and outdoor gardens, complete with planning, planting, and maintenance; preparation and decoration for holiday parties and social events within the patient's family; clerical services, carpooling; musical entertainment, etc.

Garrett County's hospice committee includes the medical director, Dr. Walter Naumann; a coordinator and acting volunteer director, Nancy Trimble, R.N.; a Home Health representative, Norma Bolding, R.N., who spearheaded the entire local project; a legal advisor; ministerial representatives, including Rev. Vernon Leininger, chairman, and Rev. Manning Smith, volunteer program organizer; a psychologist from the mental health department; social workers, a member of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital board of directors, who works with the hospital administration; a member of the Cancer Society; and members of the general public.

A team of public speakers is currently traveling around the county, visiting organizations, service clubs, churches, etc., explaining the program and soliciting additional volunteers. Training programs will be offered several times each year to assure a strong volunteer component. Because the needs

Southern Band Students Named To Who's Who

The 1983 edition of "Who's Who in Music" will carry the names of 16 students from Southern High School who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders.

Students named this year from Southern are: Amy Dixon, Wayne Fitzwater, Amy Filemyr, Michelle Hesen, LuAnn Gregg, Larry Miller, Rogetta Pyle, Lisa Savage, Renee Wharton, Barry Livengood, Larry Smith, Kristi Bowling, Robin Weeks, Cheryl Ison, John Dankulich and John Paul Marple.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

They join a group of students selected from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

nutrition NEWS

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

Marinated Steak . . . Fresh Green Beans with Water Chestnuts . . . Celery Seed Coleslaw.

The Heart Association's Nutrition Committee has chosen a healthy dessert to complete this menu for January weight-conscious readers . . . Rice Pudding. Many people mistakingly believe that starches are fattening and should be avoided at all costs when making weight control dietary changes. This is simply not true. Combined with low-fat, low calorie ingredients, starches like rice are especially nourishing and nutritious. Try this recipe at only 90 calories per serving.

Rice Pudding
2 cups skim milk
3 tablespoons raw long-grain rice
3 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup light or dark seedless raisins

Mix all ingredients together and place in a 1-quart ovenproof casserole.

Bake at 325 F. uncovered for 2 to 2¼ hours or until rice is tender, occasionally stirring the surface skin into the pudding as it forms.

Serve warm or cold. If served cold, stir in enough skim milk to thin the pudding to desired consistency.

Yield: 6 servings
Approximate calories per serving: 90

So, if you have been a faithful reader of this column, you have all four recipes to make a well-balanced and enjoyable family dinner or supper. If you missed a recipe, call the Heart Association for the January recipes and tip sheet, 724-4011.

This week wraps up the weight control tips—did you use some of the ideas from the previous three weeks?

Diet—Change Food Habits for Life!

Snack on low calorie vegetables, fruits, and beverages.

Behavior—Change Habits Permanently!

Find simple ways to reward yourself for changing your behavior or losing weight.

Seek support from others (groups, friends, family).

Exercise—Start Slowly Today and Keep On Doing It!

Use flexibility, and strength-building exercises in preparation for aerobic exercises. Warm up and cool down!

The Heart Association's Nutrition Committee hopes that you have enjoyed January's column entitled Helping You with Your New Year's Resolutions. February is Heart Month. Look for our continuing special features.

Questions, call Wendy Norris R.P. at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, 334-2155.

Frey To Speak To Mom And Me Group

Barbara Frey, director of the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College, will be the guest speaker at the Monday, January 31, meeting of the Mom and Me Play Group. She will speak to the group about the various programs the organization offers to homemakers.

The Mom and Me group meets every Monday, 10 a.m. to noon, at St. Peter's School in Oakland. For more information persons may contact Susan Murray at 334-8650.

CRELLIN

Todd Hinebaugh returned to his home from the Monongalia General Hospital in Morgantown, W. Va., where he underwent surgery on his shoulder.

Arnold White has been a patient in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital for the past couple of weeks. He was expected to be released this week.

Last week visitors of Mr. and Mrs. William Stiles were: Mrs. Thomas Stiles of Jessup, Elizabeth Haskell of Corinth, W. Va., Dottie Alexander of Hutton; Donald Stiles of Kitzmiller; Tammy Ashby of Corinth, W. Va. and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Stiles and daughter of Crellin.

Alvy Clark remains a patient in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital after undergoing major surgery on January 17.

Miss Suzy Owen of Hyattsville spent from Wednesday until Sunday of last week with Rev. and Mrs. Charles Teets. Suzy returned home on Sunday with Steve when he returned to Maryland University at College Park after a semester break with his parents.

Amy Glotfelty of Mt. Lake Park spent last weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ellis.

Husky Halls

P.E. Tournaments

Scheree Savage won the Sr. High Badminton Championship Wednesday, January 19, after defeating Liz Sisler and Bev Miller in the finals.

Secret Service Agent

Jim Woods, Secret Service agent, visited Northern Monday. He produced a mock hostage scene for civics students. This program was to show students the dangers involved for hostage victims.

ASVAB Test Results

An interpretation of the ASVAB Test results will be given to students Thursday, January 27, in the cafeteria. Juniors should report to the cafeteria during period five and seniors during period six.

Financial Aid

A meeting for students planning to attend a technical school in 1983-84 was held January 25 during period six. The meeting was for the purpose of going over financial aid forms. J. Thomas headed the meeting.

Student Council

A student council meeting is scheduled for Thursday, January 27, during period two.

Board Meeting

Student Council officers Scott Graham, Lisa Zuckerman, Cindy Friend and Anita Zehr have been invited to lunch and to appear at the February 10 meeting at the Board of Education. Dr. Jerome Ryscavage will attend the student council meeting next week to speak with the council pertaining to the board meeting.

Child Abuse Program

Members of the FHA are presently working on a play and a puppet show on the subject of child abuse. The play will be given at the Middle School and the puppet show will be performed at the elementary school. Ray Kearney, chairman of the project, heads the play committee. The members of this committee include Tracy Bennett, Tina Coddington, Janell Esser, Lisa Fike, Kathy Ringer and Cindy Keefer. Tammy DeWitt, co-chairman, heads the puppet show committee. Members include Sheila McCarty, Ginny O'Leary, Donna Flanagan, Kim Rounds, Chris Speicker, Gina Thomas and Cindy Keefer.

Bolden Honored By Firefighters

Former Delegate DeCorsey Bolden, Oakland, was honored by the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association at a regular meeting of the organization on January 9 at Mt. Savage.

Bolden, a member of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, was presented a plaque by J. Francis Fatkin, president of the Association, who said that Bolden was being recognized for "the cooperation and support" he provided the association while serving as a member of the House of Delegates.

Bolden also received a plaque from David E. Kirk, representing the Maryland State Firemen's Association, for the support he gave the state organization while he was in Annapolis.

Bolden responded that he was "proud to be able to assist volunteer firemen" and he said he accepted the plaques with thoughts of his father, the late Emroy Bolden, who was a former chief of Oakland VFD.

Heart Education Dinner Slated For February 3

The 11th annual Heart Education Dinner for Garrett County, sponsored by the Western Maryland chapter of the American Heart Association, will be held on Thursday, February 3, 6:30 p.m. at the American Legion home on Memorial Drive, Oakland.

The speaker for the evening will be Kenneth A. Richmond, administrator of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. His topic will be "Volunteerism and Heart Disease."

According to Francis L. Grimm, chairman of the local 1983 general campaign for the Western Maryland chapter, the public is invited to attend the dinner. Persons should make reservations by Friday, January 28, by sending a check for $6 per person to: Dinner Reservations, 551 North Centre Street, P.O. Box 1114, Cumberland.

Dorothy Cathell Is Promoted By First National

Courtney R. Tusing, chairman of the Board and president of The First National Bank of Oakland, has announced the promotion of Dorothy B. Cathell to Trust Officer. The action was taken during the Board of Directors meeting held January 19.

A graduate of Oakland High School, Mrs. Cathell began her career at First National in 1947. During her tenure she has worked as a teller, bookkeeper, secretary to the president, and Trust Department secretary. In 1971, she was promoted to assistant Trust Officer.

She holds an AA degree in Business Administration-Banking from Garrett Community College. She has received the Basic and Standard Certificates from the American Institute of Banking.

In addition to her banking duties, Mrs. Cathell is secretary-treasurer of the Garrett County Historial Society, co-chairman of the Oakland Heart Fund and replacement chairman for the Red Cross Bloodmobile. She is a member of the Sand Flat Assembly of God Church and the National Association of Bank Women.

Mrs. Cathell resides near Oakland with her husband, Mitchell. They are the parents of two sons, Carl and David, and they have one grandson.

Q. I have been working at the same job for quite some time now, and often feel that I would be happier working for myself. I have a few ideas about starting my own business but I'm not sure exactly how to go about it. What do you suggest?

A. In the first place, Do you have a clear understanding of what's involved in running a business of your own? If not, perhaps you should start by reading How Business Works, by Edwin Hoag. This book tells you what you need to know about cash flow, recordkeeping, and all the things you may not think about when you are an employee—rather than the owner. Or do you have the right personality to be in a business of your own? Joseph R. Mancuso can help you discover the answer to that question in his book, Have You Got What it Takes? If you don't want to be bothered with all the details and problems you may find you're better off staying where you are.

If you've already decided that you're ready to be your own boss, then how do you tell whether there's a market for whatever it is that you want to sell? Read How to Test Your Million Dollar Idea, by Howard J. Klein to find out the best way to tell if you should quit while you're ahead or take the leap before the competition gets there first.

Now that you've decided the world is waiting for your idea, you'll need to raise money. How To Raise Venture Capital, by Stanley E. Pratt tells a few unthought-of ways to finance your foray into the business world. And just to be sure he hasn't overlooked anything, the well-rounded entrepreneur should read New American Entrepreneur by Robert Fierro.

These books are just a small sampling of the new collection at the Ruth Enlow Library to do with job and career development. If you still have questions after reading them, other books await your discovery. But meantime, if you want to put your ideas to the test, perhaps reading what the professionals suggest will help you get started.

Try it.

Hospice Volunteers

of the terminally ill are much different from those of patients with general medical-surgical conditions, a much different kind of care is necessary. Prolonging life, or finding a cure, is no longer relevent—instead, making the remaining time the most meaningful is the number one priority. After the patient has become free of pain, the process of life begins with him and his family, so that the final goodby becomes a positive experience for all involved.

The nurses and volunteers will have a tremendous emotional investment in the patients, and will need to grieve, as well. The staff will be constantly meeting for training and retraining, providing ongoing support for each other, and sharing common experiences which will make the program grow. Hospice volunteers include Jean Eberly, Sara Wine, Colleen Thayer, Jarlath Fitzwater, Shirley Habel, Susan Plews, Esther Benedict, Carol Fox and Harry Fox.

The majority of referrals to the program will come from physicians. An admission criteria has been developed for selecting potential candidates for the hospice program, and includes patients for whom palliative (alleviating pain) rather than curative treatment is most appropriate; patients who have a primary care person available to provide continuity of care between professional visits; patients who have a primary physician willing to participate in the program (including making home visits); and patients whose families are willing to accept and support care of the patient in the home as part of the hospice program.

To most directly detail the vast reasoning for hospice, perhaps an explanation of the four kinds of terminal illness pain is in order.

1. Physical pain requires medication and pain management around the clock, and is given before the pain becomes intolerable.

2. Mental pain-denial, anger, bargaining with God, and finally acceptance.

3. Social pain-decision making, which is often taken away from the dying patient, making him feel more isolated and unable to cope with becoming dependent on others.

4. Spiritual pain-often the most critical, because of anger against God, against the healthy family members, against old friends. The patient needs understanding of this phase of dying, as do his family members, who often become the focal point of his frustration.

The concept of hospice will reach out to those referred patients who have been diagnosed as having six months or less to live. Those weeks and months can become among the most beautiful life has to offer, with help from hospice members who care.

For further information on this amazing concept, please call Carol or Harry Fox at 334-3992; Norma Bolding at 334-4757; or Nancy Trimble at 387-9439. Those involved with the hospice movement want to help today. Won't you call, or tell someone about us?

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

A family dinner on January 16 honored Mrs. Wilma Knapp of Amboy in celebration of her birthday on January 21. Held in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, James and Alice Bolyard, other family members who attended were their daughter, Sherri; Mrs. Knapp's husband, Floyd; Mr. and Mrs. John Knapp of Keyser and Mr. and Mrs. Don Knapp and four children of Red House; Angela and William "Buck" Lower and two children, Tony and Doris Sullivan and son, Terri, and Ronald Bishoff, and Mrs. Knapp's brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Layman.

Mrs. Ira Moreland of Parsons has returned home from Davis Memorial Hospital in Elkins where she was a patient last week. She expects to return to the hospital for further tests. Mr. Moreland's niece, Agnes Cosner, of Bayard, is staying with the Morelands at this time. Mrs. Moreland is the former Catherine Abernathy of Aurora.

Word was received by relatives here of the death of Ray Shaffer, 79, of Mt. Lake Park. Mr. Shaffer died Sunday, January 23, at Sacred Heard Hospital in Cumberland where he had recently undergone surgery. His wife, the former Geraldine Hardesty, survives along with three daughters. Services will be held Wednesday from the Stewart Funeral Home in Oakland, with burial in the Stemple Ridge Cemetery. Mr. Shaffer is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Shaffer of Brookside.

Recent guests of Josephine Stanton were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Stanton, of New Jersey, Mrs. Winters' daughter and family, Anita and Jerry Hustead and two children of South Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bolyard of Maryland and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Stemple of Chester, Pa.

Delton Winters of Dubuque, Iowa, and his daughter, Cheryl Dumham, Jr. of Oklahoma City, Okla., were guests last week of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Winters, at Eglon while here for his wife's funeral and burial.

Mrs. Ronald (Aveneli) Parsons of Eglon was a patient from Tuesday until Saturday last week in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, undergoing tests.

Word from Herbert Winters in Vienna, W. Va., is that he remains quite ill, but has returned to his home.

Homer Fike returned last Tuesday to his home at Eglon after his hospitalization in Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Sunday.

Mrs. Scott Sisler, Cara and Shauna, Jana and Ron Freeman, and Donetta Nice made a post-Christmas visit to Pittsburgh where they saw "The Nutcracker" ballet presentation at Heinz Hall and visited with Mrs. Sisler's sister and family, Bonnie and Charles Douglas.

A soup and sandwich fellowship dinner was held Sunday following morning services at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora. The afternoon was spent in sled riding and playing bingo.

Georgia, Kim and Michael Parsons of Belmont visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gay Loughrie, at Aurora last Thursday and Friday.

The Preston County Health Council assumed operation of the Eglon Clinic on January 15 with Dr. Greg Pinkerton and Dr. Eric Guidero both available there. There has been no interruption of service and patients will be seen as before with the Health Council's offering of sliding scale for fees.

David and Lois Layman and Aaron of Eglon, were January 16 evening guests of his parents, Sheridan and Nina Layman, Aurora.

Senator Bambacus To Lead Seminar

"Senatorial Scholarship Seminar" is the title of an informational meeting scheduled for 10 a.m. on Saturday, January 29, at the Garrett Community College auditorium. The seminar is being offered as a public service by Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett).

The purpose of the session is to advise area residents of the various types of financial aid available for college students, especially the Senatorial Scholarship programs. A videotape prepared by the Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting will be shown. The tape is particularly helpful in outlining the steps to take in applying for a scholarship. Application forms will be available.

Guidance counselors and principals of Garrett County High Schools have been invited to attend the meeting along with interested parents and students.

Bambacus stated that a similar meeting is being scheduled for the following Saturday at Allegany Community College. "Our goal is to make available as much information as possible for as many District I students as possible.

Garrett Countians In Florida To Meet

Residents of Garrett County who spend their winters in Florida will hold their annual reunion on February 21 in Mims, Fla.

The group will meet in the Fellowship Hall of the United Methodist Church, located two blocks northwest of the intersection of Rts. 46 and 1. The doors will open at 11 a.m. and the meal will be served at noon. Cost is $5 per person, which includes tax and gratuities.

Veterinary Science Scholarship Awarded To Rayetta Koontz

Rayetta A. Koontz, a sophomore in the Veterinary Science Technology Program at Garrett Community College, has been awarded the Lisa Ann Nowers Memorial Scholarship, according to college officials. A graduate of Williamsport High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Koontz of Williamsport, Maryland.

After her graduation next May, Koontz hopes to work in a zoo or at a wild life refuge.

In addition to her studies at the college, Koontz works as a tutor and a clerk in the Writing Lab. For recreation she enjoys skiing and hiking.

The Lisa Ann Nowers Memorial Scholarship has been set up by the family of a former Vet Tech student to help other female students pursue this academic program.

KITZMILLER

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Kitzmiller firemen will hold its next meeting, January 27th at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Fred Tasker is a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Frank Parks is confined to his home with a broken ankle. He fell at his home one day last week.

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

The public is invited to special services at the Jennings United Methodist Church in Jennings, Sunday, January 30, at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. K Almond will show slides of her recent travels to Poland. Music will be led by Karen Durst.

Lay speaker at State Line United Methodist Church on January 30 will be Daymond Schmuck, of Hoyes.

The United Methodist Women of the Grantsville Charge are beginning a special reading program of Christian literature during their regular monthly meetings. Mt. Zion United Methodist Church Women's regular meeting is held the first Wednesday of each month, with Gladys Lashbaugh as president. The Emmanuel United Methodist Church Women meet the second Wednesday of each month with Nancy Klink as president. St. Paul's United Methodist Church Women will meet the third Wednesday of each month with Edna Wheeler as president. The State Line United Methodist Church Women will hold its regular meeting on the fourth Wednesday of each month, with Donna Lapp as president. All women are welcome to join these United Methodist Church Women. The Rev. K Almond is pastor.

The first card party for the American Heart Fund will be on January 29, at 8 p.m., at the American Legion, featuring 500. Prizes will be given for all games. A $50.00 bond will be given to the holder of the highest score of all three games. Route 40 Homemakers will serve the refreshments. All players are welcome. Mrs. Eurcelle Jenkins is chairman.

Heart Sunday is planned for February 13 in the Grantsville area if weather permits.

The Woodmen Ranger and Rangerettes are planning a get-together on January 30 at 2:30 p.m., at the home of Arlene Green. All youth are welcomed.

Mrs. Ruth Dietle has returned home from Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Rev. and Mrs. Harvey Vance and daughters, Shasta and Shana, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younkin. He also visited Mrs. Ruth Dietle.

Accident Students Make Friends Via Midwest Balloon

Fifth grade students at Accident Elementary School recently had an opportunity to communicate with students from the Cushing Middle School in Cushing, Oklahoma, via a bright colored balloon.

On Tuesday, November 16, the Cushing students released 464 balloons as part of a celebration commemorating the 75th anniversary of statehood for Oklahoma. One of the balloons made it to the Accident School playground area, where it was found on November 20 by Raymond "Sam" Coddington, whose property borders the school site. Coddington, an employee of the school, gave the balloon and attached information card to the fifth grade class of Rosanne Sherwood, who wrote letters explaining how the balloon was found and a history of the town of Accident.

Garrett County Dairymen's Day Set For March 3

A day of education, meeting fellow farmers, a family-style chicken dinner, and visits with several agri-business exhibits will be featured at the Dairymen's Day program on Thursday, March 3, at the Bittinger Community Building, Bittinger. The program will run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The program will feature: Dr. Les Vough, Agronomy Specialist, University of Maryland - "Producing High Quality Forages & Forage Testing"; Dr. Rich Erdman, Dairy Specialist, University of Md. - "Incorporation of Forage Analysis in the Feeding Program" and "Balancing Rations for Maximum Profit"; Dr. Mark Varner, Dairy Specialist, University of Md. - "Effects of Nutrition on Reproductive Performance"; and Dr. Joe Manspeaker, Veterinarian, University of Md. - " The Effects of Nutrition on Metabolic Diseases."

There will also be several agri-businesses represented with exhibits.

The public is invited to attend. The cost of the luncheon is $5.00. Reservations can be made by contacting the Garrett County Extension Office in Oakland at 334-2145 or Grantsville branch office on Mondays and Fridays at 895-3124.

Fair Volunteers Recognized For 4-H Assistance

Although August sounds like a long time away, already the members of the Garrett County fair board and local volunteers are preparing for the annual county fair, scheduled this year August 7 through 13.

Two of the volunteers who have donated innumerable hours toward 4-H activities have been chosen by the fair board for recognition this week.

Janet Paugh, who resides with her parents on Paradise Point Road, has donated her expertise with 4-H projects to the 4-H'ers for several years, most recently working with clothing and needle arts.

Miss Paugh has worked the county assessment office for 26 years, and for seven years has been a youth leader with the Deep Creek United Methodist Church, and is a board member for Youth for Christ.

Her hobbies in additiion to needlework are gardening and reading.

Mrs. Leona DeWitt works with 4-H in home environment. She and her husband William live on a farm near Deer Park, where they reared their six children. They now have four grandchildren, but Mrs. DeWitt still finds time to devote to 4-H activities and has volunteered her help for the past ten years at the fair.

She has been a member of the Homemakers Club for the past 15 years, serving in every office but secretary.

Her free time is spent crocheting and sewing.

Milk Production Up In Fourth Quarter

Fourth quarter 1982 milk production in Maryland totaled 401 million pounds, four percent above the comparable period in 1981, announced the Crop Reporting Service. Output per cow from the 121,000 on hand throughout the quarter increased about ¾ pound per day over the average of the preceding quarter. A preliminary total for 1982 puts milk production at 1,589 million pounds, two percent above the 1981 output of 1,556 million pounds.

Delaware: Milk production during the October-December quarter, at 34.0 million pounds, increased 7 percent above the total from the same period in 1981. Cows on hand averaged 10,000 during that time and produced about 37 pounds of milk each day, 2 pounds better than the third quarter's average. Accumulated production for 1982 totaled 131.3 million pounds compared with 124.0 million pounds in 1981.

Farm Credit Notes Reduction In Interest Rate

The Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore, the area's leading agricultural lending institution, has announced a reduction in the interest rate on its variable Federal Land Bank (FLB) loans, from 12.5 to 12.0 percent. the new rate becomes effective March 1, 1983.

Potomac Valley's General Manager Gavin T. Heare noted that the reduction will result in an annual savings of $11.4 million by FLBA borrowers. "Our purpose has alway been to provide our borrowers with the lowest interest rates possible," he added. "In these tough economic times, we are especially pleased to be able to lower the Land Bank variable interest rate."

The FLB provid funds for long-term loans to farmers through its 26 affiliated Federal Land Bank Associations. Short-term agricultural lending needs are serviced by the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank (FICB) and its affiliated Production Credit Associations (PCAs), and loans to agricultural cooperatives are made by the Bank for Cooperatives (BC). Together, the FLB, FICB, and BC comprise the Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore, part of the nationwide Farm Credit System.

The Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore have over $3 billion in outstanding loan volume. The Banks serve farmers and agricultural cooperatives in the states of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

Crum Says Idle Cropland Must Be Protected

Farmers who participate in the 1983 Acreage Reduction Program for Wheat and Feed Grains or the new Payment-in-Kind Program, agree to devote the land taken out of production to conservation practices that will protect the land from weeds and wind and water erosion. "This protection must be established as soon as practical after the beginning of the normal period for planting crops," William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said.

He said the conservation use acres must be eligible land which meets certain size and width measurements. The land must have been devoted to row crops or small grains in two of the last three years. Conservation use acres may not be harvested and grazing will not be permitted between April 1 and September 30, according to Crum.

Approved conservation uses include annual, biennial, or perennial grasses and legumes, volunteer stands other than weeds, small grains and crop residue from use of no till or minimum till practices.

The 1983 program also permits a farmer to establish permanent conservation practices on land taken out of production. "The permanent conservation practice will be eligible for cost-share payments through the Agricultural Conservation Program," the ASCS official said.

Conservation practices or cover crops are approved by ASCS in consultation with the Soil Conservation Service to assure that reduced and diverted acres will be adequately protected.

GCC Opportunity Cards Available To Senior Students

"Bag of Gold" Opportunity Cards were mailed recently to some 40 area residents who have enrolled in courses at Garrett Community College and are at least 60 years of age. The Opportunity Card entitles the bearer to free admission to sports events, free use of the library, reduced rates for Highland Concert Series, tuition-free courses and other functions to be announced, according to William P. Ewing, director of admissions.

Some of these senior students have taken courses at the McHenry Campus, Oakland Center and Bloomington School, but most are taking courses which are offered at the county's two senior citizen complexes, Ewing said.

Art 120, Art Workshop, dealing with "Christmas and Other Crafts" began last fall and is being offered each Tuesday evening at Town View Village in Accident. Residents of Town View and Accident are participating. Instructors Nancy Geisler and Ron Skidmore provide a variety of craft experiences and also assist with special projects of the students' own choosing.

Puff quilting and block-printing are two popular activities in the class, Ewing said. Josephine DiGiustino, a resident of Town View Village, reported, "I've been so busy with the many crafts that I may not have time to tole-paint an antique tray."

SS 199 Special Studies in Art (Painting) is in progress at Meadows East in Mt. Lake Park. Anna Steger, resident manager, reports, "Even though the class has been a real challenge to some of the students here, they are working very diligently to finish their projects properly."

John W. Criss, Sr., also of Meadows East, has the distinction of being the only male enrolled in Painting and PE 117 Physical Fitness which is also offered there. Mr. Criss says, "I have enjoyed the classes a lot. I've learned a lot and the instructors are good."

Ron Skidmore is teaching painting on Tuesday afternoons while Ann Wellham is teaching Physical Fitness on Monday and Wednesday mornings.

More classes will be scheduled at these residences and other county locations as requests are made.

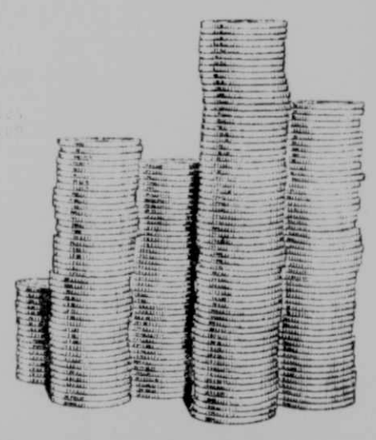
Eligible persons who have not received a GCC Opportunity Card, may do so by calling the College at 387-6666, 245-4133 or 359-9520, Ext. 146.

HCO Program Sets Workshop

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College will present on Wednesday, February 2, a free career workshop entitled "Dressing for Success."

The session will deal with the types of clothing that are most successful in interview and work situations, will teach ways to build a good working wardrobe, and will include many tips for finding quality clothing at a lower cost. Barbara Frey, director of the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program, and Linda Leitz, administrative assistant of the program, will lead the session.

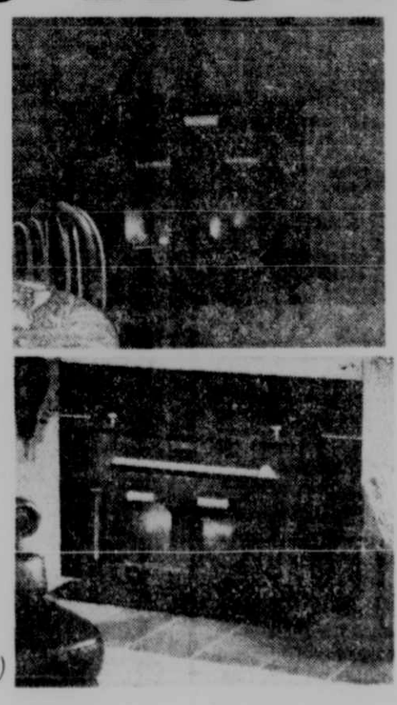
The workshop will be held from 10 a.m. to noon in room 306 of the Oakland Center of GCC. To register or for further information persons may call 334-9184.



Helbig Clarifies Oakland's Snow Clearing Rules

In order to alleviate confusion among Oakland residents concerning street parking during heavy snowfalls, street chairman Terry Helbig issued a news item this week to help clarify instructions.

On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, residents should park on even numbered sides of the streets (north and east sides). On Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, residents should park on the south and west sides of the streets.



These regulations apply only during times of heavy snowfall (four inches or more) and during the hours of 5 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Put a Buck Stove to work. Now
Free-Standing or In The Fireplace
Why a Buck Stove?
The Buck Stove heating system's patented air flow pattern is the most innovative system for efficient wood heating currently available. The Buck Stove is constructed of 3 steel walls which create two air chambers. A rear-mounted fan pulls cool air into the outer chamber of the stove, and then blows it over the hot inner walls, where it soaks up heat from the firebox.
From there, four hot air vents direct the heated air out, down and in, resulting in a fast-moving mass of hot air directly in front of the stove, six to ten inches off the floor.

FREE Glass Doors a $75.00 value free with your stove purchase. (limited time offer.)

Lancaster-Snyder Wedding Scheduled

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lancaster, Morgantown, W. Va., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daugther, Cathy Lynn, to Eric Scott Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Atlee R. Snyder, McHenry.

The bride-elect is a 1981 graduate of Morgantown High School and is employed as a secretary for XCO Eastern Inc., Morgantown.

Mr. Snyder is a graduate of Northern High School and is employed by Appalachian Construction Company.

The couple is planning a February 5 wedding in Morgantown.

Hardesty-Barb Wed August 8

Beverly Joyce Hardesty, daughter of Mrs. Arlene Porter, Oakland, and Fraley Bruce "Buddy" Barb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fraley W. Barb, Glenshaw, Pa., were united in marriage on Sunday, August 8, at the Tampa, Fla., First Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Performing the ceremony was Rev. Richard Faber. Ida Faber was the organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her stepfather, Ray Porter, Oakland. She carried a bouquet of pale blue carnations and baby's breath. Her only jewelry was a diamond and pearl necklace given as a gift from her parents.

Sue Barnhart, Tampa, served as the maid of honor and carried a bouquet matching that of the bride's.

Serving as the best man was Bob Dilley, St. Petersburg, Fla., Brian Reckart, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer. Ushers were Gary Hardesty, Oakland, and Glen Hardesty, Orlando, Fla., brothers of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Forest Hills Community Center. The cake was served by Belinda DeOca and Betty Jo Hopps. Lil Haag served the punch and Nicki Wolfe attended the guest book.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents and a bridal shower was given by the maid of honor.

Mrs. Barb is employed by the University of South Florida Medical Center, Tampa. Mr. Barb is employed by Southern Craftsmen Building Corporation, St. Petersburg.

After a honeymoon trip to Clearwater Lake, Fla., the couple is residing in Tampa.

Out-of-town guests were from Maryland, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Miss Shaffer To Wed Mr. Pook

Elliott E. Shaffer, Mt. Lake Park, announce the engagement of his daughter, Donna Lee Shaffer, to Bennie Dean Pook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Pook, Route 1, Friendsville. Miss Shaffer is also the daughter of the late Mildred L. Shaffer.

Miss Shaffer is a graduate of Southern High School and is employed as a Customer Service Representative at the First National Bank of Oakland, Main Office.

Mr. Pook is a graduate of Northern High School and is a self-employed building contractor.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Wakefields To Celebrate 25th

A reception in honor of Troy and Carol Wakefield, Friendsville, on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary will be held this Sunday, January 30, at 2 p.m., at the Friendsville Elementary School cafeteria.

Although some invitations have been sent, the family of the couple invites all relatives and friends to attend.

Church News

The Born Anew to Serve Committee members will meet for a cluster meeting on Saturday, February 26, 9 a.m.-noon, at St. John's Meadow Mountain.

The Cheer Committee of Emmanuel will have a meeting on Thursday, January 27, at 7:30 p.m., at the church. Those on the committee are persons who are working in a ministry of love and outreach to members of their own congregation, visiting shut-ins, hospital patients and others who might have a special need.

Morning services were canceled at St. John's because of weather conditions.

The Sunday Church School classes were canceled at Glade Mennonite. Regular worship services were held a half hour later than usual.

Sunday morning services at Cherry Glade Mennonite Church were canceled. A worship service was held in the evening.

The Sunday evening service scheduled for the Glade Mennonite Church was canceled.

Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Maust, Mr. and Mrs. Oren Bender, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bender attended a retreat at the Laurelville Church Center, Mt. Pleasant, Pa., from Friday evening to Sunday afternoon. The group attended a workshop on "Caring Ministries."

The Adult Contemporary Issues Class will be starting at Emmanuel on Sunday, February 6, during Sunday Church School hour. Anyone interested may attend.

Audrey Brenneman served as lector for services at Emmanuel on Sunday.

Slides on Poland will be shown at the Jennings United Methodist Church on Sunday, January 30, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited.

Emmanuel's LCW Meets

Emmanuel's LCW met for its monthly meeting at the church on Friday evening. There were 11 members present and Mrs. Ralph Buckel and Leora Yaste led the topic "You Were Strangers." The topic focused on the refugee situation in North America and opportunities for the church's involvement.

Mrs. Beulah Moon, newly-elected president, conducted the business meeting. Gifts of money were planned for the Volunteer Service Center, Church Women United Sustaining Fund and Leadership Development. The next meeting is set for February 11.

Birthdays Celebrated

Those having birthdays late in January held a celebration at Ida Reckner's on Sunday. the honored guests were James Glotfelty, Lillian Reckner and Linda Bittinger. Other guests were Lisa Glotfelty, Mrs. James Glotfelty, John Reckner, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Julius Carey and sons, Sheli Bittinger, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Reckner, Monticello, Fla.

Hospital News

Mr. and Mrs. Delatha Brenneman announce the birth of a son Monday, January 17, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Brenneman's mother, Marion White, was visiting her daughter and grandson at the hospital. On the way to her car, she slipped on the ice in the hospital's parking lot and broke her leg. She is now a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Correction: An item in last week's column had a name misspelled. It should have been Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nolder, Baltimore, instead of Nader.

Personal Items

Mrs. Roger Beitzel spent the past two weeks visiting her father in Remees, Mich. He has been in ill health.

Mrs. Elmer Brenneman was a recent visitor of the Melvin Beiler family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brenneman and children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bender and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bender, and Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Maust and children, Meyersdale, Pa., were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brenneman.

Gerald Maust, Columbus, Ohio, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Maust.

Grantsville Youth Injured In Fall

An 11-year old boy from Grantsville, Gerald Durst, a student at Northern Middle School, fell from the parallel bars in the school last Wednesday.

The youth was taken to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland after being transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Northern Rescue Squad. He was admitted for observation, and later released.

The accident occurred at 2:50 p.m.

Sewerage Cost Clarification Noted

It was pointed out to The Republican this week than an item in the January 19 edition of the newspaper may need some clarification.

In the article concerning the Sanitary Commission's delay of their decision concerning the Deep Creek Lake sewerage project, a paragraph noted that the total annual charge estimated for a single family residence would be $208.

The $208 is computed on a $162 annual sewer service charge, based on 1,300 users, plus the front footage charge.

Nazarene Church To Show Film

A special showing of the new World Wide Pictures release, Jesus is Victor, is scheduled for Sunday, January 30th, at the Church of the Nazarene, corner Eighth and Alder. The showing, which is open to the public free of charge, will begin at 7:00 p.m.

Jesus is Victor is a personal and intimate portrait of Corrie ten Boom, a Dutch Christian who, until she was silenced by a stroke in 1978 at the age of 86, traveled the globe telling of her experiences in Nazi-occupied Holland during World War II. She and her family were responsible for saving the lives of hundreds of Jews through their work with the "underground".

Miss ten Boom's experiences have been related in a number of best-selling books, as well as through World Wide's award-winning theatrical release, The Hiding Place.

The film features Jeannette Clift, who starred as Corrie in The Hiding Place, Cliff Barrows of the Billy Graham Crusade Team who has been a personal friend of Corrie's for several years also appears in the film.

Pastor Kenneth Rice and the members of the Church of The Nazarene extend an invitation to the public to attend this special showing.

STANDING FIREWOOD FOR SALE

The Maryland Forest and Park Service is offering for sale firewood on 14.5 acres of Compartment #74 of Savage River State Forest. Said firewood is estimated to cut 107 standard cords, more or less. Trees with at least one 8' stick to 4" inch top DIB were estimated as firewood using a 10 BAF wedge prism on random plots. Firewood is located along the Fairview Road, ½ mile from its intersection with New Germany Road.

Firewood is offered for sale subject to the following conditions:

1. Firewood will be shown at 9:00 a.m. on Monday, February 7, 1983. Anyone interested in seeing this firewood may meet at the intersection of the Fairview Road and New Germany Road on the above date and time.
2. Contract/Bid Forms will be available at the showing or from the Savage River State Forest Headquarters, Rt. 2, Box A-63, Grantsville, MD 21536, phone, 895-5759.
3. The operator must be a registered Forest Product Operator for 1983 to be awarded successful bidding.
4. A Performance Bond in the amount of $100.00 must be posted upon acceptance of the contract by the State of Maryland.
5. Bids will be received up until 1:00 p.m. on Monday, February 14, 1983.
6. Bids will not be for cash, but will be in cords of firewood. The number of cords that the operator bids will be what he guarantees to deliver to the designated site in the New Germany State Park. Said cords will be cut in lengths between 22" and 24" and in pieces no thicker than 10" at its widest point.
7. Delivered wood will be ricked at delivery point for measurement.

NO. 8325 EQUITY
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY,
MARYLAND
ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property situate in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and the State of Maryland to Roy F. Elliott:

One acre of land, more or less, assessed in the name of Martin A. Carney, in Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, and being the same as described in two deeds, the first from John G. Sines and wife, dated October 1, 1891 and recorded in Liber No. 19, Folio 106, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and the second from Thomas J. Pendergast and wife, dated August 24, 1895 and recorded in Liber No. 28, Folio 422, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The bill states, among other things, that title to said property was vested in the above named defendants at the time of said tax sale and still so remains; that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than one year and a day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREFORE, this 17th day of January, 1983, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ordered that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks, before the 10th day of February, 1983, warning all persons interested in said property to be and appear in this Court by the 21st day of March, 1983, and redeem the property herein described and answer the bill, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the plaintiff a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on February 3, 1983 at 7:30 p.m. in the Old Grand Jury Room (Third Floor, Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review an application made by Railey, Inc. for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance (Docket VR-59) as it affects the definition of "lot." The application was made for a Variance from the requirement that a parcel of land in one ownership not be divided by a street right-of-way. This request is being made to allow the construction of a maximum of 35 condominium units on the west side of U.S. Route 219 while designating land area on the east side to fulfill the density standard of one unit per acre. A previous application by Railey, Inc. for the same variance request was withdrawn from the Board's consideration on 12/21/82. The property is located along U.S. Route 219 at Deep Creek Bridge (Zoned LR).

IT'S A CLASSIFIED SECRET!

We've got a secret—and it's strictly classified information! We'll never reveal the identity of a Republican box holder. However, if you don't want your reply to go to certain companies, put your mind at ease! Just seal your reply in an envelope addressed to the box holder. Attach a note telling us what companies you don't want the reply to reach. Then put the reply and the note in an envelope addressed to The Republican. If the box number you are answering is on your list, we'll discard your reply.

IMPORTANT: We can't return your reply because that would be the same as telling. So, don't send indispensable material. Also, attach a note each time you want a box holder to be checked.

This policy offers the same confidentiality to both advertisers and those who reply to their ads.

New Student Center Opens On Garrett Campus

A NEW STUDENT CENTER, which includes hot meals service, is one of the newest additions at Garrett Community College. See story.

A welcome new year's addition to the McHenry Campus of Garrett Community College came with the opening of the new student center earlier this month. According to Interim President Randall Harman, this building will now become "the focal point for student campus life."

The largest area in the new building is the spacious student lounge and dining facility with a modern equipped kitchen which has made it possible to provide a hot meals service for students, faculty and staff.

Near the entranceway, behind glass walls is the College Store, where manager Joan Weaver has room to display the many apparel and supply items the store carries, as well as textbooks.

In addition to these areas, the building also houses most of the offices relating to student services: Dean of the College Robert L. Trantham; Director of Admissions Bill Ewing; Administrative Registrar Deloris Edgar; and Student Activities Director Rick Briggs. Across the corridor from these offices is a large conference room where board meetings and other meetings will be held.

According to Trantham, an open house and dedication of the new student center is being planned for some time in the spring.

John Joseph Starkey, 39, and Rosalie Charlene Harrison, 24, (former husband and wife) both of Shinnston, W. Va.

John Douglas Ford, 21, and Mary Catherine Broomall, 20, both of Oakland.

Steven Virgil Sharber, 36, and Kathleen Mary Curry, 36, both of Grafton, W. Va.

Year end statistics reveal that 1077 couples applied for a marriage license in the county during 1982. Of those who applied, 999 couples claimed the license, and 970 marriages were performed in the county. Of the total, 499 of the marriages were civil ceremonies performed in the courthouse complex.

Registered divorce cases in the county for 1982 totaled 89. That number does not reflect any divorces which were declared final, but not yet filed in the clerk's office.

GCC Schedules Non-Credit Courses

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer numerous non-credit courses during the spring semester. A continued list and description of those courses is as follows. WARNING:
10% OF THE MONEY YOU EARN IN INTEREST IS GOING TO DISAPP

Recently, Congress quietly passed a withholding law that will cost American savers and investors the use of 10% of their interest and dividends.

In simple terms, effective July 1st, 1983, this new law requires banks and other financial institutions to deduct 10% of the interest or dividends you earn on your savings and investments. That money then goes to the Internal Revenue Service in much the same way as payroll deductions are now handled.

The sponsors of this law have told us it was designed to catch a small minority of Americans who evade taxes on their interest and dividends. But the truth is the law penalizes the great majority of America's savers and investors who pay their taxes faithfully. What's more, the federal government is now receiving all the necessary information to curtail tax cheating.

Though the law does include exemptions for some low income and elderly Americans, if they go through the red tape of filing an application, most savers and investors will forfeit some of the money they could earn in compounded interest.

We urge you to join our efforts by writing letters to your representative in Congress and to the two senators from this state. Tell them you want the 10% withholding tax repealed, because it would impose an unfair penalty on savers like yourself.

For assistance in contacting your representative and senators please ask any of our bankers. If we all act now, Congress will get a clear message from the voters back home, and they will work to repeal this needless law.

If you would like to see this bad law repealed, write to your senators and congressmen today:

Bolden Request Halts Scenic Railroad Study

The man who proposed a feasibility study for a scenic railroad in Swallow Falls State Park was also the man who stopped the study just as it began.

Former delegate DeCorsey Bolden said this week he requested the study, authorized by the 1982 General Assembly, be halted after much discussion with people about the merits of a scenic railroad.

"Tampering with Swallow Falls State Park is a sensitive topic," Bolden explained. "To greatly increase the number of visitors there could hurt the environment and scenic beauty of the park."

Although the Garrett County Planning Commission had received reports in the late summer that the Department of State Planning, which agreed to undertake the study, had started the study, it apparently was never informed the project was abandoned.

Bolden does not believe the idea should be forgotten. He believes the idea of a scenic railroad in Garrett County has merit, but perhaps should be located some place other than Swallow Falls State Park. Maybe on some other state-owned property.

"I am a strong advocate for multiple use of state lands," Bolden said.

He hopes another study will be undertaken to locate the optimum spot in the county for a scenic railroad.

The county planning commission supported Bolden's idea of a scenic railroad in March 1982, however, it questioned the pro-

Commissioners Not Satisfied With Yough Legislation

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners have changed their position of the proposed draft of legislation for the Youghiogheny River from one of support to one of deferment pending additional work on the bill.

Commissioners' representative to the Youghiogheny River Advisory Board Elwood Grove II attended a meeting Saturday with Sen. John Bambacus, Del. George Edwards and other concerned citizens. Just before the meeting convened Sen. Bambacus distributed copies of his proposal which had just been completed the previous night.

After perusal of the bill, Commissioner Grove indicated that the bill had been drastically altered since presentation of a proposal in early December, and that the county commissioners could not and would not accept the responsibility for the river corridor without the authority to make a plan and regulations as the county sees fit.

When originally drafted at the request of the local advisory board and landowners along the river, the proposal would rescind the designation of the river as a "wild" river and return control of the river corridor to county government, "via a plan."

The new draft presented Saturday had the approval of Secretary of Natural Resources James Coulter, and caused consternation for Commissioner Grove. Section one of the proposed bill says that "if the Secretary of Natural Resources determines that the local laws of Garrett County are as restrictive as the provisions of Title 8, Subtitle, 4, Scenic and Wild Rivers Review Board and Related Program, then the control of the Yough shall revert from this state to the control of the Board of Com-

Uproar Over Two Salary Increases Called "Unnecessary" By Groves

The recent uproar over salary increases for the Garrett County clerk and personnel officer was an unnecessary reaction caused by misinformation and misconception said county commissioner Elwood Groves during the commissioners' first press conference Tuesday.

The uproar began last week as county employees and county citizens learned county clerk Robert Fousek and personnel officer Paul Shockey received salary increases of about 23 percent effective January 1. The insult to them was county employees had been told no one was to receive an increase greater than four percent, the first salary increase since July 1980.

New commissioners Elwood Groves and John Braskey were unaware of the fact until the past week. Commissioner Ernest Gregg was aware of it since the increases were included in the FY1982-83 budget, had been discussed by the previous board of commissioners for the past two years and were authorized by Gregg as a carry-over measure from the previous board.

Gregg said he had no problems with defending the salary increases for the two partly because of the responsibilities of their jobs and their performance and partly because they were first hired under agreements to accept below-average salaries with the understanding those salaries would be increased.

The hold up in the increase over their past two years in their duties was due to county financial troubles and the adoption of a new personnel policies and procedures manual which included reclassification of employees.

The reclassification, adopted in 1982, involved establishing a new grade and salary scale for county employees which was done by a committee comprised of county citizens and a state Department of Economic and Community Development consultant. Shockey said he was also on the committee but served in an advisory capacity with no voting privileges.

The committee placed Fousek in the highest grade level with a $23,360-$27,490 salary range, a range far above his salary. Shockey's salary was also below the grade level where the committee placed his position which was the next highest level with a salary range of $21,625 to $25,590.

The salary increase added $4,600 to Fousek's salary and $4,300 to Shockey's which placed them both in about mid-range in their grade levels.

Commissioner Gregg noted the increase still places the two next to the bottom in salaries of officials in the same positions across the state.

HUD Grants Money To Local Service Center

The Application Adult Activities Center was the only one of about four Garrett County applicants to receive money from the HUD Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program, county planning director Tim Dugan announced to the county commissioners Tuesday.

Even so, Dugan said the county "did fairly well, I think." Dugan explained that applications for the available $7.17 million grant money came in from 47 communities in the state and added up to $24.3 million in fund requests.

HUD Baltimore area manager Thomas Hobbs announced in a news release that the communities selected for funding by his office were those having the greatest poverty and whose applications most adequately addressed locally determined needs.

The grant program is designed to provide financial assistance to communities to provide decent housing, a suitable living environment and expanded economic opportunities primarily for persons of low and moderate income, Hobbs noted.

The Appalachian Adult Activities Center received $65,510 for modification of its facilities located at 105 South Third Street in Oakland for woodworking production.

Charlotte Griffith, director of the center, explained the current operations and funding for the Center and said she believed the grant was awarded for the County To Again Be Represented At Promotion Event

Garrett County will be represented again this year at the Eastern Sports, Boat, Camping, Travel & Outdoor Show at the State Farm Show Building in Harrisburg, Pa., February 5-13, according to Cindy Kutchman, executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council. The Council will exhibit its newly designed travel display and distribute vacation guides and several other brochures.

This is the largest Sports & Outdoor Show for the consumer in the United States and last year, nearly one-half million people visited the show, Mrs. Kutchman said.

Other features of the show include: black powder demonstrations and safety clinics, fishing seminars by nationally acclaimed angling experts, sailing and boating clinics and safety seminars.

The State Farm Show Building has over eight acres of display space and parking for over 10,000 cars.

Board Considers Dismantling County Public Housing Authority

The Garrett County Commissioners admitted Tuesday that they were considering dismantling the county public housing authority but did not indicate the legal avenues they would take to do so.

Although they were considering terminating the PHA, the commissioners called a meeting Tuesday with PHA board members to duscuss both sides of the issue.

About 40 persons, almost evenly divided between those for or against public housing, crowded into the commissioners meeting room to witness the meeting and to make comments.

Dale Harvey, chairman of the PHA board, reported 44 acres in Mt. Lake Park belonging to Wilda Winters was under option for a housing project, much smaller than the 100-unit Bradley Manor complex in Oakland it would replace. He added that HUD has committed $5.8 million to the PHA for construction of low-income housing units and has authorized the PHA to advertise for an architect.

Harvey noted HUD has asked whether the PHA will begin construction of the units by September 1983.

To show to the commissioners the need for affordable and decent housing for low-income persons, Community Action Agency director Duane Yoder presented results of an informal survey his agency conducted over 13 months using classified ads from The Republican and periodic surveys of realtors for their available rental units.

Among the information presented, Yoder noted that 30 percent of a families' income is the accepted ceiling a family should pay for shelter costs. He noted that family of four with an annual income of $8,525 would have $213 available for shelter costs a month. The average

Hotel-Motel Tax Request Dropped

The request for a hotel and motel tax legislation has been withdrawn by the Garrett County commissioners.

Commissioner chairman Ernest Gregg announced the withdrawal Tuesday morning during a meeting with Will O' the Wisp and WISP Ski area owner Helmuth Heise and Village Inn owner Bill Thoman who were protesting the proposal.

Gregg explained the commissioners have not given up on the idea of the tax, which he said was in effect in 90 percent of Maryland political subdivisions, but that they wished to spend more time in drafting it.

Gregg defended the idea for the tax saying the commissioners viewed it as a tax on out-of-state persons which would help lessen the tax burden on county landowners. Gregg added that they would consider points made by Thoman and Heise as they analyzed the idea.

Heise said the tax would place county hotels and motels at competitive disadvantage with neighboring areas which have no hotel and motel tax. He added that he felt recreation industries paid their fair share of taxes and did not need more.

In discussion of county services to the recreation industry, Thoman and Heise noted duplication of promotional efforts between their businesses and the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

Pointing out that they were not trying to tear apart the Promotion Council, they suggested that perhaps some redirection of the Council's promotional activities was in order.

Man Beaten, Robbed Monday

A Terra Alta man was beaten and robbed of his billfold Monday night after his vehicle had broken down near Crellin and he was walking to get assistance.

One area juvenile has been arrested in connection with the incident, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's department. There was a detention hearing for the youth in juvenile court this morning.

The report stated that Joseph Trout, Terra Alta, had been visiting at the Donald Kisner residence in Crellin and had left the residence. His vehicle became disabled and Trout began walking. As he approached Zack's Grocery he saw two males approaching him.

One young man knocked him to the ground and then both young men beat on him with fists and a flashlight. They pulled his billfold from his back pocket and when they found it did not contain money, they continued to strike the victim.

Trout managed to elude the two and go to a nearby residence. The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad picked him up and took him to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of cuts, abrasions and contusions.

The investigation is continuing, according to the sheriff's department.

Law Enforcement Officials Seeking Six Who Fled Fire At Local Motel

County law enforcement personnel, including fire investigator Guy Carola, are attempting to locate six people who were residing in a room at the Maryland Motel, located along U. S. Rt. 50 on Backbone Mountain, when it caught fire last evening at about 6:30 p.m.

Carola said officials are seeking four adults and two children who were last seen traveling in a 1969 Dodge Coronet with Oregon license tags. They are believed to be in West Virginia, he said.

One room in the five-unit motel, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bosley, was completely gutted by the blaze and at least one other unit sustained some water damage after the fire got into the attic of the structure and began to move horizontally. The first firefighter on the scene told Carola that he saw a stack of newspapers on the bed burning.

Firefighters from Gorman and Oakland fire departments responded to the scene along with the air cascade unit and Southern Rescue Squad. The fire was brought under control in about ten minutes.

Carola said that Mrs. Bosley was at the gas station across the highway when she saw the door to the room open and smoke coming out. Then, she said, people ran from the room and said they wanted to take the children to the hospital. They left the motel property traveling east on Rt. 50.

The room was registered to Delbert Runion, Banks, Ore.

Carola said this morning that he suspects that the cause of the fire was accidental, but that it is still under investigation.

Fire personnel remained on the scene for about one hour and a half. Bayard firemen stood by at Gorman's station.

Carola also investigated a fire which caused severe damage to a small, one-story frame structure in the Blooming Rose area near Friendsville on Sunday afternoon.

Friendsville firefighters were called by Garrett Central Alarm at 3:25 p.m., to the residence of Mary Schroyer, believed to be about 70. Upon their arrival they found smoke com-

Petition Asks Commission To Reconsider Lake Sewer Decision

A petition with approximately 50 signatures was presented to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission at its meeting last night, requesting that the commission change its decision to proceed with the Deep Creek Lake sewerage project.

The commission will meet with the petitioners February 10, at 3 p.m., in the basement meeting room of St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland to hear additional testimony regarding opposition to the project.

Should the commission remain firm in its decision, those in opposition have an opportunity to petition the Board of County Commissioners to vote on the project.

The petition was presented by Bill Burke, member of the Property Owners Association of Deep Creek Lake, and contained numerous signatures from Route 219 residents and from those who will be in the vicinity of the treatment plant.

Status Unchanged

The project will not be proceeding until all appeals have been exhausted, and pending a decision in federal court on whether an Environmental Impact Study must be initiated.

Weather

Rain changing to showers tonight. Low in the upper 30s to low 40s. Turning colder Thursday with morning showers changing to snow flurries. Temperatures in the low 40s early in the morning dropping well into the 30s by mid day.

Partly cloudy Friday. Fair Saturday and Sunday. Cold with highs averaging in the 30s to around 40, but closer to 30 in the Maryland mountains. Lows averaging in the 20s, except teens in the Maryland mountains.

DWELLING DAMAGED BY FIRE — The residence of Mary Schroyer, Blooming Rose, was severely damaged by fire Sunday afternoon. Friendsville and Deep Creek firefighters were called to the one-story frame home at 3:25 p.m. The cause was attributed to a faulty flue, which overheated and caused the wall to ignite. See story.

Teachers Dispute To Be Aired In Court April 6

A hearing has been scheduled in Garrett County Circuit Court April 6 in the dispute between two kindergarten teachers at Broad Ford Elementary School and the Garrett County Board of Education.

The hearing is being held at the request of the Board of Education, which is seeking a preliminary injunction to prohibit the teachers from proceeding with binding arbitration pending a court decision on the merits of the case.

The two teachers are requesting the Board of Education to hire additional staff so that class size can be reduced. The Board, however, says the matter is not grievable and the teachers have had their attorneys begin binding arbitration proceedings with the American Association of Arbitrators.

Arbitration is expected to move forward in April.

County Democrat Club Sets Meeting

A meeting of the Garrett County Democrat Club will be held Monday, Feb. 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the board room in the new student center.

The main topics of the meeting, said club member William Goldsborough, will be committee assignments, naming of chairmen, long-range planning, and planning of the 1983 Jefferson-Jackson Dinner.

Goldsborough said he urges all members to attend and that the club welcomes any Democrats wishing to join the club or to become acquainted with club members.

CRIME SOLVERS

Call 334-3111
Reward $100-$1000

This week, Maryland State Police and Crime Solvers are seeking information concerning a breaking, entering and theft.

Sgt. Charles Hinnant and Tfc. Gary Berkebile report that sometime between December 1 and December 15, 1982, unknown persons entered a storage shed at the W.H. Fratz Mobile Homes Sales, Accident, and removed merchandise valued at $3000. Among the items taken were 50 trailer tires, a 1/2 inch air wrench, and numerous hand tools.

Anyone with information concerning this incident is asked to call Crime Solvers Hotline at 334-3111 to report any tip leading to the arrest and indictment of the person or persons responsible.

Cash rewards of up to $1000 will be paid to the caller, who may remain anonymous. No court appearance is necessary, and a conviction is not needed to collect the reward.

Two Arrested In Melee With Police

Two Oakland residents were arrested Thursday night by Maryland State Police following an incident on Rt. 219, near the Sand Flat Road.

Charged with disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and assault was Charles A. Overton, 29. Charged with negligent driving was Linda L. Shafer, 21, RD 5.

Police say Ms. Shafer was operating her vehicle north on Rt. 219 when Overton allegedly grabbed the steering wheel, causing the car to leave the highway and strike a mailbox and ditch.

While investigating the mishap, police say Overton exited the auto and began arguing with the woman. He was ordered several times to get back in the vehicle by one of the officers, and at one point, he allegedly struck the police car window, and then climbed onto the hood. He also reportedly struck Tfc. W.W. Rice in the side with his elbow and forearm.

Cpl. E.D. Selby also responded to the call.

Donations Made By Lions During January Meeting

The Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, at its January 24 meeting, made three additional check presentations to community organizations and causes. During their December meeting, the Lions made donations to the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Receiving checks at the January meeting were the football program at Southern High School, the Mt. Top Youth Football League and the scholarship fund of Garrett Community College.

Accepting a check for $1,980 for the Southern football program were Dave Mayfield, SHS athletic director, and Dave Bosley, assistant varsity football coach.

A check for $1,065 was presented to Jack King, president of the Youth League.

Receiving a $500 check for the GCC scholarship fund was Robert Trantham, dean of students.

According to Jerry Kramer, second vice president of the club, the Lions will donate approximately $10,000 back to the community during the year of July, 1982 and June 1983. The funds are generated through club projects, such as chicken barbecues, fruit cake sales, Autumn Glory food sales and the Southern football field concession stand operation.

Also at the January meeting, Rob Sharps, Oakland, was inducted into membership by Earl Clark.

YOU SHOULD HAVE AN INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT

Every individual who has earned income can invest up to $2,000 annually in a Garrett National IRA*. That's $4,000 for a working couple or $2,250 for a single income couple, even if you're already covered by another retirement plan or pension. Your contributions are completely tax free until you begin to withdraw the funds. Even the interest is tax-deferred. This allows you to postpone the taxes on this retirement income until you're in a lower tax bracket.

When you retire, some estimates recommend that you have between 70%-80% of your pre-retirement income, just to maintain your lifestyle. With a Garrett National IRA, you have control over your retirement. Our choice of plans allow you to supplement other forms of retirement income, giving you the security and flexibility to enjoy your retirement years. You can begin to withdraw your investment any time after age 59 1/2, even if you're still working, without IRS penalty, and those withdrawals are treated as ordinary income at that time. Of course, there are no penalties for withdrawal in the case of death or disability.

With a Garrett National IRA, there are no fees, no commissions, no service charges. Unlike some IRA programs being offered, Garrett National gives you the choice of several plans. You choose the plan that's right for you. Every dollar you save is insured by the FDIC to $100,000 per account, an important feature for your retirement security. You can make contributions by the week, month, or annually—any time you choose.

*Substantial penalty for early withdrawal.

Predictions Plus Salt . . .

The winter of 1982-83 will be one of the most severe on record. The cost of gasoline will reach $2.00 per gallon by the summer of 1981. The value of gold will reach $1,000 per ounce by early 1982. The Chrysler Corporation is doomed.

All of the above are predictions made during the past few years over national media by the "experts" who we read about almost every day in the news. It is interesting to note that the experts did not say that these things might happen or could happen, but that they would happen.

In reality, not only did none of these things come to pass, but the exact opposite occurred. The winter of 1982-83 is going to go down as one of the mildest ever. The value of gold not only did not reach $1,000 per ounce, but fell dramatically. The cost of gasoline is, in fact, going down and, according to news released yesterday by three major oil companies, will decrease several more cents on the gallon within the next few months. The Chrysler Corporation has not just avoided bankruptcy, but in the last quarter broke all sales records and is re-opening its factories.

The lesson to be learned here is that, while the experts may be the most competent persons to make predictions, these predictions are nothing more than educated guesses and should never be accepted as fact if and until they become fact. All such predictions should be taken with a grain of salt by us non-experts.

"President Reagan's economic program cannot work" is one of the latest predictions by some political and economic experts. It is now beginning to show signs that it just might work.

It would be helpful if the experts could swallow enough pride to begin using words like "It's possible that" or "It is most likely that," leaving room for the possibility that their best guess might turn out to be totally wrong. Not only would that cause the non-experts to be less wary of the experts, but it would save the experts a lot of embarrassment.

It's About Time . . .

by Carol Fox

The President's Task Force on Victims of Crime has called for some legislated help for crime victims, and has given 65 recommendations to President Reagan to be presented to Congress this year.

Members of the American Civil Liberties Union feel most of the solutions in the report are too radical, and will cause more problems than they solve.

From this view, most of the proposals are long overdue. For instance, the suggestion to allow abolition of the "exclusionary rule," which bars illegally obtained evidence to be used in a criminal trial, sounds like a positive note. Wiretaps don't lie, even though invasion of privacy squeals will be heard from the defendant's pen. If telephone discussion of a plot to murder can be entered in a homicide trial for the jury to hear, why not?

I especially like the recommendation to prohibit criminals from making profits by peddling stories of their crimes. Proceeds from such accounts would go to the victim under the proposal. That sounds like a fine idea.

Of particular interest is the suggestion to force educators to report all crimes in schools. That problem is a very serious one, but school officials take the hush hush attitude, deeming themselves able to handle any situation. With alcohol and drug abuse so widely spread among our youth, police should not be hampered in any way from obtaining evidence and information inside school buildings, as they now are.

Hopefully, the recommendations will pass the Congress in order to insure that the recent Victim and Witness Protection Act, passed last year, will work. The law instructs federal judges to study a crime's impact on victims before imposing sentence, and requires most federal convicts to pay restitution to their victims.

Opposition to the task force findings argues that the defendant's rights would be drastically curbed. If the defendant is innocent, then truth will prevail. If no conversations took place, none could be recorded. If no bribes were taken, none could be proven.

If you don't play in mud, you don't get dirty.

P.S. Happy birthday, Mom.

Letter To Editor

To the Editor:

Education: While consolidation, or the thought of it, gives the appearance of wisdom, let's consider the "thought" that is going into consolidation of all Vocational training of our high schools in the county. The school board and administration think they are going to erect a building at the community college and do away with local high school vocational training, and bus the kids daily or several times daily to the college. Even the most unobservant person would immediately see the disadvantages to this.

Let's look at just a few of them.

1. Presently, we have good voc. facilities at both Southern and Northern.

2. We do not have to move the kids once they are in school for the day. With the voc at the college, the kids would have at least 1 ½ hours lost per day and to what advantage?.

3. Cost of busses and cars, as many kids would drive their own cars.

4. Exposure to accidents without cause.

5. Cost of new building and equipment.

Why does the taxpayer keep getting gored? Why do our kids get exposed to gross stupidity of unwise adults? We will not let this expensive monster be created because of massive ignorance. We will seek all county residents to begin informing the school board and school administration just where we stand. Man your battle stations!

Sincerely
Thomas E. Doyle

Salary Increases

Shockey noted that neither he nor Fousek has received a salary increase in the past two years. He added that county employees received a 10 percent salary increase in July 1, 1980 and the recent four percent increase which represents a 14 percent increase over the past two-and-a-half years.

Some county employees do not agree the increase was totally justified. "Such actions will drive county employees right to the union," one employee stated.

Commissioner Groves and Braskey both said they wished to review the personnel manual, but had no immediate intentions to rescind the two raises. Braskey stated when he first heard of the incident, he opposed it, but when he learned of the rationale he decided to further study the policy rather than block the raises.

Groves pointed out the committee which set the grade levels was composed of qualified county citizens who looked at comparable salary ranges in six neighboring counties as well as salary ranges in county businesses. "I don't see how we can go in and tamper with those individuals' findings," he said.

In summarizing the affair, Groves stated, "People had the misunderstanding that the salary increases were arbitrary decisions, but they weren't."

HUD Grants

Center project because it provided economic growth, would serve handicapped persons and would make the facility accessible to all handicapped persons.

One more reason the grant may have been awarded, she said, was the success of the Center's bakery which was also started with HUD funds.

The money would be used to renovate the building's basement including insulating it for more efficient use of the new heating-cooling unit to be purchased, and purchase of $4,000 of equipment for the workshop, Griffith said.

Another part of the project would be installation of a stairway equipped with an elevator wheelchair lift from the basement to the first floor.

She added the project would allow expansion of services and employment of the handicapped.

She projected the construction work to begin in late spring and to be completed by early fall.

ing from the structure and fire in the attic area.

The blaze was quickly brought under control, however damage to the dwelling and many of its contents was extensive.

Carola determined that the fire started as a result of an overheated flue, which was in bad condition, causing wooden studs adjacent to the chimney to ignite. The fire started in the wall and then climbed to the attic.

Mrs. Schroyer, who lives alone, was uninjured in the fire, however was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital the following day, reportedly suffering from high blood pressure and other circulatory complications. She was listed in "fair" condition this morning at the hospital.

Also responding to the scene of the fire were Deep Creek VFD, the county air cascade vehicle and Northern Rescue Squad. Officials remained on the scene for about one hour.

Mercury Climbs From Frigid Nine To 50 Degrees

Fluctuating temperatures, a full moon and some rain or freezing rain dominate the mountiantop's weather scene during the past seven days, according to statistics at Weber's weather station south of Oakland.

Lowest temperature for the week was reached Friday night, when the mercury plummeted to a frigid nine degrees. High for the week was Saturday, when the mercury climbed all the way to 50.

High last Wednesday was 30 degrees, and there was .25 of inch of precipitation. Temperatures dipped to 14 Wednesday night before reaching a high of 35 Thursday.

There was no rain or snow either Thursday or Friday as skies cleared to reveal a full moon. The mercury dipped to 23 on Thursday night and climbed to 37 during Friday's daylight hours.

Sunday brought cloudy skies once again and .31 of an inch of rain, along with a high of 48 degrees. The low reading Saturday night was 30.

Monday saw skies clearing during the afternoon and the thermometers climbed from the previous night's low of 30 to 39 before falling downward again. Monday night's low was 24 degrees, and Tuesday brought a high of 40 and overnight low of 32. Weber's recorded no precipitation either Monday or Tuesday.

posed route.

In a March 1982 letter to Bolden stating the commission's endorsement of the idea, county planning director Tim Dugan pointed out, "The County's comprehensive Development Plan, adopted in 1974, advocates establishment of an authentic steam-powered railroad as a very appropriate addition to the variety of tourist attractions in Garrett County."

The Garrett County Development Corporation and the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council also supported the idea.

Yough Legislation

missioners of Garrett County."

Commissioner Grove was concerned over another section which said that "This program shall include the consideration of local ordinances and zoning regulations that provide for the same or similar level of control for the Youghiogheny River as is currently provided in the Natural Resources article."

The commissioner representative went on to say that the board supports the intent of the legislation, which is to give relief to the property owners and redress the grievance of the travesty of justice over the years regarding property rights. He also was concerned that if responsibility for the corridor is transferred to the county, the landowners will transfer their hostilities from the DNR to county government.

Varying Reactions

Reactions from the approximately 60 persons present Saturday ranged through a mixture, with some feeling that the draft is the best choice offered so far, and others stating that the corridor needs more regulation, not less.

Dave Wineland, project coordinator for the Yough for DNR, noted that in this draft the wild designation of the Yough would be rescinded but that the bill should be worded to keep a "wild" designation open in case of future administrative needs for other rivers.

Col. R.C. Browning, member of the Youghiogheny River Property Owners Association and chairman of the river advisory group, thanked the legislators for their efforts in drafting the bill, "getting the matter off dead center where it has been for seven years." He also said he wanted to examine the language more closely to see if indeed the proposal will meet the landowners needs.

Several residents from Friendsville, including Jim Ross and Floyd Baker, said that their town must obtain drinking water from the Yough and therefore people should keep in mind the necessity of regulations governing uses of the river corridor.

C. Ross Clemmensen said he spoke on behalf of several Friendsville residents in opposing the proposed bill, citing the fact that local control means local politics. He concluded by submitting an alternate proposal.

On the other side of the debate, landowners such as Homer and Paul Mellott and John Hinebaugh cited the loss of freedom to control their properties through DNR restrictions.

Jack Fridinger, also an advisory council member, said he is opposed to the legislation because the vehicle is already in place whereby local residents can write their own regulations, and said that taxpayers would be adding to their burden by adding administrative costs connected with the river regulations.

Trout Unlimited was represented by Ralph Burnett, who stated that group's concern that lifting present regulations could be damaging to the river quality.

Senator To Clarify

At the conclusion of Saturday's meeting, Sen. Bambacus promised to clarify the language used in the bill to make it more nearly what the commissioners and the landowners want.

Let the flyer beware

by Harry Fox

California, here I come. Later this month my wife and I are flying to the west coast for a visit with her family. We both enjoy flying, and, as with most people, the biggest reason we don't travel by air more often is—money.

About the time we started to check ticket prices, both major camera manufacturers began to promote a "buy one, get one free" ticket rebate with major airlines. Any two adults could fly for the price of one if an instant camera was purchased under the rebate program. Two for one. It sounded good.

The more I thought about it, it sounded much too good. "Free" ticket promotions aren't that uncommon—most recently General Motors ran a free flight giveaway with the purchase of a car. But a car and a camera are hardly the same. Adding that with the depressed condition of the airline industry made the "buy one, fly one free" offer sound suspicious . . .

Thanks to a helpful ticket agent at Eastern Airlines, I was warned of the catch in this offer. After quoting me a staggering price for one round-trip ticket, she volunteered to tell me about "other" fares, if I was interested.

What the "other fares" turned out to be were the discount ticket programs called super savers—the limited seating plans used by most non-business travelers. The camera rebates were for full price tickets, the fare you'd pay if you walked up to a ticket counter without any reservation or advance purchase.

By purchasing tickets under certain restrictions, the total cost for two round trip tickets from Pittsburgh to Los Angeles was several hundred dollars under the price of one full price ticket.

That's an expensive camera.

Let the buyer, or the flyer, beware. It does pay to ask questions.

Firm Proposing Work On Spring

Members of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission agreed Tuesday night to allow Western Maryland Associates to present a proposal for rehabilitating water lines and the tile spring near Landon's Dam in Pleasant Valley.

The new water lines are completed and testing is underway to determine the source of a leak within 2,000 feet of the spring. So far employees of the contractor have been unable to pinpoint the exact spot as the terrain there is rocky.

The study will take a look at the long-range potential for the area so that any rehabilitation work can be done with an eye to future development.

Funding for the project remains in the grant obtained for construction of the line from Pleasant Valley to the Mt. Lake Water Company property.

Other topics at Tuesday's sanitary commission meeting were the Gorman water line, which highway engineers say will have to be moved further uphill when construction of a new bridge across the Potomac begins.

The commission agreed Tuesday to check out options which may allow for a bid from the West Virginia Highway Department which could move the lines as the construction work proceeds and equipment is readily available.

The commission knew when the line was constructed that there was a possibility that the line would have to be moved once construction began on the bridge, but could not wait to construct and install the line due to funding limitations.

Cost of the project so far has been $478,634.41 including some needed spare parts and an additional service connection. Amount allocated for the project is $561,000.

The commission also agreed Tuesday to deny a request by Uwchland Construction, which built the Gorman system, for a time extension to complete the several items which remain to be done for the system. Final payment will not be given to Uwchland until these items are completed to the satisfaction of the commission.

Trout Run Evaluated

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene recently did an extensive inspection of the Trout Run and Bausch and Lomb sewerage treatment plants and gave the facilities good ratings on operation and maintenance.

Both facilities, however, received unfavorable reports on their discharge parameters which exceed those the state has set for the Little Youghiogheny.
